

This image shows a page from a medieval manuscript, likely a lute tablature. The page is enclosed in a decorative border with a repeating floral motif. The central content is a square grid of musical notation. The top row of the grid contains Roman numerals from I to XXII, which serve as fret markers. The left column contains letters (A, B, C, D, E, F, G) representing strings. Each cell in the grid contains a letter (a, b, c, d, e, f, g) indicating the fret position for a specific string. To the right of the grid, Roman numerals from I to XXII are listed, corresponding to the rows of the grid. The entire page is mounted on a dark, textured background.