One M. Length a London Alderman called Dee Length from a Dog which always follow'd him (having saved it a large Kettle) but the Bradford and Look to all Inns, or Lodging, in which he continued many years travelling thro the Towns and Villages of this County &c. He died & left in Charity to the Poor of all the Market towns of Surry about 15 p. per Annum each, and to every other Parish in the County except Mickham 6 or 8 yearly more or less at the discretion of his Trustees.
The reason of his excluding Mickham from a share in his Bounty was because he was whipped as a common Vagrant by the inhabitants thro their town.
