Introducción.

HDesde el momento que me dediqué á la enseñanza de idiomas, conocí esta verdad: que era preciso al profesor de una lengua extrangera haberla estudiado á fondo, y tener al mismo tiempo un conocimiento mas que mediano de la suya propia. Contrayéndome á la inglesa, me llamaron particularmente la atención las muchas dificultades que ofrecía su lectura, por la diversidad de sonidos que afectaban en ella las vocales, y mas que todo por la acentuación de las sílabas. Registré cuantos artes se han escrito sobre la materia, así en nuestra patria como en tierras extranjeras, y cada método hacia para mí mas complicada la investigación. Comparando esta perplejidad en la lengua inglesa con el muy simple mecanismo de la nuestra en asunto igual, se me ocurrió de que así como el sistema de lectura en el idioma castellano estaba sujeto á reglas invariables y fijas ¿por qué no había de estarlo el inglés? A fuerza de años, de observaciones y de larga y pe-nosa práctica en la enseñanza, logré establecer un sistema de pronunciacion tan sencillo y verdadero, que he visto en aquellos alumnos, que se han interesado en estudiar con zelo y constancia los rudimentos de la lengua inglesa, un aprovechamiento tan rápido como satisfactorio.

Este descubrimiento, alambicado durante veinte años, me atrevo á ofrecer hoy á los demás profesores de este idioma, pues estoy seguro de que conseguirán con su adopcion unos frutos mucho mas precoces que los que hasta aqui han logrado á fuerza de repeticiones sin fundamento, ó de normas elementales basadas en una vacilante rutina, y desmembradas con excepciones incalculables.

Considero que un maestro hace un papel muy triste cuando no sabe dar razon de las dificultades que á su discípulo se ofrecen, y contesta á ellas apelando al uso. Vergonzoso parecería por cierto achacar á la autoridad de la costumbre las excepcionalidades, para mayor parte de las cuales existe una razon positiva, y permitir que el alumno siga cojeando, tal vez para siempre, en un laberinto de cavilaciones en que le introdujera la falta de libros, y de preceptos elementales.

La imitacion de los defectos agenos no creo sea una disculpa para atenuar los que nosotros cometamos, y así, porque la cartilla inglesa ó SPELLING BOOK encierre un sistema de enseñanza poco correcto en sí, y menos adecuado para la instrucción de un extranjero, no veo que debamos seguirlo á ciegas y sin el auxilio de aquellas aclatraciones que pudieran hacernoslo útil. El SPELLING BOOK carece de reglas para la lectura, aplicables á un alumno español ; porque este solo aprenderá decentemente una lengua extraña por comparaciones que haga con los precepto de la suya propia. Estos preceptos deberá saberlos el maestro, que le instruye, y de ahí la verdad que solo debe enseñar bien una lengua extrangera quien la profese á par de la suya.

El SPELLING BOOK, tal como hoy se halla, pude servirnos de única ventaja para ejercitarnos en la lectura de vocablos, cuya pronunciacion aprende el alumno en él á fuerza de repetirlos mil veces; mas como carece de regla que le guie, al cabo de un fastidioso trabajo se encuentra que, saliendo de su misal, todas las palabras que desconoce le presentan otras tantas dificultades.

Respecto á los ingleses, como esa rutina la aprenden cuando niños, y en su propio idioma, llegan á leer maquinalmente para el tiempo adecuado, y la práctica de años les sirve en lugar de reglas, que les prestarian tambien muy poca utilidad en los días mas tiernos de la niñez.

Para enseñar á los españoles, sin embargo, es el expresado libro del todo insuficiente , porque la mayor parte de los alumnos que se dedican al estudio de esta lengua, han salido de la edad tierna, y necesitan otros conocimientos á mas de la práctica de leer silabas y palabras, tambien indispensable á su vez en esta enseñanza.

Se deja caer pues de su peso, que si los ejer-

EJERCICIOS de lectura de MURRAY están acompañados de reglas, llenarán completamente su fin.

Este ha sido mi objeto en la redaccion de las siguientes planas, que al mismo tiempo que conservan intactos los temas originales del SPELLING book, van ilustrados con reglas tan sencillas como exactas. Aun estas pudieran haberse reducido á un número menor, si no me hubiese visto precisado á seguir los ejercicios del original inglés, á fin de no privar á los discipulos de su utilísima práctica, y por tanto á estenderme algo mas en los preceptos, á fin de que cada sección llevase su guia.

Las instrucciones que se refieren á la acentuacion ó apoyo de la voz en ciertas sílabas, ramo tan difícil en este idioma, pueden pretender á lo menos al mérito de ser completamente originales, pues no creo se hayan ocurrido hasta ahora á ningun gramático inglés.

Veinte años de continua enseñanza en este idioma, y diez pasados preliminarmente en la estudiosa reclusion de un severísimo colegio en Inglaterra, me disculparán por el atrevimiento de avanzar teorias nuevas en una materia que tanto ha dado que cavilar á los mas hábiles filólogos de aquella nacion.

Finalmente, he traducido para la parte tercera el inmejorable tratadito de Lindley Murray sobre la ortografia y deletreo, en el que he hecho muy poca variacion.

Con esto me parece queda completa esta obra, la cual, si corresponde á mis deseos, será mas que suficiente para facilitar un estudio tan desacreditado hasta aqui por los numerosos obstáculos que parecian hallarse aglomerados en sus umbrales mismos.

¡Dichoso yo si he conseguido allanar para mis compatriotas un solo estorbo!

(1) Cuando se quiere demostrar en esta obra que dos vocales han de pronunciarse con mucha rapidez, se les señala con un tilde —por encima de ambas.

Igual marca se ha puesto á la vocal eu cuando ha de pronunciarse eu, como eu francesa.

Ss    Tt    Uu    Vv    Ww    Xx

ei-a    i-e    ai-i    ou-o    iu-eu    u    ai-i

La w y la y son consonantes cuando empiezan un vocablo, y vocales en los demás casos; á pesar de que en el alfabeto se les nombra deubliu y uai, suenan en la lectura: la w como u española, y la y como ai ó i, segun las reglas que veremos despues.

Las demás letras son consonantes.

(1) Eu como eu frances, pero muy breve.

(2) Como z francesa.

Me he valido de la voz eu francesa, z francesa, porque la mayor parte de los alumnos de inglés suelen tener principios de aquella lengua: para los que no, suplirá este sonido la viva voz del maestro.

Letras dobles y triples que suelen hallarse en las ediciones de algunas obras inglesas.

El alfabeto que precede, como se pronuncia por lo general, no contiene todos los sonidos simples elementales de la lengua inglesa; mas á fin de que el alumno forme algun punto de apoyo, de donde pueda partir con ciertidumbre para hacerse cargo de las diversas inflexiones que son propias de las vocales con especialidad, deberán tener sumo cuidado los señores maestros en hacer que consiga mucha soltura en el abecedario comun antes de pasar á los sonidos que discrepan de aquellos á que se ha acostumbrado con la sencilla y uniforme pronunciacion de las letras en la lengua española.

Esta divergencia en los sonidos se advierte desde luego en el alfabeto mismo, y una ligera esplicacion de ellos facilitará al discipulo un progreso admirable, siempre que se tenga con él un esmero muy prolijo, á fin de que desde luego no empiece á viciársele la pronunciacion; todo descuido en esta leccion preliminar acarrea defectos incorregibles.

VOCALES.

Todas estas excepto la w, considerada como tal, y que se pronuncia invariablemente como u española, tienen dos sonidos fundamentales.

Aa	Ee	Ii	Oo	Uu	Yy
ei ó a	i ó e	ai ó i	ou ó o	iu ó eu	ai ó i

Al primero de estos sonidos llamarémos INGLES, y al segundo ESTRANJO ; este último es parecido al de las vocales españolas, solo que se emite con mayor rapidez; en la a se abre muy poco la boca, y el de la u es igual al de eu en francés, con la diferencia de ser en extremo breve; así:

a	e	i	o	u	y
à	è	ì	ò	ù	í

constituyen los sonidos estraños de las vocales, y

a	e	i	o	u	y
ei	i	ai	ou	iu	ai

forman los sonidos ingleses da las mismas:

Diremos de paso, que toda vocal pronunciada como inglesa es larga, y como estraña, breve; cuyo sencillo principio establece desde luego una de las principales bases de la prosodia inglesa.

Respecto á las consonantes, debe tenerse muy presente que la d y t se pronuncian apoyando la lengua contra el cielo de la boca, y evitando tocar con su punta los dientes como hacemos en castellano.

C suena s clara delante de la e la i y la y: delante de a, o, u, tiene el sonido fuerte que en español: v. g.

	ce	ci	cy
Pron.:	si	sai	sai
ó bien
	se	si	si

segun la regla que le corresponda.

	ca	co	cu
Pron.	quei	cou	quiū
ó bien
	ca	co	queū

segun la regla que le corresponda.

F. Suena como en castellano, excepto en las palabras que terminan en una f; pues entonces se pronuncia v: v. g., of, pronúnciese ov.

G. Tiene dos sonidos: uno fuerte delante de a, o, u:

	ga	go	gu
Pron.	ga	go	gueu
		ó bien
	gue	gou	guiu

según la regla que le corresponda.

El otro suave delante de la e, i, y: v. g.

	ge	gi	gy
Pron.	yi	yai	yai
	ó bien
	ye	yi	yi

según la regla que le corresponda.

R. Es un sonido entre la r y la rr nuestra, cual la pronuncian los que tienen un poco de frenillo; es decir, en extremo suave, y evitando el sonido gutural que dan los franceses por lo comun á la misma.

S. Delante de consonante, y cuando está doble ó principia vocablo, suena como en español; á fin de diccion ó entre dos vocales como z inglesa ó francesa.

H. Es una aspiracion; en algunos casos es muda del todo, como veremos á su tiempo.

Las demás letras suenan como en español, y las consonantes dobles como sencillas: v. g. ll como l.

Estos preliminares son suficientes para la inteligencia del alfabeto inglés; las peculiaridades de cada letra se anotan en las reglas de pronunciacion que encabezan á las lecciones de silabeo, con el auxilio de la siguiente tabla de sonidos simples elementales.

Nótese para la inteligencia de esta respecto á las vocales, que la a, ademas de los sonidos manifestados en el alfabeto, tiene el de a larga española cuando está delante de la r siempre que á esta no le siga una e: v. g. mar, bar: pron. maar baar. delante de ll y ld y despues de w suena o ancha.

La o se convierte en u española en las palabras move prove, que se pron. muv. pruv.

La e final en inglés es muda.

La u tiene el sonido de u española breve en los vocablos bull, puss, full.

TABLA DE LOS SONIDOS ELEMENTALES.

VOCALES.

A inglesa	como en	bla, da.
A estraña	como en	mat, bat.
A ancha	como en	mar, bar.
A como O ancha	como en	ball, was.
E inglesa	como en	me, be.
E estraña	como en	met, net.
I inglesa	como en	pine, pie.
I estraña	como en	pin, tin.
O inglesa	como en	no, toe.
O estraña	como en	not, lot.
O como U	como en	move, prove
U inglesa	como en	mule, tune.
U estraña	como en	but, nut.
U española corta	como en	bull, full.

CONSONANTES.

B suena como en castellano	bat, tub.
D con la lengua contra el cielo de la boca	dog, sod.
F como en castellano	far, off.
F como v.	of.
G fuerte.	go, egg.
G suave	gem.
H aspirada.	hop, ho.

H	muda	heir(1).
K	como en castellano	kill, keg.
L	idem	lap, tall.
M	idem	my, man.
N	idem	nod, on.
P	idem	pit, map.
R	como con algo de frenillo	tar, bar.
S	clara	so, lass. system.
S	como Z inglesa ó francesa	his, as.
T	con la lengua contra el cielo de la boca	top, hot.
V	como en castellano	van, vat.
W	como u española	wo, will.
X	como en castellano	xa, xi.
Y	como ie cuando es consonante	ye, yes.
Z	como z francesa ó ds.	zed, buzz.

Algunos de los sonidos elementales, que preceden, tienen mucha relacion entre sí. La frecuente repeticion de ellos, haciendo la diferencia debida, facilitará al alumno su pronta adquisicion. La b y la p, la d y la t, la f y la

(1) Prov ear. Las voces que empiezan con h muda son: heur, herb, honest, honour, hospital, hour, humble, hostler, y sus derivados.

o, la g y la k, la s y la z, denotan sonidos bastante análogos. El ejercicio esmerado de los vocablos siguientes, pronunciándolos en rápida sucesión, conseguirá que se diferencien sin dificultad. Es muy recomendable para todos estos temas la repetición de la voz viva.

SONIDOS QUE DEBERAN DISTINGUIRSE.

La b se diferencia de la p v. g bat, pat, sob, sop.

" d " de la t " dip, tip, mad, mat.

" f " de la v " fan, van, leaf, leave.

(pron.) lif. liv.

" g " de la k " gun, kin, dog, duck.

«Los niños,» dice el doctor Beattie, «hablan por lo comun oraciones cortas y separadas.» Semejantes oraciones son por lo tanto mas á propósito para su comprension, y para que eviten el resabio de mazcúllar los periodos, cuando estos son mas largos que los que acostumbran usar en la conversacion comun. Si se les enseña, pues, á repetir con exactitud y fluidez las sentencias concisas que contiene la primera parte de esta obrita, se conseguirá mucho para que adquieran una pronunciacion en estremo correcta.

Eou	"		ieu	breve	hideous.
Iou	"		ieu	breve	tedious.
Uoy	"		uo	y	buoy.

*Escepciones á las vocales compuestas
y diptongos.*

Ai suena e en again, said.
a en plaster, raillery.
i breve, en las voces de mas de una silaba acabadas en ain: v. g. captain, pron. quiaptin.
Au suena a española delante de n seguida de otra consonante: v. g. aunt.

Ea suena e en las voces que tienen r delante, ó despues de ea: v. g. bread, earn, excepto en dream, treat, grease, read; y tambien en los vocablos head, weather, lead, measure, stead, pleasant, pheasant, jealousy, leather, health, y sus derivados,

Ei suena ei delante de g: v. g., deign y en los vocablos rein, heir, veil.

Eo suena è breve en leopard.

Oo suena eu francesa en blood, flood, y o, en floor, door.

Iieu suena lef en la palabra lieutenant.

Ew suena ou en sew: pron., sou.

Ou es el diptongo mas irregular de todos: por lo comun suena eu francesa delante y despues de r en las palabras de mas de una silaba: v. g., nourish, trouble, y en los vocablos country, double, young, touch.

Suena u en wound. you y sus derivados y en palabras francesas; route, routine.

Pronúnciase ó delante de las palabras acabadas en ght; v. g., bought (*).

Suena ou, breve, en though, court, foar, course, mould, soul, skoulder, mourn, poultry.

Ow suena ou comunmente despues de r, l, t, y en los vocablos own, show, bow, arco, sow, sembrar: (bow, cortesia, y sow, cochina, suenan au).

Como he dicho que la e es muda á fin de (*) La gh no suena en las palabas puestas como ejemplos, diccion, no se la considera como parte de una vocal compuesta en este caso; por eso die suena dai, y subdue, seubdaiu.

En los diptongos y vocales compuestas, que vienen delante de la r, se advierte una particularidad que ha dado margen á que se consideren como excepciones numerosas: la siguiente regla, sin embargo, probará que están sujetos á un precepto harto fácil.

Se nota por la nomenclatura de la letra r, que en el abecedario inglés se la nombre ar; pues bien, en composicion conserva esa a de su denominacion, y la enlaza con el sonido de la vocal ó diptongo que la precede: v. g. air suena ear, porque ai hace e, y la a de la r pronunciada rápidamente con ella, producirá el enlace ear; lo mismo fear, here, far, fewer, four: cuya pronunciacion será; fiar, hiar, faar fiuar, foar.

Ue precedido de g ó q al fin de palabras, no suena; como

Rogue	Colléague	Catalogue
Plague	Intrigue	Dialogue
Cinque	Mosque	Opaque
Pique	Oblique	Grotesque

Hay otras cuantas excepciones de las vocales

compuestas y diptongos; pero como estas se encuentran esparcidas en los ejercicios siguientes, las iré señalando en su lugar para que las anote el alumno, el cual hallará que con eso han desaparecido á los primeros pasos de su enseñanza ese número infinito de dificultades, que hasta ahora se han querido aglomerar en la carrera del estudio de la lengua inglesa.

My head.	A dead fly.
A friend.	A young frog.
I guess.	A crust of bread.
He said.	A bit of thread.
We learn.	A long quill.

CAPITULO TERCERO.

Sonidos largos de las vocales y diptongos; lo que sucede cuando siguen las reglas.

Seccion primera.

Sonido de la a, ai ó ay como ei.

REGLA 3.<sup>a</sup>

La e es muda á fin de diccion, y su objeto es dar el sonido inglés á la vocal que tiene ya inmediatamente delante, ya separada de ella por una sola consonante: por la regla primera, ma, sonará mei; por la segunda, mat, sonará mát, y agregándole la e final volverá á su primer sonido de ei: v. g. mate, pron, meit.

cake	face	haste	take
care	Jane	made	tape
gave	James	make	grape
air	clay	may	break
fair	day	maid	great
hail	hay	way	frail
tail	gain	play	snail
rain	gray	say	they
vain	hair	stay	their

NOTA. Break, great, they, their, suenan breik, greit, dhey, dheir,

EJERCICIO DE LECTURA.

It rains.	Take care.
It hails.	Make haste.
A long tail.	May I go?
A great cake.	Stay by me.
A fair day.	Let us play.

Sección segunda.

Sonido de la e, ee, ea, ie como i.

Eve	she	here	these
ear	read	steal	week
eat	bleat	wheat	geese
east	clean	bee	green
pea	mean	see	sheep
tea	leave	feed	sleep
dear	sheaf	feet	sweet
fear	shear	keep	sleeve
leaf	speak	tree	field
neat	squeak	weed	piece

EJERCICIO DE LECTURA.

A green field.	The sheep bleat.
A sweet pea.	The pigs squeak.

- A piece of bread. Feed the geese.
 A cup of tea. Eat the grapes.

Seccion tercera.

bite	kite	rice	wipe
dine	like	ripe	shine
fine	mice	side	smile
fire	mild	time	quite
line	mind	wine	spice
die	pie	tie	buy
lie	rie	vie	eye

Nótese que ind, ild hacen aind, aild y la palabra eye, se pronuncia ai tambien; wind, viento, suena uind.

EGERCICIO DE LECTURA.

- A sweet smile. The sun shines.
 A nice pie. It is a fine day.
 A ripe plum. Bring the line.
 A glass of wine. Fly the kite.
 A blind man. It is time to read.

cold	hope	rose	stone
gold	mole	told	smoke
hold	most	tone	stroke
coat	cloak	low	grow
load	toast	mow	show
road	door	blow	snow
roar	floor	crow	sew

Nótese que sew se pronuncia sou; aunque hoy, para evitar esta irregularidad, escriben algunos sow: el motivo de esta rareza seria sin duda para no confundir en lo escrito sew, coser, con sow, sembrar: tal vez antiguamente se pronunciaria la primera de estas dos voces siu; o delante de Id es inglesa ó larga.

EXERCICIO DE LECTURA.

A hot roll.

Shut the door.

A red cloak.

The fire smokes.

Consonantes dobles, que aunque distintas, suenan como una sola.

Ya digo cuáles eran los sonidos de estas mas arriba, á fin de que no tuviese tropiezo el alumno, al hallarlas en las lecciones antecedentes; ahora seré mas esplicito en su notificación.

Th suena como z española en los nombres y verbos de la lengua inglesa, excepto los que terminan en ther, y ths, v. g. brother, paths. En las demás partes de la oración, se pronuncia como d española suave, es decir, poniendo la lengua entre los dientes. Este sonido aparece denotado así: dh, en esta obrita.

CAPITULO DECIMO.

VARIOS EJERCICIOS DE LECTURA.

Sección primera.

Breakfast.

The sun shines.

It is time to get up.

Jane, come and dress Charles.

Wash his face, and neck, and make him quite cleam.

Comb his hair. Tie his frock.

Now, Charles, we will go down stairs.

Fetch that stool. Sit down.

Here is some milk; and here is a piece of bread.

Do not spill the milk.

Hold the spoon in the right hand.

This is the right hand.

The crust is hard: do not leave it; sop it in the milk.

Do not throw the bread on the floor.

We should eat bread, and not waste it.

There is a poor fly in the milk.

Take it out. Put it on this dry cloth. Poor thing! It is not quite dead. It moves; it shakes its wings; it wants to dry them: see how it wipes them with its feet.

Put the fly on the floor, where the sun shines.

Then it will be dry and warm.

Poor fly! I am glad it was not dead,

I hope it will soon be well.

Seccion segunda.

Puss.

Where is puss?

There she is.

Do not pull her by the tail: that will hurt
her.

Charles does not like to be hurt: and puss

does not like to be hurt.

I saw a boy hurt a poor cat; he took hold of her tail: so she put out her sharp claws,
and made his hand bleed.

Stroke poor puss.

Give her some milk.

Puss likes milk.

Now that Charles is so kind to her, she will not scratch, nor bite him.

She purrs, and looks glad.

Seccion tercera.

Reading.

Come to me Charles. Come and read.

Here is a new book.

Take care not to tear it.

Good boys do not spoil their books.

Speak plain.

Take pains, and try to read well.

Stand still.

Do not read so fast.

Mind the stops.

What stop is that?

It is a full stop.

Charles has read a whole page now.

This is a page. This is a leaf.

A page is one side of a leaf.

Shut the book. Put it by.

Now give me a kiss.

Seccion cuarta.

Rain.

Shall we walk?

No; not now. I think it will rain soon.

Look how black the sky is!

Now it rains! How fast it rains!

Rain comes from the clouds.

The ducks love rain.

Ducks swim, and geese swim?

No. Charles is not a duck, nor a goose: so he must take care not to go too near the pond, lest he should fall in. I do not know that we could get him out: if we could not, he would die.

When Charles is as big as James, he shall learn to swim.

Seccion quinta.

A walk.

It does not rain now.

The sky is blue.

Let us take a walk in the fields; and see the sheep, and the lambs, and the cows, and trees, and birds.

Call Tray. He shall go with us.

He wags his tail. He is glad to see us, and to go with us.

Stroke poor Ttray.

Tray likes those who stroke him, and feed
him, and are kind to him.

Do not walk on the grass now. It is too high; and it is quite wet.

Walk in this smooth, dry path.

There is a worm. Do not tread on it.

Can Charles climb that high stile?

O what a large field!

This is not green. It is not grass.

No; it is corn. It will be ripe soon.

Bread is made of corn. I dare say Charles does not know how bread is made. Well, some time I will tell him.

Now let us go home.

Shall we look at the bees in their glass
hive?

Will the bees sting us?

No; they will not sting us, if we do not hurt them.

Wasps will not sting us, if we do not hurt
them.

There is a wasp on my arm.

Now it is gone.

It has not stung me.

Sección sexta.

Dinner.

The clock strikes.

It is time to go in, and dine.

Is the cloth laid?

Where are the knives, and forks, and plates?

Call Ann.

Are your hands clean?

Sit down.

Do not take the broth yet; it is too hot: wait till it is cool.

Will you have some lamb, and some peas?
 Do not smack your lips, or make a noise,
 when you eat.

Take some bread. Break the bread: do not bite it.

I do not put the knife in my mouth, for fear
 I should hurt my lips. Knives are sharp: they are to cut with, and not to put in one's mouth, or to play with.

Jane must shake the cloth out of doors.

The birds will pick up the crumbs.

Now let us go and play with George.

Sección séptima.

The poor blind man.

There is a poor blind man at the door.

He is quite blind. He does not see the sky
 nor the ground, nor the trees, nor men.

He does not see us, though we are so near
 him. A boy leads him from door to door.

Poor man!

O! it is a sad thing to be blind!

We will give the blind man some bread and cheese.

Now he is gone.

He is a great way off.

Poor blind man!

Come in Charles. Shut the door.

I wish the poor blind man had a warm house to live in, and kind friends to take care of him, and to teach him to work. Then he would not beg from door to door.

Las agregaciones iniciales de las palabras son: un, dis, in, im, ir, mis, re, com, con, ab, ad, at, ap, e, ex, ante, sub sus, ob, obs, y otras semejantes, las que constituyen preposiciones que entran en composición, y por la mayor parte son tomadas del latín.

Las preposiciones inglesas, que con mayor frecuencia se hallan en composición, son las siguientes: for, before, after, under, with, over, y la sílaba be.

Las agregaciones finales ó terminaciones son: y, ly, ice, ile, iue, ine, er, or, our, ous, age, ant, ment, ble, ful, ion, tial, ier, ness, less, ish, ed, ing, est, edst, eth, en.

El apoyo ó acento no carga jamas sobre la terminacion, cuyo sonido es siempre extraño y breve.

Si de una palabra se quita la inicial y terminacion, quedará la radical ya simple, ya compuesta; v. g. en defenceless, quitando la de y la less, queda el vocablo fence, radical.

PARTE SEGUNDA.

---

Palabras fáciles de dos y tres letras, con sus ejercicios adecuados de lectura.

CAPITULO PRIMERO.

Ya hemos visto que las letras vocales pronunciadas como inglesas, son largas, y como extrañas, breves. Al apoyo de la voz que carga sobre las silabas largas ó sobre una de las cortas, cuando ambas lo son, da Murray el nombre de acento: mas se me permitirá prescindir de este método, por amor á la claridad, y me sirva del mas sencillo de silabas breves, y largas, y de la voz apoyo, que será lo suficiente para poner corriente al alumno de las facilísimas reglas que le doy; el apoyo en las vocales estrañas es rápido.

Partiendo pues de este principio, siempre que una palabra de dos sílabas tenga la una inglesa y la otra estraña, será larga la inglesa, y sobre ella se apoyará la voz: si ambas fueren inglesas, se cargará en la segunda; y si una y otra fueren estrañas, en la primera.

VARIOS EJERCICIOS DE LECTURA.

Seccion primera.

Hay making.

Hark! what noise is that? It is the mower whetting his sithe. He is going to cut down the grass, and the pretty flowers. The sithe is very sharp. Do not go too near it.

Come into this field. See, all the grass is cut down. There is a great number of men and women, with their forks, and rakes. They toss, and spread, and turn the new-mown grass. Now they are making it into cocks. How hard they work! Come, let us help to make hay.

O it is very hot!

No matter; we must make hay while the sun shines. How sweet the hay smells! When the hay is quite dry, it must be made into stacks.

Hay is for sheep, and cows, and horses, to eat, in winter, when grass does not grow.

Seccion segunda.

Thunder and lightning.

There has not been any rain for a great while. The ground is very dry, and hard. The grass does not look green as it used to do. It is brown: it is scorched by the sun. If it do not rain soon, we must water the trees and flowers, else they will die.

The sun does not shine now: but it is very hot: It is quite sultry. There is no wind at all. The leaves on the trees do not move. The sky looks very black; and how dark it is! Ha! what a bright light shone through the room! Now it is gone. It did not last long. What was it? It was lightning.

Lightning comes from the clouds.

Now it lightens again.

What a noise there is in the air, just over our heads!

That is thunder.

How loud the thunder is!

It begins to rain. O, what large drops! Now it rains very fast.

Seccion tercera.

Harvest.

The storm is over. It is very pleasant now. It is not so hot as it was before the rain came, and the thunder, and the lightning. How sweet the flowers smell! The trees, and the hedges, and the grass, look fresh and green,

Let us go into the corn fields to see if the corn is ripe. Yes, it is quite brown: it is ripe. There are the reapers, with their sharp sickles. They are cutting down the corn.

This is a grain of corn. This is an ear of corn. What grows upon a single stalk, is called an ear. The stalk on which the ear grows, makes straw. This bundle of corn is called a sheaf. This is a shock. There are many sheaves in a shock.

When the corn is dry, it must be taken to the barn, to be thrashed. Then it must be sent to the mill, to be ground. When it is ground, it is called flour.

There are some little boys and girls picking up ears of corn. They are gleaning. There is a poor old man gleaning. He is very old, indeed. His hair is quite white. His hands shake. He is almost too old to work; but he does not like to be idle. He has come a great way to pick up a few ears of corn; he is very much tired with walking about the fields, and stooping. He has dropped one of his little bundles of corn. Take it up and carry it to him. Speak kindly to the poor old man. Now let us pick up a few ears of corn for him. Take them to him. They will help to make a loaf of bread for him.

Sección cuarta.

The Partridge.

Hark! there is a gun let off; and a bird has dropped down, just at our feet. Ah! it is bloody. Its wing is broken. It cannot fly any further. Poor thing! how it flutters! It is going to die. Now it does not stir. It is quite dead.

What bird is it? It is a partridge. There is a man with a gun in his hand. He is coming to fetch the partridge. Now he has let off his gun again. He has shot a very pretty bird indeed. It has red, and green, and purple feathers.

What a fine tail it has! This bird is a great deal larger than a partridge. It is a pheasant.

Sección quinta.

The Orchard,

Let us go into the orchard. The apples are ripe. We must gather them. Fetch that little basket. There is a man in that tree. He will gather all the apples that grow on those high branches. Do not climb up the ladder. Gather the apples that are on the ground.

Look at those poor little girls standing at the gate. They want to come in. They want some apples. Their fathers and mothers have no fields, nor orchards, nor gardens.

Poor little girls! Shall we give them some apples?

Yes; fill that basket with fine, ripe apples, and give them to the little girls. O, now they are glad. How kindly they thank us! They are gone home. Perhaps, they will give some of their apples to their fathers and mothers, and little brothers and sisters.

Sección sesta.

The Robin.

Scrape your shoes. Do not bring any dirt into the room.

Come in. If your hands are very cold, rub them. if you hold them to the fire, you will have chilblains, which are very painful indeed.

Shut the window, Ann.

Ha! there is a pretty little robin flying about the room. We must give him something to eat. Fetch some bread for him. Throw the crumbs on the floor.

Eat, pretty robin, eat.

He will not eat: I believe, he is afraid of us. He looks about, and wonders where he is!

O, he begins to eat! He is not afraid now. He is very hungry.

How pretty it is to see him pick up the crumbs, and hop about upon the floor, the table, and the chairs! Perhaps, when he has done eating, he will sing us a song.

But we must not keep him here always.

Birds do not like to be shut up in a room, or in a cage. They like to fly about in the air, and to pick up seeds and worms in the fields, and to hop about on the grass, and to sing perched upon the branches of high trees. And in spring, how busy they are building their nests, and taking care of their young ones!

Robin has flown against the window: he wants to get out. Well, we will open the window, and, if he chooses, he may fly away.

There, now he is gone.

When he is hungry, he may come again. We will give him some more crumbs.

The seasons.

It is winter now, cold winter. It freezes. The pond is frozen, and the river is frozen. We can walk upon the river now. Do not be afraid; the ice is very thick, and hard. There is a man skating; and there are some boys sliding,

It snows. How fast it snows! We cannot see the grass, nor the gravel walk, nor the road. There is thick snow upon the trees, and the hedges. How pretty the snow is! Snow comes from the clouds.

Bring some snow to the fire. See, how it melts! It is all gone now: there is nothing but water. When the sun shines, and the weather is warmer, the snow that is on the ground will melt; and it will sink into the earth as the rain does.

When winter is quite over, spring will come again. O spring is very pleasant! there will be daisies, and cowslips, and a great many pretty flowers; there will be blossoms and green leaves upon the trees; and there will be young lambs, and chickens, and goslings. The birds will sing sweetly; and they will be very busy picking up bits of hay, and moss, and wool, to build their nests with: and the cuckoo will sing cuckoo, cuckoo. The days will be longer than they are in winter, and the weather will be warmer.

When spring is over, it will be summer. Then the weather is hot, and the days are long. There will be hay time and harvest, and thunder, and lightning. The fruit will be ripe; cherries, currants, peaches, and plums, and a great many other kinds of fruit; and there will be moss roses that smell so sweet, and fine pinks.

When summer is over, the days will become short; there will be very few flowers left, in the fields, and in the gardens; the leaves on the trees, will begin to fade, and they will fall off. The weather will be cold, and there will be thick fogs. But it will not be winter as soon as summer is over. No; it will be autumn. Then apples and pears, filberts and walnuts, will be ripe.

When autumn is over, winter, cold winter, will come again; and frost, ice, and snow, and short, dark days, and long nights.

Spring, summer, autumn, winter. And what are these called?

They are called seasons.

Sección octava.

The Lamb.

It is very cold. And how high the wind is! There is a tree blown down.

What has that man in his arms?

It is a young lamb.

Poor thing! how it bleats! It wants its mother. It is crying for her. I wish she could hear it: but she cannot hear; she is dead.

Pray, shepherd, take good care of the little lamb, and give it nice new milk to drink, and keep it warm; and when it can take care of itself, and the weather is pleasant, let it sport and frisk about in the fields and be very merry.

We must not go any further now. The sky looks very black. I think there will be a heavy shower soon.

Seccion novena.

Sheep shearing.

What is that man doing to the sheep?

He is cutting off their soft, thick wool. He is shearing them. The large scissors that he has in his hand, are called shears. It does not hurt the sheep to have their wool cut off. They can do without it now, the weather is so warm.

And will the wool be thrown away? Charles's coat is made of wool. Blankets are made of wool: and so are carpets, and flannel, and a great many things. But the wool must be carded first, and spun, and woven, and died.

There is a woman spinning. She has a very large wheel. That is wool which she has in her hand. She is spinning for her husband, and her children.

That little girl is carding the wool. She is making it ready for her mother to spin.

Sección décima.

Boys looking for Birds' nests.

What are those boys looking for, in the hedges, and among the bushes?

Little boys, what do you want?

We are looking for birds' nests. We want some eggs, and some young birds.

But why should you take the eggs, and the young birds? They will do you no good; and the old birds, who have taken so much pains to build their nests, will be very sorry, indeed, to lose their eggs, and their young ones. You cannot feed the young birds so well as they can; nor take so good care of them, nor keep them warm at nights.

Some little boys who steal young birds from their soft, warm nests, and from the parent birds, soon grow tired of them, and forget to feed them, then the little birds die! The old birds are never tired of their young ones; and never leave off feeding them, till they can fly, and take care of themselves.

A little boy took a young bird from its nest; but very soon he was tired of it, and did not like the trouble of feeding it, and wanted to get rid of it. He asked some little boys, whom he met, if they would have it; but they said they did not want it. They told him to carry it back to the nest whence he had taken it; but he would not: he threw the bird into the water, and drowned it. O what a cruel boy!

Little boys, if you find any nests, do not rob the poor birds of their eggs, and their young ones. You may look at the little birds, in their nests: but do not frighten them, do not hurt them; do not take them away from their kind parents, and from their soft, clean, warm nests. You would not like, (would you?) that any body should take you from your fathers and mothers, and your, own homes; and keep you always shut up, quite alone, in a very small place, and feed you in a very strange way, or almost starve you to death.

VARIOS EGERCICIOS DE LECTURA.

Seccion primera.

The Sun.

The sun rises in the east; and when he rises, it is day.

He shines upon the trees and the houses, and upon the water; and every thing looks sparkling and beautiful, when he shines upou it. He gives us light and heat; it is he that makes it warm. He makes the fruit ripen, and the corn ripen. If he did not shine upon the fields, and upou the gardens, nothing would grow.

Sometimes he takes off his crown of bright rays, and wraps up is head in thin, silver clouds, and then we may look at him; but when there are no clouds, and he shines with all his brightness at noonday, we cannot look at him, for he would dazzle our eyes, and make us blind. Only the eagle can look at him then: the eagle with his strong piercing eye can gaze upon him always.

When the sun is going to rise in the morning, and make it day, the lark flies up in the sky to meet him, and sings sweetly in the air; and the cock crows loud to tell every body that he is coming: but the owl and the bat fly away when they see him, and hide themselves in old walls and hollow trees; and the lion and the tiger go into their dens and caves, where they sleep all the day.

He shines in all countries, all over the earth. He is the most beautiful and glorious creature that can be seen in the whole world.

Seccion segunda.

The Moon.

The moon shines to give us light in the night when the sun is set. She is very beautiful, and white like silver. We may look at her always, for she is not so bright as to dazzle our eyes, and she never scorches us. She is mild and gentle. She lets even the little glow-worms shine, which are quite dark by day. The stars shine all round her, but she seems larger and brighter than the stars, and looks like a large pearl amongst a great many small sparkling diamonds.

When you are asleep, she shines through your curtains with her gentle beams, and seems to say, Sleep on, poor little tired boys, I will not disturb you. The nightingale sings to her, and sings better than all the birds of the air. She sits upon a thorn, and sings sweetly all the night long, while the dew lies upon the grass, and every thing around is still and silent.

Seccion tercera.

The swan.

All birds that swim in the water are webfooted. Their toes are joined together by a skin that grows between them; that is being webfooted; and it helps the birds to swim well, for then their feet are like the fins of a fish.

The swan is a large bird, larger than a goose. Its bill is red, but the sides of it are black; and it has black about its eyes. Its legs are dusky, but its feet are red, and it is webfooted. Its body is all white, as white as snow, and very beautiful. It has a very long neck. It lives in rivers and lakes; and eats plants that grow in the water, and seeds, and little insects, and snails.

It does not look pretty when it walks upon the ground, for it cannot walk well; but when it is in the water swimming smoothly along, arching its long neck, and dipping its white breast, with which it makes its way through the water, it is the most graceful of all birds.

The swan builds her nest amongst the reeds and rushes. The nest is made of sticks and long grass; and it is very large and high. The eggs which she lays, are white, and very large, larger a great deal than a goose's egg; and she sits upon them for two months: then they are hatched, and the young ones come out. They are called cygnets. They are not white at first, but grayish.

If any body were to come near the swan, when she is in the nest, sitting upon her eggs, or when she has young ones, she would fly at him; for she is very fierce to defend her young: and if he were to come to take them away, she would beat him down with her strong wings, and perhaps break his arm. The swan lives a very great while.

Seccion cuarta.

The Hare.

Ha! what is there amongst the furze? I can see only its eyes. It has very large full eyes. It is a hare. It is in its form, or house, squatting down amongst the bushes to hide itself, for it is very fearful.

The hare is very innocent and gentle. Its colour is brown; but in countries which are very cold, it turns white as snow. It has a short bushy tail; its lip is parted, and very hairy; and it always moves its lips. Its hind legs are very long, that it may run the better. The hare feeds upon herbs, and roots, and the bark of young trees, and green corn; and sometimes it will creep through the hedges, and steal into the gardens to eat pinks and a little parsley; and it loves to play and skip about by moonlight, and to bite the tender blades of grass, when the dew is upon them; but in the daytime it sleeps in its form.

She sleeps with her eyes open, because she is very fearful and timid; and when she hears the least noise, she starts, and pricks up her large ears. And when the huntsman sounds his horn, and the poor harmless hare hears the dogs coming, she runs away very swiftly straight forward, stretching her legs, and leaves them all behind. But the dogs pursue her, and she grows tired, and cannot run so fast as at first. Then she doubles; and turns, and runs back to her form, that the hounds may not find her; but they run with their noses to the ground, smelling till they have found her out. So when she has run five or six miles, at last she stops, and pants for breath, and can run no further. Then the hounds come up, and tear her, and kill her,

When she is dead, her little limbs which moved so fast, grow quite stiff, and cannot move at all. Her poor little heart, that beat so quick, is quite stiff and cold; and her round full eyes are dull and dim; and her soft furry skin is all torn and bloody.

Sección quinta.

---

The good boy loves his parents very dearly. He always minds what they say to him, and tries to please them. If they desire him not to do a thing, he does it not; if they desire him to do a thing, he does it. When they deny him what he wants, he does not grumble, or pout out his lips, or look angry; but he thinks that his parents, know what is proper for him, better than he does, because they are wiser than he is.

He loves his teachers, and all who tell him what is good. He likes to read, and to write, and to learn something fresh every day. He hopes that if he lives to be a man he shall know a great many things, and be very wise and good.

He is kind to his brothers, and sisters, and all his little playfellows. He never fights, nor quarrels with them, nor calls them names. When he sees them do wrong, he is sorry, and tries to persuade them to do better.

He does not speak rudely to any body. If he sees any persons who are lame, or crooked, or very old, he does not laugh at them, nor mock them; but he is glad when he can do them any service.

He is kind even to dumb creatures: for he knows that though they cannot speak, they can feel as well as we. Even those animals, which he does not think pretty, he takes care not to hurt. He likes very much to see the birds pick up bits of hay, and moss, and wool, to buil their nests with; and he likes to see the hen sitting on her nest, or feeding her young ones: and to see the little birds in their nest, and hear them chirp. Sometimes, he looks about in the bushes, and in the trees, and amongst the strawberry plants, to find nests: but when he has found them, he only just peeps at them; he would rather not see the little birds, than frighten them, or do them any harm.

He never takes any thing that does not belong to him, or meddle with it, without leave. When he walks in his father's garden, he does not pull flowers, or gather fruit, unless he is told that he may do so. The apples that are fallen on the ground, he picks up, and carries to his mother,

He never tells a lie. If he has done any mischief he confesses it, and says he is very sorry, and will try to do so no more, and nobody can be angry with him.

When he lies down at night, he tries to remember all he has been doing, and learning in the way. If he has done wrong, he is sorry, and hopes he shall do so no more; and that God who is so good, will love and bless him.— He loves to pray to God, and to hear and read about him; and to go with his parents and friends to worship God.

Every body that knows this good boy, loves him, and speaks well of him, and his kind to him: and he is very happy.

A kind action gives pleasure, both to ourselves and the person to whom we are kind.

Violent passions make people miserable.

Charles was very ill, but he was patient. His friends treated him with great attention and compassion.

If we would gain knowledge, we must study very diligently.

A good education is a great blessing.

A caterpillar changes into a butterfly. All the butterflies, which we see flying about, were caterpillars once.

An apothecary sells medicines.

The haberdasher sells tape and thread, and pins and needles, and other small wares.

To think too highly of ourselves, is unbecoming and ridiculous.

If we expect others to love us, without our being kind and good, we shall be disappointed.

To fret because others are happier than we are, is very unreasonable.

We should remember, that if we let an opportunity of doing good pass away, it will never return.

To do a thing voluntarily, signifies to do it willingly.

To be superannuated is to be unable to do things, on account of old age.

A valetudinarian is one that is sickly.

The Boy and the Looking-glass.

A little boy, when his father and mother were from home, was playing at ball in a room where there was a looking-glass.

Before he began to play, he had turned the back of the looking-glass towards him, for fear he should break the glass. It would have been better, if he had gone out of doors to play at ball. As he was not a careless boy, I wonder he was not afraid of breaking the windows, as well as the looking-glass; but I suppose he did not think of that.

Whilst he was playing, and, perhaps, not thinking at all about the looking-glass, his ball struck the wooden back, and broke the glass. When he saw the mischief he had done, he was very sorry; and, I believe, he was afraid his father and mother would be displeased with him.

When his parents came home, he went to his father, and said; "Father, I have broken the best looking-glass in the house! and I am very sorry for it." His father looked kindly at him, and said, "I would rather that all the looking-glasses in my house should be broken, than that one of my children should tell an untruth."

The little boy hearing his father say this, and seeing that he was not angry, felt comforted; though, I suppose, he wished very much that he had not broken the looking-glass. After that time, when he met with an accident, he confessed it; and would not, on any account, tell an untruth.

The good Boy whose parents are rich.

The good boy whose parents are rich, has fine clothes to wear; and he rides on a pretty little horse, and in a coach; and has servants to wait on him: but he does not, for all that, think that he is better than other boys whose parents are not rich. He knows that all rich people are not good ; and that God gives a great deal of money to some persons, in order that they may assist those who are poor.

He speaks very kindly to all his father's servants. He does not call them to wait upon him, when they are at their meals, or very busy. If he wants them to do him a service, he asks them prettily; and thanks them for what they do for him. He never gives them any trouble that he can avoid; therefore, he is careful not to make dirt in the house, and not to break any thing, or put it out of its place, and not to tear his clothes. When any of the servants, who wait upon him, are ill, he likes to go and see them ; and he often thinks of them, and asks how they do.

He likes to go with his father, or is mother, to see poor people, in their cottages; and he gives them almost all the money he has.

When he sees little boys and girls, that are ragged, dirty, and rude, and that have nobody to teach them to read, and to give them good books, he is very sorry for them, and he often says, "If I were a man, and had a great deal of money, I think no person that lived near me should be very poor. I would build a great many pretty cottages for poor people to live in; and every cottage should have belonging to it a garden, and a field, in order that the poor people might have plenty of vegetables, and a cow, and a pig, and some poultry, and they should all learn to read, and to write, and to work, and to be very good."

Sección tercera.

The good Boy whose parents are poor.

The good Boy whose parents are poor, rises very early in the morning; and all day long does as much as he can to help his father and mother.

When he goes to school, he walks quickly, and does not lose time on the road. "My parents," says he, "are very good, to save some of their money, in order that I may learn to read and write; but they cannot give much, nor can they spare me long; therefore I must learn as fast as I can: if any body has time to lose, I am sure I have not. I should be very sorry, when I leave my parents, not to be able to read their letters, and to write them word where I am, and how I do. And I must learn accounts, for when I grow up, I shall have many things to reckon about my work, and what I buy: I shall perhaps have bills to make out, as my father has; and perhaps I shall be employed in a shop."

When he has finished his lessons, he does not stay to play, but goes home; he wants to see his father and mother, and to help them, and to nurse the little baby. He often sees naughty boys in the streets, and the fields, fight, and steal, and do many sad things; and he hears them swear, and call names, and tell lies: but he does not like to be with them, for fear they should make him as bad as they are; and that any body who sees him with them, should think that he, too, is naughty.

When he is at home, he is very industrious.

He takes care of the little children; mends his clothes, knits his stockings, and spins worsted: or he weeds his father's garden, and hoes, and rakes it, and sows seeds in it. Sometimes he goes with his father to work; then he is very glad; and though he is but a little fellow, he works very hard, almost like a man. When he comes home to dinner, he says, "How hungry I am! and how good this bread is, and this bacon! Indeed, I think every thing we have, is very good. I am glad I can work: I hope that I shall soon be able to earn all my clothes, and my food too."

When he sees little boys and girls riding on pretty horses, or in coaches, or walking with ladies and gentlemen, and having on very fine clothes, he does not envy them, nor wish to be like them. He says, "I have often been told, and I have read, that it is God who makes some to be poor, and some rich; that the rich have many troubles which we know nothing of; and that the poor, if they are but good, may be very happy: indeed, I think that when I am good, nobody can be happier than I am."

Sección cuarta.

The attentive and industrious little Girl.

She always minds what her father and mother say to her; and takes pains to learn whatever they are so kind as to teach her. She is never noisy or troublesome: so they like to have her with them, and they like to talk to her, and to instruct her.

She has learned to read so well, and she is so good a girl, that her father has given her several little books, which she reads in by herself, whenever she likes; and she understands all that is in them.

She knows the meaning of a great many difficult words; and the names of a great many countries, cities, and towns, and she can find them upon a map. She can spell almost every little sentence that her father asks her to spell; and she can write very prettily, even without a copy; and she can do a great many sums on a slate.

Whatever she does, she takes pains to do it well; and when she is doing one thing, she tries not to think of another.

If she has made a mistake, or done any thing wrong, she is sorry for it: and when she is told of a fault, she endeavours to avoid it, another time.

When she wants to know any thing she asks her father, or her mother, to tell her; and she tries to understand, and to remember what they tell her: but if they do not think proper to answer her questions, she does not tease them, but says, "When I am older, they will perhaps instruct me;" and she thinks about something else.

She likes to sit by her mother, and sew, or knit. When she sews, she does not take long stitches, or pucker her work; but does it very neatly, just as her mother tells her to do. And she always keeps her work very clean: for if her hands are dirty, she washes them before she begins her work; and when she has finished it, she folds it up, and puts it by, very carefully, in her work-bag, or in a drawer. It is but very seldom indeed that she loses her thread, or needles, or any thing she has to work with. She keeps her needles and thread in her housewife: and she has a pincushion on which she puts her pins. She does not stick needles on her sleeve, or put pins, in her mouth: for she has been told those are silly, dangerous tricks; and she always pays attention to what is said to her.

She takes care of her own clothes: and folds them up very neatly. She knows exactly where she puts them; and, I believe, she could find them even in the dark. When she sees a hole in her stockings, or her frock, or any of her clothes, she mends it, or asks her mother to have it mended: she does not wait till the hole is very large; for she remembers what her mother has told her, that "A stitch in time saves nine."

She does not like to waste any thing. She never throws away, or burns, crumbs of bread, or peelings of fruit, or little bits of muslin, or linen, or ends of thread: for she has seen the chickens and the little birds picking up crumbs, and the pigs feeding upon peelings of fruit; and she has seen the ragman go about gathering rags, which, her mother has told her, he sells to people who make paper of them.

When she goes with her mother, into the kitchen, and the dairy, she takes notice of every thing she sees; but she does not meddle with any thing without leave. She knows how puddings, tarts, butter, and bread, are made.

She can iron her own clothes; and she can make her own bed. She likes to feed the chickens and the young turkeys, and to give them clean water to drink, and to wash themselves in; she likes to do little jobs for her mother: she likes to be employed, and she likes to be useful.

If all little girls would be so attentive and industrious, how they would delight their parents, and their kind friends! and they would be much happier themselves, than when they are obstinate or idle, or ill-humoured, and will not learn anything properly, or mind what is said to them.

EXERCICIO DE LECTURA

adaptado á las secciones de este capítulo.

Caroline and Amelia have had a fine morning walk. They met their brothers, Frederic and William: and they all returned cheerful and happy.

Many things that are used in this country, come from other places.—Figs and raisins, oranges and lemons, come from Spain, Italy and Portugal.

Rice and sugar come from the East and West-Indies. Nutmegs, cinnamon, cloves, pepper, and other spices, come from the East-Indies.

Tobacco grows in Virginia; indigo in Carolina. Tea grows in China; coffee in Turkey and the West-Indies. Prunes and olives grow in France and Spain.

Gold and silver come from Mexico and Peru; marble, from Italy and Turkey; and ivory, from Africa.

Diamonds, pearls, and other precious stones, are found in the East-Indies, and in South America.

The Boy of Dundee.

A poor widow used to spin and work very hard, in order that she might maintain herself, and her little son. She could not read: but she wished her son might learn. and she sent him to school. As he took pains, he learned to read very well.

When he was about twelve years of age, his mother had a paralytic stroke, and lost the use of her limbs; so she was obliged to lie in bed all day long, and she could not spin, or work any more.

As she had not been able to save any money, she could not hire any body to clean her house, and work for her; and she was very much distressed. A poor woman, who was her neighbour, used sometimes to call in to assist her, and to do little jobs for her: but her son was her great comfort. He said within himself; "I will not let my mother die for want. I will work for her: I will maintain her. God, I hope, will bless me, and prosper my work."

He went to a manufactory that was in the town where he lived; and got some work. Every day, he went to the manufactory, and worked hard, harder than if he had worked for himself alone; and in the evening he brought his wages to his poor mother. Before he went in the morning, he always cleaned the room for his mother; and got their breakfast ready; and did all he could to make her comfortable whilst he was absent.

This good boy thought if his mother could read, she could amuse and employ herself, when he was not with her: so he took a great deal of pains, and taught her to read. And when she had learned, she was highy delighted: "Now", said she, "I am very happy. I am, indeed, confined to my bed, and I cannot work: but I can read the Bible, and that is a great comfort to me; and I have one of the best and kindest of sons.

Seccion segunda.

The little Gardener's gift.

A little boy had a garden; and he had a spade, a rake, and a hoe. He was very fond of working in his garden. One summer, he had in it a great many pretty flowers, a lilach tree, a gooseberry bush, and some peas.

When his peas were large enough to be picked, and his gooseberries were quite ripe, he said to his sister; "I will fetch a basket, and pick all my peas, and my gooseberries, and carry them to the poor lame man on the common: he is so ill now, that he cannot ride on the ass, as he used to do, and go to work."

So the little boy fetched his basket, and was very busy picking his peas and gooseberries: and when he had picked them, he carried them immediately to the poor old man, and put them on the table, and laid some money on the table; all the money he had.

The poor old man was sitting by the fireside, quite alone; for his wife was gone out to work, and his children were a great way off. When he saw the little boy come in, and saw him put the peas, and gooseberries, and money upon the table, he smiled, and looked glad, and thanked him very kindly.

The little boy seemed very happy. His sister was pleased to see him so good to the poor old man, and loved him dearly. I dare say, when the old man eat his peas, and his gooseberries, and looked at his money, he thought of the little boy, and said, "I hope God will bless that young gentleman, who is so very good to me."

Sección tercera.

The little Prisoners.

What pains the little birds take to build their pretty, soft, warm nests! How patiently the hen sits upon her eggs, till they are hatched! How diligently and affectionately both the parents feed, and tend their young ones.

A little boy having found a nest of young sparrows, about a mile from the house where he lived, took it, and returned home. As he went along, with the nest in his hand, he was surprised to see that both the parents of the young birds followed him, at a little distance, and seemed to watch whither he was going.

He thought that they would feed the little birds, if they could get to them; so when he reached home, he put the nest and the young birds in a wire cage, and placed the cage on the outside of a window.

The little birds were hungry, and cried for food. Very soon, both the parents, having small caterpillars in their bills, came to the cage, and gave one to each of the young birds, and seemed glad to see them: then, away they flew for more food.

The old birds continued to feed their young ones very diligently, till they were fledged, and seemed able to fly. Then the little boy took the strongest of the young birds, and put him upon the outside of the cage. When the old birds came, as they always used to do, with worms in their bills, they fluttered about, and seemed very glad that one of their little ones had got out of prison.

They wanted him to fly away; but he had never tried to fly, and he was afraid. Then they flew backwards and forwards from the cage to the top of a chimney that was near, as if to show him how easy it was to fly, and that the journey was but short. At length away he flew; and he arrived safe at the top of the chimney. Then the old birds fluttered about, as they did when they first saw him on the outside of the cage, and seemed to rejoice very much.

Next day, the boy put another of the birds on the outside of the cage. The old birds were as glad to see him, as they had been to see the other little bird: and took as much pains to persuade him to fly. Then the boy put out the other two birds which were all he had. When all the little birds were flown, neither they, nor their parents, ever came back to the cage.

I think the little boy must have been much more pleased when he set the young birds free, than he would have been, had he always kept them in prison,

DUTIES OF CHILDREN.

Seccion primera.

Love your father and mother. They love you very dearly; and they have taken care of you ever since you were born. They loved you and took care of you, even when you were poor little helpless babies, that could not talk, nor walk about, not do scarcely any thing but cry, and give a great deal of trouble.

Who is so kind to you as your parents are? Who takes so much pains to instruct you? Who taught you almost every thing you know? Who provide food for you, and clothes, and warm beds to sleep on at night? Who is so glad when you are pleased, and so sorry when you are troubled? When you are sick, and in pain, who pities you, and tenderly waits upon you, and nurses you? Who prays to God to give you health, and strength, and every good thing?

Obey your parents. They know better what is proper for you, than you do; and they wish you to be good, and wise, and happy.

If your parents are sick, or in trouble, do all you can to comfort them. If they are poor, work very hard, that you may be able to assist them. Remember how much they have done, and suffered for you.

Seccion segunda.

Love your brothers and sisters. Do not tease, nor vex them, nor call them names; and never let your little hands be raised to strike them. If they have any thing which you would like to have, do not be angry with them, or want to get it from them. If you have any thing they like, share it with them.

Your parents grieve when they see you quarrel; they love you all with dear love, and they wish you to love one another, and to live in peace and harmony.

People will not speak, or think well of you, if you do not behave kindly to your parents and to your brothers and sisters. "Whom" say they, "will persons love, or be kind to, if they do not love their own father and mother who have done so much for them; and their own brothers and sisters who have the same parents, and the same home as they have, and who are brought up with them?"

Seccion tercera.

Do not meddle with what does not belong to you; nor ever take other people's things, without leave.

Children, never allow yourselves to pluck a flower, or any fruit, that grows in your parents' or other people's gardens, unless you are told that you may do so; never, without leave, take a pin, or a needle, or a bit of thread, from your companions: never, even if your parents are very poor, and have nothing to make a fire with, steal wood from your neighbours' hedges, or branches from their trees. If you steal little things, you will soon learn to steal great things.

Whenever you are tempted to steal, do not say, as some silly, naughty people do: "These are but very little things, nobody will miss them: nobody sees me; and I dare say I shall never be found out." But say: "No, I will not steal: though no man sees me, yet God sees me: and if once I begin, I shall go on stealing. Then every body that knows me, will find me out; and I shall be punished, and despised, and called a thief; and people will be afraid to trust me with any thing that belongs to them. All this, I am sure, will make me very miserable: and oh, what is still worse, God will be displeased with me; for one of his great commandments is, "Thou shalt not steal.

Sección cuarta.

Never tell an untruth.—When you are relating any thing that you have seen, or heard, endeavour to tell it exactly as it was. Do not alter, or invent, any part, to make, as you may think, a prettier story; if you have forgotten any part, say that you have forgotten it. Persons who love the truth, never tell a lie, even in jest.

Consider well before you make a promise. If you say you will do a thing, and you do it not, you will tell a lie: and who then will trust, or believe you? No persons are trusted, or believed, but those who keep their promises. and who speak the truth.

When you have done a wrong, or careless action, do not deny it, even if you are afraid you will be punished for it. If you are sorry for what you have done, and endeavour to do so no more, people will very seldom be angry with you, or punish you. They will love you for speaking the truth; they will think that they may always believe what you say, since they find you will not tell a lie, even to hide a fault, and to prevent yourselves from being punished.

It is very foolish to tell lies; for, soon or late they are found out; and it is very mean and wicked. God himself has said that we must not lie; that he abhors liars, and that he will punish them.

Seccion quinta.

Do not speak rudely to any body, or quarrel with any body.

Who likes quarrelsome, ill humoured people, or likes to be with them, or takes pains to oblige them? They do not look pleasant and cheerful. They are not at all happy. They feel quite uncomfortable. They know they do wrong; and they know that the persons who live with them, do not love them, nor wish to oblige them, as they do those who are kind, and civil, and good humoured.

When you are disappointed of any thing you wished for, do not tease people about it, nor fret, nor cry, nor look sullen. Try to think no more of it, and amuse, or please, or employ yourselves, with something else. No persons can have every thing they desire.

Seccion sesta.

When you see very old people, or people who are very ugly, and deformed, do not stare at them, or laugh at them, or mock them.

Though you are now so young and healthy, you may be very sick, and become thin, and pale, and weak, and look very ugly; or you may have a fall, and break your leg or back, and be lame and deformed.

If you live to be old, your hair will become gray, or fall off: you will lose your teeth; your faces will be covered with wrinkles; you will be very weak, almost like little children; and perhaps, you will be deaf, and blind, and lame.

Would you, then, like, that naughty boys and girls should laugh at you, and play you tricks? No; I am sure you would like that every body shouould pity you, and be kind to you, and try to help you.

Sección séptima.

Never amuse yourselves with giving pain to any body, not even to dumb creatures.

A great many animals are killed, because we want their flesh for food; and a great many are killed, because, if we were to let them live, they would do us harm: but I can see no reason that little boys or girls should kill flies, or pull off their wings, or legs; or catch butterflies, and crush them to death; or steal young birds from their soft, warm, comfortable nests; or whip, and beat, horses and asses, till their sides bleed, and are very sore; or do any cruel actions.

The beasts kill one another: wolves kill sheep; kites, hawks, and eagles, kill little birds; and little birds kill worms and flies: but wolves kill sheep; kites, hawks, and eagles, kill little birds; and little birds kill flies and worms; for food, and not for sport, as some naughty children kill, or torture insects, birds, and beasts. O, it is very cruel sport indeed!

Seccion octava.

Do not waste any thing. If you have more clothes and food than you want, do not spoil them, or throw them away: but give them, or ask your parents to give them, to poor little boys and girls, who have no clothes scarcely to put on, no meat for dinner, and perhaps no bread and milk for breakfast and supper,

When any body is ill in the house where you live, be very quiet, lest you should disturb them. Do every thing you can to make them well again.

When you are ill yourselves, try to be patient:

do not cry, nor be ill humoured to the persons who are so kind as to wait npon you.

Take what is given to you, to make you better, without a cross word, or look. Medicines are not pleassant to taste; but they are meant to do you good.

Seccion novena.

Do not be uncleanly, or untidy, whether you are well, or ill. Keep your hands, and face, and hair, and every part of your body, quite clean; and your clothes neat, and in good order. It is very unpleasant to look at filthy people, or to be near them.

Children who are kept cleanly and tidy, generally grow up much stronger and healthier, and more cheerful and good humoured, than those who are seldom cleaned, and who wear very filthy, ragged clothes.

Seccion décima.

If the clothes, and the food, that are given you, are proper for you, do not find fault with them: but be thankful for them, though they are not what you like as well as some other things.

Do not eat more than is necessary. Persons who eat too much are called gluttons. They are stupid, and heavy, and idle; and, very often, they have a sad pain in their head, and stomach.

Take care of every thing that belongs to you. If you have drawers of your own, keep them in good order. Persons who always put their things in tho proper places, very seldom lose any thing; when they want a thing, they know where to find it; and they need not waste their time in looking for it.

Sección undécima.

Do not, if you can help it, keep company with children who lie, or steal, or quarrel, or use bad words, lest they should teach you to do as they do: and that people, who see you with them, should think, and say, that you too are naughty.

If the people whom you must live with, behave ill, take great care not to learn their bad ways.

If they see that you are very good indeed, perhaps they will learn to be like you. Good people should not learn to be like bad people; but bad people should learn to be like good people.

Seccion duodécima.

Do not be curious to know what people do not wish you to know. Do not looh at their letters or what they are writing, unless they give you leave; perhaps there is something in their letters,, or what they are writing, which they do not wish you to see,

Do not listen at doors, or in any places where people who are talklng, do not see you, or know that you are attending to what they say.

Seccion décima tercera.

Do as you are bid by those who teach you. Take pains to improve in reading, writing, and whatever else your parents are so kind as to teach you, or wish you to learn.

Do not think you know better than your parents, and your teachers. They have lived a great deal longer than you have; they have read, and seen, and heard, a great many things which you know nothing of. You have lived longer than little infants, and you know more, but great boys and girls know more than you do; and men and women know more than great boys and girls do.

Do not read any books but those which your parents, or teachers, give you leave to read. Some books are not proper for you to read: they are like bad companions; they teach wrong things. It is better not to read at all, than to read bad books.

Sección décima cuarta.

Our parents are very good to us; but God is better than our parents, and he has done more for us. He gave us our parents, and every thing we have. He is not a man; he is wiser, and better than any man ever was, or ever can be. He made the sun, moon, and stars; the earth, and the sky; water, trees, and flowers; birds and beasts, fishes and insects; and men, women, and children.

He has made us more excellent than the beasts; for he has given us a soul. It is our soul that knows God, and that he is good, and wise, and powerful. The beasts do not know God, nor the things which he has made; if we were to tell them, they would not understand us. Our souls learn and know a great many things, which the beasts cannot learn. Our bodies will die like the beasts. When we are laid in the grave, worms will devour our flesh, and our bones will crumble into dust. But our souls are immortal; they will never die.

God orders every thing. He keeps us alive; and he makes us die when he pleases. There is nothing which he cannot do. He sees us wherever we are, by night as well as by day; and he knows all that we do, and say, and think. There is nothing which he does not know.

Sección décima quinta.

We must love God. Good people love him more than they love any thing, or any person in the world. They never rise in the morning or lie down at night, without thinking of him, and of the good he has done them. Often in the day, they think of him; and they love to talk, and hear, and read about him.

We must pray to God; that is, we must tell him that we know he is very good, and worthy to be loved, that we hope he will forgive us when we do wrong, put good thoughts into our minds, and help us to be better and better; and that he will bless us, and our parents, and all our kind friends, and give us every good thing that is proper for us.

We must do to all persons what God requires us to do. It is his will that we should not be unkind, even to people who are unkind to us; and that we should do to all persons as we wish they would do to us.

The things that God requires of us will make us good, and happy. If we do them not, he will be displeased with us, and punish us. He can punish us in whatever way he pleases. He can take away all our friends, and every thing that he has given us; and, after death, he can make us very miserable for ever. But if we try to do good, and to do, as he would have us do, he will help us to be good; he will bless us; he will make us feel happy in our minds; and when we die, that is, when our souls leave our bodies, he will take us into heaven; where we shall be with him, and know, and love, and praise him better than any body in this world can know, and love, and praise him. Then we shall never grieve any more; we shall never do wrong any more; we shall be wiser, and happier, than any body who lives here, can be, or can imagine.

Sección décima sesta.

We must love to read the Bible. It is the most excellent and beautiful of all books. God himself commanded good men to write it. There we read of all the great and good things God has done for us, and for all people; how just, and wise, and powerful he is; and what we must do to serve and please him. There we read of good men who loved God and whom he loved and blessed; of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, of Joseph, Moses, Samuel, and David.

There too, we read of Christ, who was so good, and who has done so much for us. He never did harm to any body; he never did any thing that was wrong. He was gentle and patient when he was ill used; he was kind to all persons, even to those who were unkind to him; and when wicked men were just going to kill him, he prayed to God to forgive them.

When we have read, or heard, about Christ, and who he was, and what great things he has done for us, we must love him, and be thankful to him, and try to be like him.

Children, make haste to learn to read, and to understand the meaning of what you read; love to learn your duty, and to do it; then you will be able to read the Bible, and you will love to read it.—There are many things in it which you can understand now, though you are so young. When you are older and wiser, you will understand it better; and if you are good, you will delight in it more and more.

Useful lesson.

An idle boy ought to be looked upon as a nuisance in society.

Like the drones in a bee-hive he is a useless member of the community to which he belongs.

Whilst nature all around teems with employment he must not be the only being at rest.

CAPITULO 13.

El vulgo en Inglaterra, así como en los demás países del mundo, dá una pronunciacion viciosa á un sin número de palabras. Los vecinos de Londres que pertenecen á la clase inculta, equivocan la V con la U, y esta con aquella, nombrando VAIN en vez de UAIN, al vocablo WINE; y UAIN en lugar de VAIN á la diccion VINE.

Importa mucho que el alumno evite tan groseros defectos; algunos de los cuales pondré á continuacion.

pint por point.	dixonary por dictionary.

CAPITULO 16.

Algunas nociones preliminares para comprender bien las reglas de la ortografía inglesa, incluidas en las siguientes secciones.

Una letra es la parte mas pequeña de una palabra.

Las letras en el alfabeto inglés son veinte y seis.

Se dividen en vocales y consonantes, y estas en mudas, semivocales y liquidas.

La vocal es la que suena por sí misma.

La consonante necesita de la vocal para hacerse oír.

Las mudas son las que suenan agregándoles una e; como; b, d, t, be, de, te.

Las semivocales son las que para sonar necesitan que se les anteponga la e: como f, m, n, efe, eme, ene.

Las líquidas son l, r.

Vocal compuesta es el sonido simple que resulta de la unión de dos ó mas vocales, como ai, que hace ei.

Diptongo simple es el sonido compuesto que resulta de dos vocales pronunciadas con rapidez.

Diptongo compuesto, es el sonido doble que resulta de pronunciar con rapidez una vocal compuesta y una vocal simple.

Una sílaba es la parte menor de un vocablo que puede pronunciarse con una sola emisión de la voz: como bit-ter, but-ter-fly.

Palabras son ciertos sonidos artificiales de la voz, que sirven de signo para expresar nuestras ideas.

Monosílabos son palabras de una sílaba; disílabos, de dos; trisílabos, de tres, y polisílabos de muchas.

Las palabras de mas de una sílaba se apoyan con mas fuerza unas que otras; cuando este apoyo se señala con un signo de escritura se llama acento.

En inglés no hay acentos.

Las sílabas son largas, cortas, ó indiferentes.

En la lengua inglesa el apoyo está en las largas, cuando ocurren estas en las palabras.

Las breves también tienen apoyo, pero más rápido que las largas.

Reglas para la ortografía y el deletreo.

El ejercicio de deletrear, así como el de escribir vocablos sueltos á la voz, adelanta en sumo grado al discípulo, el cual, para poderlo hacer, con facilidad y soltura, deberá tener presente las reglas que siguen.

Sección primera.

Reglas para la división de las sílabas.

1.<sup>a</sup> Una sola consonante entre dos vocales se agrega siempre á la última; v. g. ci-ty.

Escepto la x que se junta á la primera: v. g. ex-ist.

En los compuestos, cada consonante acompaña al que corresponde; v. g. up-on.

2.<sup>a</sup> Si son dos y de distinta figura las consonantes, y la primera es muda y la segunda líquida, se agregarán á la última vocal; en los demás casos una á la primera, así como tambien siempre que esta sea una u; v. g. de-clare, gos-ling, public.

Si la vocal primera es preposición ó parte de ella, no se le agregarán las consonantes que la sigan, siendo distintas; v. g. pró-blem.

3.<sup>a</sup> Si las dos consonantes son de igual figura ó de aquellas que no pueden empezar sílaba, se separan; v. g. up-per mon-key.

4.<sup>a</sup> Si vienen tres consonantes en medio de una diccion y fuesen de las que pueden empezar sílaba, no se separan; v. g. res-train. Pero si alguna de ellas pertenece á un compuesto, va con él; v. g. dis-tract.

5.<sup>a</sup> Cuando tres ó mas consonantes, que por si no pueden formar sílaba, estan entre dos vocales, se agregan á la primera aquella ó aquellas que no pueden formar sílaba; las que pueden, á la segunda: v. g. im-prove, but-cher.

6.<sup>a</sup> Nunca se separan dos consonantes que forman un solo sonido; v. g. e-cho, fa-ther.

7.<sup>a</sup> Cuando dos vocales no forman un solo sonido, ni diptongo, deberán separarse; v. g. po-et, di-al.

8.<sup>a</sup> En las palabras derivadas, se separan las silabas y letras adicionales; v. g. sweet-er, bid-ding.

ESCEPCION.

Cuando la palabra derivada termina en e ó g suave se separan estas con la sílaba adicional; v. g. fa-ces, chan-ged.

Cuando se ha suprimido la e final para agregar alguna sílaba, se junta á esta la consonante que precedia á la e en la radical; v. g. bake, baking bak ing.

La terminacion y jamás se pone sola, v. g. san-dy.

9.<sup>a</sup> Las palabras compuestas han de dividirse segun las simples que las forman; v. g. sea-horse.

10<sup>a</sup> Las terminaciones ion, tion, tial, tious, scious, science &c. deberán dividirse en dos silabas, aun cuando se pronuncien como una sola; v.g. pil-li-on, ac-ti-on, par-ti-al, cau-ti ons, pre-ci-ons, con-sci-ence.

Con las muy succinctas y simples reglas anteriores. queda arraigado completamente mi sistema de sonidos ingleses y estraños, y el alumno conocerá facilmente en cualquiera pa-dabrá, si es la vocal ó consonante la que termina la sílaba para dar á esta el sonido correspondiente, segun los preceptos ya dados.

Sección segunda.

Reglas respecto á las consonantes dobles en las voces primitivas.

Regla primera. Los monosílabos terminados en f, l, ó s, y precedidos de una sola vocal, doblan la consonante expresada, v. g. m<sup>ff</sup>, bull, puss.

ESCEPCIONES.

if	as	has	yes	his	us
of	is	gas	this	was	thus

Segunda. Los monosílabos que terminan en las demás consonantes, no las doblan; v. g. fig, mud, tub.

ESCEPCIONES.

ebb	odd	inn	err	butt
add	egg	bunn	purr	buzz

Tercera. Las palabras primitivas de mas de una sílaba, nunca acaban en l doble; v. g. dial, gambol.

Cuarta. La consonante á que precede una sola vocal inglesa ó larga, ó un diptongo, no se dobla; v. g. poker, spouter.

Quinta. La v, x y k nunca se doblan: cuando á la k precede una sola vocal, se le antepone c; v. g., clock.

Sexta. En los disilabos se dobla la consonante que está precedida de vocal corta ó extraña, cuando le sigue la terminación le; v. g. bubble, saddle.

ESCEPCIONES.

codle	frizle	treble	triple
-------	--------	--------	--------

Séptima. Los disilabos terminados en y ó ey se dobla la consonante precedente, siempre que viene después de una vocal breve ó extraña; v. g. folly, valley.

ESCEPCIONES.

En y body	any	copy	busy
study	many	very	city
lily	copy	bury	pity

En ey honey money

Octava. En las palabras terminadas en er, et, ow, se dobla la consonante precedente cuando sigue á una vocal breve ó extraña; v. g. flutter, linnet, tallow.

En er; primer, proper, choler, soder, leper.

En et; claret, closet, comet, cadet, planet, spinet, tenet, valet, alphabet.

En ow; shadow, window.

Novena. En las voces que acaban en ic, id, it, ish, ity, la consonante precedente no se dobla; v. g. frolic, solid, habit, astonish, quality.

ESCEPCIONES.

En ic; attic, traffic, tyrannic.

En id; horrid, torrid, pallid, flaccid.

En it; rabbit, summit, commit.

En ish; skittish, embellish.

En ity; necessity.

Décima. En las palabras que empiezan con ac, af, ef, of, se dobla la consonante cuando la sigue una vocal; v. g. accord, afford, effect, office.

ESCEPCIONES.

En ac; acute, acumen, acid, academy, acanthus, acerbity.

En af; afore, afar.

Undécima. Tampoco se dobla la consonante en las voces que empiezan con am, cat, el, ep, mod, par; v. g. amend, catalogue, elegant, epitaph, modest, paradise.

ESCEPCIONES.

En am; ammoniac, ammunition.

En cat; cattle.

En el: ellipsis.

En par; parry, parrot, parricide.

Sección tercera.

Reglas referentes á las voces derivadas.

REGLA 1.<sup>a</sup>

Los plurales se forman de los singulares con la adición de una s; v. g. house, houses, cat, cats.

Los nombres que acaban en x, ss, sh, y ch pronunciada como ch española, toman es para el plural, v. g. tax, taxes, fish, fishes, ass, asses, watch, watches.

Los que acaban en o hacen en es; v. g. wo woes; los en io hacen en s; v. g. folio, folios.

los en y precedida de consonante, en ies: fly, flies.

los en y precedida de vocal, en s: boy, boys.

los f ó fe en ves: loaf, loaves; life, lives.

Pero si antes de la s tienen otra consonante que no sea la l, ó dos vocales, forman entonces el plural, añadiendo s: v. g. dwarf, dwarfs, chief, chiefs,

Nótese que thief hace thieves, staff, staves, y y fife (pito) fifes (pitos).

REGLA 2.<sup>a</sup>

Cuando una palabra termina en e muda, se le quita para agregarle una terminacion; v. g. pale, palish; blame, blamable.

ESCEPCIONES.

Cuando á las palabras terminadas en ce ó ge se añade ous ó able, conservan la e muda, á fin de que la c ó g no pierdan su sonido suave; v. g. peace, peaceable; change, changeable; courage, courageous.

Si acaban en ee, las conservan; v. g. agree, agreeing.

Las acabadas en ie, truecan la ie en y: v. g. die, dying.

REGLA 3.<sup>a</sup>

Si la terminacion que se agrega empieza por consonante, conserva la e el primitivo; v. g. false, falsely.

ESCEPCIONES.

awe	awful	abridge	abridgment
due	duly	argue	argument
true	truly	judge	judgment
whole	wholly	lodge	lodgment

Los vocablos que finan en le precedidos de consonante, pierden la le, cuando se les añade ly; v. g. noble, idle, nobly, idly, en vez de nobley, idlely.

REGLA 4.<sup>a</sup>

Cuando se agrega una terminacion á un vocablo acabado en y, y precedido de una consonante, se muda la y en i: v. g. try, trial, happy, happier.

Si la terminacion que á tales palabras se añade es ing, conservan la y: v. g. cry, crying.

Si á la y precede vocal, no se cambia la y en i: v. g. play, playing.

Cuando se añade ed ó es á un vocablo que acaba en y, forma esta agregacion una sola sílaba con las consonantes que la preceden; v. g. try, tried, cry, cries.

REGLA 5.<sup>a</sup>

Los monosílabos que tienen el apoyo en la última sílaba, si acaban con una sola consonante precedida de una sola vocal, dobran la consonante al tomar otra sílaba que empieza con vocal; v. g. fog, foggy, admit, admittance.

Cuando la sílaba adicional altera el apoyo, no se dobla la consonante; v. g. confér, cónfer- ence.

REGLA 6.<sup>a</sup>

Las palabras terminadas en l con una sola vocal delante, á las cuales se agrega una terminacion, doblan por lo comun la l, sea que tenga apoyo ó no la última sílaba; como travel, traveller; distil, distiller.

ESCEPCIONES.

Pero si á la l siguen las terminaciones ous, ize, ist, ity, no te dobla, v. g. scandaloust, moralize, loyalist, morality, excepto en estas voces: libellous, marvellous, duellist, tranquillity.

En woolly y woollen, se dobla la l, aunque está precedida de diptongo.

REGLA 7.<sup>a</sup>

Las palabras que finan en consonantes dobles, conservan ambas, cuando se les agrega una terminacion: como add, added, roll, rolled.

ESCEPCION.

Las que terminan en l doble pierden una de estas cuando la terminacion empieza con una consonante; v. g. dull, dully, dulness: ful, full, fulness.

Sin embargo, las palabras illness, shrillnes, siguen la regla.

Nótese que la terminacion full en palabras derivadas, se escribe hoy con una sola l; v. g. plenty, plentiful; y en las compuestas, all, so: also: full fill, fulfil.

Las palabras compuestas conservan la ortografía de sus primitivas; v. g. horseman, glass-house.

ESCEPCIONES.

Wherever Candlemas

Christmas
Lammas

Martinmas
Michaelmas

NOTA.

Al aluınno deberán proponérsele copia de palabras, á fin de que las deletrée y parta en sílabas, con arreglo á los preceptos antecedentes. Este ejercicio, y sobre todo el de repetir vocablos y oraciones cortas á la viva voz del maestro, le harán adquirir firmeza y seguridad en la lectura, y acostumbrarán su oido á aquellas modulaciones peculiares, que forman la parte musical, por decirlo así, de cada lengua, y para la cual no es posible establecer reglas por escrito.
