EXPLANATION.

The dotted Lines AAAAAA include the most known and cultivated part of the Colony of Surinam.

The Line B.B. Separates the Colony of Surinam and Barbice, granted by Charter, from the States to a different Company.

C.C. is the boundary separating the French Colony of Cayenne from that of Surinam. The French pretend, indeed, that the River Marowny divides these Colonies; but it appears, from the Archives & Ancient Maps of Surinam, that while this Colony was in the possession of the English, the River Cinamary was the acknowleged boundary thereof.
