ANCIENT AND MODERN:

WITH AN ATLAS.

BY J. E. WORCESTER.

A New Edition.

BOSTON.

PUBLISHED BY HILLIARD, GRAY & CO.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1831,
By JOSEPH E. WORCESTER, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of Massachusetts.

PREFACE.

THIS work, in its original form, was first published in 1819; after passing through two editions, it was stereotyped, and in that state it was printed a number of times; it was then written entirely anew, in order to adapt it more thoroughly to the existing state of geographical knowledge, and to improve its plan. After the publication of the second edition, in this new form, it has now been a second time stereotyped; and it may be expected to remain substantially as it now is, till a considerable change shall become desirable.

Frequent and material changes, in a book extensively used by classes, are attended with much inconvenience; but modern geography is a science subject to such variation, that it is necessary that a treatise upon it should undergo occasional alterations, in order that it may be adapted to the existing state of the world or of geographical knowledge. The statistical information is the part of a geographical treatise which is most subject to change; and, in this volume, this information is placed by itself in a distinct division, so that it can be altered as occasion may require, without affecting the main body of the work. In the last two editions, the statistical tables were inserted in the Atlas, but they are now restored to the book, as there are some advantages in having them in this form.

The Elements and the Atlas are intended to be used throughout in connection with each other; and questions to be answered from the maps, are inserted throughout the book, in the order in which it is deemed most suitable that they should be attended to.

The paragraphs which form the different sections, or subdivisions, are numbered, and at the bottom of the page are placed, with corresponding numbers, questions for examination, which will be found useful as a help both to the student in preparing for his recitations, and to the teacher in hearing them. It will not be difficult for the instructor to accommodate the manner of studying the book to the circumstances of his scholars, with regard to the thoroughness with which it is to be learned. In many cases, the learners will probably be required to repeat the substance of the paragraphs in answer to the questions which respectively relate to them, and in others, to mention only the principal point embraced by the question. In cases in which the circumstances of the pupil do not admit of his studying the whole work thoroughly, the teacher can easily mark for omission such paragraphs as he deems least important.

The author takes the liberty to suggest, that after the pupil shall have gone through the different parts of the work, it will be useful for him to revise it, with reference to a series of questions embracing the most important matters, which it is desirable should be permanently fixed in memory, and to which answers are to be found, partly in the Book, partly on the Maps, and partly in the Statistical Tables.

The following questions embrace some of the most important matters; and more or less of them might be advantageously asked, in review, with respect to each of the general divisions and subdivisions of the earth.—

How is the country, empire, kingdom, or state bounded? Between what parallels of latitude is it situated? Between what parallels of longitude? What capes? Bays? Rivers? Lakes? Mountains? What natural curiosities, or for what is the country distinguished? What is the surface? Soil? What productions? Exports? Manufactures? What is the capital city or town? What other considerable cities or towns? What literary institutions? What is the state of education? What is the character or condition of the inhabitants? What is the religion? What is the population? Number of square miles? Population to a square mile?

The Statistical Tables will be found to contain much information in a condensed form; and as they are generally formed on a graduated scale, it is much easier to gain accurate and comparative knowledge of the matters presented, than it would be, if the information were distributed through the book, in connection with the notice of the several countries to which it pertains. It is not expected that all the tables will be studied throughout the whole of their details; yet the information which is not required to be committed to memory, will be found useful for occasional reference.

In this work, much attention has been paid to the pronunciation of geographical names; and nearly all such as are not perfectly easy to the pupil, have their pronunciation carefully noted. There has also been placed at the end of the volume, a Pronouncing Vocabulary of Geographical Proper Names, containing about 3,000 words, and embracing not only such names as occur in this work, but also many others, which are often met with, and with respect to the pronunciation of which, assistance is often wanted. For some remarks on the pronunciation of these names, and an explanation of the marked letters, see the Observations and Key prefixed to the Vocabulary.

In the pronunciation of ancient proper names, the authority of Walker has been generally followed, with respect to such words as are found in his 'Key.' The pronunciation of a number of ancient names not found in Walker, is given according to Scheller's Latin and German Lexicon.

ELEMENTS OF GEOGRAPHY.

MATHEMATICAL OR ASTRONOMICAL GEOGRAPHY

1. GEOGRAPHY is a description of the earth with its productions and inhabitants.
2. Mathematical or astronomical geography treats of the earth as a part of the solar system ; illustrates, from astronomical principles, its figure, magnitude, and motion ; explains the construction of globes, with their application to the solution of problems ; and describes the methods of projecting maps and charts.
3. The Solar System is composed of the sun, the primary planets, the satellites, and the comets.
4. The Sun is the source of light and heat to all bodies in the solar system ; and it is the centre of motion, round which the planets revolve in elliptical orbits, from west to east.
5. There are 11 primary planets, namely, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Vesta, Juno, Ceres, Pallas, Jupiter, Saturn, and U'ra-nus or Herschel.
6. Those planets which are nearer to the sun than the earth, namely, Mercury and Venus, are called inferior or interior planets ; the others, superior or exterior, their orbits being without that of the earth, as seen on the following page.
7. Saturn is remarkably distinguished from the other planets by being encompassed by a double ring, as represented in the figure on the next page.
8. The orbits of the planets are the paths which they describe in revolving round the sun.

5. What are the primary planets? 6. Which are the inferior, and which the superior planets? 7. For what is Saturn distinguished?
 8. What are the orbits? 9. What is their form?

9. In the following view of the Solar System, the orbits of the planets are described as circles, yet their real form is elliptical.

10. The four planets, Vesta, Juno, Ceres, and Pallas, are very small compared with the rest; and it is but a few years since they were first discovered.

11. There are 18 Satellites or secondary planets. The Earth has 1, Jupiter 4, Saturn 7, and Uranus 6. These revolve round their primaries, and accompany them in their annual revolutions round the sun.

12. The Comets are bodies revolving round the sun in very eccentric orbits, and move in all directions. The number of them is not ascertained, and their nature is but little known.

13. Those stars, which always retain nearly the same situation with respect to each other, are called Fixed Stars. About 1,000 are seen by the naked eye in the visible horizon, in each hemisphere ; but by the use of a telescope, many millions may be seen, and their number increases in proportion to the magnifying power of the telescope.

14. The stars are supposed to be suns, around each of which planets revolve, as about our sun.

15. The galaxy or milky way is a broad, luminous zone in the heavens. It is supposed to be caused by an immense number of stars, which, from their apparent nearness, cannot be distinguished from each other.

16. The EARTH is a globe or spherical body, yet on account of its magnitude, its roundness is not perceptible to the eye.

17. It is proved to be round, 1st, by its having been repeatedly circumnavigated ; 2dly, by the circular form of its shadow, as observed in eclipses of the moon ; and 3dly, by the appearance of a ship when approaching the shore, the highest parts being always seen first.

18. The earth is not a perfect sphere, but is flattened at the poles. The equatorial diameter exceeds the polar diameter by upwards of 26 miles.

19. The axis of the earth is an imaginary line passing through its centre.

20. The extremities of the axis are called the Poles, the one north, and the other south.

21. The annual revolution of the earth round the sun, in connection with the obliquity of the ecliptic, occasions the succession of the four seasons.

22. The earth's diurnal rotation on its own axis every 24 hours, is the cause of day and night. This motion, being from west to east, causes the sun and stars to appear to rise in the east, and set in the west, once in 24 hours.

23. The moon has three motions ; one round the earth, in about 29½ days, which causes the moon's apparent increase and decrease, and produces the eclipses of the sun and moon ; another round its own axis, in the same time ; and a third round the sun along with the earth, in a year.

24. An eclipse of the sun is caused by the moon's passing between the sun and the earth ; and can never happen except at the time of new moon.

25. An eclipse of the moon is caused by the earth's passing between the sun and the moon ; and can never take place except at the time of full moon.

DEFINITIONS.

1. Civil or Political Geography delineates the empires, kingdoms, and states, which occupy the surface of the earth, and exhibits the monuments of human industry and skill.

2. Physical Geography is the natural history of the globe, and embraces a view of the sea, the atmosphere, the structure of the earth, together with its rivers, lakes, mountains, minerals, vegetables, and animals.

3. It is the province of physical geography to treat of the earth as it proceeded from the hand of the Creator, including such changes as have been produced by the laws which he has established; but civil geography treats chiefly of the changes which have been effected by man.

4. The division of civil geography comprises the principal part of most geographical systems; yet much of the matter which it embraces belongs properly to physical geography.

5. The surface of the earth consists of LAND and WATER; nearly one third being land, and two thirds water.

6. The proportion of land to water, in the northern hemisphere, has been computed as 72 to 100, and in the southern hemisphere, as only 15 to 100.

7. The LAND is divided by water into continents, islands, peninsulas, isthmuses, and capes; and consists of mountains, valleys, and plains.

8. A continent is a large extent of land, comprising many countries, not separated by water.

9. There are two continents; the Eastern, comprising Europe, Asia, and Africa; and the Western, comprising North and South America. Some reckon six continents, viz, Europe, Asia, Africa, North America, South America, and New Holland.

10. An island is a tract of land entirely surrounded by water.

11. A peninsula is a portion of land almost surrounded by water.

12. An isthmus is a neck of land which joins a peninsula to the main land, or two parts of a continent together.

- DEFINITIONS.—1. What is civil geography? 2. Physical geography?
3. What is the province of each? 4. What is said of the division of civil geography?
5. Of what does the surface of the earth consist?
6. What is the proportion of each in the northern and southern hemispheres?
7. How is the land divided? 8. What is a continent?
9. How many continents are there?
10. What is an island? 11. A peninsula? 12. An isthmus?

13. A cape is a point of land projecting into the sea ; if the land is high and mountainous, it is called a promontory.

14. The WATER is divided into oceans, seas, lakes, gulfs, bays, straits, sounds, rivers, and friths or estuaries.

15. An ocean is the largest extent of water, nowhere entirely separated by land.

16. There are usually reckoned five oceans, the Pacific, Atlantic, Indian, Northern or Arctic, and the Southern or Antarctic oceans.

17. A sea is a smaller collection of water, communicating with an ocean.

18. A gulf or bay is a part of a sea extending up into the land.

19. A strait is a narrow channel, joining two seas, or one part of a sea with another.

20. A sound is a small sea so shallow that it may be sounded.

21. A lake is a large collection of water in the interior of a country.

22. A river is a large stream of water flowing into the sea, or into a lake, or into another river.

23. The right bank of a river is that which is on the right hand of one who is sailing down the river.

24. A frith or estuary is the widening of a river at its mouth into an arm of the sea.

25. The principal POLITICAL DIVISIONS of the earth are empires, kingdoms, and republics.

26. An empire is composed of several large countries, subject to one sovereign, styled an emperor.

27. A kingdom is generally less extensive than an empire, and is subject to a king.

28. If the power of the emperor or king is limited by law, it is called a limited or constitutional monarchy ; if not limited, an absolute monarchy, or a despotism.

29. A republic is a country or state which is governed by persons elected by the people.

30. The four principal RELIGIONS of the world are Paganism or Heathenism, Mahometanism, Judaism, and Christianity.

31. Paganism, the most extensive, is the worship of idols or false gods, and comprises a great variety of systems.

13. What is a cape? 14. How is water divided?

15. What is an ocean? 16. How many are there?

17. What is a sea? 18. A gulf or bay? 19. A strait? 20. A sound?

21. A lake? 22. A river? 23. What is the right bank of a river?

24. What is a frith or estuary?

25. What are the principal political divisions of the earth?

26. What is an empire? 27. A kingdom?

28. What a limited and what an absolute monarchy? 29. A republic?

30. What are the four principal religions? 31. What is Paganism?

32. Mahometanism or Mohamedanism, was founded by Ma'homet in the 7th century, and teaches that there is one God, and that Mahomet is his prophet.

33. Judaism is the religion of the Jews, who are dispersed throughout the world, and who acknowledge the authority of the Old Testament, but reject the New.

34. Christianity is the worship of the true God as revealed in the Scriptures. The Christians are distinguished into three general divisions, Roman Catholics, the Greek Church, and Protestants.

35. The Roman Catholics or Church of Rome acknowledge the supremacy of the Pope, and are often called Papists.

36. The Greek Church rejects the authority of the pope, but it resembles the Roman Catholic in its forms and ceremonies.

1. As the earth is a round body, the most correct representation of its surface is made by means of an artificial globe, on which the different parts of the land and water are drawn according to their natural situation.

2. A map is a representation of the earth, or a part of it, upon a plane or a level surface.

3. The Map of the World is a globe divided into two equal parts, and reduced to a plane or level.

32. What is Mahometanism? 33. Judaism? 34. Christianity?
35. What is said of the Roman Catholics? 36. The Greek Church? 37.
The Protestants?

MAPS.—1. What is the best representation of the earth?
2. What is a map? 3. What is the map of the world?

* N. B.—In studying this section, the pupil, sitting with his face to the north, should have the Map of the World spread open before him, and carefully inspect all the matters here described, as they are delineated on the map. He should be taught to distinguish the points of the compass, north, south, east, and west, and to mark how mountains, rivers, cities, &c. are represented

4. The two parts are called hemispheres or half globes; one named the eastern, the other, the western hemisphere.

5. The top of maps is towards the north; the bottom, towards the south; the right hand, east; and the left hand, west.

6. The Equator or Equinoctial is a line which passes from east to west through the middle of the map of the world, at an equal distance from the poles, dividing it into two equal parts. The northern part is called the northern hemisphere, the southern part, the southern hemisphere.

7. The Latitude of a place is its distance from the equator, north or south, measured on a meridian towards either pole, reckoned in degrees ($^{\circ}$), minutes ($'$), and seconds ($''$).

8. The number of degrees can never exceed 90, as that is the distance of the poles from the equator.

9. A degree is equal to 60 geographical miles, or about $69\frac{1}{2}$ English statute miles.

10. Latitude upon maps is expressed by the figures on their sides. If the figures increase upwards, the latitude is north; if downwards, it is south.

11. Lines drawn across the maps, from right to left, are called parallels of latitude.

12. The Longitude of a place is its distance from the first meridian, east or west, and cannot exceed 180° .

14. Lines drawn from the top to the bottom of maps, or, on the map of the world, from the north to the south pole, are called meridians of longitude.

15. The longitude on the maps in the Modern Atlas accompanying this book, is reckoned from the meridian of London, or of the Royal Observatory at Greenwich, near London; and, on a part of the maps, viz. Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 9, 10, and 11, both from Greenwich and from the city of Washington. On the maps of the Ancient Atlas, longitude is reckoned both from Greenwich and Ferro, one of the Fortunate (now Canary) Islands.

16. The Tropics are two dotted lines drawn on the maps, at the distance of $23^{\circ} 28'$ from the equator. The one north of the equator is called the tropic of Cancer; the one south, the tropic of Capricorn.

17. The Polar Circles are dotted lines drawn at the distance of

4. What are the two parts called?

6. What is the equator or equinoctial? 7. What is latitude?
8. What is the greatest number of degrees of latitude?
9. How many miles are there in a degree?
10. How is latitude expressed on maps?
11. What are parallels of latitude? 12. What is longitude?
13. How is longitude expressed on maps? 14. What are meridians of longitude? 15. From what is longitude reckoned?
16. What are the tropics? 17. What are the polar circles?

23° 28' from the poles. The northern is called the Arctic circle, the southern the Antarctic.

18. The Zones are divisions of the earth's surface, formed by the tropics and polar circles. There are 5 of them, namely, 1 torrid, 2 temperate, and 2 frigid.

19. The Torrid Zone is the space included between the two tropics. This portion of the earth is distinguished for extreme heat, an unhealthy climate, and luxuriant vegetation. To all parts of this zone the sun is twice every year vertical, or directly over head; and the year is here divided into two seasons, the wet and the dry.

20. The two Temperate Zones are included between the tropics and the polar circles. These parts of the globe produce the greatest abundance of the most useful commodities, and afford the happiest residence for the human species.

21. The Frigid Zones lie between the polar circles and the poles, and are regions of perpetual snow and ice, affording but little vegetation or food for the subsistence of man.

22. In the frigid zones, the sun never sets for a certain number of days in summer, and never rises for an equal number in winter.

23. At the poles, one half of the year is day, and the other half night, the sun being there 6 months above the horizon, and 6 months below it.

18. What are the zones? 19. What is said of the torrid zone?
 20. What is said of the temperate zones? 21. Of the frigid zones?
 22. How is it with respect to the sun in the frigid zones?
 23. How is the year divided at the poles?

AMERICA.

1. America is usually reckoned to be the largest of the four quarters of the globe, but to contain the fewest inhabitants. It is about 9,000 miles long from north to south, being much longer than either of the other quarters; but it is much narrower than Asia.

2. It is divided into two parts, North and South America, which are connected by the isthmus of Da'ri-en or Pan-a-mä'.

3. It is distinguished above the other divisions of the globe for the grandeur of its mountains, rivers, lakes, forests, and plains, and for the abundance of its silver mines.

4. America is often called the New World, because it was unknown till the year 1492, when it was discovered by Christopher Columbus of Gen'o-a; but it received its name from Americus Vesputius of Florence, who visited the continent 7 years after the first discovery by Columbus.

- AMERICA.—1. What is said of the extent of America?
2. How is it divided? 3. For what distinguished?
4. What is related respecting its name and discovery?

5. It has become of great importance both in a political and commercial view, and its discovery is justly regarded as the most important event of modern times.

6. America contains every variety of climate; yet its climate is reckoned to be about 10 degrees colder than that of the eastern continent, in the same parallels of latitude.

7. The INHABITANTS consist chiefly of three classes, Whites, Negroes, and Indians.

8. The whites are descendants of Europeans, who have emigrated to America since its discovery; and they form more than one half of the population.

9. The greater part of them consist of descendants of the English and Spaniards. The former are chiefly found in the United States and the British provinces of North America; the latter mostly in Mexico, Guatimala, the West Indies, and South America.

10. The two other most numerous classes of whites are Portuguese, who are found chiefly in Brazil, and French, who are mostly in Canada, Louisiana, the West Indies, and Guiana (ge-ä'na).

11. The negroes are mostly held in slavery, and are descendants of Africans who were unjustly forced from their native country. They are found chiefly in the southern parts of the United States, the West Indies, and Brazil.

12. The Indians are the original inhabitants; and they still possess the greater part of the continent; but the territory in their possession is very thinly peopled.

13. In Mexico and South America, many of the Indians have been brought under subjection to the whites, and they have adopted, in some measure, the habits of civilized life.

14. Most of those who have maintained their independence, continue to rove in their native wilds, retaining their savage character and customs.

15. They are tall and straight, of copper complexion, and fierce aspect, and are capable of enduring great fatigue.

16. They live in miserable huts, called wigwams. The principal employments of the men are hunting, fishing, and war. The domestic and field labor is chiefly performed by the women.

17. The Indians have the virtues and vices of the savage state: they are hospitable and generous; faithful in their friendships, but implacable in their resentments. Their fortitude and patience in enduring suffering, and their contempt of death, invest their character with a kind of moral grandeur; but as a race, they are neither amiable nor happy.

5. In what respects is it important? 6. What is said of its climate?

7. What are the three classes of inhabitants?

8. What is said of the whites? 9. Of what does the greater part consist?

10. What are the other most numerous classes?

NORTH AMERICA.

1. North America comprises three great divisions; 1st, British America, in the north; 2d, the United States, in the middle; and 3d, Mexico and Guä-ti-mä'la, or Central America, in the south; in addition to these, Greenland, in the northeast, belongs to Denmark, and there are Russian Possessions in the northwest.

2. The great range of MOUNTAINS in North America, is toward the western side of the continent, and is connected with the Andes of South America. In Mexico it is called the Cor-dil-le'ras of Mexico; in the territory of the United States, the Rocky Mountains; farther north it is sometimes called the Chippewan Mountains.

3. This range receives its name from its massive and precipitous rocks. The greatest height is not known; but many of the summits are covered with perpetual snow. High Peak, near the sources of the river Platte, is one of the highest that is known.

4. The Alleghany Mountains, which are wholly within the United States, are greatly inferior, in extent and elevation, to the Rocky mountains.

5. The most important islands are Newfound-land (nu'fund-land), Cape Breton (bre-toon'), St. John's, Rhode Island, Long Island, and the Ber-mu'das.

6. The five largest BAYS or GULFS, are Baffin's and Hudson's bays; and the gulfs of St. Lawrence, Mexico, and Cal-i-for'ni-a.

7. The LAKES of North America are the largest collections of fresh water in the world. Some of the principal ones are lakes Su-pe'ri-or, Hu'ron, Mich'i-gan (mish'e-gan), E'rie (e're), On-ta'ri-o, Win'ni-peg, Ath-a-pes'cow, Slave Lake, and Great Bear Lake.

8. The largest of these great lakes is lake Superior, which is 490 miles in length, and is as much affected by storms as the ocean. It is remarkable for the transparency of its waters, and abounds in fish.

9. The Pictured Rocks, on the south side of lake Superior, are a range of precipitous cliffs, rising to the height of 300 feet, and are regarded as a great curiosity.

10. Some of the largest RIVERS are the Mis-sis-sip'pi, Mis-sou'ri (mis-soo're), St. Law'rence, Mac-ken'zie, Nelson, Or'e-gon or Columbia, and Del Nor'te.

11. Mackenzie's river rises in the Rocky mountains, and takes different names in different parts of its course. It is the outlet of Slave lake, and flows into the Frozen ocean.

12. Nelson's river also has its source in the Rocky mountains. The name of the head branch is Saskashawan. It is the outlet of lake Winnipeg, and flows into Hudson's Bay.

13. The St. Lawrence is the outlet of the five great lakes, Superior, Huron, Michigan, Erie, and Ontario. It passes by Montreal and Quebec, runs northeasterly, and flows into the gulf of St. Lawrence. It is navigable for ships of the line to Quebec, and for large vessels to Montreal, 580 miles from the sea. The breaking up of the ice on this river in the spring, is described as a stupendous operation of nature.

14. The Mississippi receives the waters of many large rivers, and is of uncommon depth, but of difficult navigation. Boats of 40 tons ascend to St. Anthony's Falls, about 2,400 miles; but ships seldom ascend above Natchez, upwards of 400 miles. The navigation is greatly facilitated by the use of steam boats. The waters are very turbid, and the river overflows its banks every spring, laying the country, for many miles in extent, under water.

15. The Missouri is the western branch of the Mississippi, and is properly considered the main stream, being the larger of the two, and much the longer from the source to the point where they unite. It rises in the Rocky mountains, and is navigable for boats to the Great Falls, 3,970 miles, by the river, from the Gulf of Mexico.

16. The Oregon or Columbia rises in the Rocky mountains, flows southwesterly, and runs into the Pacific ocean. It is navigable for sloops 183 miles.

17. The Del Norte or Rio Brä-vo rises in the Rocky mountains, flows east of south, and runs into the Gulf of Mexico. Its navigation is much obstructed by sand-bars.

GREENLAND.

1. Greenland, an extensive country or island belonging to Denmark, is the most northern region of the globe, but its limits towards the north pole have not been ascertained. The eastern coast is called East Greenland; the western, West Greenland.

2. The aspect of the country is exceedingly dreary, being chiefly composed of barren and rocky mountains, whose summits are covered with perpetual snow and ice. In the southern parts there are tracts which have some vegetation, a few stunted trees, and small shrubs.

3. The country abounds in reindeer, white bears, arctic foxes, sea-wolves, and sea-cows; and it is valuable chiefly on account of its whale fisheries.

4. The Greenlanders are rude and ignorant, of low stature; and are clothed with the skins of the reindeer and other animals. They live almost wholly on animal food, and their habits are extremely filthy.

5. The Moravians have long had settlements at Lich'te-nau, Lich'ten-fels, and other places on the western coast, for the benevolent object of christianizing the natives.

RUSSIAN POSSESSIONS.

1. Russia possesses a large tract of country in the northwest part of North America; but it has few inhabitants except the native Indians.

2. This is a northern, cold, and dreary region, but little known, and contains the high mountains of St. Elias and Fairweather.

3. The number of Russians in this country is only about 1000, who are engaged in the fur trade with the natives. One of their principal settlements is Sitka.

BRITISH AMERICA.

1. British America is a vast extent of country, comprehending all the northern part of the continent, except the Russian Possessions in the northwest, and Greenland in the northeast.

2. It comprises the four provinces of Lower Canada, Upper Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick; the islands of Newfoundland, St. John's, and Cape Breton; and the vast region of New Britain.

3. The government of the whole country is under a governor general, whose residence is at Quebec; and each of the provinces has also a lieutenant governor.

4. The established religion is that of the Church of England, and there are two bishops, one residing at Quebec, and the other at Halifax; but most of the inhabitants of Lower Canada are Catholics.

NEW BRITAIN.

1. This name is applied to all British America, except the four provinces and the islands in the southeast part, and is wholly, with the exception of a few trading establishments, in the possession of the natives.

2. This country is divided into two parts by Hudson's Bay, to the east of which are Labrador and East Main, and to the west, New North Wales and New South Wales.

3. Only a small portion of this region is susceptible of cultivation; and it is, for the most part, a country of dreary mountains and fruitless valleys. The surface is in some parts marshy, in others rocky, but generally barren, or producing only small trees or shrubs.

4. The principal rivers are the MacKenzie, Nelson, Saskatchewan, Severn, and Albany.

5. The largest lakes are Winnipeg, Athabasca, Slave Lake, and Great Bear Lake.

6. It abounds in wild animals, as beavers, raccoons, bears, and deer; and it is chiefly valuable for the fur trade, which is carried on by the Hudson's Bay company, who have established a number of houses and forts.

7. Some of the principal native tribes are the Esquimaux (es/ke-mo) and Knisteneaux (nis'te-no).

8. The Moravian missionaries have settlements, in Labrador, at Okkak, Nain, and Hopedale.

LOWER CANADA.

Falls of the Montmorenci.

1. Lower Canada lies on both sides of the St. Lawrence, and is separated from Upper Canada by the Ot'ta-wâ.

2. The great river St. Lawrence forms the most striking feature of the country. The other principal rivers are the Saguenai (sag'e-nay), St. Maurice, Chaudiere (sho-de-are'), St. Francis, Rich'lieu or So-rel', and Ot'ta-wâ or U'ta-was.

3. The country is intersected by ridges of mountains, with fertile valleys intervening; but the greater part is still covered with forests.

4. The most populous part of Lower Canada consists of a fertile valley, mostly level, through the middle of which the St. Lawrence flows.

5. The climate is subject to great extremes of heat and cold. The winters are long and severe: the thermometer sometimes rises, in summer, to 100 degrees, and sinks, in winter, to 40 below 0.

7. What are some of the native tribes?

8. Where have the Moravian missionaries settlements?

LOWER CANADA.—1. What is the situation of Lower Canada?

2. What rivers are there? 3. What is said of the country?

4. Where is the most populous part? 5. What is said of the climate?

6. There are fine cataracts on several of the rivers, particularly the Mont-mo-ren'ci and Chau-di-ere'.

7. The Falls of the Montmorenci, 8 miles below Quebec, attract much notice. Just at the entrance of the river into the St. Lawrence, it falls over a precipice 240 feet perpendicular, presenting a scene of singular beauty and grandeur.

8. Lower Canada is favorably situated for commerce. Some of the principal exports are fur, timber, and potashes.

9. This country was originally settled by the French, and as many as four-fifths of the present inhabitants are descendants of that nation. They live in great simplicity, resembling a European peasantry; are polite and peaceable, but possessed of little enterprise, and their education is too generally neglected.

10. Their houses are built of stone and plastered; are made extremely warm by means of stoves; but are seldom of more than one story, except in the towns.

11. QUE-BEC', the capital of all British America, is built on a promontory, at the confluence of the St. Charles with the St. Lawrence, nearly 400 miles from the sea, and has an extensive commerce. It is divided into two parts, Upper and Lower Towns, and is built chiefly of stone. It is celebrated for the beauty and grandeur of its surrounding scenery, for its immense strength, and for a battle between the English and French, in which Wolfe and Montcalm were killed.

12. Mont-re-ál', situated on an island in the St. Lawrence, at the head of ship navigation, 180 miles above Quebec, is the most commercial town in Canada, the great emporium of the fur trade, and it contains a magnificent Catholic cathedral. The houses are mostly built of a grayish stone, and the roofs are covered with sheet iron or tin.

13. Some of the other most important towns are Three Rivers, formerly the capital; St. John's, and William Henry or Sorel'.

14. The French, who first settled Canada in 1608, kept possession of it till 1759, when Quebec was taken by the English, under general Wolfe, and the whole province soon afterwards was surrendered to the British.

UPPER CANADA.

1. Upper Canada is separated from the United States by the chain of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence, and from Lower Canada by the Ot'ta-wâ; but its limits to the north and west are not defined.

2. The most of the country is still covered with forests; the part which is settled borders on the St. Lawrence and the lakes, and its surface is generally level or moderately uneven; the soil fertile; the climate healthy, and milder than that of Lower Canada.

3. It is bordered by great lakes and rivers; and it includes one half of the lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron, and Superior. Lakes Nep-is-sing and Sim'coe are considerable lakes within the territory.

4. There are no very large rivers, except those on the borders; two of the most considerable are the Thames (temz) and Grand river.

5. Upper Canada is but recently settled; the population within a few years has increased rapidly, by emigrants from Great Britain and the United States; but there are no very large towns; and the commerce of the province is chiefly with Montreal.

6. YORK, the seat of government, is finely situated on the north-west part of lake Ontario, and has a fine harbor.

7. Kingston, situated at the northeast end of lake Ontario, at the efflux of the St. Lawrence, is the largest town, has an excellent harbor, and considerable commerce; and it is the British naval arsenal of the lake.

8. Ni-ä'ga-ra, formerly Newark, Queenstown, Chip'pe-way, and Mäl'den, were all rendered memorable by events in the late war between the United States and Great Britain.

9. There are two large canals in Upper Canada; Welland canal, connecting lakes Erie and Ontario, 41 miles long; and Rideau (re-dö') canal, connecting lake Ontario with the river Ottawa, 160 miles long.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

1. New Brunswick, situated between Maine on the west, and the gulf of St. Lawrence on the east, is not generally mountainous nor level, and contains much fertile and well timbered land.

2. The principal river is the St. John's, a large and noble stream, which waters a fertile tract of country; and the chief settlements of the province are on or near it.

3. The *pin*es on the St. John's are the largest in British America, and afford a considerable supply for the English navy. The chief exports of the province are timber, fish, and furs.

4. The principal bays are the bay of Fundy, Pas-sa-ma-quod'dy, Merimachi (mer-e-ma-she'), and Chaleur (sha-lure').

5. The bay of Fundy is remarkable for its tides, which rise to the height of 30, and sometimes, in the narrowest part, even to 60 feet. The rise is so rapid that cattle feeding on the shore are often overtaken and drowned.

6. FREDERICKTON, situated near the head of sloop navigation on the St. John's, 80 miles from its mouth, is the seat of government, and contains a college.

St. John's, is much the largest town; and has an excellent harbor and an extensive commerce.

8. St. Andrew's, on an arm of Passamaquoddy bay, and Mer-i-maché, on a bay of the same name, are considerable towns.

NOVA SCOTIA.

1. Nova Scotia is a large peninsula, about 300 miles long, and is separated from New Brunswick, in part, by the bay of Fundy.

2. The surface is uneven, but there are no high mountains. The northeast shores present a dreary and rugged aspect; the soil on the coast is generally poor, but in the interior, better, and in the southwest part, very good; the climate is cold, but healthy.

3. The principal exports are timber and fish; also gypsum or plaster of Paris, which is exported in large quantities to the United States.

4. HALIFAX, the capital, is situated on Chebucto bay, near the centre of the peninsula, and has considerable commerce. It is celebrated for its excellent harbor, and for being the principal English naval station in the northern part of America.

5. Some of the other principal towns are Yarmouth, Liverpool, Lunenburg, and Windsor; at which last is a college, with considerable endowments, called King's College.

6. Nova Scotia was first settled by the French, and called by them Acadia; but was afterwards taken by the English, who gave it its present name.

ST. JOHN'S AND CAPE BRETON.

1. The island of St. John's, or Prince Edward, is governed by a lieutenant-governor, and the island of Cape Breton (bre-toon') is annexed to the province of Lower Canada.

2. These islands are each about 110 miles in length, have a good soil, and are valuable for their fisheries.

3. Louisburg, on Cape Breton, was once very strongly fortified, and is famous for having been twice taken from the French; the first time, in 1745, by the New England troops; the second time, in 1758, by the English.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

1. Newfoundland is situated east of the gulf of St. Lawrence, separated from Labrador by the strait of Bellisle (bel-île'), and is 380 miles in length; but is little settled, and the interior is little known.

2. The country toward the coast is hilly, the shores rugged, the soil unproductive; though timber is abundant.

3. The climate is cold and dreary, subject to fogs, attended with frequent storms of snow and sleet.

4. This island is valuable chiefly for the cod-fisheries, which are carried on upon the shoals, called the Banks of Newfoundland. These are the most valuable cod-fisheries in the world, and employ as many as 3000 small vessels, belonging chiefly to the United States and Great Britain.

5. The settlements are all in the southeast part. ST. JOHN'S, a considerable town, is the capital; the other principal towns are Placentia and Bonavista.

THE BERMUDAS.

1. The Ber-mu'das or Som'ers Islands are situated in the Atlantic, to the east of South Carolina, nearly equidistant from Nova Scotia and the West Indies.

2. They are about 400 in number; but most of them are very small, entirely barren, and uninhabited. The largest is St. George's island, which is 15 miles long.

3. The climate is of a delightful temperature, but subject to violent storms and hurricanes.

UNITED STATES.

1. The territory of the United States embraces the middle division of North America, extending from the Atlantic ocean on the east, to the Pacific on the west, about 3,000 miles from east to west, and 1,700 from north to south.

2. Most of the country which lies west of the Mississippi is still in the possession of the Indians, and also a part of that which is east of this great river.

3. What states and territories belong to the Union?

4. Into what four divisions are they distinguished? Which are the Eastern States? The Middle States? The Southern States? What territories are there? What is the seat of government of Maine? Of New Hampshire, &c.?

42 Which the smallest states? 43. How is Maine bounded? 44. New Hampshire? 45. Vermont? 46. Massachusetts? 47. Rhode Island?

5. The states are all divided into counties, and in the Eastern, Middle, and a part of the Western States, the counties are subdivided into townships; but in the rest they are not.

6. The Eastern States are generally mountainous or hilly. South of Long Island, the coast, in some parts for more than 100 miles from the sea, is mostly a flat sandy plain, elevated but a little above the level of the ocean: but above the head of tide waters, the country becomes first hilly, and afterwards mountainous. The vast extent of country lying between the Alleghany and the Rocky mountains, is, for the most part, but moderately uneven.

7. The two great ranges of MOUNTAINS are the Rocky Mountains in the west, and the Alleghany or Appalachian Mountains in the east. The Alleghany mountains extend from Alabama into the state of New York; or, according to some, nearly to the mouth of the St. Lawrence, including the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

8. The two largest LAKES wholly within the United States are Mich'i-gan and Cham-plain'. Lakes Su-pe'ri-or, Hu'ron, E'rie, and On-ta'ri-o, lie one half in this country, and one half in Upper Canada.

9. The United States contain many large and navigable RIVERS; some of the principal of which are the Con-nect'i-cut, Hud'son, Del'a-ware, Po-to'mac, James, Sa-van'nah, O-hi'o, Ten'nes-see, Mis-sis-sip'pi, Arkansas (ar-kan-saw'), Red River, and the Or'e-gon or Columbia.

10. The United States embrace a great variety of CLIMATE. The forwardness of spring in the northern and southern extremities of the Union, differs about $2\frac{1}{2}$ months. The annual quantity of rain is much greater than in Europe; but the proportion of fair weather is also much greater, as the rain here falls in much heavier showers.

11. The most important PRODUCTION of the Eastern States is grass, of the Middle States, wheat; of the Southern States, wheat, tobacco, cotton, rice, and sugar; and of the Western States, wheat, maize, hemp, cotton, and tobacco.

12. The COMMERCE of the United States is very extensive, and is exceeded by that of no other country except Great Britain.

13. The EXPORTS consist chiefly of raw materials. The five most considerable articles are cotton, flour, tobacco, timber, and rice.

14. The means of common EDUCATION are widely extended, and there are numerous seminaries of learning throughout the country; though there are no literary establishments on so large a scale as many in Europe.

15. The constitution leaves every individual to the free exercise of his own RELIGION; none is established or supported by law. The inhabitants are divided into a great variety of sects, the principal of which are Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Episcopalians, German Lutherans, Quakers, and Roman Catholics.

16. The white INHABITANTS are of European descent, chiefly English, especially the inhabitants of New England, Virginia, and the Carolinas. The Germans are most numerous in Pennsylvania, the Dutch in New York, and the French in Louisiana. Irish, Scotch, Swedes, and Spaniards are found in considerable numbers in different parts.

17. The negroes are mostly held in slavery, and are found chiefly in the Southern States.

18. The most numerous tribes of Indians that are found east of the Mississippi are the Choctaws, Creeks and Cherokees. These tribes reside in the states of Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi.

19. The GOVERNMENT is that of a federal republic. Each state is independent, and has a separate executive, legislature, and judiciary; but the defence of the country, the regulation of commerce, and the general interests of the confederacy, are intrusted to the general government.

20. No country in the world enjoys a more free and equitable system of government. All power originates with the people, who are governed by laws which are enacted by men of their own choice.

21. The Constitution secures to the citizens the grand principles of freedom, liberty of conscience in matters of religion, liberty of the press, trial by jury, and the right of choosing and being chosen to office.

22. The executive power, which is the power that administers the government, is vested in a president, who, together with the vice president, is chosen for 4 years by electors from all the states. The principal subordinate officers, in the executive department, are the secretaries of state, of the treasury, of war, and of the navy.

EASTERN STATES.

23. The legislative power, that is, the power which makes the laws, is vested in a congress, consisting of a senate and house of representatives.

24. The senate is composed of 2 members from each state, chosen by the state legislature for 6 years.

25. The representatives are elected by the people every 2 years. One representative is chosen for every 40,000 inhabitants. In the slave-holding states, 5 slaves are allowed to count the same as 3 freemen.

26. The judiciary power is the authority which dispenses justice, or expounds and applies the laws, and is independent of the legislature: the judges hold their office during good behavior. The supreme court is composed of 7 judges.

27. The United States were originally colonies of Great Britain; but they made a declaration of independence on the 4th of July, 1776; and after a revolutionary war of 7 years, their independence was acknowledged by Great Britain.

28. The present constitution was adopted in 1788, and the government organized under Washington, as president, in 1789.

29. The following view exhibits the succession of the presidents of the United States:

George Washington, from 1789 to 1797	8 years.
John Adams " 1797 " 1801	4
Thomas Jefferson " 1801 " 1809	8
James Madison " 1809 " 1817	8

NEW ENGLAND OR EASTERN STATES.

1. The six Eastern or New England States, lie east of the Hudson. They are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut.

2. The river Connecticut is the largest and finest river of New England. It rises on the borders of Canada, separates New Hampshire from Vermont, flows through the western part of Massachusetts, and the central part of Connecticut, and runs into Long Island sound. It is navigable for sloops to Hartford, 50 miles; and by means of locks and canals, it has been rendered navigable for boats above Bath, N. H., about 300 miles. It flows through a very fine country, and there are upon its banks many pleasant towns.

3. The Merrimack rises in the White mountains, flows through the central part of New Hampshire and the northeastern part of Massachusetts, and runs into the Atlantic below Newburyport. It is navigable for vessels of 200 tons to Haverhill, 18 miles. By means of this river and Middlesex canal, a boat navigation is opened between Boston and the state of New Hampshire, as far as Concord.

4. The SURFACE of the country bordering on the seacoast, to a considerable distance inland, is moderately uneven, in some parts spreading into plains, in other parts hilly, but presenting no considerable elevations. Further in the interior, it becomes greatly diversified with valleys, hills, and mountains.

5. The principal ranges of MOUNTAINS are the Green Mountains, which extend through Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut, and the White Mountains in New Hampshire.

6. The CLIMATE is subject to great extremes of heat and cold, but is very healthy. In the spring, chilling, damp, easterly winds prevail in the country bordering on the seacoast, which are very disagreeable.

7. The SOIL is various; but a large proportion of it is good. It is, for the most part, better adapted to grazing than tillage; and at some distance in the interior, it is generally of better quality than toward the seacoast.

8. The most important PRODUCTION is grass. The country abounds in excellent pastures and meadows, which feed great numbers of fine cattle; and beef, pork, butter, and cheese are among the most valuable productions. Indian corn, rye, wheat, oats, barley, flax, and hops are extensively cultivated. Apples and cider are abundant, and good farms are generally furnished with an orchard.

9. The EXPORTS, in addition to the articles above enumerated, consist chiefly of timber, pot and pearl ashes, and fish.

10. New England is the most commercial division of the United States, and its coast abounds in fine harbors. Boston is the centre of the principal portion of the trade. In the western parts of these states, the trade centres at New York; and in the northern part of Vermont, the inhabitants carry their produce to Montreal.

11. The most important mineral production is iron, which is found in abundance in many places. There are numerous quarries of good marble, Limestone, lead, coal, and some other minerals are found.

12. A larger proportion of the people in the Eastern States, particularly Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, are employed in MANUFACTURES, than in any other division of the Union.

13. New England is distinguished for its religious institutions. The Congregationalists and Baptists are the prevailing denominations. The other principal denominations are Episcopalians, Methodists, Quakers, and Presbyterians.

1. Maine is much the largest, but the least settled of the Eastern States. A great part of it is still an uncleared and almost an unexplored forest.

2. The coast of Maine is indented with bays, of which those of Passamaquoddy and Penobscot are the largest. It is distinguished for its numerous and excellent harbors, and its facilities for commerce.

3. The country is well watered by rivers and lakes; and the surface is much diversified with hills, and some parts are mountainous. Ka-tah'din mountain is the most elevated summit in Maine.

4. The six principal RIVERS are the St. John's, St. Croix, Penobscot, Ken-ne-bee', An-dros-cog'gin, and Sá'co.

5. The Penobscot is navigable for vessels of 300 or 400 tons to Bangor, 52 miles above the mouth of Penobscot bay; the Kennebec is navigable for vessels of 150 tons to Hallowell, 40 miles from the sea.

6. Of the numerous LAKES, Moose-head Lake, one of the sources of the Kennebec, is the largest in New England; being about 40 miles in length. Se-ba'go lake is connected with Portland harbor by a canal, 20 miles long.

7. The forests of Maine abound in timber, which is the principal article of export.

8. AUGUSTA, the seat of the state government since 1831, is pleasantly situated on the Kennebec, and contains an elegant state-house.

9. Portland, the largest town, is delightfully situated on Casco bay, and has one of the best harbors in the world, and an extensive commerce.

10. Some of the other principal commercial towns are Eastport, on an island in Passamaquoddy bay; Belfast, on Penobscot bay, Bangor, on the river Penobscot; Bath and Hallowell (hol'lo-el), on

1. New Hampshire is characterized by bold features; it is the most mountainous state in the Union; and a considerable portion is so broken as not to be susceptible of cultivation.

2. The WHITE MOUNTAINS are the most elevated in the United States to the east of the Mississippi, and display the most sublime mountain scenery. The highest summit of this range is Mount Washington.

3. Some of the other summits in the state are the Great Haystack, near Franconia, Moose-hillock, to the east of Haverhill, and Mo-nad'nock, to the southeast of Keene.

4. The three principal RIVERS are the Con-nect'i-cut, Mer'ri-mack, and Pis-cat'a-qua.

5. Of the LAKES, the largest is Winnipiseogee (win-e-pe-saw'ke), which is 23 miles in length, and of very irregular form. It is a very beautiful lake, surrounded with the most romantic scenery. Near it is Squam lake, a fine sheet of water, 10 miles long.

6. Lake Umbagog, on the borders of New Hampshire and Maine, is represented as but little inferior to Winnipiseogee, in extent and beauty.

7. The most remarkable natural curiosity is the Notch or Gap in the White Mountains, which presents a scenery exceedingly grand and picturesque. The whole mountain range seems to have been cloven down quite to its base, opening a passage for a road, and for the head stream of the river Sâ'co.

8. In the township of Franconia, there is a singular curiosity called the Profile or the Old Man of the Mountains. The high peak on which it is situated, rises abruptly, opposite to the Great Haystack, presenting a bold front of bare rock, a side view of which exhibits a complete profile of the human face.

9. CONCORD, pleasantly situated on the Merrimack, in the central part of the state, is the seat of government. It contains an elegant state-house of stone, and has considerable trade.

10. Ports'mouth is the largest town in the state, and the only seaport. It is pleasantly situated on the Piscataqua, three miles from the sea, and has a very excellent harbor. Here is a United States navy-yard.

11. Dover, 12 miles from Portsmouth, is the most considerable town in the state for manufactures.

12. Exeter, a pleasant town, is celebrated as the seat of Phillips Academy; Hanover, as the seat of Dartmouth College; Nashua Village, for manufactures; Franconia, a small place, is noted for its iron works, and for its sublime natural scenery.

13. Keene, Walpole, Charlestown, Haverhill, and various others, are pleasant towns.

14. Dartmouth College, in Hanover, is a respectable and flourishing institution, and has connected with it a medical school.

15. The first English settlement in New Hampshire, was made near the mouth of the Piscataqua, in 1623. It was formed into a separate government in 1679, before which it was under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts.

1. Vermont is wholly inland; and its most distinguishing natural feature consists of the Green Mountains, which extend throughout the country, from north to south, and which are covered with evergreen trees; and it is from these mountains that the state derives its name.

2. Some of the principal summits are Mansfield Mountain, to the east of Burlington; Camel's Rump, south of Mansfield mountain, and between Burlington and Montpelier; and Killington Peak, to the east of Rutland.

3. Though the surface of Vermont is mountainous, the soil is generally fertile; and the proportion that is unfit for cultivation is less than in New Hampshire.

4. Connecticut river forms the eastern boundary. The principal rivers within the state are the Otter Creek, Onion, La Moille, and Missisque (mis-sis'ke).

5. Lake Champlain lies between this state and New York, and contains three considerable islands which belong to Vermont. Lake Mem-phre-ma'gog is partly in Vermont and partly in Canada.

6. There are several remarkable caves which are regarded as curiosities, two of which are at Clarendon and Plymouth.

7. MONT-PE'LIER, the seat of government, is situated near the centre of the state, on Onion river, in a pleasant valley, surrounded by mountains.

8. Burlington, on lake Champlain, is the largest and most commercial town, and is remarkable for its delightful situation, and beautiful landscapes.

9. Middle-bu-ry, on the river Otter Creek, at the falls, is distinguished for manufactures, and an excellent quarry of marble.

10. Rutland and Ver-gennes', also on the Otter Creek, and St. Alban's, on lake Champlain, are places of some importance.

11. Windsor and Brattle-bor-ough, on Connecticut river, and also Woodstock, are pleasant and flourishing towns.

12. Ben'ning-ton, near the southwest corner of the state, is remarkable for being the oldest town in Vermont, and for a battle during the revolutionary war.

13. Vermont has two COLLEGES, one, styled the University of Vermont, at Burlington; and Middlebury College, at Middlebury.

14. Vermont was settled much later than the other New England States, and was not admitted into the Union as an independent state till 1791.

of Narraganset bay ; the Nash'u-a into the Merrimack ; the Chick'-a-pee and Miller's river into the Connecticut ; and the Hou-sa-ton'ic rises in the western part.

5. The principal BAYS are Massachusetts bay, between Cape Ann and Cape Cod ; Barn'sta-ble bay and Buz'zard's bay.

6. The peninsula of Cape Cod forms a remarkable feature of the state, and is in the form of a man's arm bent inward. It is mostly sandy and barren, and the inhabitants obtain their subsistence chiefly from the sea.

7. The two principal ISLANDS are Nan-tuck'et and Martha's Vineyard, neither of which is very fertile. To the southeast of the former are the Nantucket shoals, where many vessels have been shipwrecked.

8. Some of the curiosities are Lynn-Beach, which connects the peninsula of Nahant with the main land ; a hieroglyphic inscription on a rock on Taunton river in Dighton ; and Mount Holyoke near Northampton, which affords an extensive and delightful view of the country bordering on Connecticut river.

9. Middlesex Canal, which connects Boston harbor with the Merrimack, is 30 miles long. It was completed in 1804, and was at that time the most considerable canal in the United States. Blackstone Canal extends from Worcester to Providence, and is 45 miles in length.

10. BOSTON, the capital of Massachusetts, and the literary and commercial metropolis of New England, is an opulent and well built city, finely situated on a peninsula at the head of Massachusetts bay, has an excellent harbor, and is the second town with respect to commerce in the Union.

11. Salem, 14 miles N. E. of Boston, is the second town in the state for population and commerce ; and New'bu-ry-port, finely situated near the mouth of the Merrimack, has some trade.

12. Mar-ble-head', Bev'er-ly, and Gloucester (glos'ter), are largely concerned in the Bank or cod fishery.

13. New Bed'ford, a flourishing commercial town, on an arm of Buzzard's bay, carries on an extensive business in the whale fishery ; and Nan-tuck'et, on an island of the same name, is distinguished for its enterprise in the same trade.

14. Plymouth is celebrated for being the first settled town in New England ; Charlestown, adjoining Boston, is noted for the state prison, the U. S. navy-yard, and an insane hospital, and for being the place where Bunker Hill battle was fought ; Lexington, for being the place where the first blood was shed in the revolutionary war.

15. Low'ell, a newly built and flourishing town, at Pawtucket falls, on the Merrimack, is noted for manufactures; as also are Waltham, and the village of Fall River in Troy, on the borders of Rhode Island.

16. Springfield and Northampton are the two principal towns on Connecticut river; the former is noted for the United States armory; the latter for a seminary called the Round Hill school.

17. Worcester (wûrs'ter), a pleasant and flourishing town in the central part of the state, is connected with Providence by Blackstone canal. Some of the other flourishing towns are Haverhill (ha'ver-il), Dedham, Taunton (tân'tun), and Pittsfield.

18. Cambridge is celebrated for its university; Amherst and Williamstown for colleges; Andover for its theological seminary and Phillips Academy.

19. Massachusetts is distinguished for its LITERARY INSTITUTIONS. Harvard University, in Cambridge, is the oldest seminary in America, and has the richest endowments, and the largest library. It comprises four departments, one for undergraduates, and one for each of the professions of theology, medicine, and law.

20. Williams College, at Williamstown, is a respectable institution; Amherst College has risen rapidly to a high state of prosperity; the theological seminary at Andover is richly endowed and flourishing; and there is a Baptist theological seminary at Newton.

21. Massachusetts originally formed two colonies, Plymouth and Massachusetts bay, which were united under one government in 1692. The first English settlement in New England was made at Plymouth by 101 Puritans, who fled from religious persecution in England. They landed on the 22d of December, 1620; the anniversary is still observed. Salem was settled in 1628; Boston in 1630.

Kent	East Greenwich	Washington	South Kingston
Newport	NEWPORT

1. Rhode Island is the smallest state in the Union in extent of territory, but the first, in proportion to its population, with regard to manufactures.

2. The most distinguishing natural feature is Nar-ra-gan'set bay, which is a beautiful expanse of water, about 30 miles in length, intersecting the state from north to south. Paw-tuck'et river flows into the north end of this bay. In Massachusetts it is called Blackstone river, and it gives name to Blackstone Canal.

3. Several ISLANDS lie in Narraganset bay, of which the largest is Rhode Island, a beautiful and fertile island, from which the state derives its name. Block Island is in the Atlantic.

4. The surface is mostly level or moderately uneven, except in the western part, which is hilly and rocky.

5. Mount Hope, an eminence near Bristol, is famous for having been the residence of the Indian king Philip.

6. The soil in the country bordering on Narraganset bay and on the islands, is very fertile; in the western and northwestern parts, it is thin and lean.

7. PROVIDENCE, situated above the head of Narraganset bay, is a very flourishing town, the second in population in New England, and one of the most considerable in the United States for manufactures; and it has also an extensive commerce.

8. Newport, delightfully situated on the southwest end of the island of Rhode Island, is celebrated for its admirable harbor, the salubrity of its climate, and excellence and variety of its fish; but its population and commerce are less than before the revolutionary war.

9. Bristol and Warren, between Providence and Newport, are pleasant towns, and have some commerce.

10. Pawtucket, at the fine falls of the Pawtucket, is distinguished for manufactures.

11. A swamp in the western part of South Kingston, is noted for a famous victory over the Narraganset Indians, called the swamp fight.

12. Brown University, a respectable and flourishing seminary, is at Providence. At the same place the Friends have a large boarding school.

1. Connecticut is a small state, favorably situated; and the inhabitants are distinguished for intelligence and industry.

2. The surface is hilly, but there are no high mountains; the soil generally fertile and well cultivated.

3. The three principal RIVERS are the Connecticut, which flows through the central part of the state; the Thames (temz), which is navigable to Norwich, 14 miles; and the Hou-sa-ton ic, which is navigable to Derby, 12 miles.

4. The Housatonic has a fine cataract of 60 feet perpendicular, on the borders of the town of Canaan.

5. Connecticut is distinguished for various manufactures, and abroad particularly for tin ware, which is sent to almost all parts of the United States.

6. Farmington Canal extends from New Haven to the northern border of the state, 57 miles, where it unites with Hampshire and Hampden Canal, which leads to Westfield, and is to be continued to Northampton—whole length, 87 miles.

7. Connecticut has no very large city, but has many pleasant and considerable towns and villages. HARTFORD and NEW HAVEN are alternate seats of the legislature, and are both very pleasant cities, and are distinguished for their literary institutions.

8. New Haven is situated on a bay which extends up from Long Island sound, and is the largest and most commercial town in the state.

9. Hartford, pleasantly situated at the head of sloop navigation on the Connecticut, 50 miles from its mouth, has considerable trade and extensive manufactures.

10. Middletown, on the Connecticut, 14 miles below Hartford, and Norwich, at the head of navigation on the Thames, have extensive manufactures and some commerce.

11. New London, near the mouth of the Thames, has the best harbor in the state.

12. Litchfield, a pleasant town, is noted for its law school; Stafford for its mineral waters.

13. New London, New Haven, Danbury, Fairfield, and Norwalk, were rendered memorable by events during the revolutionary war.

14. Connecticut is distinguished for its attention to education; and the state has a fund of about 2,000,000 dollars, the interest of which is appropriated to the support of schools.

15. Yale College, at New Haven, is one of the most eminent and flourishing seminaries in the Union, and has connected with it departments for theology, law, and medicine.

16. Washington College, a new and flourishing institution, under the direction of the Episcopalians, is pleasantly situated at Hartford; and at the same place there is an Asylum for educating the deaf and dumb. An institution styled the Wesleyan University, under the direction of the Methodists, was established at Middletown in 1830.

17. Connecticut colony and New Haven colony were originally under separate governments, but were united in 1665. Hartford was settled in 1635; New Haven in 1638. The present state constitution was formed in 1818.

MIDDLE STATES.

1. This division comprises the two great states of New York and Pennsylvania, and the two small ones of New Jersey and Delaware.

2. The three principal RIVERS are the Hudson, Delaware, and Sus-que-han'nah.

3. The Hudson, the great river of New York, rises in the mountains west of lake Champlain, and flows into the Atlantic, below New York city. It is navigable for the largest ships to Hudson, 117 miles, and for sloops to Troy, 150 miles. It is remarkably straight for the distance of 200 miles, and upon its banks are many flourishing towns. The passage of the Hudson through the Highlands is celebrated for its romantic and sublime scenery.

4. The Delaware rises in the Catskill mountains in New York, separates New York and New Jersey from Pennsylvania, and flows into Delaware bay. It is navigable for 74 gun ships to Philadelphia, 55 miles, and for sloops to Trenton.

5. The Sus-que-han'nah, the largest river in Pennsylvania, is formed of two branches; the eastern branch rises in New York, and the western in Pennsylvania. They unite at Northumberland, and the river flows into the head of Chesapeake bay. Its navigation is much obstructed by falls and rapids; yet great quantities of timber descend the river to Baltimore.

6. The CLIMATE is healthy. The east winds in the spring are not so piercing and disagreeable as in New England; and the winters are milder, but more liable to sudden and frequent changes.

7. The most important PRODUCTION is wheat. Rye, barley, oats, buck-wheat, hemp, flax, beans, and pease, are extensively cultivated. Many parts are good for grazing; and beef, pork, butter, and cheese, are important articles of produce. Various kinds of excellent fruit, particularly apples, peaches, and pears, are abundant.

8. The Presbyterians are the most numerous denomination of Christians. The other principal sects are Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Lutherans, and Quakers.

9. The COMMERCE of the Middle States centres chiefly in the cities of New York and Philadelphia. Baltimore, however, possesses the trade of a great part of Pennsylvania and Delaware.

NEW YORK.

Falls of Niagara.

1. New York is distinguished as the most wealthy and powerful state in the Union, surpassing all the others in population, in the advantages of situation, in great canals, and in resources both from agriculture and commerce.

2. The surface in the eastern part is generally mountainous or hilly; in the western part, level or moderately uneven; and the soil of a large proportion of the state is very fertile.

3. The Cats'kill Mountains are the principal range, and they present very interesting scenery. Here is a small lake elevated upwards of 2,000 feet, from which issues a mill stream, that has falls of nearly 300 feet perpendicular. The High'lands, on the Hudson, near West Point, comprise a number of picturesque eminences.

4. The principal RIVERS are the Hud'son, Del'a-ware, Sus-que-han'nah, Mo'hawk, Os-we'go, Gen-e-see', Ni-ä'ga-ra, St. Law'rence, and Black river.

5. The lakes E'rie, On-ta'ri-o, and Cham-plain' lie partly in New York. Others wholly within the state are lakes George, O-neé'da, Ca-yü'ga, Sen'e-ca, and several smaller ones.

6. Lake George is a body of transparent water, 36 miles long, environed by mountains, with very romantic scenery, and is esteemed the most beautiful lake in the United States.

7. The principal island is Long Island, which is about 140 miles in length. Sta'ten island lies west of Long Island; Man-hat'tan island forms the site of the city of New York; and Grand Island is in Niagara river.

8. New York contains various interesting natural curiosities, of which the Falls of Niagara, between this state and Upper Canada, are the most extraordinary, and are esteemed the grandest object of the kind in the world. There are other cataracts which have a greater perpendicular descent; but there is none where so great a mass of water is precipitated from so great a height.

9. The width of the river at the falls, is three quarters of a mile, and the perpendicular descent, on the Canada side, 151 feet, and on the New York side, 162 feet. The cataract is divided by an island into two parts.

10. The cloud of vapor ascending from the falls, is sometimes visible at the distance of 60 miles; and this serves as a medium for forming, by the sun's rays, the most brilliant rainbows. This cataract is much visited by strangers, and is calculated to excite in the beholder the most sublime emotions.

11. Trenton Falls, on West Canada Creek, 12 miles north of Utica, are a succession of beautiful cataracts, accompanied with highly interesting scenery.

12. Some of the other interesting falls in the state, are the 13. The Ridge Road, or Alluvial Way, is a grand work of nature, extending from the Genesee, near Rochester, to Lewiston, 87 miles, and is now used as a post road. Its usual width is from 4 to 8 rods; and its general elevation above the adjacent land about 30 feet.

14. The mineral waters of Saratoga are the most celebrated in America, and attract numerous visitors; and the Salt Springs, near O-non-da'ga lake, are very valuable, and afford great quantities of salt.

15. The Erie Canal, which forms a communication between the Hudson and lake Erie, extending from Albany to Buffalo, 360 miles, is the most magnificent work of the kind in America, and is much longer than any canal in Europe.

16. The Champlain Canal, which forms a communication between the Hudson and lake Champlain, is 64 miles long, and extends from Whitehall to Watervliet, where it unites with the Erie Canal. The Oswego Canal extends from Oswego to Salina, 38 miles, and unites lake Ontario with the Erie Canal. The Delaware and Hudson Canal forms a communication between the rivers Delaware and Hudson, through the southeast part of the state of New York, and is 65 miles long.

17. ALBANY, the seat of government, and the second town in the state, in population, wealth, and commerce, is advantageously situated on the Hudson, near the head of sloop navigation; and by means of navigable waters and canals, it has an easy communication with a vast extent of country.

18. NEW YORK, situated on Manhattan or New York island, at the entrance of the Hudson into New York bay, is the most populous city in America. It has an excellent harbor; is admirably situated both for internal and foreign commerce; and is the first commercial city in America, and one of the first in the world. It contains many magnificent edifices, among which the City Hall is the most distinguished; and it has 115 houses of public worship.

19. Troy, on the Hudson, 6 miles above Albany, is a flourishing town, and has various and extensive manufactures, and considerable trade.

20. Among the other considerable and flourishing towns on the Hudson, are Newburgh, Poughkeepsie (po-kep'se), Hudson, and Lansingburgh.

21. Brooklyn, on the west end of Long Island, opposite to the city of New York, is one of the largest and most commercial towns in the state; and is famous for being the place where the Americans sustained the greatest defeat that they suffered during the revolutionary war.

22. U'ti-ca, finely situated on the Mohawk river and Erie Canal, in the central part of the state, is a handsome and flourishing town, and has an extensive trade.

23. Roch'es-ter, at the falls of the Genesee, where the river is intersected by the Erie Canal, is remarkable for its rapid growth. It was first laid out in 1812, and is now one of the most considerable towns in the state, and has a very flourishing trade. The Genesee has a fall here of 97 feet perpendicular.

24. Buffalo, pleasantly situated at the point where the canal meets the east end of lake Erie, is a flourishing commercial town.

25. There are many other flourishing towns in the western part of the state, among which are Auburn, on Owasco lake, celebrated for its theological seminary and a state prison; Ge-ne'va, on Seneca lake, for its college; Syr'a-cuse and Sa-li'na, on Onondä'ga lake, for salt works; Sacket's Harbor, at the east end of lake Ontario, for its commercial, naval, and military importance; Lockport, for its locks, and the passage of the canal through the mountain ridge; Can-an-däi'gua, on Canandäi'gua lake; Ith'a-ca, at the south end of Cayuga lake.

26. Plattsburgh, a considerable town on lake Champlain, is celebrated for a great battle during the last war with Great Britain; Sche-nec'ta-dy, on the Mohawk, as the seat of Union College; Sar-atoga and Ballston, for mineral waters; and New Lebanon, for warm baths.

27. Ti-con-de-ro'ga and Crown Point are famous in the history of American wars; and Saratoga, for the surrender of the English general Burgoyne.

28. Education has been liberally patronized by this state, which has a literary fund amounting to about $2,000,000, the income of which is appropriated to the encouragement of learning.

30. New York was first discovered by Henry Hudson, an Englishman, in the service of the Dutch, in 1609; and settlements were commenced by the Dutch in or about the year 1614, at Albany and on Manhattan island. The country was called New Netherlands till 1664, when it was taken by the English, and received its present name.

NEW JERSEY.

1. New Jersey is advantageously situated between the two great cities of New York and Philadelphia, through which its commerce is chiefly carried on.

2. The surface in the southern and eastern part is level; further in the interior, diversified and hilly; and in the northern part, mountainous.

3. The soil in the level country is sandy and barren; but in the other parts, a great proportion is excellent for grazing and tillage.

4. Delaware river divides this state from Pennsylvania, and the Hudson separates the northeast part from New York. The two largest rivers within the state are the Passaic and the Raritan.

5. The Falls of the Passaic, at Patterson, are a fine cataract of 72 feet perpendicular, and are much visited as a curiosity.

6. This state is very rich in iron ore, and great quantities of iron are manufactured; also of leather and shoes.

7. The Morris Canal extends from the Delaware at Easton, across the state, passing by Newark, and connecting Easton with the city of New York. Length 86 miles.

8. TRENTON, the seat of government, is pleasantly situated on the Delaware, at the falls, and at the head of tide water.

9. Newark, on the Passaic, 9 miles from New York, is a very pleasant and handsome town, the largest in the state, and is distinguished for its manufactures, particularly of shoes, and for the excellent cider made in its vicinity.

10. New Brunswick, on the Raritan, has considerable commerce, and is the seat of Rutgers College.

11. Patterson, a flourishing town at the falls of the Passaic, is distinguished for manufactures; Princeton, for its seminaries; Elizabethtown, for being the oldest in the state.

13. Rutgers College is established at New Brunswick; and at the same place is a theological seminary, under the direction of the Dutch Reformed church.

14. The first settlement, in this state, was made at Elizabethtown, in 1664. The country was divided into two parts, East and West Jersey, which were united, in 1702, under the name of New Jersey.

15. This state suffered much during the revolutionary war; and several places, particularly Trenton, Princeton, and Monmouth, were rendered famous by warlike achievements.

PENNSYLVANIA.

1. Pennsylvania, a state of very regular form, has no seacoast; but it communicates with the Atlantic ocean by Delaware river and bay, and its northwest corner borders on lake Erie. It is an important and powerful state, exceeding all the others with regard to manufactures, and is also distinguished for agriculture, and for enterprise in works of internal improvement.

2. Its name is derived from its illustrious founder, William Penn, and it literally signifies Penn's Woods; (Penn and sylva, i. e. woods).

3. It is formed into three natural divisions; 1st, the eastern or southeastern part, which is hilly or moderately uneven. This is the smallest of the divisions, but far the most populous, and generally fertile and well cultivated. 2dly, the middle, comprising more than half of the state. This is mountainous, and though it contains very fertile valleys, yet much of it is unsusceptible of cultivation, and is thinly peopled. 3dly, the western part, which is hilly or diversified, and generally fertile.

4. The central part of Pennsylvania is traversed by various ridges of the Alleghany Mountains, which are known by different names.

6. Pennsylvania is distinguished for its mineral productions, especially marble, iron, and coal. The last is found in great abundance in the neighborhood of Pittsburg, and on the rivers Lehigh, Schuylkill, and Susquehannah.

7. Valuable salt springs are found in the western part; a spring affording mineral oil in the neighborhood of Franklin; and mineral waters near Bedford.

8. Pennsylvania has engaged very extensively in works of internal improvement. The Schuylkill Canal opens a communication from Philadelphia to the coal mines at the sources of the river, in the vicinity of Pottsville, about 100 miles distant. The Union Canal, 78 miles long, forms a communication between the Schuylkill and Susquehannah. The Lehigh Canal, along the Lehigh, is 46 miles long. Pennsylvania Canal and Rail-road, from Middletown, on the Susquehannah, to Pittsburg, 206 miles, a Rail-road from Philadelphia to Columbia, 80 miles long, and other works of the kind, are in progress.

9. About one half of the inhabitants are of English origin; one fourth German; and one eighth Irish. The German language is extensively spoken, and is the only language of some entire neighborhoods.

10. A great part of the trade of Pennsylvania goes to Baltimore and New Orleans. Philadelphia and Pittsburg are the two chief centres of the trade and manufactures of the state.

11. HARRISBURG, pleasantly situated on the Susquehannah, is the seat of government, and contains an elegant state house.

12. PHILADELPHIA, finely situated between the Delaware and Schuylkill, 5 miles above their confluence, is much the largest city in Pennsylvania, and the only one that carries on foreign commerce; and it is the second in size in the United States. It is one of the most regular cities in the world, handsomely built of brick, and is a place of great trade and opulence; and with regard to manufactures, it exceeds every other city in America.

13. Pittsburg is pleasantly situated on a plain between the Alleghany and Monongahela rivers, at the point where they unite to form the Ohio, and is surrounded by romantic hills. It has great advantages by means of its water communication with New Orleans and the Western States, and on account of the inexhaustible quantities of coal in its vicinity. It is the centre of a great trade, and is one of the most considerable manufacturing towns in the United States.

14. Lancaster, situated in a pleasant, fertile, and highly cultivated district of country, is a beautiful town, and the largest in the United States that is not situated on navigable water. The inhabitants are mostly of German origin.

16. Some of the most considerable towns in the western part of the state, besides Pittsburg, are Brownsville, Washington, and Erie.

17. The principal literary institutions are the Pennsylvania University, with its distinguished medical school, at Philadelphia; Dickinson College, at Carlisle; Jefferson College, at Canonsburg; Washington College, at Washington; Western University, at Pittsburg; Alleghany College, at Meadville; Mount Airy College, at Germantown; and the Moravian schools at Bethlehem, Nazareth, and Lit'iz.

18. Pennsylvania was granted, in 1681, by Charles II. to William Penn, who arrived in the country in 1682, and in the following year laid out the plan of the city of Philadelphia. He commenced a friendly intercourse with the Indians, which was not interrupted for more than 70 years.

19. This state acted a conspicuous part in the revolution; it was in her capital, in Philadelphia, that the declaration of independence was made; and several places, particularly Germantown and Brandywine Creek, were rendered famous by battles in the revolutionary war.

DELAWARE.

1. Delaware, which lies on the west side of Delaware river and bay, is, next to Rhode Island, the smallest state in extent in the Union, and is the least diversified in surface. It is divided into three counties.

2. The surface in most of the state is very level; though the northern part is hilly or uneven.

3. The soil of some portions, particularly in the north, is excellent; yet in the greater part of the state, it is thin and sandy, and in many places marshy.

4. Wheat is the staple commodity; and Delaware is noted for its excellent flour.

5. The Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, which is 14 miles long, crosses the northern part of this state, below Newcastle. It completes a water communication by sloops and steamboats between Philadelphia and Baltimore.

6. DOVER, a small town near the centre of the state, is the seat of government.

7. Wilmington, the largest town, is situated between the Brandywine and Christiana creeks, 2 miles from the Delaware, and is celebrated for the number and importance of the manufactories in its vicinity, particularly the flour mills, which form the finest collection in the United States.

8. Newcastle and Smyrna have some trade; and Lewistown is noted for salt works.

9. Delaware was first settled by the Swedes and Fins, as early as 1627; but it was granted to William Penn in 1682; and in 1704, it became a separate colonial government.

SOUTHERN STATES.

1. This division comprises the states of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana; together with the small district of Columbia, and the territory of Florida.

2. The principal RIVERS are the Po-to'mac, James, Ro-an-öke', Cape Fear, Pe-dee', San-tee', Sa-van'nah, Alatomaha (al-ta-ma-haw'), Ap-pa-lach-i-co'la, Al-a-bä'ma, Tom-beck'bee, and Mis-sis-sip'pi. All these rivers, except the Tombeckbee and Mississippi, rise in the Alleghany mountains.

3. The Potomac separates Maryland from Virginia, and flows into Chesapeake bay. It is navigable for large ships to Washington, 295 miles by the river and bay from the Atlantic; and for boats to Cumberland, nearly 200 miles above Washington.

4. James river is navigable for vessels of 120 tons to the falls at Richmond; and for bateaux 220 miles further.

navigable for large vessels to Savannah, 17 miles; and for boats to Augusta.

6. The Alleghany Mountains extend through all the Southern States, which border on the Atlantic.

7. In the Southern States, the tract of country bordering on the Atlantic, and extending, in some places, 130 miles inland, is, for the most part, a flat, sandy plain, elevated but little above the level of the sea. Further in the interior, the country becomes uneven and hilly, and afterwards mountainous. The part bordering on the ocean is called the Low country; and the interior, the Upper or Upland country.

8. The low country is generally covered with pitch pines, and is called pine barrens, being mostly sandy and barren, except the tracts on the streams of water, which are often very fertile. Much of the soil in the upland country is excellent.

9. In the northern parts of this division, the staple PRODUCTIONS are wheat, tobacco, and Indian corn; in the southern part, cotton, rice, and sugar. The pitch pine of the low country, grows in great perfection, and yields pitch, tar, turpentine, boards, and other kinds of timber. These form important articles of export.

10. In several of the Southern States, particularly Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia, valuable gold mines have been recently discovered, which have excited much interest.

11. The winters are mild, but in the low country, the summers are hot and sultry, and from July to the latter part of October, the climate is unhealthy. The upper country has a mild and healthy climate.

12. The principal part of the slaves in the United States are in this division. They are found chiefly in the low country, where field labor is performed almost wholly by negroes.

13. The low country is inhabited by planters, who live at considerable distance from each other, having generally large plantations, with many slaves. They are distinguished for hospitality, and are fond of amusement. The upper country is inhabited by farmers, who have generally small estates with few slaves, and depend chiefly on their own labor for support.

14. The principal emporiums of foreign commerce in the Southern States, are Baltimore, Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Mo-bîle', and New Orleans.

15. The most numerous religious denominations are Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, and Catholics. The Catholics are the most numerous sect in Maryland and Louisiana.

tween the Potomac and Pennsylvania. As it is the first state, in proceeding southward, in which slavery exists to any considerable extent, it is properly classed with the Southern States; though its geographical situation would, perhaps, more naturally place it among the Middle States.

2. The most remarkable natural feature of Maryland is Chesapeake bay, which extends through the state, dividing it into two parts, called eastern and western shores. The eastern part is divided into 8 counties; the western into 11.

3. The two principal rivers are the Sus-que-han'nah, which flows into the head of Chesapeake bay, and the Po-to'mac, which divides Maryland from Virginia. Chesapeake bay has many branches or small bays, and a number of rivers which flow into it have wide and navigable estuaries.

4. All the eastern shore, together with that part of the western which lies below the head of tide water, is an alluvial tract, level or moderately uneven. Above the head of tide water, the country becomes first hilly, and afterwards mountainous.

5. Much of the soil in each of the divisions is highly productive; but the valleys in the mountainous part are the most fertile.

6. The mountainous parts of Maryland abound in iron ore, coal, and limestone. The staple productions are flour and tobacco.

7. The Delaware and Chesapeake Canal connects the north ends of these bays, and opens a water communication between Baltimore and Philadelphia.

8. The Baltimore and Ohio Rail-Road, which is to extend from the city of Baltimore to the river Ohio, about 350 miles, is now in progress, and is the greatest enterprise of the kind undertaken in America.

9. AN-NAP'O-LIS, the seat of government, is a small but pleasant town, and contains an elegant state-house.

10. Bál'ti-more, pleasantly situated on Petapsco river, 14 miles above its entrance into Chesapeake bay, is much the largest town in the state, and the third in size in the Union. It is regularly laid out, handsomely built, advantageously situated for commerce, commanding not only the trade of Maryland, but a great portion of that of Pennsylvania and the Western States, and is one of the greatest flour markets in the world.

11. Fred'er-ick-town and Ha'gers-town are both pleasantly situated in the interior, in fertile districts of country, are handsome and well built towns, and have an extensive inland trade.

12. Some of the other principal places are Cumberland, on the Potomac, and Easton, Chestertown, Cambridge, and Snów'hill, in the eastern part of the state.

sity of Maryland, embracing a flourishing medical school; St. Mary's College, and Baltimore College, all in Baltimore; and St. John's College, in Annapolis.

14. This country was granted by Charles I. to George Calvert Lord Baltimore, a Roman Catholic; the first settlement was formed by his son Leonard Calvert, together with about 200 Catholics, in 1634; and it was named Maryland, from Henrietta Maria, the queen of Charles.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

1. This district is a tract 10 miles square, lying on both sides of the Potomac, between the states of Maryland and Virginia, and is remarkable chiefly for containing the city of Washington. It has an uneven surface, but there are no high hills; and the soil is thin and sandy.

2. WASHINGTON, the seat of the government of the United States, is situated on the Maryland side of the Potomac, 295 miles, by the course of the river and bay, from the Atlantic ocean. The situation is pleasant; and the plan, as laid out, is commodious and extensive; but only a small part of the ground is yet occupied with buildings.

3. Washington contains a navy-yard, and has various public buildings, among which is the Capitol, which is the most magnificent edifice in the United States. It is built of white freestone, with a front 362 feet long; and is finely situated on an eminence, commanding an extensive prospect.

4. Georgetown, on the Potomac, 3 miles west of the Capitol, and Alexandria, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, have considerable trade, chiefly in flour.

5. The literary institutions are Columbian College in Washington, and a Roman Catholic college in Georgetown.

6. Washington became the seat of the national government in 1801. In 1814, it was taken by the British under general Ross, who burnt the Capitol, the President's house, and other public edifices.

Natural Bridge.

1. Virginia is distinguished for having been settled before any other of the states ; for being the largest in extent of territory ; for the high rank which she has always held in the Union ; for being the native land of Washington ; and for having given four presidents to the United States.

2. This state, with regard to surface, consists of three divisions ; 1st, the eastern part, which is alluvial and level ; 2d, the middle (lying east of the Blue Ridge), which is hilly ; 3d, the western division (comprising one half of the state), which is mountainous.

3. The soil in the eastern part, except on the rivers and streams of water, is sandy and poor ; the middle division has the largest proportion of good soil ; to the west of the Blue Ridge there is a spacious and fertile valley ; beyond this the land is broken, and much of it barren.

4. Virginia is traversed by several ranges of the Alleghany Mountains. Of these the Blue Ridge is the easternmost, and passes through the central part, from N. E. to S. W. The Peaks of Otter, summits of this range, are the highest mountains in the state.

5. This state is well supplied with navigable rivers. The Po-to-mac separates it from Maryland; the Ohio, from the state of Ohio; and the Great Sandy River, from Kentucky. The largest rivers wholly within the state, are the Rap-pa-han'nock, York, and James, which flow into Chesapeake bay; the Great Kenawha (ke-naw'wa), which flows into the Ohio, and the Shen-an-do'ah, into the Potomac.

6. The southern part of Chesapeake bay is within this state, at the mouth of which are Cape Charles and Cape Henry, sometimes called the Capes of Virginia.

7. The NATURAL BRIDGE, over Cedar Creek, 12 miles S. W. of Lexington, is esteemed one of the most extraordinary natural curiosities in the world. The small river flows through a gap or chasm, 250 feet deep, 45 wide at the bottom, and 90 at the top; and over this a huge rock, 60 feet wide in the middle, extends completely across.

8. The passage of the Potomac through the Blue Ridge, at Harper's Ferry, is celebrated for its grandeur, and is, according to Mr. Jefferson, "one of the most stupendous scenes in nature."

9. There are several interesting caves, of which the most extraordinary is Wier's Cave, on the northwest side of the Blue Ridge. It is between 2000 and 3000 feet in length, and comprises various apartments, containing beautiful stalactites and incrustations, which display the most sparkling brilliancy, when surveyed by the light of a torch.

10. Near this there is another singular cavern, called Madison's Cave; and in one of the ridges of the Alleghany mountains is Blowing Cave, from which a current of air continually issues, strong enough to prostrate the weeds at the distance of 60 feet.

11. One of the largest mounds in the valley of the Ohio, is in Virginia, near the Ohio, 14 miles below Wheeling. It is about 300 feet in diameter at the base, 60 at the top, and the perpendicular height is 70 feet. It contains thousands of human skeletons.

12. Coal of a good quality is found in abundance on James river, 20 miles above Richmond. Iron ore abounds in the central and western parts; salt springs on the Kenawha; and gold mines have been recently discovered.

13. Virginia has mineral springs which attract much attention; the most noted of which are the Berkley Springs, near the Potomac, 35 miles N. by W. of Winchester; Sweet and Sulphur Springs near Union; Warm and Hot Springs, to the southwest of Staunton. The water of the last is hot enough, at some seasons, to boil an egg.

14. This state has a large fund, the income of which is appropriated to internal improvements.—Dismal Swamp Canal, 22 miles long, opens a communication between Norfolk in Virginia, and Elizabeth City in North Carolina.—The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, which is to extend from the city of Washington to the river Ohio, is now in progress. Its course is partly on the Virginia, and partly on the Maryland side of the Potomac.

15. RICHMOND, the seat of government, has a beautiful and picturesque situation at the head of the tide and at the falls of James river, and is the largest town in the state. It is favorably situated for trade and manufactures; and has an extensive commerce.

16. Norfolk, on Elizabeth river, 8 miles above its entrance into Hampton road, has a good harbor, and is the most commercial town in Virginia. The site is low, and in some places marshy, and the houses not remarkable for elegance. At Gosport, near Norfolk, there is a United States navy-yard.

17. Petersburg, on the Appomattox, at the head of the tide, is the third commercial town, and has considerable trade in flour, tobacco, and cotton.

18. Lynchburg, on James river, where it passes through a mountain ridge, 118 miles west of Richmond, is a flourishing town, and has an extensive trade and considerable manufactures. Great quantities of flour, tobacco, hemp, and other produce, are transported down the river from this town to Richmond.

19. Fredericksburg, on the Rappahannock, near the head of navigation, has considerable commerce; and Winchester, to the west of the Shenandoah, is a handsome and flourishing inland town.

20. Williamsburg, a town now decayed, is famous for having formerly been the capital of Virginia; Yorktown, for the surrender of the British army under Cornwallis; Charlottesville, as the seat of the University of Virginia; Lexington, as the seat of Washington college; Harper's Ferry, for the passage of the Potomac through the Blue Ridge, and for a United States armory; and the flourishing town of Wheeling, for its situation at the point where the Cumberland Road reaches the Ohio.

21. Mount Vernon, a pleasant eminence on the Potomac, 9 miles below Alexandria, is famous for having been the residence of Washington; and Mon-ti-cello, near Charlottesville, for having been the seat of Jefferson.

22. The oldest literary institution in Virginia is the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg.

23. The University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, was first opened in 1825. It is pleasantly situated, and well endowed; and a great sum has been expended by the state for its buildings, library, &c.

24. Washington College, at Lexington, has considerable funds, and Hampden-Sydney College, in the southern part of the state, is a respectable institution. Near this college there is a theological seminary.

NORTH CAROLINA.

1. North Carolina is a large state, and has great agricultural resources; but its commercial prosperity is checked by its want of good harbors, as its rivers have sand bars at their mouths; and it has no large towns.

2. North Carolina, like the other southern Atlantic states, consists of three divisions; 1st, the alluvial and sandy region, which constitutes almost one half of the state, and is covered with immense forests of pine; 2d, the hilly country in the middle; 3d, the mountainous region in the west.

3. The three most noted capes on the coast, are Cape Hatter-as, Cape Look'out, and Cape Fear, which are all formidable to seamen. Cape Hatteras is esteemed the most dangerous cape on the American coast.

4. The principal sounds are Pam'li-co and Al'be-marle.

5. Dismal Swamp lies partly in North Carolina and partly in Virginia; Little Dismal or Alligator Swamp is between Pamlico and Albemarle sounds.

6. The principal rivers are the Chowan, Roan-oke', Pamlico or Tar river, Neuse, Cape Fear, Yadkin, and Catawba. Of these, the Cape Fear affords the best navigation; and it is ascended by vessels of 300 tons to Wilmington, and by steamboats to Fayetteville.

7. Ar'a-rat or Pilot Mountain, northwest of Salem, is regarded as a great curiosity. It rises to the height of several thousand feet, in the form of a pyramid, with an area of an acre at the top, on which a stupendous rock shoots up, like a steeple, 300 feet high. It is seen at the distance of 60 or 70 miles, and formerly served for a beacon or pilot to the Indians in their routes.

8. The gold mines of North Carolina, which have lately excited much interest, are found on the Yadkin and its branches, in the neighborhood of Wadesborough and Salisbury, and extend over a considerable district, in almost any part of which gold may be found in greater or less abundance, mixed with the soil. It exists in grains or masses, from almost imperceptible particles to lumps of two pounds' weight. Iron ore abounds in the state.

9. There are several mineral springs, the most celebrated of which are the Warm Springs, on French Broad river, near the borders of Tennessee.

10. A great part of the produce of this state which is exported, goes to Charleston, in South Carolina, and to Lynchburg and Petersburg, in Virginia.

11. RALEIGH (raw'le), pleasantly situated in the central part of the state, is the seat of government, and contains a handsome state-house, in which there is an elegant marble statue of Washington.

12. Newbern, on the Neuse, 12 miles above its entrance into Albemarle sound; is handsomely built, chiefly of brick, and has considerable commerce.

13. Wilmington, on Cape Fear river, 35 miles from its mouth, is favorably situated for trade, and its exports are greater than those of all the other ports in the state; but its situation is unhealthy.

14. Fayetteville, at the head of steamboat navigation on Cape Fear river, 90 miles above Wilmington, is the centre of more inland trade than any other town in North Carolina.

15. The other principal commercial towns are Edenton, on Albemarle sound; Washington, on the Pamlico or Tar river; and Halifax, at the head of sloop navigation on the Roanoke.

16. Salisbury, near the Yadkin, is noted for the remarkable subterranean stone walls in its vicinity; Salem, the principal town in the Moravian settlement of Wachovia, for a Moravian female academy, which has four brick edifices, four stories high.

17. The University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, 27 miles west by north of Raleigh, is a respectable and flourishing institution.

18. In 1650, the settlement of North Carolina was commenced near Albemarle sound, by some planters from Virginia. North and South Carolina, originally included under one government, were separated in 1727.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

1. South Carolina is favorably situated with regard to agriculture and commerce; and though it has no harbor of the first order, yet it has a greater amount of exports than any other southern Atlantic state. It is distinguished for the opulence of many of its planters; and is the only state in the Union in which the slaves are more numerous than the free inhabitants.

2. In the low or alluvial country, the slaves exceed the free inhabitants in the ratio of more than 3 to 1. This division, comprising less than one third of the territory of the state, contains more than half of the slaves, and only about one fifth of the whites.

3. The three principal rivers are the Sa-van'nah, which separates South Carolina from Georgia; the San-tee' and the Pe-dee'. The other most considerable ones are the Wa-ter-ee', Cam-ba-hee', and Ed'is-to. The Santee is navigable for steamboats to Columbia; the Pedee for large boats about 200 miles; and the Wateree to Camden.

4. The Santee Canal, 22 miles long, forms a junction between the Santee and the Cooper river, which flows into Charleston harbor; and it opens to the city the commerce of the interior of South and North Carolina. A rail-road from Charleston to Hamburg, on the Savannah, opposite to Augusta, 120 miles long, is now in progress.

5. The Alleghany Mountains extend through the western part of the state. The most remarkable summit in South Carolina is Table Mountain, the height of which is stated at 4,300 feet. On one side of it there is a tremendous precipice, nearly perpendicular, called the Lover's Leap, which is regarded as an interesting curiosity.

6. COLUMBIA, the seat of government, is pleasantly situated near the centre of the state, on the Congaree, which is the principal branch of the Santee; and it is regularly laid out and well built.

7. Charleston is much the largest town, and is the principal em-poriam of the commerce not only of South Carolina, but of a considerable part of North Carolina. It is situated on a tongue of land formed by the confluence of Cooper and Ashley rivers, 7 miles from the ocean, and has a convenient harbor for vessels of only 16 feet draught. It is regularly laid out and well built; and many of the houses are furnished with piazzas. The climate of the city is more healthy than that of the low country generally, and it is much resorted to by the planters during the sickly season.

8. None of the other towns are large. Some of the most considerable are Georgetown, on Winyaw bay; Beaufort (bu'fort), on an island in the southern part of the state; Hamburg, on the Savannah; Camden, on the Wateree; and Che-raw', on the Pedee.

9. Education has been liberally patronized by the legislature. The principal literary institutions are the College of South Carolina, at Columbia, which is a well endowed seminary; and the Charleston College, in the city of Charleston.

10. This state, together with North Carolina and Georgia, was first granted to the Earl of Clarendon and others by Charles II., in 1663; and the first permanent settlement was made at Charleston, in 1680.

11. South Carolina was for a considerable time the seat of the revolutionary war; and Charleston and Camden, also the places named Eutaw Springs and Cowpens, were rendered memorable by warlike achievements.

GEORGIA.

1. Georgia is one of the largest states in extent of territory, and one of the most diversified with regard to surface, soil, and climate.

2. The most of the country which lies further south than Milledgeville is level alluvial land; the middle division of the state is uneven and hilly; and the northern part, mountainous.

3. In the middle division, the soil is the most fertile, and a great portion of it is highly productive; and this part is also much the most populous.

4. Georgia has many considerable rivers. The five largest are the Sa-van'nah, O-ge'chee, Alatamaha (al-ta-ma-haw'), Flint, Chat-a-hoo'chee.

5. The Alatamaha is much the largest river, which is wholly within the state, and is formed by the two branches O-co'nee and Oak-mul gee, which unite 120 miles from the sea. Large steamboats ascend the Oconee branch to Milledgeville, and the Oakmulgee to Macon, and the river Chatahoochee to Columbus.

6. In the northern part of Georgia there are interesting falls on the head waters of Savannah river. The river Terrora descends, in the space of a mile, 300 feet, and has one cataract of 60 feet, nearly perpendicular. Toccoa Falls, on a small rivulet, are a beautiful cascade of 186 feet perpendicular.

7. The principal mineral waters in Georgia are the Indian Springs, which are west of Milledgeville, and much visited; and Madison Springs, northwest of Athens.

8. Valuable gold mines have been lately discovered in the northern parts of the state, near the sources of the Chatahoochee, Tallapoosa, and Coosa.

9. The Savannah, Ogeechee, and Alatomaha Canal, which is now in progress, extends from the city of Savannah to the Alatomaha.

10. MILLEDGEVILLE, the seat of government, is situated near the centre of the state, on the Oconee, about 300 miles, by the river, from the sea, and contains a handsome state-house. It is situated on the borders between the alluvial and hilly country.

11. Savannah, on the river Savannah, 17 miles from its mouth, is the largest town, and the principal emporium of the state. It is situated on a sandy plain, elevated about 40 feet above the surface of the river; is regularly laid out, and the streets are ornamented with china trees.

12. Augusta, on the Savannah, 127 miles by land above the city of Savannah, is the second town in size, and has a very flourishing trade. Great quantities of cotton and other articles of produce are conveyed from this place down the river.

13. Ma'con is a considerable and flourishing town on the Oakmulgee. Some of the other principal towns are Da'ri-en, Columbus, Monticello, Madison, and Washington.

14. Franklin College, or the University of Georgia, at Athens, toward the northern part of the state, in an elevated and healthful situation, is a respectably endowed institution.

15. The Cherokee Indians possess a large tract of country in the northwest part of Georgia. New Echota is one of their most considerable villages.

ALABAMA.

1. Alabama, a large state in extent of territory, very recently settled, possesses vast quantities of fertile land, well suited to the production of cotton; has great commercial advantages by means of navigable rivers; and is distinguished for its rapid growth.

2. The surface in the southern part is low and level or moderately uneven, and much of it covered with pine forests; in the middle and northern portions, it is diversified and hilly, and in some parts mountainous.

3. The most extensive bodies of fertile lands, and those which are most cultivated, are between the Tombeckbee and Alabama, and on their branches, and also on the Tennessee.

4. The two principal rivers, the Al-a-bä'ma and Tom-beck'bee, or Tom-big'bee, with their branches, have only one outlet to the sea, through Mobile bay.

5. The Alabama is formed by the junction of the Coo'sa and Tal-la-poo'sa, and unites with the Tombeckbee 45 miles above the bay; and below the union it is called Mobile river. It is navigable for schooners to Cläi'borne, and for boats to Washington, about 260 miles above Mobile bay. The Tombeckbee is navigable for schooners to St. Stephen's, 120 miles above Mobile.

6. The Chat-a-hoo'chee forms a part of the boundary between Alabama and Georgia. The Tennessee flows through the northern part of the state, where it forms an expansion, 25 miles long and 2 or 3 broad, which is called the Muscle Shoals, from the number of soft-shell turtles and fresh-water clams found here.

7. TUS-CA-LOO'SA, a thriving town, situated at the falls of the Black Warrior, is the seat of government.

8. Mo-bile', the largest town, and the principal emporium in the state, is situated on an elevated plain at the head of Mobile bay. It has, for a few years past, been a very flourishing town, and is now one of the principal ports in the United States for the export of cotton; but it is unhealthy.

9. Blake'ley, on the east side of Mobile bay, has some commerce; Ca-haw'ba, on the Alabama, was formerly the seat of government, and Mont-gom'er-y, on the same river, is a considerable town.

10. Two of the principal towns in the north part of the state are Huntsville and Florence. To the latter the Tennessee is navigable for steamboats, by which means it carries on a considerable trade with New Orleans.

11. The University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, is a new but well endowed institution.

12. The Cherokee and Creek Indians possess a large tract in the eastern part of Alabama; and the Choctaws and Chickasaws have possessions in the west.

MISSISSIPPI.

1. The southern part of Mississippi is level or moderately uneven, consisting mostly of pine forests, with some cypress swamps and marshes; the other parts have generally a diversified surface, agreeably distributed into hills and valleys.

2. There is a singular succession of eminences that are seen in descending the Mississippi; besides these there are several distinct ranges of hills of moderate elevation in the state; but there are no mountains.

3. Much of the land bordering on the Mississippi is low, and liable to inundation; to the east of this there is a tract or wide zone, of a moderately elevated and a diversified surface, extending from north to south, covered, in its natural state, with a thick forest, and having an exceedingly fertile soil. But the pine forests, and level lands of inferior quality, constitute more than half of the territory.

4. The great natural feature of this state is the river Mis-sis-sip-pi, which forms its western boundary. The three other principal rivers are the Ya-zoo', Pearl, and Pas-ca-gou'la.

5. The soil and climate are highly favorable to the growth of cotton, which is the chief object of attention here, as well as in Alabama and Georgia.

6. JACKSON, a new town, pleasantly situated near the head of Pearl river, in the central part of the state, is the seat of government.

7. Natchez, finely situated on a high bluff or elevated bank of the Mississippi, 320 miles by the river above New Orleans, is much the largest town, and has an extensive trade, particularly in cotton.

8. All the other towns are small. Some of the most considerable are Monticello, formerly the seat of government, and Port Gibson.

9. Jefferson College, at Washington, is an institution which has considerable endowments.

10. A large portion of Mississippi, comprising the northern and northeastern parts, and including some fine tracts of land, is in the possession of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians. The Choctaws are computed to amount to about 20,000, and the Chickasaws to 6,000.

11. These Indians have made considerable advancement in agriculture and other arts of civilized life; and there are missionary establishments among them at Eliot, Mayhew, and other places, for the purpose of extending to them the blessings of education and Christianity.

12. The first settlement of whites in Mississippi was made by the French at Natchez, about the year 1716; and in 1729, this colony was massacred by the Natchez Indians; but in the succeeding year, this once powerful tribe was extirpated by the French.

13. But few American settlements were made in this country till near the end of the last century. In 1800, the territory was erected into a separate government, and in 1817, into an independent state.

LOUISIANA.

1. The state of Lôu-i-si-â'na is remarkable for embracing the Delta of the great river Mississippi, and is one of the most level states in the Union. It consists chiefly of an immense plain, divided, as respects its surface, into marshes, or swamps, alluvial lands liable to inundation, prairies, pine forests, and hickory and oak lands; embracing every quality of soil from the most productive to the most sterile. In the northwestern parts there are some ranges of hills.

2. All the southern part consists of marshes or low prairie land, covered with reeds or coarse grass, destitute of trees, and intersected by numerous bays, lakes, and rivers. Nothing can be more dreary than the prospect of the immense waste which is afforded from a ship's mast, in sailing up from the mouth of the Mississippi to New Orleans.

rivers throughout the state, comprising, in the whole, more than one fifth of the surface, are liable to be inundated by the overflowing of the rivers.

4. A considerable portion of the state consists of prairies, some of which are of great extent. The Op-e-lôu'sas prairie, in the southwest, is computed to contain more than 6,000 square miles. The soil of the prairie lands varies from the most fertile to the most barren; the surface is generally level; and there are occasionally interspersed fine copses of trees, which give great beauty to the landscape.

5. The four principal rivers are the Mis-sis-sip'pi, Red River, Washitá' (wosh-e-taw'), and Sa-bîne'.

6. Red River, one of the largest tributaries of the Mississippi, rises in Mexico, and in a great part of its course, winds through immense prairies. It is navigable for steamboats to Natchitoches (nak'-e-tosh), 230 miles by the windings of the stream. Above Natchitoches the navigation is interrupted by what is called the raft, which consists of a marshy expansion of the river, clogged up by a compact mass of timber floated down from the upper country. The river is navigable for boats above the raft 1000 miles.

7. The Washitá' is navigable, at some seasons, for steamboats to the neighborhood of the Hot Springs, in Arkansas, 600 miles. The Sabine derives its chief consequence from its forming the boundary between the United States and Mexico. It has a course of about 400 miles, and flows through a prairie of vast extent and uncommon sterility.

8. Some of the principal lakes are Borgne (born), Pont-char-train' (pon-shar-train'), and Mau're-pas (maw're-paw), in the southeast; Mer-men'tau, Cal'ca-siu (kal'ka-soo), and Bis-ti-neau' (bis-te-no'), in the west. Lake Bistineau is surrounded with delightful scenery, and petrifications abound on its shores.

9. The agriculture of Louisiana is exceedingly productive, nor is there any other state in the Union whose exports of its own growth are, in proportion to the population, of so great value. The most important articles of produce in the southern part, are sugar and rice; in the middle and north, cotton. Oranges flourish in the south; and cattle are raised in great numbers in some parts, particularly on the Opelousas prairie.

10. NEW OR'LE-ANS, the capital city of Louisiana, is the great commercial emporium of the immense valley of the Mississippi. It is situated on the east bank of the river, 105 miles by its course from its entrance into the gulf of Mexico. It possesses unrivalled commercial advantages, having a boat navigation above it far more extensive than any other city on the globe, by means of which the produce of a country of vast extent and great fertility, is wafted to its port.

11. Since the purchase of Louisiana by the United States, New Orleans has increased with great rapidity in population and commerce; and its amount of exports of domestic produce now exceeds that of any other city in the Union, except New York. No other American city exhibits such a variety of inhabitants, and such a diversity of manners and languages.

12. Don'ald-son, or Don'ald-son-ville, a small town on the Mississippi, was, for a short time, the seat of government.

13. Baton Rouge (bä'tn-roozh') is pleasantly situated on the first eminence that is seen in ascending the Mississippi, 150 miles above New Orleans.

14. Two of the most considerable villages to the west of the Mississippi, are Alexandria and Natchitoches (nak'e-tosh).

15. The Catholic religion is predominant in Louisiana, and there are Catholic churches in all the considerable villages; but there are few Protestant churches in the state.

16. There are colleges at New Orleans and Jackson.

17. The Mississippi was discovered by Marquette and Joliette, two French missionaries, in 1673. In 1682, the country was explored by La Salle, and named Louisiana in honor of Louis XIV. A French settlement was begun at Ib'er-ville in 1699, and in 1717, New Orleans was founded.

18. In 1803, the extensive country of Louisiana, comprising all the territory now belonging to the United States, lying west of the Mississippi, was purchased of France for the sum of $15,000,000; and in 1812, the southern portion of this country was admitted into the Union as an independent state.

FLORIDA.

1. Florida, the southernmost territory belonging to the United States, consists mostly of a large peninsula, resembling, in its general aspect, the low country of the Southern States. There are no mountains, nor any hills of much elevation.

2. There are considerable bodies of good land distributed at wide intervals throughout most of the country, and in the north there are some finely variegated and fertile tracts; but far the greater part is sterile or unproductive; and much of it, particularly in the south, is marshy.

3. Florida is more distinguished than any other part of the United States for the variety of its vegetables; in some parts its forest trees make a majestic appearance; the magnolias with their large milk-white flowers, are striking objects; and the live oak which is found here in great perfection, furnishes an inexhaustible supply of ship timber.

4. The principal river is the St. John's, which has a sluggish current, and is navigable about 200 miles. The other most considerable rivers are the Ap-pa-lach-i-co'la, Suwaney, and Okeloconne.

5. The soil and climate are adapted to cotton, rice, sugar, indigo olives, oranges, and other tropical fruits.

6. TAL-LA-HAS'SEE, the seat of government, is a new and flourishing town, first laid out in 1825, and is situated about 26 miles north of Appalachee bay.

7. St. Au-gus-tine', pleasantly situated on the eastern coast, is the largest town, and was formerly the capital of East Florida.

8. Pen-sa-co'la, situated on a bay of the same name, was formerly the capital of West Florida. It has one of the best harbors in the gulf of Mexico, and has been selected by the government of the United States for a naval station.

9. The Seminoles are the principal tribe of Indians in Florida, but are much fewer in number now, than they were before the late war.

10. Florida was conquered by the Spaniards as early as 1539. In 1763, it was divided into East and West Florida. In 1821, it was ceded by Spain to the United States, and it has since been formed into one government.

WESTERN STATES.

Indian Mode of taking Buffaloes.

1. The western division of the Union comprises the states of Ten-nes-see, Ken-tuck'y, O-hi'o, In-di-an'a (in-je-an'na), Il-li-nois' (il-le-noy'), and Mis-sou'ri, together with the territories of Mich'i-gan, Hu'ron or Northwest, Ar-kan-sas' (ar-kan-saw'), Mis-sou'ri, and Or'e-gon.

2. All these states and territories, except Oregon, lie in the MISSISSIPPI VALLEY, a term applied to the vast country which is watered by the Mississippi and its numerous tributary rivers, and which extends from the Alleghany mountains on the east, to the Rocky mountains on the west. This valley surpasses in extent all other valleys on the globe, that of the Amazon (and perhaps also that of the La Plata) excepted.

3. The great river MISSISSIPPI, which gives name to this valley, is about a half a mile in width, and very deep. It is the narrowest river on the globe, in proportion to the mass of water which it carries, the extent of country which it drains, and the commercial facilities which its waters afford.

4. This river, together with its tributary streams, is supposed to furnish more than 20,000 miles of steamboat navigation.

5. The largest tributaries on the western side, are the Missouri, Arkansas, and Red River; on the eastern side, the Ohio and Tennessee.

WESTERN STATES.—1. What does the western division of the Union comprise? 2. What is their situation? 3. What is said of the Mississippi? 4. What of the navigation? 5. What are the largest tributaries?

6. The SURFACE of this valley is diversified, but there are no considerable mountains. In some parts it is hilly; a good deal of it is undulating; but the most of it may be regarded as a vast plain.

7. Though this country has barren tracts, yet the soil of a great portion of it is of uncommon fertility; and on the timbered lands, the forest trees are of great size.

8. The climate is various; in the south, warm, and in the north, cold. The winters are more changeable, and the quantity of snow less, than in the same parallels in the country bordering on the Atlantic. Some parts are unhealthy, particularly the inundated lands on the rivers, and the wet prairies.

9. A remarkable feature of this country consists in its extensive PRAIRIES, which are tracts of land entirely destitute of trees, and generally covered with weeds and grass, and are ornamented, at certain seasons, with a profusion of the most beautiful flowers.

10. The prairies are generally very level, and are divided into wet and dry; but the dry or upland prairies form much the greater part. Those which are wet and marshy commonly border on water courses. Many of these natural meadows are of great fertility, and are covered with the most luxuriant vegetation.

11. The prairies are found, to some extent, in the state of Ohio; as we proceed to the westward, the proportion which they bear to the timbered land increases; and after we proceed two or three hundred miles to the west of the Mississippi, they are found to occupy almost the whole extent of country, except the margins of the rivers.

12. The prairies to the west of the Mississippi afford pasture to immense numbers of buffaloes or bisons, also elk, deer, and other wild animals.

13. Herds of buffaloes are here seen, that are supposed to contain more than 10,000. This animal is the chief object of hunting to the Indians; and its flesh is the principal article of food both to the savages and the white hunters.

14. The Indians often attack the buffaloes on horseback, and kill them by piercing them with arrows or balls; and sometimes they decoy the animals, and precipitate them down a precipice.

15. There are found throughout the western country, with greater or less frequency, tumuli or mounds, some of them of immense size. There is no history or tradition that throws any light upon their origin; and it is impossible to ascertain when, by whom, or for what purpose, they were formed.

16. They are commonly found on the most fertile lands, in plains and near large streams. They are mere erections of earth, and indicate little art, yet great labor, in their construction. In some instances, trees several hundred years old are seen growing out of them.

17. Some of the most important productions of the Western States are, wheat, maize, hemp, cotton, tobacco, and cattle.

18. The largest towns are Cincinnati, Louisville, Lexington, Nashville, and St. Louis.

19. The most numerous denominations of Christians are Methodists, Baptists, and Presbyterians. There are but few settled ministers in these states; as much as nine tenths of the religious instruction is supposed to be given by itinerant preachers.

TENNESSEE.

1. The Cumberland Mountains, which are a southwestern range of the Alleghanies, extend through this state in an oblique direction, from northeast to southwest, dividing it into two parts, East Tennessee and West Tennessee.

2. East Tennessee is traversed by various ridges of the Alleghanies, and is an elevated and mountainous country; abounding in grand and imposing scenery, such as is formed by precipitous declivities of mountains, fine cascades, deep and picturesque valleys, with clear and beautiful streams. Much of the country is broken and unproductive; but the valleys are very fertile.

3. The surface of West Tennessee is diversified; in the western part, bordering on the Mississippi, it is undulating, and in some parts level; further to the east, it becomes hilly and mountainous. A great proportion of the soil is of excellent quality.

4. The state is well watered by three large rivers and numerous smaller streams. The Mississippi forms its western boundary; and it is intersected by the Tennessee and Cumberland, which are of great advantage in facilitating commercial intercourse.

5. The Tennessee, which is navigable for steamboats, at some seasons, to Florence in Alabama, and for small boats about 1000 miles, is the largest tributary of the Ohio, and not very much inferior to the main river. The Cumberland is navigable for steamboats to Nashville.

6. The Whirl or Suck, where the Tennessee breaks through the Cumberland mountains, is represented to be as great a curiosity as the passage of the Potomac through the Blue Ridge.

7. Tennessee has many interesting natural curiosities. In the mountainous parts, there are numerous beautiful cascades, some of which have a descent of 200 or 300 feet perpendicular. Caves are numerous, some of them of great extent, containing interesting apartments and objects. On the Enchanted mountains, branches of the Cumberland range, there are footsteps of men, horses, and other animals, in solid limestone, of a fresh appearance, and as distinct as if made in soft clay. Organic remains and numerous petrifications, some of them of large trees, are also found. Many of the small rivers have formed channels through solid limestone, in some instances to the depth of 300 or 400 feet.

8. Marble, gypsum, and iron ore, also nitrous earth in the caves, are abundant. There are also lead mines and salt springs.

9. NASHVILLE, the seat of government, pleasantly situated on the Cumberland, in a fertile and populous district, is the largest and most commercial town, and carries on an extensive trade with New Orleans.

10. Murfreesborough, 32 miles southeast of Nashville, in a central part of the state, was formerly the seat of government.

11. Knoxville, on the Holston, is the principal town in East Tennessee, and has considerable trade and manufactures. There are various other towns containing from 500 to 1500 inhabitants.

12. Nashville University, at Nashville, is a respectable institution, with considerable endowments. East Tennessee College is at Knoxville. Greenville College, the oldest in the state, is at Greenville; and there is a theological school at Maryville.

13. The Cherokee Indians possess that part of this state which lies to the south of the Tennessee and Hiwassee rivers. These Indians have made much progress in the arts of civilized life, and pay considerable attention to education. There are several missionary stations among them, of which one of the most considerable is Brainerd.

14. This country was explored by Daniel Boone, in 1764; and the first permanent settlements were formed in East Tennessee, by persons from Virginia and North Carolina, in 1768 and 1769. The first printing press was established at Rogersville, in 1791. Tennessee formed a part of North Carolina till 1790; and in 1796, it was erected into an independent state.

KENTUCKY.

1. Kentucky is the most centrally situated state in the Union, with regard to the territory belonging to the United States that is as yet settled.

2. The Ohio and Mississippi form almost one half of its boundary. The Great Sandy river separates it from Virginia; and it is traversed by the Tennessee and Cumberland. The principal rivers wholly within the state are Kentucky, Licking, Salt, and Green rivers.

3. Kentucky river, which gives name to the state, is navigable for boats 150 miles. It flows, through a great part of its course, in a deep chasm cut in solid limestone, its perpendicular banks being, in some places, 300 feet high. Similar channels have been formed by some of the other rivers.

4. The surface of the state is greatly diversified. The southeast part is mountainous; the central and southwest parts, undulating and comparatively level; and the country bordering on the Ohio, hilly.

5. A large portion of Kentucky is exceedingly fertile, though there are large tracts that are sterile. The country watered by Licking, Kentucky, and Salt rivers, in the central part of which Lexington is situated, is one of the most delightful and fertile tracts in the United States.

6. All the level and undulating parts lie upon an immense bed of limestone, usually about 8 feet below the surface. In dry seasons the streams and rivulets are liable to fail; and the inhabitants, in some districts, suffer great inconvenience for want of water.

7. In the southwest part there are some extraordinary caves, one of which, called the Mammoth or Kentucky Cave, has been explored to the distance of 10 miles. It contains numerous avenues and apartments, one of which comprises an area of 8 acres, having an arch from 60 to 100 feet high, without a single pillar to support it. In some parts of the cave are found large columns of brilliant spar, 60 or 70 feet in height.

8. Beautiful marble and iron ore are found in abundance; also salt springs, nitrous earth in the caves, and coal in some places.

9. The mineral waters of Harrodsburg and the Olympian Springs are much frequented, for purposes both of health and pleasure.

10. Kentucky is distinguished among the Western States for its manufactures. Its exports, of which the most important articles are hemp, tobacco, and wheat, go chiefly to New Orleans.

11. FRANKFORT, the seat of government, is situated in a deep valley, on Kentucky river, 60 miles above its entrance into the Ohio.

12. Louisville, situated at the falls or rapids of the Ohio, is the largest and most commercial town in the state, and is the greatest port for steamboats between Pittsburg and Natchez.

13. Lexington is delightfully situated on a branch of the Elkhorn, in a beautiful and very fertile country. It is handsomely built, and has various manufactures and an extensive trade.

14. Maysville, on the Ohio, is a very flourishing town, and next to Louisville in commercial importance. There are various other flourishing villages, but none very large.

15. Transylvania University, in Lexington, is the oldest and most celebrated institution in the Western States, and has medical and law schools connected with it. Centre College is established at Danville; Augusta College, at Augusta; Cumberland College, at Princeton; and St. Joseph's College, a respectable Catholic seminary, at Bairdstown.

16. The first permanent settlement of this state was begun on Kentucky river, in 1775, by the famous Daniel Boone, a native of Maryland. It formed a part of Virginia till 1790; and in 1792, it was erected into an independent state.

OHIO.

1. The state of Ohio, which is the most populous and important of the Western States, is of a compact form, lying between the river Ohio and Lake Erie; the southern, and much the larger part, sloping gently towards the river, and the northern part towards the lake.

2. The surface is generally level or moderately uneven, having the aspect of an alluvial country. The eastern and southeastern parts, and some portions of the country bordering on the Ohio, are hilly; but there are no mountains. In the northern division there are extensive marshy tracts, which are the most elevated lands in the state.

3. In the interior, towards the sources of the Great and the Little Miami, Scioto, and Muskingum, there are extensive prairies; but the most of the country was, in its natural state, covered with a dense forest, composed almost wholly of trees whose leaves fall off in the autumn.

4. A great part of the state has a very fertile soil, and more than nine tenths of it are susceptible of cultivation. The settlements have been rapidly and widely diffused, and the country divided into farms of moderate and nearly equal size, more after the manner of New England, than in any other of the Western States.

5. Lake Erie and the river Ohio are of great advantage in facilitating commercial intercourse, the former connecting the commerce of the state with New York, and the latter with New Orleans.

6. The river Ohio, from which the state derives its name, is formed by the confluence of the Monongahela and Alleghany, at Pittsburg, and after a course of nearly 1000 miles, flows into the Mississippi. Its current is gentle, nowhere broken by falls, except at Louisville; and it is of easy navigation. It waters a very fertile country, and is esteemed one of the most beautiful rivers in the world.

7. The principal rivers within the state are the Mus-kin'gum, Hock-hock'ing, Sci-o'to, Great Mi-am'i, and Little Mi-am'i, which flow into the Ohio; the Mau-mee', called also the Miami of the Lake, San-dus'ky, and Cu-ya-ho'ga, which flow into lake Erie.

8. Ohio contains an abundance of coal, iron ore, and marble, and has valuable salt springs.

9. In different parts there are many ancient mounds, and other monuments of the former inhabitants. Some of the principal ones are at Marietta, Worthington, and Circleville.

10. Ohio takes the lead among the Western States with regard to manufactures. Some of the most important manufacturing towns are Cincinnati, Zanesville, Steubenville, and Chillicothe.

11. More than half of the exports go to New Orleans; but much is sent to New York and other Atlantic cities.

12. The Ohio Canal forms a communication between the river Ohio, at Portsmouth, and lake Erie, at Cleveland, 320 miles in length. The Miami Canal extends from Cincinnati to Dayton, 65 miles.

13. COLUMBUS, the seat of government, is a new town, first laid out in 1812, and is pleasantly situated on the Scioto, near the centre of the state.

14. Cin-cin-nä'ti, pleasantly situated on the Ohio, 455 miles by the river below Pittsburg, is the emporium of the western country, and the largest town, next to New Orleans, in the Mississippi valley. It is regularly laid out, handsomely built, mostly of brick, and has a great trade and extensive manufactures.

15. Steu'ben-ville, on the Ohio, Zanes'ville, on the Muskingum, and Chil-li-co'the, on the Scioto, have flourishing manufactures and considerable trade.

16. San-dus'ky and Clève'land, on lake Erie, are flourishing towns, and important places as it respects the commerce and navigation of the lake.

17 There are many other considerable towns, among which are Marietta, noted for being the oldest in the state, and Circleville, for being situated on two remarkable mounds, one of which is a circle, and gives name to the town.

18. The principal literary institutions in this state are, the Ohio University, at Athens; Miami University, at Oxford; the Medical College, at Cincinnati; Kenyon College, at Gambier; and Western Reserve College, at Hudson.

19. The first permanent settlement of Ohio was commenced at Marietta, in 1788, by general Rufus Putnam, from Massachusetts. It has been settled chiefly by emigrants from the Eastern and Middle States. Since 1795, its growth has been exceedingly rapid; it was erected into a state in 1802, and it now ranks as the fourth state in number of inhabitants.

INDIANA.

1. The state of Indiana consists mostly of vast plains; but the southern part, along the Ohio, is skirted by a range of beautiful eminences known by the name of the Ohio hills; and some other parts, particularly towards the north, are hilly, but there are no mountains. It is generally more level than Ohio, and contains a far greater proportion of prairie land.

2. The soil is generally very fertile. Some of the prairies are of great extent, broader than can be measured by the eye; yet the divisions between timbered and prairie lands are more happily balanced in Indiana, than in the country farther west. The prairies are uniformly level and fertile; some of them dry, others wet and marshy.

3. The Ohio and Wa'bash are of great importance in facilitating transportation. The Wabash, a large river, having numerous branches, is navigable 470 miles; and White River, its principal tributary, is navigable for steamboats to Indianapolis. The northern part of the state borders on lake Michigan, and is watered by the Maumee and other rivers that flow into the lakes.

4. Indiana contains numerous caves; but the one that has excited most attention, is found in the southern part. It is of great extent, containing many apartments, and is known by the name of The Epsom-Salts Cave, from its affording vast quantities of that substance.

5. IN-DIAN-AP'O-LIS, the seat of government, is a flourishing town, situated on White river, near the centre of the state, in one of the most fertile tracts of land in the western country. It was first laid out in 1821.

6. Vincennes', on the Wabash, and New Albany and Madison, on the Ohio, are the three largest and most commercial towns.

7. Vevay', on the Ohio, was commenced, in 1804, by 30 Swiss families, and is celebrated for its flourishing vineyards, the oldest and most extensive in the United States.

8. Harmony, on the Wabash, is famous for having first been the residence of a religious sect of Germans, called Harmonists, who had for their leader George Rapp; and afterwards the residence of Robert Owen of New Lanark in Scotland, and his followers.

9. Indiana College is established at Bloomington.

10. Vincennes was settled about the beginning of the last century by French emigrants from Canada, and long remained a solitary village. Few settlements were made in the country by citizens of the United States till the end of the century. In 1801, Indiana was erected into a territorial government, and, in 1816, into a state. It has been settled chiefly by emigrants from the Eastern and Middle States, and has had a rapid growth.

ILLINOIS.

1. Illinois, which lies on the west side of Indiana, has a still less uneven surface, and a much larger proportion of prairie land. It is one of the most level states in the Union, and it has been estimated that nearly two thirds of it consist of prairies. There are, however, some hills in the southeast part; also along the Illinois, on the Mississippi, and in the northern part of the state.

2. There is, perhaps, no state that exceeds Illinois in general fertility of soil; yet there are extensive tracts that are sterile, or not susceptible of cultivation.

3. The prairies are divided into wet and dry: they have, in many parts, too little inclination to carry off the water that falls in rain; and they are found in too great proportion to the timbered lands, and of too great extent for convenience; so that in this country of exuberant fertility, and, at some seasons, of exquisite beauty, the inhabitants are incommoded by the want of timber, fuel, and good water; and too often also by the want of health.

4. Illinois possesses extraordinary advantages of inland navigation. The Mississippi, Ohio, and Wabash form about two thirds of its boundaries; and it is traversed by the Il-li-nois' (il-le-noy'), Kas-kas-ki-a, Rock River, and other navigable streams.

5. The Illinois is a beautiful river, affording easy navigation from the Mississippi almost to lake Michigan, and waters a luxuriant country. It interlocks, by a morass, with the Chi-cä/go, which flows into lake Michigan, and in some seasons boats may pass from the lake into the Illinois.

6. At Galena, on Fever river, in the northwest corner of the state, there are exceedingly rich lead mines, from which lead is obtained in great quantities. Coal and gypsum are found in different parts in abundance; there are also various salt springs, and near Shawneetown, salt is manufactured in immense quantities.

7. The Cave in Rock, or House of Nature, on the Ohio below Shawneetown, is regarded as a great curiosity, and was formerly a rendezvous of robbers.

8. VAN-DA'LI-A, pleasantly situated on the Kaskaskia, in the centre of a fertile and thriving country, is the seat of government. It was first laid out in 1819.

9. Kaskaskia, finely situated on the river Kaskaskia, 11 miles above its entrance into the Mississippi, was formerly a place of importance in the French colony of Illinois, containing 7,000 inhabitants; but it now has only about 1,000.

10. Shaw'nee-town, on the Ohio, is famous for the extensive salt works, belonging to the United States, in its vicinity.

11. Some of the other most considerable places are Edwardsville, Belle'ville, Galé'na, Spring'field, and Jäck'son-ville.

12. A college has been recently established at Jacksonville.

13. One of the earliest settlements of the French in the Mississippi valley was made at Kaskaskia, in the latter part of the 17th century. Almost all the settlements that have been formed by the citizens of the United States, have been begun since 1800. In 1809, Illinois was erected into a territorial government, and in 1818, into a state.

MISSOURI.

1. Missouri is now the most western state; but if all the territory belonging to the Union were peopled and formed into states, it would be the most central. For a country so far from the ocean, its situation is advantageous, being washed on one side by the Mississippi, and traversed throughout by the great river from which it derives its name.

2. The surface is greatly diversified with plains, marshes, prairies, forests, and rocky, barren hills. The lands bordering on the rivers are low, and liable to inundation. Prairies are found in different parts, and in the west they are of vast extent.

3. Though the surface of a great part is uneven or hilly, yet there are no considerable mountains. The chain of the O-zark' Mountains is considered as beginning in Missouri, yet it presents no elevation deserving the name of a mountain till after it passes into Arkansas.

4. The soil of a great part is very fertile; though there are extensive tracts of upland and hilly country that are unproductive. One of the best and most inhabited parts is that which lies between the Missouri and Mississippi.

5. Besides the great rivers Mississippi and Missouri (mis-soo're), this state is watered by various others of considerable magnitude. The largest are the O-sage', Grand, Char-i-ton' (shar-e-ton'), Gascon-ade', Mer'ri-mac or Mar'a-mec, Wash-i-tâ', and St. Francis. The Osage is a large river, navigable for boats 660 miles.

6. Missouri is celebrated for its rich and inexhaustible lead mines, which are found in a sterile district, embracing about 3,000 square miles, and lying about 40 miles west of the Mississippi.

7. JEFFERSON CITY, a new town, on the Missouri, near the centre of the state, is the state of government.

8. St. Louis, finely situated on the Mississippi, 18 miles below the junction of the Missouri, and about 1200 above New Orleans, is the largest town in the state, and next to New Orleans, the largest on the river. Its situation is remarkable, being in the centre of the Mississippi valley, and near the junction of several great rivers. It is the principal depot of the fur trade of the western country, and contains a Catholic college.

9. St. Charles, on the Missouri, 20 miles above its mouth, and Franklin, on the same river, about 200 miles above its mouth, and in one of the most fertile districts in the state, are two of the most considerable towns.

10. Her-cu-la'ne-um and St. Gen-e-vieve' (jen-e-veev'), on the Mississippi, are noted as depots of the lead mines; Po-to-sí', as the principal village in the mining district.

11. The French commenced establishments at St. Genevieve and St. Louis, in 1764, but the settlements did not flourish till the cession of Louisiana to the United States, in 1803. In 1804, Missouri was erected into a territorial government, and in 1821, into a state.

MICHIGAN TERRITORY.

1. This country is remarkable for its situation, being a peninsula lying between lake Michigan, on the west, and lakes Huron, St. Clair, and Erie, on the east.

2. The surface is very level, having no mountains, and few elevations that can properly be called hills. The central part is moderately elevated, but is level, and some of it marshy, descending gently in all directions toward the waters. The greater part is covered with a dense forest; though there are extensive prairies.

3. The soil is generally very fertile; but there is a tract bordering on lake Michigan that is sandy and barren.

4. The country is well watered by the lakes and rivers on its borders, and by numerous small streams, which are navigable for boats. The waters abound in white-fish, and the fisheries are very valuable.

5. DE-TROIT', finely situated on the Detroit river, between lakes St. Clair and Erie, is the chief town, and a place of note in the fur trade.

6. Mich-i-li-mack'i-nac or Mack'i-naw, situated on an island in the straits of the same name, is noted as a military post.

7. Detroit was founded by the French about 1670, and has long been noted as a trading post. In 1805, Michigan was erected into

NORTHWEST OR HURON TERRITORY.

1. This extensive country, which is mostly surrounded by the great lakes and the upper course of the river Mississippi, has generally been known by the name of the Northwest Territory; but with respect to its government, it has been annexed to the Michigan Territory. It has been proposed to erect it into a separate government, under the name of the Huron Territory.

2. The surface of some portions, particularly towards the north, is hilly and mountainous; but for the most part, it is level or moderately uneven, and has prairies of vast extent.

3. Some of the principal rivers within the country, are the Wisconsin or Ouisconsin, Fox, Chip'pe-way, and St. Croix. The Wisconsin and Fox rivers are connected by a portage, only about a mile long, across a marsh, and in high stages of the water, boats pass from one to the other.

4. The country abounds in mines of lead, iron, and copper.

5. A valuable kind of grain called wild rice, or wild oats, is found in great abundance in the marshy and inundated tracts, bordering on the lakes and other waters of this territory and other neighboring countries.

6. The country is inhabited by several tribes of Indians; but it has been little explored, except by hunters, and contains but few white inhabitants. The principal settlements are at Prairie du Chi-en' (she-en'), Green bay, and the Falls of St. Mary; and at Fond du Lac there is a trading post.

ARKANSAS TERRITORY.

1. The Arkansas Territory was erected into a separate government in 1819, extending from the Mississippi to Mexico; but in 1824, the western limit was restricted to a line beginning 40 miles west of the southwest corner of the state of Missouri, and running south to Red River.

2. The country, comprising the whole region from the Mississippi to Mexico, is naturally divided into three parts; 1st, the eastern or alluvial division towards the Mississippi, which is low, and generally level; 2d, the hilly and broken country, which is traversed by the Ozark Mountains; and 3d, the country west of the mountains, which is chiefly composed of immense prairies.

3. The soil is of all varieties, from the most fertile to the most sterile.

4. The country is bounded on the east by the Mississippi; the greater part of its southern boundary is formed by Red River, and it is traversed throughout by the Arkansas. The other principal rivers are the White River, St. Francis, and Wash-i-tá'.

5. The Arkansas (ar-kan-saw' or ar-kän'sas), which rises in the Rocky mountains, is upwards of 2,000 miles in length, and at spring tides, it is navigable nearly to the mountains by steamboats. The upper part of its course is through a region of sterile prairies, or an immense sandy and barren waste. Some of its tributary streams are strongly impregnated with salt; and above the middle of its course there is a tract called the salt prairie, which is covered with salt in the form of hoar-frost.

6. The Hot Springs, towards the sources of the Washita, are much visited by invalids. The waters are pure and limpid, with little or no mineral properties, and their ordinary temperature is said to be that of boiling heat.

7. LITTLE ROCK, on the Arkansas, 300 miles from its mouth by the river, is the seat of government. The other principal towns are Washington and Batesville.—Dwight is a missionary station among the Cherokees.

MISSOURI TERRITORY.

1. This vast extent of country, lying between the Mississippi and the Rocky mountains, comprises the greater part of the western slope of the Mississippi valley, and is almost wholly uninhabited, except by Indians.

2. A belt of country, extending from 200 to 400 miles to the west of the Mississippi, is covered, in great part, with forests. To the west of this is found a vast region of plains reaching to the Rocky mountains; in some parts it is fertile and covered with grass, and in others sandy and sterile. It has been compared to the steppes of Central Asia, and some portions of it to the African desert of Sahara. The margins of the lower courses of the rivers that enter the Mississippi from this region are wooded; but in ascending towards the mountains, the trees gradually diminish, and at length entirely disappear.

3. To the west of these plains the Rocky Mountains rise up in an abrupt manner, presenting a steep front, with many frowning rocky precipices, and having many summits covered with perpetual snow. It is a singular fact that, between the sources of the La Platte and the Buê-na-ven-tu'ra, there is an opening through this range which admits the passage of loaded wagons.

4. The largest rivers of this country are the Missouri and its tributaries, the Konsas or Kansas, La Platte, and Yellowstone.

5. The Great Falls of the Missouri, which are 2570 miles by the river from the Mississippi, consist of a succession of cataracts and rapids, amounting in the whole to 350 feet. The largest cataract, which is 87 feet perpendicular, presents a scene of much beauty and grandeur.

6. The place where the Missouri seems to have worn for itself a passage through the mountain ridge, called the Gates of the Rocky Mountains, is described as a very sublime spectacle. The river flows through a chasm more than five miles long, where the rocks rise perpendicularly from the water's edge to the height of nearly 1200 feet. The stream is here compressed to the width of 150 yards; and for the space of three miles, there is but one spot on which a man can stand, between the edge of the water and the perpendicular ascent of the mountain rock.

7. The United States have established military posts at Council Bluffs and on St. Peter's River.

OREGON TERRITORY.

1. This is an extensive country, lying between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific ocean; but it is little known.

2. It is watered by the river Or'e-gon or Co-lum'bi-a and its branches, the principal of which are Lewis's River, Clark's River, and the Multnomah.

3. The country bordering on the Oregon and its branches, is represented as having a good soil, and is covered with heavy timber, consisting chiefly of various species of fir; many of the trees being of enormous height.

4. At a distance from the ocean the country is mountainous, destitute of trees, and much of it barren. Extensive prairies are found on the west, as well as on the east side of the Rocky mountains.

5. The climate in the mountainous parts, is severe; but near the shores of the Pacific ocean, it is much milder than in the same latitude on the Atlantic.

6. This country was explored by Lewis and Clark, in 1805; and in 1811, a trading establishment was formed at Astoria by some Americans.

MEXICO.—1. What is said of Mexico?

See Map of North America.—How is the Oregon Territory situated? What is the course of the Columbia or Oregon river? What rivers flow into it? How is Astoria situated?

2. Its most remarkable natural feature is its great elevation. The lands are low on both coasts; and from each there is a gradual rise till the country attains the height of from 6,000 to 8,000 feet, when it spreads out into immense plains called table land.

3. The country is traversed by a chain of mountains called the Cor-dil-le'ras of Mexico, which are regarded as a part of the great range which takes the name of the Rocky Mountains further north, and that of the Andes in South America.

4. Some of the mountains of this range are volcanic, and many of them are always covered with snow. Two of the most remarkable summits are the volcanoes Pop-o-cat'e-petl and Or-i-zä'ba.

5. Jo-rul'lo is a famous volcanic mountain, which burst out from a plain, in 1757, and rose to the height of nearly 1,700 feet.

6. Mexico suffers, in many parts, for the want of water and navigable rivers. The three largest are the Del Nor'te, Col-o-rä'do, and Buë-na-ven-tu'ra (bwa-na-ven-too'ra), all of which flow through the most uncultivated parts of the country, and are therefore of little use to commerce.

7. Mexico has two remarkable peninsulas, Cal-i-for'ni-a, in the west, which is about 900 miles long, but possesses very few inhabitants; and Yu-ca-tan', in the southeast, which is noted for mahogany.

8. The climate on the coasts is hot and unhealthy; on the table lands, it is generally mild and salubrious; but on the highest of them, it is cold, even south of the tropic of Cancer.

9. A large part of the country has a very fertile soil; though much of the high table land is barren.

10. The kind of grain which most abounds in Mexico, is maize. The agave, which yields a liquor called pulque, is extensively cultivated; also sugar, indigo, tobacco, cotton, cochineal, and various kinds of fruit and grain.

11. Mexico is celebrated for its silver mines, which are the richest in the world, and have for a long time produced annually ten times as much silver as all the mines in Europe. Some of these mines are regarded as curiosities; and one of them is excavated 8 miles in length, and 1,640 feet in depth.

12. Some religious monuments of the ancient Mexicans are still to be seen in the country, of which the most celebrated is the Pyramid of Cho-lu'la. It is constructed of unburnt bricks, consisting of four stories or terraces, with a base of 1,423 feet broad, and is 177 feet high.

13. MEXICO, the capital, is situated near a lake, in a beautiful valley, elevated almost 7,500 feet above the level of the ocean, and surrounded by naked and majestic mountains. It is remarkable for the regularity and width of its streets, for the splendor of its edifices, and for having the richest mint in the world.

14. Pue'bla is a regular and beautiful city, the second in population, and is finely situated on a plain, nearly as elevated as that of Mexico; Guad-a-lax-ä'ra (guäd-a-la-hä'ra) and Quer-e-tä'ro are also large and handsome towns.

15. Guan-ax-uä'to (gwän-a-hwä'to) and Zac-a-té'cas are famous for their rich silver mines; and Xa-lä'pa or Ja-lä'pa, for giving name to the medicinal root called jalap.

16. Mexico has but few good harbors; some of the best and most frequented are Ve'ra Cruz' and Tam-pí'co on the gulf of Mexico; and Ac-a-pul'co and San Blas on the Pacific ocean. Vera Cruz is the port through which most of the commerce between Mexico and Europe has been carried on.

17. Less than one quarter of the inhabitants of Mexico are whites; more than a third consist of subdued Indians, and about as many of mixed races. The only religion tolerated is the Catholic.

18. In 1521, the Spaniards under Cortez subdued Mexico, which was, at that time, under the government of the emperor Montezuma; and in 1821, the Mexicans declared themselves independent of Spain.

GUATIMALA, OR CENTRAL AMERICA.

1. Guä-ti-mä'la consists of a long isthmus, forming the southernmost part of North America, and lying between the Caribbe'an sea and the Pacific ocean. It was formerly subject to Spain, but was declared independent in 1821; and it has since been named, from its situation, the Republic of Central America.

2. The country is extremely mountainous, and has many volcanoes, some of which are liable to frequent eruptions; and it is much subject to earthquakes.

3. The soil is very fertile; the productions similar to those of Mexico; and the part of the country bordering on the bay of Hon-du'ras is celebrated for mahogany and logwood.

4. The climate is very various; on the coast and low country, hot and unhealthy; in the elevated parts, agreeable; on the mountains, cold.

5. The rivers are numerous, and often partake of the nature of torrents, but are not large.—The principal lake is that of Nic-a-rä'gua.

6. GUA-TI-MA'LA, the capital, is situated near the Pacific ocean, and has a good harbor, and some magnificent edifices.

7. Some of the other principal towns are San Sal'va-dor, Chî-qui-mu'la, Le-on', Car-tä'go, and Chi-ä'pa; also O-mo'a, noted as a port.

8. BA-LÏZE' is an English settlement on the bay of Honduras, and is noted for its trade in mahogany.

WEST INDIES.

1. The West Indies consist of a long chain of islands, lying between North and South America, extending from the coast of Florida to the mouth of the Orinoco; the Bahama Islands being the most northern, and Trinidad the most southern.

2. These islands form the part of America that was first discovered by Columbus; and they were named by him the West Indies, because he supposed they were connected with India, in the southeast of Asia. They are styled by some geographers the Columbian Arch-i-pel'a-go.

3. The West Indies comprise several groups of islands, namely, the Ba-ha'mas, the Great An-tilles' (an-tilz'), and the Car-ib-bee' Islands. Of the Caribbees, Martinique (mar-te-neek') and all to the south of it are called Windward Islands; and Dom-i-nî'ca and all that lie between it and Porto Rico are called Leeward Islands; and a part of these, lying to the east of Porto Rico, are also called Virgin Islands.

4. These islands, with the exception of Hay'ti (ha'ty) and Mar-ga-rî'ta, belong to different European states, chiefly to Great Britain, Spain, and France.

5. The four Great Antilles, namely, Cu'ba, Hay'ti, Ja-mäi'ca, and Por'to Rî'co, are the largest and most important. Some of the most considerable of the Caribbee Isles, are Guä-da-loupe' (gä-da-loop') Mar-ti-nî'que' or Mar-ti-nî'co, and Bar-ba'does.

6. The Bahama Islands are numerous, but not very important. One of them, now called Cat Island, is noted for being the first land in America that was seen by Columbus.

What other European states possess any of the islands? Which island has the greatest population? Which has the most square miles? Which five of the Leeward islands have the most inhabitants? Which five of the Windward?

7. The surface of the West India Islands, in the interior, is generally mountainous; but there are numerous rich and beautiful valleys. The soil of most of them is very fertile.

8. These islands lie chiefly within the tropic of Cancer, and have a climate which is apt to prove fatal to northern constitutions. There are but two seasons, the wet and the dry; and in August and September, tremendous hurricanes are common.

9. The exports are very valuable, and consist of sugar, rum, coffee, indigo, cotton, and various other tropical productions.

10. As many as four fifths of the inhabitants are blacks, and mostly slaves. The greater part of the white inhabitants reside in the two Spanish islands of Cuba and Porto Rico.

11. CUBA, the largest and most important of the West India islands, has a fertile soil, and among its productions are tobacco, esteemed the best in America, also sugar and coffee.

12. Ha-van'nah or Ha-van'a, the capital of Cuba, is the largest and most commercial city in the West Indies, and celebrated for its admirable harbor.

13. HAYTI was formerly called His-pan-i-o'la and St. Do-min'go, and was divided between France and Spain. It is a very fertile island, and next to Cuba in size. Here the first European colony in America was established by Columbus; and here also the first independent state formed by African slaves, has been founded.

14. The principal towns of Hayti are Port Republican, Cape Haytien, and St. Domingo.

15. Kingston, in Jamaica, is the largest and most commercial town in the British islands; as is St. Pierre (peer), in Martinique, of the French islands.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Chimborazo.

1. South America may be regarded as a vast peninsula, very thinly inhabited, and the most of it uncultivated. It is a highly favored part of the globe, compared with the other great divisions, as it respects the salubrity of its climate, the fertility of its soil, and the value of its natural productions.

2. The western part consists chiefly of elevated table land, crowned by chains of majestic mountains; to the east of this high land, there is an expanse of country, two or three times as broad, composed of marshy and sandy plains; and still further east, there is another elevated region extending nearly to the Atlantic coast, but not so high as that in the west.

3. The most striking natural features of South America consist in its MOUNTAINS and RIVERS. It differs from the northern part of the continent, in being but little indented with inland seas and gulfs, and in having few large lakes.

4. The ANDES are an immense chain of mountains running throughout South America, at a distance varying from 50 to 150 miles from the western coast; and they have been seen at sea at the distance of 180 miles from the shore.

SOUTH AMERICA.—1. What is said of South America?
2. What is said of the surface? 3. What are the most striking features?
4. What is said of the Andes?

5. They are the most elevated mountains on this continent, and have a considerable number of summits that are volcanic, and a great many that are always covered with snow. They abound in natural wonders, as stupendous precipices, impetuous torrents, picturesque cataracts, and frightful chasms. The torrents and chasms are often crossed by rope bridges.

6. The highest summits have an aspect of unrivalled sublimity, their elevation carrying them above the region of the clouds; and below their snowy tops, the storm is seen to burst; and the exploring traveller hears the thunder roll, and sees the lightning dart beneath his feet.

7. Between the different ridges there are extensive plains of great fertility and beauty, well cultivated and populous.

8. The Andes are said to derive their name from the Peruvian word anti, which signifies copper. They are composed in great part of porphyry, and abound in the precious metals.

9. The three great RIVERS of South America are the Am'a-zon, La Plä'ta, and O-ri-no'co. These rivers, with their tributaries, water most of South America.

10. The Amazon, called also the Mur'a-non and O-rel-lä'na, is the largest river in the world; and some of its tributaries are equal in length and size to the largest rivers in Europe. It is upwards of 4,000 miles long, and 180 miles wide at its mouth; and the tide flows up more than 500 miles. It is navigable throughout five sixths of its course for vessels of 400 tons.

11. The La Plata, together with the Par-a-nä', its principal branch, is about 3,000 miles long, and 30 miles wide at Buenos Ayres, 200 miles above its entrance into the ocean; and it is navigable through the greater part of its course.

12. The Orinoco, which is much inferior to the other two, is about 1,800 miles long, and navigable 700. A water communication is formed between this river and the Amazon by the Cas-si-qui-ä'ra and the Negro.

13. Some of the principal islands are Ter'ra del Fué'go, a cold and dreary island; the Fälk'land Islands, and the island of Chi-lo'e.

14. The climate in the south is cold; in other parts, on the low plains, it is hot, and in many places unhealthy; on the elevated plains, it is salubrious and delightful, free from the heat of summer and the cold of winter.

15. Many parts of South America are extremely subject to earth-quakes, and for the sake of greater security, the houses, in these parts, are commonly built with only one story.

16. South America abounds in valuable productions; some of those for which it is most celebrated are gold, silver, platina, mercury, diamonds, and cinchona or Peruvian bark.

17. The Andes are a great nursery of birds. Among these the condor is the most remarkable, and is the largest bird that has the faculty of flying in the air. Its wings, when extended, measure from 12 to 16 feet; and it soars to the height of more than 20,000 feet.

18. The INHABITANTS of South America consist of various races, as whites, civilized or subdued Indians, negroes, mestizoes, mulattoes, samboes, and independent Indians. The mestizoes are descendants of the whites and Indians; the samboes, of the Indians and negroes. The whites are mostly of Spanish and Portuguese descent, and of the Catholic religion.

19. In all the countries in America that were colonized by the Spaniards, the white inhabitants are divided into two classes; the first, those born in Spain, who are called Chapetones; the second, those born in America, who are called Creoles.

20. The independent Indians inhabit Patagonia and the interior parts of the continent.

21. The most of South America was, till within a few years past, in the possession of Spain and Portugal; but all the countries which belonged to these two European states have become independent; and all the Spanish provinces have established republican forms of government, but have suffered much by political contention and disorder. The only colonies now on this continent are those in Guiana, belonging to the English, Dutch, and French.

22. South America comprises the following countries; namely, Co-lom'bi-a and Gui-ä'na (ghe-ä'na), in the north; Bra-zil', in the east; the United Provinces, in the southeast; Pat-a-go'ni-a, in the south; and Chi'li (che'le), Bo-liv'i-a, and Pe-ru', in the west.

COLOMBIA

Cotopaxi.

1. Colombia is a very extensive country, comprising all the northwestern part of South America, and is composed of the countries formerly known by the names of New Gre-nä'da and Ca-rac'-cas or Ven-e-zué'la, which were united and formed into a republic in 1819.

2. The northwestern part was formerly known by the name of Terra Firma; and the southwestern part once formed a separate government under the name of Quí'to.

3. The surface is greatly diversified. The western part is traversed by the Andes, the most celebrated summits of which are within Colombia. In the eastern part there are plains of vast extent; and much of the country on the Orinoco and its branches, is liable to inundation.

4. Some of the most noted summits of the Andes, in Colombia, are Chim-bo-rä'zo, An-ti-sä'na, Co-to-pax'i, San-gä'i, and Pin-chir'cha.

5. Chimborazo, the most elevated mountain, is a little more than four miles in height, and its summit, being always covered with snow, presents a magnificent spectacle, when seen from the shores of the Pacific ocean. Humboldt ascended this mountain to the height of 19,300 feet, a greater elevation than was ever before attained by man.

 3. What is said of the surface? 4. What are the most noted summits of the Andes? 5. What is said of Chimborazo?

6. Cotopaxi is the most formidable volcano of the Andes, and the highest that has been recently liable to eruptions. Its flames have been known to rise nearly 3,000 feet above the crater; and its roarings have been heard at Honda, a distance of about 600 miles.

7. An-ti-sä'na is a volcanic mountain near Cotopaxi, and more elevated, but has had no recent eruptions. On the side of this mountain, there is a hamlet at the elevation of 13,500 feet, which is one of the highest inhabited spots on the globe.

8. The principal rivers are the O-ri-no'co, the Am'a-zon, with many of its tributaries; and the Mag-da-le'na, which is navigable to Honda, 700 miles.

9. The principal lakes are those of Mar-a-cäy'bo and Va-len'ti-a. The former may be regarded as a gulf of the Car-ib-be'an sea.

10. The climate on the coast and low plains, is very hot, and in many parts unhealthy; on the elevated plains, it is mild throughout the year.

11. Much of the soil is very fertile; and the plains on the Orinoco afford pasture for immense numbers of cattle.

12. The principal exports are cocoa, coffee, cotton, indigo, tobacco, hides, and cattle.

13. The mountains contain mines of gold, silver, platina, and emeralds.

15. Bo-go-ta', or SANTA FE DE BOGOTA', the seat of government, and formerly the capital of New Granada, is a well built city, situated in a fertile plain, and is elevated 8,700 feet above the level of the sea.

16. Qui'to (ke'to), the largest city of Colombia, is famous for its great elevation, being situated on the skirt of the volcanic mountain Pinchincha, 9,500 feet above the level of the sea. Though situated near the equator, yet owing to its great elevation, its climate is mild throughout the year; but it is subject to dreadful tempests and earthquakes.

17. Ca-rac'cas, situated 7 miles from La Guay'ra, its port, at an elevation of 2,900 feet, was formerly the capital of the province of Caraccas. Po-pa-yan' is a large town in the interior.

18. The principal seaports are Car-tha-ge'na, Por'to Bel'lo, St. Mar'tha, Mar-a-cäy'bo, Por'to Ca-vel'lo, La Guay'ra, and Cu-ma-nä, on the Caribbean sea; Pan-a-mä', Guay-a-quil' (gwī-a-keel'), and Bué-na-ven-tu'ra, on the Pacific ocean.

GUIANA.

1. The name of Gui-ä'na (ghe-ä'na) was formerly applied to a large country extending from the Orinoco on the north, to the Amazon on the south; but Spanish Guiana now forms a part of Colombia, and Portuguese Guiana a part of Brazil. The rest of the country belongs to the English, Dutch, and French.

2. The surface is generally very level; the climate hot and unhealthy; the soil very fertile.

3. The productions are similar to those of the West Indies, and consist chiefly of sugar, coffee, cotton, cocoa, and indigo.

4. ENGLISH GUIANA contains three small colonies, namely, Es-se-quil'bo, Dem-a-rä'ra, and Ber-bice'. The principal town is Stä'broek.

5. DUTCH GUIANA is also called Sur-i-nam', from the principal river by which it is watered. The capital is Par-a-mar'i-bo, which is a very pleasant town, situated on the Surinam.

6. FRENCH GUIANA is also called Caÿ-enne', and is noted for the production of Cayenne pepper. Caÿ-enne', the chief town, is situated on an island.

PERU.

Silver Mines.

1. Peru was once the seat of the celebrated empire of the Incas, who were conquered by the Spaniards; and it is famous for its rich mines.

2. It is watered by the head branches of the Amazon, and is traversed from north to south by two ridges of the Andes.

3. The country lying between the western ridge and the Pacific ocean, is called Low Peru; and the country to the east, High Peru.

4. Low Peru consists of an inclined plain, from 30 to 100 miles wide, composed chiefly of sandy deserts, having no vegetation except on the borders of the rivers; and in this part of the country along the whole coast of Peru, rain seldom or never falls.

5. High Peru is composed of lofty mountains, interspersed with fertile valleys.

6. Peru is very thinly peopled; it labors under great disadvantages for want of roads, bridges, and canals, and almost the only way of transporting goods is on the backs of mules and lamas.

7. This country has rich mines of gold, silver, and mercury; but they are badly managed; and it is famous also for cinchona, called also Peruvian or Jesuit's bark.

8. LI'MA (le'ma), the capital of Peru, is pleasantly situated 7 miles from Cal-lä'o, its port, and has heretofore been a city of great trade, opulence, and splendor.

9. Cuz'co, anciently the capital of the Peruvian empire, and the seat of the Incas, is still a large town, and contains monuments of its former splendor.

10. Ar-e-qui'pa and Gua-man'ga are considerable towns; Guan'-ca Vél'i-ca, more than 12,000 feet high, is noted for mines of quick-silver; A-ya-cu'cho, for the most celebrated battle in the history of South America.

11. Some of the principal seaports are Trux-il'lo, Cal-lä o, A-ran'-ta, and Ar'i-cä.

12. Peru was conquered by the Spaniards under Pizarro and Almagro, about the year 1532. The inhabitants were among the most civilized of the aboriginal Americans.

13. The limits of this country have been different at different times, and it was much larger under the Incas than at present.

BOLIVIA.

1. This country, which once formed a part of Peru, and afterwards a part of Buenos Ayres, was a few years since formed into an independent republic, and named Bo-liv'i-a, in honor of general Bo-lí'var.

2. It is an elevated and mountainous country, contains stupendous summits of the Andes, some of which have been lately represented as higher than Chimborazo; and it gives rise to several large tributaries both of the Amazon and the La Plata.

3. This country contains rich silver mines, the most celebrated of which are the mines of Potosi, which were formerly exceedingly productive, more so than any other mines in South America.

4. Some of the principal towns are LA PLA'TA or CHUQUISACA (choo-ke-sä'ka), the capital; Po-to-sí', famous for its silver mines and its great elevation; La Paz, Or-o-pe'sa; also Co-bí'ja, the principal seaport.

BRAZIL.

Diamond Washing.

1. Bra-zil' is a country of vast extent, comprising the eastern and central parts of South America ; but the greater part of it is uninhabited, except by native Indians, and is little known.

2. It is naturally a very fine country, having a surface agreeably diversified with hills, mountains, valleys, and plains ; and it is generally clothed with a luxuriant vegetation.

3. Some of the principal rivers are the Am'a-zon, Ma-dē'ra, To-pä'jos, Xin'gu, To-can'tins, St. Fran-cis'co, Par-a-nä, and Par-a-guay'.

4. The climate in the northern part is hot ; in the southern, temperate.

5. Though there are extensive barren and sandy plains in the interior, yet the soil of a great part of the country is very fertile, and produces cotton, sugar, coffee, grain, and tropical fruits ; and the country is celebrated for its mines of gold and diamonds.

6. RIO JANEIRO (re'o ja-ne'ro), the capital of Brazil, has an excellent harbor, and a great commerce. The streets are dirty, but the public walks are beautiful ; and the inhabitants are distinguished for parade in religious ceremonies.

7. St. Sal'va-dor and Per-nam-bu'co are large seaport towns, and have an extensive commerce.

8. Cu-yä'ba, Villæ Rî'ca, and Villæ Bo'a, situated in the interior, are noted for gold mines; Te-ju'co, for the most celebrated diamond mines in America.

UNITED PROVINCES.

1. This country has been known by the names of Buenos Ayres (bwa'nos ä'e-rez), the United Provinces of La Plata, the United Provinces of South America, and also the Argentine Republic.—The countries or provinces of Paraguay and Banda Oriental or Monte Video, in the eastern part, have for some time been under separate governments.

2. This country comprehends most of the great basin of the river La Plata, and, with the exception of the northern and western parts, forms one vast and uniform plain; and much of that portion which borders on the river, is liable to be inundated.

3. In the southern part are found the immense Pampas or plains, which resemble the prairies of the western country belonging to the United States. They are more than 1000 miles long, and 500 broad; are destitute of trees, and covered with high grass, which affords pasture to vast numbers of cattle and wild horses.

4. This country is watered by the great river La Plä'ta and its tributaries, the largest of which are the Par-a-nä', Par-a-guay', U-ra-guay', and Pil-co-mä'yo.

5. The climate is different in different parts, but generally healthy; and the soil of a large part very fertile, and well adapted to the production of various kinds of grain and fruit; but agriculture is much neglected.

6. A great part of the wealth of the country consists in the immense herds of cattle, horses, and mules, that graze on its plains; and hides, tallow, and beef, are some of the principal articles of export.

7. The herb called matte, or Paraguay tea, is a celebrated production of the province of Paraguay, and is a favorite beverage in many parts of South America, particularly among the miners.

8. BUENOS AYRES, the capital, is situated on the La Plata, 200 miles from the ocean, and derives its name, which signifies good air, from the salubrity of its climate. It is the outlet of all the commerce of a very extensive country; but the navigation to it is difficult.

9. Mon'te Vi-dé'o, the capital of a country of the same name, which was formerly called Banda Oriental, is a town of considerable commercial importance, and has the best harbor on the La Plata.

10. As-sump'tion, the capital of Paraguay, is situated on the Parana, more than 1,000 miles above Buenos Ayres, with which it has an intercourse by boat navigation.

CHILI.

1. Chili (che'le) is a long and comparatively narrow country, lying chiefly between the Andes and the Pacific ocean.

2. Its general aspect is that of an inclined plain, rising gradually from the Pacific ocean to the Andes, which extend along the eastern side, presenting many elevated summits, some of which are volcanoes.

3. The country is watered by numerous small rivers, which descend, with rapid currents, from the mountains to the ocean.

4. The climate is generally very healthy and pleasant; though in the northern part, in the country bordering on the coast, as in Low Peru, rain seldom or never falls.

5. Much of the soil is very fertile, and the country abounds in vegetable productions and in cattle, and has also rich mines.

6. The Araucanians, a celebrated tribe of independent Indians, possess a large tract of country in the southern part of Chili.

7. The most considerable island is that of Chi-lo'e.—Ju-an' Fernan'dez, a desert island off the coast of Chili, is famous for the lonely residence of Alexander Selkirk, a Scotch sailor; a circumstance which gave rise to the celebrated romance of Robinson Crusoe.

8. SAN-TI-A'GO or ST. JA'GO, the capital of Chili, is situated on a beautiful plain, about 90 miles from Valparaiso, and its houses are built of unburnt bricks.

9. Val-pa-räi'so is the most frequented port in Chili. Some of the other principal towns are Con-cep'tion, Val-div'i-a, and Co-quim'bo.

PATAGONIA.

1. Patagonia is a large country, comprising the southern part of South America, and is cold, barren, uncultivated, and but little known. The western part is composed chiefly of mountains, and the eastern of sandy plains.

2. It is inhabited by tribes of Indians, some of whom have been represented as of great stature and very ferocious.

3. Ter'ra del Fue'go is a large, dreary, mountainous island, separated from Patagonia by the straits of Ma-gellan. Its mountains are always covered with snow.

EUROPE.

1. Europe, though much the smallest of the four quarters of the globe, is far the most important and powerful; and it governs a great part of the others.

2. It lies almost wholly within the northern temperate zone, and is distinguished for the excellence of its climate, its useful productions, its commercial enterprise, its military power, and its civilization, science, and literature.

3. Europe contains the following COUNTRIES, namely, Lapland, Norway, Sweden, and Russia, in the north; Great Britain, France, Netherlands, Denmark, Poland, Prussia, Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Switzerland, in the middle; Portugal, Spain, Italy, Turkey, and Greece, in the south.

4. The POLITICAL DIVISIONS of Europe are the three empires of Russia, Austria, and Turkey; the 14 kingdoms of France, Great Britain, Prussia, Spain, Naples, Netherlands, Sardinia, Bavaria, Sweden, Portugal, Denmark, Hanover, Wurtemberg, and Saxony; and 42 other states, mostly very small, republics, duchies, principalities, &c.

5. The five most powerful states of Europe, called the Great Powers, are Russia, Great Britain, France, Austria, and Prussia. The nations most distinguished in science and literature, are the British, French, and Germans.

6. The established or prevailing RELIGION of all Europe, with the exception of Turkey, is Christianity. The Protestant religion prevails in the north; and the Roman Catholic, in the south. The Greek Church is the religion of Russia, Greece, and of the Christian inhabitants of Turkey. The Turks are Mahometans. Jews are found in almost all parts, but especially in Poland.

7. The six principal ranges of MOUNTAINS are the Alps, the Pyr'e-nees, the Ap'en-nines, the Car-pa'thi-an, Dof're-field, and U-ra'-li-an mountains.

8. The Alps, which separate France, Switzerland, and Germany, from Italy, are the most elevated range of mountains in Europe, and have many summits which are always covered with snow; and the elevated valleys abound in magnificent glaciers. The two highest summits are Mont Blanc and Mont Rosa.

Which are the most powerful states, and which nations are most distinguished for literature? 6. What is the religion of Europe? 7. What mountains? 8. What is said of the Alps?

9. The Pyrenees divide France from Spain; the Apennines extend through Italy; the Carpathian Mountains lie on the north and east of Hungary; the Dofrefield or Dof'rine Mountains are between Norway and Sweden; and the Uralian Mountains are in Russia, between Europe and Asia.

10. The four celebrated VOLCANOES, in Europe, are Et'na, in Sicily; Ve-su'vi-us, near the city of Naples; Strom'bo-li, on one of the Lip'a-ri islands, and Hec'la, in Iceland.

11. The seven most noted CAPES are North Cape, the Naze, Cape Clear, Cape Fin-is-térre', Cape Or'te-gal, Cape St. Vin'cent, and Cape Mat-a-pan'.

12. Some of the most important ISLANDS are Great Britain, Ire'land, and Ice'land, in the Atlantic; Sic'i-ly, Sar-din'i-a, Cor'si-ca, and Can'di-a, in the Mediterranean.

13. Europe is much indented by seas and gulfs, which afford great facilities for commerce. The principal SEAS are the Med-i-ter-ra'ne-an, Ar-chi-pel'a-go, Mar'mo-ra, Black, A'zof, North, Bál'tic, and White seas.

14. The Mediterranean, which is 2,000 miles long, is the largest and most celebrated sea in the world, and is surrounded by countries that have always been famous in history. The eastern coasts of it are styled the Le-vant'.

15. The three largest GULFS are those of Ven'ice, Fin'land, and Both'ni-a; and the only large bay is that of Bis'cay.

16. The most considerable LAKES are La-do'ga, O-ne'ga, and Pe'pus, in Russia; Wen'ner and Wet'ter, in Sweden; Ge-ne'va and Con'stance, in Switzerland and on its borders.

17. The three most important RIVERS are the Vol'ga, Dan'ube, and Rhine.

18. The Volga, the largest river in Europe, is upwards of 2,000 miles in length. It has its whole course in Russia, and flows into the Caspian sea, by several mouths. It is navigable to Tver, and is connected with the Neva by a canal, thus forming a communication between the Caspian and Baltic seas; and also with the northern Dwina, forming a communication with the Arctic ocean.

19. The Danube, which, though not so long as the Volga, has a greater volume of water, rises in the neighborhood of lake Constance, and flows into the Black sea. It has a rapid current, and is of but little importance with respect to foreign commerce.

20. The Rhine, though much smaller than the Danube, is supe-land, belonging to Sweden; and East Lapland, belonging to Russia.

2. It embraces the greater portion of that part of Europe which lies in the frigid zone; and, though it is about three fourths as large as France, it contains only about 60,000 inhabitants, and has no towns larger than small villages.

3. The part lying along the north shore of the gulf of Bothnia, consists of an extensive plain, covered with forests of spruce and fir; but the most of the country is rough, mountainous, and barren; and the climate intensely cold.

4. The Laplanders are a rude and ignorant people; of low stature and swarthy complexion; possessing few of the comforts of life; yet they are much attached to their country.

5. Their wealth consists chiefly in the REINDEER, which supplies them with food and clothing; and by means of which they make rapid journeys in winter, drawn in sledges.

NORWAY.

The Maelstrom.

1. Norway, a country extending from the Naze to the North Cape, derives its name, which signifies Northern Way, or Country to the North, from its northern situation.

2. It is long, but proportionally narrow; very thinly inhabited, and it is, next to Switzerland, the most mountainous country in Europe, abounding in sublime and picturesque scenery.

NORWAY.—1. From what does Norway derive its name?
2. What is said of the country?

3. It has an extensive seacoast, which is much indented by inlets, and presents, in many parts, the grand and rugged aspect of elevated and precipitous rocks.

4. The principal range of mountains are the Dof're-field or Dof'rine Mountains, which extend between Norway and Sweden, and have many summits that are always covered with snow and ice.

5. The rivers, which are numerous, are so rapid as to partake frequently of the nature of torrents, and abound in cataracts. The largest is the Glomme.

6. The climate is severe; the winters being long and excessively cold; the summers short and hot.

7. The soil, particularly in the north, is mostly barren; in the south, it affords good pasture; but there is little that is well adapted to raising grain.

8. The forests abound in pine, fir, and ash; and timber is the principal article of export. The mines, fisheries, and cattle are the other chief sources of wealth and subsistence.

9. The Mael'strom, on the coast of Norway, is a celebrated and formidable vortex or whirlpool, which is so violent as to draw in, and swallow up ships and whales, that come near it.

10. CHRIS-TI-A'NI-A, the capital, Ber'gen, and Dron'theim, (dron'tim), are the principal towns, and they have each of them considerable commerce.

11. Kongsberg is noted for mines of silver; Roraas, for those of copper.

12. The Norwegians are a frugal people, robust and healthy; accustomed to a plain, and often to a coarse and scanty fare. In the remote parts, in seasons of scarcity, they make use of bread formed of a mixture of oatmeal and the inside of the bark of trees.

13. Norway, once an independent kingdom, was annexed to Denmark, in 1397, and to Sweden (to which it now belongs), in 1814.

prises more than half of the territory, but only about one tenth of the population.

2. Sweden is inclosed on the north and west by high mountains; but it is generally a very level country; and it is one of the least fertile, and least populous in Europe. The most of it consists of a forest incapable of cultivation.

3. The most striking feature in the appearance of the country consists in the number and extent of its lakes, which are sheets of pure transparent water, abounding in fish. Some of the largest are lakes Wen'ner, Wet'ter, and Ma'lar.

4. The rivers are numerous, but mostly small. The Lutle-a, which flows into the north end of the gulf of Bothnia, has a cataract 400 feet in height, and one eighth of a mile in width, and is esteemed the greatest in Europe. The falls of Trol-hæ'ta are on the Gotha, near the place where it issues from lake Wenner.

5. The most common forest trees are pine, spruce, and fir; and timber is one of the principal articles of export.

6. Sweden is famous for its iron, which is esteemed the best in the world, and forms the most important article of export. Other considerable articles are copper, alum, and tar.

7. The climate is severe; the winters are long and very cold; the summers short and hot. Spring and autumn are scarcely known.

8. STOCKHOLM, the capital, is situated on several islands, near the junction of lake Malar with the Baltic, and has an extensive commerce. It is built upon piles, and is remarkable for its picturesque situation, and has one of the finest royal palaces in Europe.

8. Got'ten-burg, in the southwest of Sweden, on the Cattegat, is the second town in population and commerce.

10. Carls-cro'na is noted as the chief station of the Swedish navy; Up'sal, for its university, which is one of the most distinguished in Europe; Fah'lun, for its copper mines; Dan-e-mo'ra, for its iron mines; Cal'mar, for a treaty, styled the "Union of Calmar."

12. Finland, a large country lying east of the gulf of Bothnia, formerly belonged to Sweden; but, in 1808, it was ceded to Russia.

RUSSIA.

1. The empire of Russia (ru'she-a, or rush'e-a), which includes the most of the north of Europe, and all the north of Asia, is the most extensive empire on the globe, and is more than twice as large as all Europe; but the principal part of it is very thinly inhabited.

2. The Asiatic part is far the larger in extent; but the European part is far the more populous; though this is much less populous than the middle and south of Europe.

3. European Russia, formerly called Mus'co-vy, comprises almost one half of the territory of Europe, but less than a quarter of the population. It is generally a level country, and the greater part of it is covered with forests.

4. The principal mountains are the Uralian chain, which forms the boundary between Europe and Asia, and is about 1,400 miles in length.

5. Russia is watered by some of the largest rivers of Europe: the principal ones are the Vol'ga or Wol'ga, Don, Dniēs'ter (nees'ter), Dniē'per (ne'per), Dwi'na, O-ne'ga, Northern Dwi'na, and Pet'cho'ra.

6. The largest lakes are those of La-do'ga, O-ne'ga, and Peī'pus or Tchuds'koe.—Ladoga is 140 miles long, and 75 broad, and is the largest lake in Europe.

7. The climate in the southern part is temperate; in the middle and northern, extremely cold.

8. The soil in the southern part is generally fertile; but in advancing north, it becomes less so. Agriculture is in a backward state.

9. Russia is distinguished for its extensive inland navigation. By means of rivers and canals, communications are opened both from the Baltic sea and Arctic ocean to the Black and Caspian seas.

10. Some of the principal exports are hemp, flax, iron, timber, tallow, grain, and leather. The Russian leather is esteemed the best in Europe.

11. ST. PE'TERS-BURG, the metropolis of Russia, was founded by Peter the Great, in 1703; and it is situated at the east end of the gulf of Finland. It has an extensive commerce, is regularly laid out, and is the most magnificently built city in Europe.

of European Russia, and exhibits a singular contrast of splendid edifices and miserable hovels. It is famous for its great conflagration, at the time of the invasion of the country by Bonaparte, when nearly three fourths of it were burnt.

13. The principal seaports are St. Petersburg, Ri'ga, O-des sa, and Arch-ān'gel. Odessa is noted for the export of grain; Archangel, for being the most northerly considerable town in Europe; Cron'-stadt, on an island, in the gulf of Finland, for being the chief station of the Russian navy.

14. Tu'la is famous for hardware; Nov'go-rod, for its former greatness; Ki'ev, for having anciently been the capital of Russia; Wil'na, for having been formerly the capital of Lithuania; Ka-zan', for having once been the capital of a large part of Tartary.

15. Narva and Pol'ta-va are noted for battles between Peter the Great and Charles XII; Smo-lensk' and Bor-o-dí'no, for battles between the French and Russians; Is'mail, Ben'der, and Choc'zim (kot'zim), for military operations in the wars with the Turks.

16. Cher'son (ker'son) is famous for the death and tomb of Howard the philanthropist; Tag'an-rock, for the death of the emperor Alexander; Tcher-kask', as the chief place of the Don Cosacks.

17. This empire contains people of different religions and languages. But the Russians, properly so called, who form the great majority, are a Slavonic nation, and of the Greek church. They are robust and brave; but are one of the most illiterate nations in Europe. A great majority of them are in a state of miserable servitude, and are bought and sold with the land which they cultivate.

18. The Cosacks, inhabiting the frontiers of Russia, are a military people, of singular character and habits; and they have been distinguished in the Russian wars. The principal division of them are styled Don Cosacks, from their inhabiting on the river Don.

19. At the beginning of the last century, Russia was in a state of barbarism, and little thought of among European nations. The foundation of its greatness was laid by Peter the Great; it has been further enlarged and improved by Catharine II and Alexander; and it has now the most formidable land army in Europe.

POLAND.

1. Poland was formerly one of the largest kingdoms in Europe; and the country, with regard to surface, is one of the most level; consisting chiefly of a vast plain, in many parts marshy.

2. In 1795, this country was divided between Russia, Austria, and Prussia; and in 1815, the central part, comprising less than a fifth of ancient Poland, was erected into a kingdom, which is dependent on Russia, and is governed by a viceroy appointed by the emperor.

3. The only considerable river in the present kingdom of Poland is the Vis'tu-la, which runs through a level country, and is navigable as far as Cracow.

4. The soil is naturally fertile, but is miserably cultivated. Grain is the most important production.

5. The Poles are of Slavonic origin, mostly Catholics, and are one of the most illiterate nations in Europe. The peasantry are in a state of miserable servitude.

6. There are more Jews within the limits of ancient Poland than in all the rest of Europe; and most of the trade of the country is in their hands.

7. WAR'SAW, the capital, and the only large town in the kingdom of Poland, is situated on the Vistula, and has an extensive inland trade. It exhibits a singular contrast of splendid mansions, and miserable hovels.

8. Pultusk is famous for a battle between the French and Russians; Ra'kow, for having been the chief residence of the Polish Unitarians.

9. CRA'cow, on the southwest border of the country, was anciently the capital of Poland, and is now a free city, which, together with a small district, is styled the Republic of Cracow.

DENMARK.

Copenhagen.

1. Denmark is a small kingdom, composed chiefly of the peninsula of Jutland, with the German duchy of Holstein, and several islands in the Baltic, the largest of which are Zealand and Funen. The large island of Iceland and the Fa'roe Islands also belong to Denmark.

2. It is one of the most level countries in Europe, and has no large rivers, but many small streams, lakes, and marshes.

3. The climate is healthy, and temperate for the latitude; though the atmosphere is moist and cloudy. Much of the soil is sandy and poor; yet a considerable proportion of it is fertile.

4. Denmark is very favorably situated for trade, and its commerce is considerable.

5. The Canal of Kiel, 22 miles in length, extends from the Baltic to Ei'der, forming a communication from the Baltic to the North sea, and admits vessels of 9 feet draught.

6. CO-PEN-HA'GEN, the capital, is situated on the east coast of the island of Zealand, has a good harbor and an extensive commerce, and is the seat of all the great establishments of the kingdom. It is a well built city, presents a magnificent view when approached from the sea, and contains a large university, but its situation is not healthy.

7. Al-to'na, in Holstein, on the Elbe, near Hamburg, is the second town in Denmark, in population and commerce.

8. El-si-nore', or El-si-neur', is a well known seaport on the north end of the island of Zealand, where all vessels passing into and out of the Baltic, pay toll or duty, as a compensation to the king of Denmark for the light-houses on the coast.

ICELAND.

1. Iceland, a large island, belonging to Denmark, received its name from the ice with which it abounds; and with regard to soil and climate, it is one of the least favored countries on the globe.

2. It is composed, in great part, of masses of volcanic mountains; its surface is in the highest degree rugged; the soil mostly barren; and no considerable trees are to be seen, but only stunted birches, willows, and other shrubs. It is very thinly inhabited, and has few villages, and no considerable town.

3. The inhabitants are Lutherans, of simple manners and good moral habits; but enjoy few of the comforts of life.

4. Iceland is celebrated for its natural wonders, and has several volcanoes, of which Mount Hec'la, one of the most celebrated on the globe, is subject to the most dreadful eruptions, though its summit is always covered with snow; and it is said to have thrown matter to the distance of more than 100 miles.

5. The Gey'sers, or Hot Springs, are reckoned among the greatest wonders of the world. They throw into the air jets of boiling water to the height of 100 or 200 feet, accompanied with a noise like that of a cannon, and a trembling of the adjacent ground. Stones are also thrown up much higher than the water.

GREAT BRITAIN, OR THE BRITISH ISLES

London.

1. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland comprises the two large islands of Great Britain and Ireland, together with many small ones, which are advantageously situated in the Atlantic ocean, to the west of the continent of Europe.

2. The proper or legal name of this kingdom is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; yet it is very commonly styled the British Empire, or simply Great Britain, from the name of the principal island; and England, from the most important division of the island.

3. This kingdom, with regard to population, ranks among the European states as only the 4th, and with regard to extent of territory, as only the 7th; yet it surpasses all other empires on the globe, in respect to manufactures, commerce, naval strength, and in the extent and importance of its foreign possessions.

4. Besides the islands above mentioned, Great Britain possesses the fortress of Gib-rál'tar and the islands of Mál'ta and Hel'i-go-land, in Europe; and has very extensive possessions in America, Africa, and Asia. Among other possessions in Asia, is the rich and populous country of Hindostan.

5. The king of Great Britain, including all his foreign possessions, has more than twice as many subjects as any other monarch in the world, except the emperor of China.

6. The island of Great Britain, the most important island on the globe, the largest in Europe, and the largest that was known to the ancients, is divided into England, Wales, and Scotland.

ENGLAND.

St. Paul's Church.

1. England, which comprises the largest, most fertile, and most populous part of the island of Great Britain, is separated from Scotland by the river Tweed, the Cheviot Hills, and Solway Frith; and it is divided into 40 counties.

2. The surface of England is beautifully diversified with mountains of moderate height, hills, valleys, and plains.

3. There are no very high mountains; but towards the western side, ranges extend throughout most of the country, from north to south, having a few summits more than 3,000 feet in height.

4. The most important rivers are the Thames (temz), which is navigable to London for ships of 700 or 800 tons; the Trent and the Ouse (ouz), which unite to form the estuary, called the Hum ber; the Sev'ern, which flows into Bristol Channel; and the Mer'sey, near the mouth of which is Liverpool.

5. England is celebrated for its extensive and excellent inland navigation, by means of several navigable rivers and numerous canals; and transportation is also facilitated by rail-roads.

6. The climate is healthy, though very variable, and liable to frequent and sudden changes; and the atmosphere damp; but the extremes of heat and cold are less than in most other countries in the same latitude.

7. The soil is generally fertile, particularly in the middle and southern parts; but in the northern counties, much of it is sterile; and in other parts there are barren heaths and marshes.

8. Agriculture, in England, is in a highly improved state; and no other country in Europe is under so good cultivation, except, perhaps, the Netherlands and Lombardy.

9. The four most important productions of agriculture are grain, wool, cattle, and horses.

10. The mineral productions are very valuable, particularly coal, copper, tin, iron, and lead.

11. England is famous for manufactures. The six principal articles are woollens, cotton goods, silk, hardware, earthenware, and glass.

12. Education among the higher and middle classes is much attended to; but with regard to the lower classes, it was much neglected till since the institution of Sunday schools and schools of mutual instruction.

13. England has but three universities, those of Oxford and Cambridge, the most richly endowed in Europe, and that of London, recently established.

14. The government is a limited monarchy, the supreme power being invested in a king and parliament.

15. The parliament is composed of two houses, namely, a House of Lords, consisting of hereditary peers, and a House of Commons, composed of 658 representatives, elected by the people.

16. The nobility, comprising those who are entitled to a seat in the House of Lords, consists of five ranks, namely, dukes, marquises, earls, viscounts, and barons.

17. The established religion is that of the church of England, which has two archbishops, those of Canterbury and York, and 25 bishops; but Dissenters are numerous, consisting chiefly of Independents, Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, Roman Catholics, Unitarians, and Quakers.

18. LONDON, the metropolis of the British empire, is situated on the Thames, 60 miles from its mouth, and is the most populous city in Europe, and the most opulent and commercial one on the globe. It is not greatly distinguished for splendid edifices. The most remarkable one, and the chief ornament of the city, is St. Paul's Church, which is esteemed, next to St. Peter's at Rome, the finest church in the world.

19. The three ports which rank next to London in commerce, are Liv'er-pool, largely concerned in the American trade, and connected with Manchester by a rail-road 32 miles long; Bris'tol, noted for its hot wells; and Hull, for its trade to the Baltic, and whale fishery.

20. Some of the smaller commercial ports are New'cas-tle, Sun'der-land, Whit'by, and White-ha'ven, noted for the coal trade; Fal'-mouth, for packets to Spain, Portugal, and the West Indies; Yar'-mouth, for the herring fishery.

21. Ports'mouth, Plym'outh, and Chat'ham, are distinguished as the chief naval stations; Do'ver, for packets to France; Harwich (har'rij), for packets to Holland.

22. Some of the principal manufacturing towns are Man'ches-ter, famous for cotton goods; Bir'ming-ham, for hardware; Leeds, Wake'field, Ex'e-ter, and Nor'wich (nor'rij), for woollen goods; Shef'-field, for cutlery; Kid'der-min-ster, for carpets; Not'ting-ham and Leicester (les'ter), for stockings; Cov'en-try, for silks and ribands; Gloucester (glos'ter), for pins; Worcester (würs'ter), for porcelain; New'cas-tle-under-Line, for pottery; Bur'ton, for ale.

23. Bath, esteemed the most elegant city in England, is noted for its hot baths, and for being the greatest resort for valetudinarians and votaries of pleasure in the kingdom.

24. Ox'ford and Cām'bridge are famous for their universities; E'ton, for its college; Green'wich, for its observatory; Wind'sor and War'wick (wör'ik), for their castles.

25. Can'ter-bu-ry was formerly noted for pilgrimage to the tomb of Thomas Becket, now as the first archbishopric; York, for its minster or cathedral, and for being the second archbishopric.

26. Chel'ten-ham, Tun'bridge, Bux'ton, Har'row-gate, Scar'bor-ough, and Ep'som, are noted as watering-places; Brigh'ton, Rams'-gate, and Mar'gate, for sea-bathing; New'mar-ke't, for horse-races.

27. Häst'ings, Bar'net, Tewks'bu-ry, Nase'by, Foth'er-in-gay, Bos'-worth, Tow'ton, and Flod'den, are small places, noted in the history of England.

28. Britain was invaded by Julius Cæsar, 55 years before the Christian era. The Saxons became masters of the country in the 5th century, and William of Normandy, styled the Conqueror, in the 11th; and from him the present royal family are descended.

2. It consists of two parts, the Highlands and the Lowlands, and is divided into 33 counties, 16 of which lie chiefly in the Highlands.

3. The Highlands, which comprise the northern and the larger, but much the less fertile and populous part, consist mostly of barren and dreary mountains, with some tolerably fertile valleys.

4. The Lowlands comprehend the country which lies south and east of the Grampian mountains. This division is agreeably diversified with hills and plains; and the eastern portion rivals England in fertility and cultivation.

5. The Grampian Mountains are the most considerable range in Scotland. Ben Ne'vis is reputed the highest summit in Great Britain.

6. The western coast of Scotland is much indented by inlets, and the country abounds in fine lakes, called lochs. Loch Lo'mond, the largest, is 30 miles long, and is one of the most beautiful lakes in Europe. Loch Kath'a-rine, which is bordered by the mountains called the Tros'achs, is famous for being the scene of Scott's 'Lady of the Lake.'

7. The six principal rivers are the Förth, Tay, Tweed, Clyde, Späy, and Dee. The rivers abound with salmon, and the inlets and bays with herring.

8. The two principal canals are the Caledonian Canal and the Forth and Clyde Canal, each of which intersects the island.

9. The islands belonging to Scotland are numerous, comprising the three clusters of the Heb'ri-dēs or Western Islands, the Ork'neys, and the Shet'land Islands.

10. The little island of I-o'na, one of the Hebrides, is famous for having been a seat of learning in the middle ages; and Staf'fa, another little island, is remarkable for Fingal's Cave, the sides of which are formed by perpendicular ranges of basaltic columns; and it is regarded as a great natural curiosity.

11. The Scotch have extensive manufactures, of which the most important are cotton goods, linen, woollens, and iron.

12. There are four universities, those of Edinburgh, Glasgow, St. Andrew's, and Aberdeen. Parish schools are established throughout most of the country.

13. The established religion is Presbyterianism, which was introduced by John Knox, the celebrated Scotch reformer.

14. The Scotch are enterprising, industrious, and temperate, and as a nation, the best educated in Europe.—The Highlanders are a brave, hardy, warlike race, living generally in miserable cottages, and enjoying but few of the comforts of life; though their condition and habits have been of late much improved.

16. Glas'gow, on the Clyde, is the largest city in Scotland, and the first with regard to commerce and manufactures, noted particularly for cotton goods.

17. The principal ports are Gree'nock and Port Glasgow, on the Clyde; Leith, the port of Edinburgh; Dun-dee', Mon-trose', and Aber-deen', on the eastern coast; and In-ver-ness', the metropolis of the Highlands.

18. Pais'ley (pāz'le), Perth, and Dun-ferm'line, are distinguished for cotton and linen manufactures; Kil-mar'nock, for carpets; Car'ron, for iron works; Fal'kirk, for cattle fairs.

19. Mel-rose' and Kel'so are noted for ruins of fine abbeys; Gret-na Green, for the marriages of fugitive lovers from England; Ban'nock-burn, for a great victory over the English; Cul-lo'den Moor, near Inverness, for the final overthrow of the English Pretender.

IRELAND.

The Giant's Causeway.

1 Ireland is a pleasant, fertile, and populous island, forming a striking contrast to Scotland, being mostly level, and having few mountains; and these are chiefly in the northern and western parts.

2. It is divided into four provinces; Ul'ster, in the north, Leinster (lin'ster), in the east, Mun'ster, in the south, and Con-naught', in the west; and it is subdivided into 32 counties.

3. The western coast is much indented by inlets; and one of the most striking features of Ireland is the extent of bogs or marshes, which disfigure the country.

4. The largest river is the Shan'non; and the largest lakes, called loughs (loks), Loug. Neagh and Lough Earn. The small lake of Kil-lar'ney, in the southwest of Ireland, is greatly admired for its picturesque beauty.

5. The greatest natural curiosity is the Giant's Causeway, which is situated on the north coast, and consists of many thousand columns of basaltic rock, rising from 200 to 400 feet perpendicular from the water's edge. These columns are composed of joints or lengths, curiously articulated into each other, like a ball into a socket.

6. The climate is humid and often foggy, but healthy and temperate, the winters being warmer and the summers cooler, than in England.

7 Though the country is generally fertile, and one of the most populous in Europe, yet its agriculture is in rather a backward state.

8. Ireland is celebrated for the abundance and excellence of its potatoes, which, together with oats, form the principal articles of food for the great mass of the people. Grass and also flax are important productions.

9. The principal manufacture is linen; and the chief exports, linen and provisions.

10. The established religion is the same as that of England; but more than three fourths of the people are Roman Catholics.

11. Ireland has but one university, that of Dublin; and a Catholic college at May-nooth'. Though this country has produced many distinguished men, yet the education of the lower classes is lamentably neglected.

12. The Irish are ingenious and courageous; ardent in all their affections; but less industrious, frugal, and temperate, than the Scotch. The great mass of the people live in miserable cabins, constructed of mud walls, and are sunk in ignorance and poverty to a degree rarely witnessed in a civilized country.

13. DUB'LIN, the capital of Ireland, which is finely situated near the head of a very beautiful bay, ranks as the second among the British cities, and contains many magnificent edifices.

14. Cork, the second city in population, has an excellent harbor, and is the most commercial town in Ireland.

15. Lim'er-ick, Bel-fast', Wá'ter-ford, Gal'way, Drog'he-da, and Lon-don-der'ry, are the other largest towns, and have considerable trade and manufactures.

16. Armagh (ar-mah') is noted as the first archbishopric; Kil-dare', for horse races; Ballin-a-sloe', for cattle fairs.

HOLLAND.

Treck-Shuit.

1. This country, which, before the French Revolution of 1789, formed the Republic of the Seven United Provinces, is now divided into 10 provinces, viz., North Holland, South Holland, Zēd'land, U'trecht, Guēl'der-land, O-ver-ŷ's'sel, Drenthe (drēnt), Gron'ing-en, Friēs'land, and North or Dutch Bra-bant'.

2. It is the most level country in Europe, the general aspect being a continued flat, without either mountain or hill. Much of it is lower than the surface of the sea at high water, resembling a large marsh that has been drained; and it is supposed to have once formed the bed of the ocean.

3. The country is protected from being overflowed by dikes, or mounds of earth, which shut out the waters of the sea and the rivers, and which have been formed and are kept in repair with great labor and expense. The dikes are furnished with sluices, so that the country can be laid under water on the approach of an enemy.

4. Some parts of the country are sandy and barren, and others marshy; but much of the soil is very fertile, and the country is noted for its rich pasture, and for its excellent butter and cheese.

5. The climate is often unhealthy, and the air damp and chilling.

6. The three principal rivers of this country and Belgium, are the Rhine, Meuse (muze), and Scheldt (shelt).

7. Canals are numerous, and serve the same purpose as roads in other countries. The common mode of travelling is along a canal in a covered boat, called a Treck-Shuit, drawn by horses.

8. The inhabitants, styled Dutch, have been long noted for commerce, and are generally well educated, and mostly of the Reformed or Calvinist religion. They are distinguished for their industry, gravity of manners, and the cleanliness of their houses.

9. AM'STER-DAM, in North Holland, much the largest city in the kingdom, and one of the most commercial in Europe, is situated among marshes, on an arm of the Zuyder Zee, and the foundation of its buildings is formed by piles driven into the ground. It is a rich and well built city, and the royal palace, formerly the stadthouse, is one of the noblest structures in the world.

10. Rot'ter-dam, on the Meuse, is noted for commerce, and for the birth and statue of Erasmus; The HAGUE, for its elegance, and for being the residence of the royal court.

11. Ley'den (li'dn), Utrecht, and Gron'ing-en are noted for their universities, Utrecht also for a famous treaty of peace in 1713; Har'lem, for the largest organ in Europe, and its trade in flowers, particularly tulips; Dort, as the place of the landing of timber floats on the Rhine, and for the synod which condemned Arminianism.

BELGIUM, OR THE NETHERLANDS.

1. This country comprises the eight Belgic provinces of South Bra-bant', Hai'nault, Namur (na-moor'), Liège, Lim'burg, Ant'werp, East Flan'ders, and West Flan'ders; and to the southeast is the German grand duchy of Lux'em-burg.

2. The name of Netherlands or Low Countries was applied to this country on account of its low situation, although, with the exception of the western part, which lies near the sea, it is more elevated and less level than Holland, and the air less damp.

3. Much of the soil is fertile, and highly cultivated, producing large quantities of grain, flax, hemp, and fruits; and the country is the most populous in Europe.

4. The inhabitants, who are styled Belgians, Walloons, or Flemings, are mostly Catholics, generally speak the French language, and resemble the French more than the Dutch.

5. This country has long been distinguished for manufactures; and it boasts an eminent school of painting, called the Flemish.

6. BRUSSELS, the capital, is one of the most elegant cities in Europe. It contains a royal palace, and is famous for lace, camlets, and carpets.

7. Antwerp, on the Scheldt, is noted for commerce; Ghent, for manufactures, and a treaty of peace between the United States and England; Liège, for iron works and fire-arms; Lôu-vain', for its university; Mech'lin (mek'lin), for lace, and as the first archbishopric; Spa, for mineral waters.

8. No part of Europe, of the same extent, has been the scene of more numerous and important warlike operations, within a few centuries past, than Belgium. Some of the places which have been rendered memorable by battles or sieges, are Os-tend', Oude'narde, Ypres (e'pr), Tour-nay', Fon-te-noy', Ramillies (ram-e-leez'), and Wâ'ter-loo.

9. The provinces of Holland and Belgium were united by the congress of Vienna, in 1814, into one kingdom, that of the Netherlands; but in 1830, the Belgic provinces threw off the yoke of Holland, and declared themselves independent.

GERMANY.

1. Germany is a large country situated in the central part of Europe, extending from the Baltic on the north to the gulf of Venice on the south. It is somewhat larger than France, and contains a greater number of inhabitants, who belong to various political states.

2. Before the French revolution, Germany was an empire, divided into 9 circles, namely, Up'per Sax'o-ny, Low'er Sax'o-ny, and West-pha'li-a, in the north; Up'per Rhine, Low'er Rhine, and Fran-co'ni-a, in the middle; Swab'i-a, Ba-va'ri-a, and Aus'tri-a, in the south. Bo-he'mi-a, Mo-ra'vi-a, and Si-le'si-a, which were not included in the 9 circles, formed also a part of the German empire.

3. The empire of Germany was also subdivided among upwards of 300 sovereign princes, each independent in his own territory, but subject to the emperor as head, who was chosen by 9 electors; but this division has been discontinued, and Germany is no longer an empire.

4. The country of Germany now comprises about one third of the empire of Austria; the greater part of the kingdom of Prussia; Hol'steïn and Lau'en-burg, belonging to the kingdom of Denmark; Lux'em-burg, which belonged to the late kingdom of the Netherlands, but which is now claimed by Belgium; the kingdoms of Ba-

5. The states are all united under the Germanic Confederation, whose affairs are intrusted to a Federative Diet, which meets at Frankfort on the Mayne.

6. Germany is divided into two parts by the difference of the surface; Low Germany, forming the northern division, is mostly level; High Germany, the middle and southern parts, which are greatly diversified with ranges of mountains, hills, and plains.

7. The southern part is traversed by ranges of Alps; and the middle by the Sudetic Mountains and other smaller ranges.

8. The 6 largest rivers are the Dan'ube, Rhine, Elbe, O'der, We'ser, and Mayne.

9. The largest lake in Germany is the beautiful lake of Constance, which lies on the borders of Switzerland.

10. The climate is rather cold in the north, but mild in the south; and the air salubrious, except in the marshy parts.

5. How are these states united? 6. How is Germany divided by surface? 7. What mountains? 8. Rivers? 9. Lake? 10. Climate.

11. Much of the country has a fertile soil; though sandy plains, barren heaths, and marshes abound in the north; and in the south large portions are rugged and mountainous.

12. The Protestant religion prevails in the north of Germany, and the Catholic in the south. The Catholics comprise rather more than half of the population.

13. The prevailing religion of Austria and Bavaria, and of the small principalities of Ho-hen-zol'lern-Sig'ma-ring-en, Ho-hen-zol'lern-Hech'ing-en (hek), and Lich'ten-stein (lik'ten-stin), also the religion of the majority of the inhabitants of Baden, is the Catholic. The prevailing religion of all the other German states is the Protestant.*

14. The government of the kingdoms of Saxony, Hanover, Wurtemberg, and Bavaria, and of some of the small states, is a limited monarchy; that of Austria, Prussia, and part of the small states, is monarchy nearly absolute.

15. Germany, particularly the northern part, is distinguished for literature and science; and in no other country is authorship so extensively made a business for life.

16. Germany contains 22 universities, some of which have a high reputation, and are resorted to by students from other countries. Some of the most distinguished are those of Gottling-en, Ber-lin', Hal'le, Leip'sic, Jena, and Vienna.

17. The principal states in the north of Germany, are Prussia, Hanover, Mecklenburg, and Oldenburg; in the middle, Saxony, Hesse-Cassel, Hesse-Darmstadt, Nassau, and Saxe-Weimar; in the south, Austria, Bavaria, Wurtemberg, and Baden.

* The religion of the reigning families of the kingdom of Saxony, and of the duchy of Anhalt-Cothen, is the Catholic, though the most of their subjects are Protestants; and the religion of the reigning family of the grand-duchy of Baden is the Protestant.

PRUSSIA.

Berlin.

1. Prussia (pru'she-a, or prush'e-a), formerly a small state, but now a powerful kingdom, consists chiefly of two parts, entirely separated from each other, the larger one lying in the northeast of Germany, and the smaller one in the west.

2. The kingdom is divided into 10 provinces. The two provinces of East Prussia and West Prussia comprise Prussia Proper; the province of Posen is formed of the Prussian part of Poland; the other seven provinces are all included within the limits of the late German empire. The western part of the kingdom includes the three provinces of Westphalia, Cleves-Berg, and Lower Rhine; the eastern part, the other seven.

West Prussia	Dantzic	Saxony	Magdeburg
Brandenburg	BERLIN	Westphalia	Munster
Pomerania	Stettin	Cleves-Berg	Cologne
Posen	Posen	Lower Rhine	Aix-la-Chapelle

3. The Prussian territories are generally very level, abounding in small lakes, marshes, and rivers of a slow current.

4. The principal mountains are the Rie'sen-ge-birg, a part of the Su-del'ic chain, which separates Silesia from Bohemia and Moravia.

5. The country is well supplied with navigable rivers; the principal of which are the Niē'men, Vis'tu-la, O'der, and Elbe, in the eastern part, and the Rhine, in the western.

6. The soil is in some parts good, and highly cultivated; but, in general, by no means very fertile, being often sandy and covered with heath.

7. The most remarkable mineral production is amber, a substance which is obtained chiefly from Prussia, and is found in large quantities on the shores of the Baltic.

8. Prussia is rather an agricultural than a trading or manufacturing country; yet it has considerable commerce, and some districts are much employed in manufactures, particularly Silesia and Westphalia, which are noted for their linens.

9. Nearly two thirds of the inhabitants are Protestants, and one third, Catholics; but all religions are tolerated, and on an equal footing.

10. There are flourishing universities at Ber-lin', Hal'le, Kon'igs-berg, Bres'lau, and Bonn. The Prussian government is distinguished for patronizing learning, and the kingdom is one of the best educated in Europe.

11. BER-LIN', the capital of the kingdom, is situated in a level and sandy district, on the river Spree, and is the second city in Germany in population, and one of the most regular and beautiful in Europe.

12. The three principal commercial ports are Kon'igs-berg, on the Pre'gel, formerly the capital of Prussia; Dant'zic, on the Vistula, famous for the export of grain; and Stet'tin, on the Oder, which is the chief port for the commerce of Berlin. The other most considerable ports are El'bing, Stral'sund, and Mem'el.

13. Some of the principal trading towns in the interior are Bres'lau, the capital of Silesia, the second city in population, and famous for its fairs and manufactures; Frank'fort, on the Oder, also noted for its fairs; Mag'de-burg, on the Elbe, for its strong fortifications; Cologne (ko-lōn'), on the Rhine, for trade, Cologne water, and the invention of gunpowder.

14. Aix-la-Cha-pelle' (ais'-la-sha-pel') is famous for having been

15. Prussia was first erected into a kingdom in 1701; was much distinguished in the history of Europe in the last century, during the reign of Frederick the Great; and has gradually acquired a great accession of territory.

HANOVER.

1. The kingdom of Hanover lies in the northwest part of Germany, comprising a part of the late circles of Lower Saxony and Westphalia; and it encloses the free city of Bremen, and almost surrounds the grand-duchy of Oldenburg.

2. The country is advantageously situated, and well watered by the Elbe, Weser, Leine, and Ems; but the soil of most of it is sandy and poor.

3. Hanover consists chiefly of an immense plain, with gentle undulations, except a tract in the south, which is traversed by the Hartz mountains.

4. The Hartz Mountains abound in mines of silver, copper, lead, iron, &c. They are covered with forests, and are remarkable for their picturesque scenery. Brocken, the most celebrated summit, is much visited by travellers on account of its curiosities.

5. HAN'OVER, the capital, is situated on the Leine, and is noted chiefly as the residence of the court; Gotting-en, for its university; Em'den, for being the principal port; Os'na-burg, for its coarse linens, called osnaburgs; Lun'e-burg, for its salt-works and trade in horses.

6. Hanover is subject to the king of Great Britain, and the government is conducted by a viceroy, appointed by the king.

SAXONY.

1. Saxony, situated in the central part of Germany, and comprising a portion of the late circle of Upper Saxony, is the smallest kingdom in Europe.

2. It is watered by the Elbe and its branches; has a finely diversified surface; is one of the most fertile and best cultivated portions of Germany, and is distinguished for its manufactures, and for education and literature.

3. The Erz'ge-birg Mountains, a part of the Sudetic chain, which separates Saxony from Bohemia, contain celebrated mines of silver, tin, lead, copper, &c.

4. DRES'DEN, the capital of Saxony, is delightfully situated on the Elbe, and is one of the handsomest towns in Europe, and noted for its polished society, its collections in the fine arts, and its porcelain.

5. Leip'sic, on the Pleisse, is famous for its university and its fairs, and for being the greatest place for book-selling in Germany. —Leip'sic and Dres'den, and likewise Baut'zen, are noted for great battles during the late European war.

6. Freÿ'berg is noted as a mining town; Meis'sen, for porcelain; and Herrn'hut, as the principal settlement of the Moravians.

FREE CITIES.

1. Germany had formerly a large number of commercial towns, that were associated together under the Hanseatic League; but the title of Hanse Towns has of late been confined to Lu-beck', Ham-burg, and Brem'en, which, together with Frank'fort on the Mayne, are now the four Free Cities of Germany.

2. Ham'burg, on the Elbe, about 70 miles from its mouth, is the first commercial city in Germany, and before the French revolution, was the third in Europe.

3. Lu-beck', a few miles from the Baltic, was once larger than it now is, and is famous for having been the head of the Hanse Towns.

4. Brem'en, on the Weser, is noted for commerce.

5. Frank'fort on the Mayne is one of the principal trading towns in the interior of Germany, and is famous for its fairs, and for being the seat of the Germanic Diet.

SMALL GERMAN STATES.

1. MECK'LEN-BURG, situated in the north of Germany, is not very fertile, well cultivated, or populous. The principal towns are Schwer'in, the capital, and Rostock, considerable for commerce.

2. The electorate of HESSE-CASSEL is a hilly country, of irregular form, watered by the Weser and its branches, and is not generally fertile. The principal towns are Cas'sel, the capital, noted for the water-works in its vicinity; Han'au, for trade and manufactures.

3. The grand-duchy of HESSE-DARMSTADT consists of two parts, one north, and the other south of the Mayne, and has a diversified surface, but is generally mountainous. The principal towns are Darm'stadt, the capital; Mentz, or Mayence, which is the strongest town in Germany, and claims the invention of printing; Worms, noted in the history of the Reformation.

4. Wis'ba-den, the chief town of the duchy of NASSAU, is noted for its hot springs; Selt'zer, for mineral waters; Hoch'heim, for the wine called Hock.

5. Weimar, the capital of the grand-duchy of SAXE-WEIMAR, is noted as a seat of learning; Je'na, for its university, and for a great battle between the French and Prussians.

6. Brunswick, the capital of the duchy of BRUNSWICK, is noted for trade and for its fairs.

BADEN.

1. The grand-duchy of Baden is situated in the southwest part of Germany, between the kingdom of Wurtemberg and the Rhine. It is long and narrow, extending from the lake of Constance on the south, to the river Mayne on the north.

2. It is watered by the rivers Rhine and Neck'ar, and the surface is diversified. In the southern part, there is a mountainous range called the Schwarzwald or Black Forest.

3. It has a diversified surface, and is one of the most fertile portions of Germany, abounding in corn, wine, fruits, and cattle.

4. CARLSRUHE (karlz-roo/a), the capital, is a handsome town, built in the shape of an open fan, the streets proceeding in the form of radii from the palace, as the centre.

4 Man'heim, at the junction of the Neckar with the Rhine, is noted as one of the most beautiful towns in Germany; Hei'del-berg and Frey'berg, for their universities; Con'stance, for the council which condemned John Huss and Jerome of Prague; Bä'den, for warm-baths; Ras'tadt, for a treaty of peace.

WURTEMBERG.

1. Wurtemberg is a small kingdom, situated in the southwest part of Germany, comprising a part of the late circle of Swabia, and is watered by the head branches of the Danube and the Neckar.

2. The surface is agreeably diversified, but the southern parts are traversed by the Black Forest and the Swabian Alps.

3. Wurtemberg is one of the most fertile, populous, and best cultivated parts of Germany.

4. The principal towns are STUTT'GARD, the capital; Ulm, noted for its strong fortifications; Tu'bing-en, for its university.

5. Near the south of Wurtemberg are situated the small independent states of Ho-hen-zol'lern-Hech'ing-en and Ho-hen-zol'lern-Sig'mar-ing-en.

BAVARIA.

1. Bavaria, a kingdom of considerable size and importance, is situated towards the southwest of Germany, and is composed of most of the late circles of Bavaria and Franconia.

2. A small portion of the kingdom, entirely separated from the rest, lies on the west side of the Rhine, and is composed of a part of the late Palatinate of the Rhine.

3. Bavaria is separated from Tyrol on the south, and from Bohemia on the northeast, by rugged mountains; but the most of the country is nearly level or moderately uneven, and the soil generally fertile.

4. The country is watered by the Dan'ube and its branches, the Inn, I'ser, Il'ler, and Lech (lek); and also by the Mayne.

5. MU'NICH (moo'nik), the capital, situated on the Iser, is one of the handsomest cities in Europe, and contains a celebrated museum of antiquities and other curiosities.

6. Augs'burg is one of the principal trading towns in the interior of Germany, and remarkable for being the place where the Lutheran Confession of Faith was presented to Charles V, in 1530.

7. Nu'rem-berg is noted for trade and for manufactures, particularly of watches (first invented here) and toys.

8. Rat'is-bon is noted for having long been the place of the meeting of the Diet of the German empire; Pas-sau', for a Religious Peace, in the time of the Reformation; Spire, for the Protest of the Protestants; Deux Ponts (du-ponts'), for its editions of the classics.

9. Blen'heim, Det'ting-en, Ho-hen-lin'den, and Eck'muhl, are villages memorable for battles.

AUSTRIA.

Vienna.

1. Austria was erected into an empire in 1804, and is composed of various states or countries situated towards the south of Europe.

5. What is said of Munich? 6. Augsburg? 7. Nuremberg?
8. What other towns, and for what noted?

2. The archdukes of Austria were, during several centuries, successively elected emperors of Germany; but in 1804, Francis II assumed the title of hereditary emperor of Austria; and in 1806, he resigned his title of emperor of Germany; and the German empire was dissolved.

3. The Austrian Dominions comprise about one third part of Germany; the kingdom of Hungary; Transylvania, Dalmatia, Sclavonia, Croatia; a part of Poland, styled Galicia; and the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom, in the northeast of Italy.

4. The inhabitants of the empire consist chiefly of four races or nations, namely, Germans, Sclavonians, Hungarians or Magarians, and Italians.

5. The government is an hereditary monarchy, nearly absolute; except in Hungary and Transylvania, where the power of the emperor is limited by constitutional provisions.

6. The established religion is the Roman Catholic, but all others are tolerated; and in Hungary and Transylvania the members of the Protestant and Greek churches are numerous, and enjoy considerable privileges.

AUSTRIAN GERMAN TERRITORIES.

7. The Austrian Dominions in Germany consist of the Archduchy of Aus'tri-a, Stir'i-a, Ty-rol', and the Illyrian provinces of Ca-rin'thi-a, and Car-ni-o'la (all included in the late circle of Austria), together with Bo-he'mi-a and Mo-ra'vi-a.

8. The surface is diversified, but much of it mountainous. Ranges of the Alps traverse the southern parts. Bohemia consists of a valley encompassed by mountains.

9. The soil of a great portion is fertile, particularly of the archduchy of Austria, Bohemia, and Moravia; but much of the other parts is mountainous and unproductive. Agriculture is generally in a backward state.

10. The principal rivers are the Danube, Drave, Save, Elbe, and Mo-rä'va or Marsch.

11. The lake Cirk'nitz, in Carniola, which is about 7 miles long, is a remarkable curiosity. Early in the season, the water descends through subterranean apertures, and the bottom becomes dry, and continues so about four months, is cultivated, and produces grass and millet. After this period, the water ascends, and the lake is again filled.

12. VI-EN'NA, the metropolis of Austria, and the largest city in Germany, is situated on the Danube, in a spacious valley, and is subject to inundation. It is the centre of the trade of Austria, and is a gay and splendid city, with beautiful environs.

13. Lintz, on the Danube, is noted for woollen manufactures;

Salzburg, for its situation among mountains, and for hardware; Hallein, for salt-works; Wagram, a village near Vienna for a battle between the French and the Austrians.

14. Gratz, the capital of Stiria, has considerable manufactures; Trieste, in Illyria, is the principal commercial port in the Austrian Dominions; and Idria has the most celebrated quicksilver mines in the world.

15. In Tyrol are Innsbruck, the capital; Trent, noted for a famous council; Bolzano, for its fairs; Roveredo, for silks.

16. In Bohemia are Prague, much the largest town, and having considerable trade and manufactures; Tabor, noted for having been the chief place of the Hussites; Carlsbad and Topolitz, for mineral waters.

17. In Moravia are Brunn, the capital; Olmutz, noted for the imprisonment of Lafayette; Austerlitz, for a great victory of Bonaparte.

HUNGARY.

18. Hungary is a large country, entitled a kingdom, and forms almost a third part of the empire of Austria.

19. The Carpathian Mountains extend along on the northeast border; but the surface of the country is generally level or moderately uneven; and it has very extensive plains, and some large marshes.

20. The principal rivers are the Danube, Theis (tise), and Drave.

21. A large proportion of the country has a fertile soil; but in the north, it is hard and unproductive; and in other parts, there are large barren heaths, and tracts covered with sand.

22. Hungary has various valuable productions, and is famous for grain, cattle, wine, and mines of gold, silver, lead, copper, iron, and opal.

23. Buda, the capital of Hungary, is situated on the Danube, and is noted for its hot-baths; Pest, opposite to Buda, with which it is connected by a bridge of boats, is the largest and most commercial town.

24. Presburg is noted for having been the former capital; Debretzin and Zegedin, for trade and manufactures; Schemnitz and Kremnitz, for gold and silver mines; Neusohl, for copper mines; To-kay, for wine; Temes-var, for its strong fortress; Zenta, for a great battle between the Austrians and Turks.

TRANSYLVANIA.

25. This country lies on the east of Hungary, and is called Transylvania, which signifies beyond the woods, because it lies to the east of a woody tract of country in Hungary.

25. Why is Transylvania so called?

26. It has a diversified surface, and a fertile soil, but is badly cultivated.

27. The principal towns are Her'man-stadt, the capital, Clau'senburg, and Cron'stadt.

GALICIA.

28. Galicia, which lies to the northeast of the Carpathian mountains, formerly constituted the southwest part of Poland, and consists chiefly of an immense plain. It has a fertile soil, but the cultivation is very backward.

29. The principal towns are Lem'berg, the capital; Bro'dy, noted for trade; and Wie-licz'ka, for the most famous salt mines in Europe.

AUSTRIAN ITALY.

30. Austrian Italy, called the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom, consists of the northeast part of Italy, which lies north of the Po, and east of the Ti-c'ino. It comprises a large part of what was anciently called Cisalpine Gaul, and afterwards Lombardy.

31. With the exception of the parts that border on Switzerland and Germany, it is generally very level, composed chiefly of large and beautiful plains, of such fertility and high cultivation, that it has been styled the Garden of Europe.

32. It is watered by the Ad'ige, the Po, and its branches; and here are found the fine lakes of Gar'da, I-sé'o, Co'mo, and Maggiore (ma-jo're).

33. Mil'an, the capital of Austrian Italy, is situated in a beautiful plain, and is distinguished for its magnificent edifices, particularly its cathedral. It has an extensive trade, and is one of the principal seats of Italian literature.

little islands, seems, at a distance, to float on the surface of the water. It has canals instead of streets; and boats, called gondolas, instead of coaches. It was once the capital of a celebrated republic, and the most commercial city in the world; and it has still some traue, though greatly declined.

35. Ve-ro'na is noted for the remains of its great ancient amphitheatre; Pad'u-a and Pä'vi-a, for their universities; Bres'ci-a, for fire-arms; Cre-mo'na and Ber'ga-mo, for silks; Man'tu-a, for its fortifications; Lo'di, for the cheese called Par-me-san'.

SWITZERLAND.

The Glaciers.

1. Switzerland is the most mountainous country in Europe, abounding more than any other, in grand and picturesque scenery, such as is composed of stupendous mountains, valleys, glaciers, precipices, cataracts, and lakes; and on account of these, it is much visited by travellers.

2. It is traversed by ranges of the Alps, which lie chiefly to the south and east. Some of the principal summits in Switzerland are Cervin, Jungfrau, Simplon, St. Bernard, and St. Gothard; and close upon its borders are the elevated summits of Mont Blanc and Mont Rosa.

3. Mont Blanc, in Savoy, on the borders of Switzerland, is the highest mountain in Europe, and receives its name, which signifies White mountain, from the immense mantle of glaring white snow, with which its summits and sides are always covered.

35. What other towns, and for what noted?

SWITZERLAND.—1. What is said of Switzerland? 2. What mountains? 3. What is said of Mont Blanc?

4 On the north side of Mont Blanc is the celebrated vale of Chamou'ni (sha-moo'ne), which is greatly admired for the beauty and grandeur of its scenery.

5. Mount Simplon, between Switzerland and Piedmont, is famous for the magnificent road made over it by Bonaparte, the most elevated point of which is more than 6,000 feet high.

6. Between the two principal summits of Mount St. Bernard, is one of the principal passages from Switzerland to Italy; and at the height of 8,038 feet, the most elevated point in the passage, there is a Benedictine monastery and hospital, which is the highest inhabited spot in Europe.

7. The Glaciers, which abound in the elevated hollows, between the peaks of the high mountains, are fields or lakes of glittering ice and snow; extending, in some instances, 15 or 20 miles in length, and often presenting the most fantastic forms.

8. The Avalanches are immense masses of snow and ice, which occasionally detach themselves from the glaciers, and are precipitated down the mountains, as sheets of snow down the roof of a house.

9. The Rhine and the Rhone, two of the largest rivers of Europe, and also the Inn, a head branch of the Danube, rise in the mountains of Switzerland. The Aar is the largest river that has its whole course within the country.

10. Cataracts are very numerous, and small streams are often precipitated from a great height. About 40 miles to the southeast of Berne, is the famous cascade of the Staub'bach, which is nearly 1,000 feet perpendicular.

11. The Falls of the Rhine, near Schaff-hau'sen, form the most noted cataract in Europe, and are much visited by travellers. The river here dashes headlong from a height of about 50 feet.

12. Switzerland is celebrated for its numerous and beautiful lakes. The largest is the lake of Ge-ne'va, which is esteemed the most beautiful lake in Europe. Some of the others are the lakes of Neufcha-tel' (nu-sha-tel'), Lu-cerne', and Zu'rich (zu'rik).

13. The climate of Switzerland is healthy, but severe in the elevated parts.

14. The soil is not generally fertile, and much of the country is rugged and sterile; but the productive parts are cultivated with great care. The breeding of cattle forms the principal source of subsistence.

15. Switzerland is divided into 22 cantons, in 9 of which the Catholic religion prevails, in 8 the Protestant, and 6 are divided; but the Protestants comprise a good deal more than half of the whole population.

16. The prevailing language is the German; but French is spoken in the cantons which border on France, and the Italian in the cantons which border on Italy.

17. Switzerland is a republic, or a confederacy of 22 little republics. The cantons are independent, having their respective constitutions, some of which are democratic, but the most of them oligarchic. But the general concerns of the confederacy are entrusted to a general diet, which meets, by rotation, at Lucerne, Zurich, and Berne.

18. Several of the towns of Switzerland, particularly Ge-ne'va, Bäle, and Zu'rich, have been distinguished in the history of literature; and the Protestant cantons are among the best educated parts of Europe.

19. The Swiss are hardy, industrious, and temperate; strangers, generally, to luxury and affluence; of simple manners, and ardently attached to liberty.

20. Ge-ne'va, the most populous town in Switzerland, has a very picturesque situation, at the southwest end of the lake of Geneva, embracing the most magnificent views of mountain scenery, including the summit of Mont Blanc. It is famous for the manufacture of watches, as a seat of learning, and for having been the centre of the Reformed religion.

21. Bäle or Bas'il, on the Rhine, is distinguished for trade and its university; Berne, on the Aar, as the most beautiful town in Switzerland; Zu'rich, for its delightful situation, for learning, and the cultivation of flowers.

22. Lau-sanne' (lo-zan') is noted for its picturesque situation on the lake of Geneva; Gruyeres (gru-yare'), for cheese; All'torf, for the exploits of William Tell, the Swiss patriot; Schweitz, for giving name to the country.

FRANCE.

Paris.

1. France is a fine country, advantageously situated to the west of the central part of Europe, and during the last thousand years, it has been one of the leading states in that quarter of the globe.

2. Before the French Revolution, France was divided into 32 provinces, some of the most important of which were Brittany, Nor'man-dy, Pic'ar-dy, and the Isle of France, in the northwest; Cham-pagne' (sham-pān'), Lor-raine', Al-sace', Franché-Comté, and Bur'gun-dy, in the northeast; Prov-ence', Dau'phi-ny, Lan-gue-doc', Gas'co-ny, and Gui-enne' (ghe-en'), in the south.

3. The kingdom, including the island of Cor'si-ca, is now divided into 86 departments, which are named from the principal rivers by which they are watered, or from other natural features.

4. France is favorably situated for commerce, being bounded on the west by the Atlantic ocean, or bay of Biscay, called also the gulf of Gascony, on the northwest by the British Channel, and on the southeast by the Mediterranean. It is also watered by many fine rivers, and had, in 1830, 82 canals; though its inland navigation is much less complete than that of England.

5. The four largest rivers which have their course wholly or chiefly in France, are the Seine, Loire (Iwar), Ga-ronne', and Rhone.

6. The Seine passes through the city of Paris, and flows into the British Channel, at Havre-de-Grace. It is navigable for vessels of 200 tons to Rouen, 70 miles, and for boats to Troyes (trwah).

7. The Loire flows through the central part of France, and runs into the Atlantic ocean below Nantes; and it is connected with the Seine and with the Saône, a tributary of the Rhone, by canals; thus forming a water communication through the heart of the kingdom. It is remarkable for its levees or artificial banks, formed to confine its waters within its channel.

8. The Garonne is joined by the Dordogne (dor-dōne'), 12 miles below Bourdeaux, and then takes the name of Gironde (je-rond'). It begins to be navigable at Toulouse, where it is joined by the celebrated Canal of Lan-gue-doc' or of the South, which is 140 miles long, and opens a communication between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

9. The Rhone rises in the mountains of Switzerland, is joined by the Saône (sōn) at Lyons, and flows into the gulf of Lions, between Marseilles and Montpellier. It is not quite so long as the Loire, but of larger size, and is the most rapid of the great rivers of Europe. The navigation down the stream is easy; but the upward navigation is difficult.

10. The surface of France, in the northern part, is very level; in the middle, agreeably diversified; and in the south and east, mountainous.

11. The principal ranges of mountains are the Pyr'e-nees, in the south; and the Alps, in the southeast. Inferior ranges are those of Ce-vennes', Can'tal, Ju'ra, and Vosges (vōzh).

12. The climate is one of the finest in the world, being warmer, drier, and less changeable than that of England; but it is much colder in the north than in the south.

13. With regard to soil, France is a favored country. Though there are many large tracts that are unproductive, yet a great proportion is fertile.

14. Some of the most important productions in the northern part of France, are wheat, barley, oats, pulse, and potatoes; in the southern, wine, maize, silk, and olive oil.

15. The mineral productions are valuable, consisting chiefly of iron, copper, tin, lead, and coal.

16. Some of the principal exports are wine, brandy, silks, linen, cotton, and woollen goods.

17. The French have been long distinguished for their manufacture of silk, woollen, and linen goods; the cotton manufactures are of comparatively recent introduction.

18. France has but one institution styled a university, which is composed of 26 academies, which are constituted on a plan similar to the universities of other countries, and are situated in the considerable towns in the different parts of the kingdom. At the head of these institutions is the academy or university of Paris.

19 The French have always, since the revival of modern literature, ranked among the most literary nations of Europe; and they excel in the belles lettres, mathematics, astronomy, and chemistry; but the education of the lower classes is too much neglected.

20. The French language is derived from the Latin. It is one of the most polished of the modern languages; and it is more used than any other in European courts.

21. The government of France is a limited monarchy, and the constitution resembles that of Great Britain. The legislature is composed of the king, a chamber of hereditary peers, and a chamber of deputies elected by the people.

22. All religions are tolerated in France, and are on an equal footing; but the great mass of the people are Roman Catholics. There are 14 Catholic archbishops and 66 bishops. Lutherans and Calvinists are considerably numerous.

23. PARIS, the capital of France, is situated on the Seine, in the northern part of the kingdom, and is one of the most splendid cities in the world, the second in population in Europe, and the first as a centre of gayety, luxury, and fashion. It is inferior to London in size, and in the width and accommodation of its streets, but greatly superior in magnificent palaces and public edifices.

24. Ly'ons, finely situated at the conflux of the Rhone and Saone, is the second city in France, and distinguished for trade and for its extensive manufactures; particularly its silks and gold and silver stuffs.

25. The five largest commercial ports are Mar-séilles' (mar-sälz), Bour-deaux' (boor-do'), Nantes, Hä'vre (hä'vr) or Hävre-de-Grâce, and Rou'en (roo'ong).

26. Mar-seilles', on a gulf of the Mediterranean, is distinguished as the first commercial port of France; Bour-deaux', on the Garonne, for its wines; Nantes, on the Loire, for its brandy and for an edict respecting the Protestants; Hä'vre-de-Grace, at the mouth of the Seine, as the port of Paris; Rouen, on the Seine, 70 miles above its mouth, for cotton manufactures and its magnificent cathedral.

27. The principal naval stations are Brest and Tou'lon (too'long), the two largest; also Roche'fort (rosh'fort), L'Orient (lor'e-ong), and Cher'bourg (sher'burg).

28. The other most important seaports, are Bay-onne', noted for its trade with Spain, its fisheries, and the invention of bayonets; Ro-chelle' (ro-shel'), for having been the strong-hold of the Protestants, and for its long siege; Dun'kirk, for its distinction in history, and its importance as a place of great strength; Bou-logne' (boo-lön'), Di-eppe', and St. Mä'lo.

29. Lille or Lä'sle, Dou'ay (doo'a), Valenciennes (val-än-se-en'),

25. Which are the five principal commercial ports? 26. What is said of them? 27. What are the naval stations? 28. What other seaports?

29. What places are noted for fortifications, &c.?

Cambray, and Metz (mās), have all considerable manufactures, and are noted for their fortifications; Stras'burg, for its fortifications, trade, manufactures, and cathedral; Rheims (remz), as the place of the coronation of French kings.

30. Some of the towns distinguished for manufactures, besides those already mentioned, are Am'i-ens, noted for a treaty of peace; Or'le-ans, for sieges and the exploits of Joan of Arc; Tours (toorz), for silks; St. Et-i-enne', connected with Lyons by a rail-road, for fire-arms and hardware; Cognac' (cōn-yak'), for brandy.

31. Tou'louse (too'looz) is noted for having been the capital of the Goths; Av'ig-non (av'in-yon), for having been the residence of the pope; Mont-pell'i-er, for its salubrity and its medical school; Nismes (neemz), for its amphitheatre and other antiquities; Aix (ās), for its trade in oil; Beau-caire', for its fairs.

32. Ver-sailles' (ver-sälz) is noted for its magnificent royal palace; Fon'taine-bleau (fon'ten-blo), for its royal castle and forest; Poitiers, also the villages of Ag'in-court (ad'jin-koor) and Crecy (cres'se), for battles between the French and English; A-jac'cio (a-jat'cho), the capital of Corsica, as the birth-place of Bonaparte.

33. The name of France is derived from the Franks, a German nation, that invaded the country in the fifth century.

34. The French Revolution, the greatest political convulsion of modern times, commenced in 1789; and in 1793, Louis XVI was beheaded.

35. Bonaparte was crowned emperor in 1804, and in 1815 his power was overthrown at the battle of Waterloo, and Louis XVIII was placed on the throne.

36. In 1830, a new revolution took place in France, by which Charles X and his family were excluded from the throne, and Louis Philip was declared king of the French, and a freer system of government was established.

SPAIN.

Bull-Fight.

1. Spain comprises the most of a large peninsula, which is situated in the southwest of Europe, and is separated from the rest of the continent by the Pyr'e-nees, which divide it from France.

2. It is divided into 14 provinces, namely, Ga-li'ci-a, As-tu'ri-a, Le-on', and Bis'cay, in the northwest; Na-varre', Ar'ra-gon, and Cat-a-lo'ni-a, in the northeast; Va-len'ci-a, Mur'ci-a, and Gra-nä'da, in the southeast; An-da-lu'si-a and Es-tre-ma-du'ra, in the southwest; Old Cas-tile' and New Cas-tile', in the middle.

3. Spain is one of the most mountainous countries in Europe, and a great part of it has an elevated surface; but it is finely variegated with rivers and valleys; and in the southeast and south, there are extensive plains.

4. The Pyr'e-nees form the northeastern barrier, and are connected with the Cantabrian chain, which extends throughout the north of Spain, parallel to the bay of Biscay; and the country is traversed by four other ridges, which extend from west to east between the large rivers. The highest of these ridges is the Si-er'ra Ne-vä'da.

5. Mont-ser-rat', about 20 miles northwest of Barcelona, is a singular mountain, nearly 4,000 feet high, consisting of an assemblage of conical hills, and is remarkable for its hermitages and Benedictine monastery.

6. The five largest rivers are the Ta'gus, Du-é'ro or D'au ro, Fy'bro, Guad-i-á'na, and Guad-al-quiv'ir; but, on account of the mountainous character of the country, they do not afford great facilities for navigation.

7. Spain has three considerable islands in the Mediterranean, namely, Ma-jor'ca, Mi-nor'ca, and Iv'i-ca.

8. The soil is various; in the southern provinces, generally very fertile; but in the central parts, much of it is dry and unproductive.

9. The climate is generally mild and pleasant, and the air is much refreshed by sea-breezes; but in the south, it is hot, and at some seasons unhealthy, being subject to the pernicious wind called So-lá'no; and in the elevated parts, the winters are cold.

10. Spain has a great variety of vegetable and mineral productions; and it is famous for its wool, reputed the best in Europe; also for its silk, wine, oil, and fruits.

11. Spain is advantageously situated, and has great natural resources; but it suffers for the want of canals and good roads; and agriculture and manufactures are in a backward state. Catalonia, in the northeast, is the part of the country most distinguished for manufacturing and commercial activity.

12. During the middle ages, a large part of the country was possessed by the Moors, the last of whom were expelled early in the 17th century. Two hundred years ago, Spain was esteemed the most formidable power in Europe, but is now comparatively weak. She has been distinguished for the despotic character of her government, and for her extensive and rich possessions in America, the most of which have now become independent.

13. The Spaniards are rigid Catholics, temperate in their habits, stately and reserved in their manners, and as a nation, with regard to education and literature, backward; much more so than formerly.

14. The favorite national amusement of the Spaniards is Bull-Fighting, a barbarous exhibition, which is attended by great numbers of both sexes, and to which there are amphitheatres appropriated in the principal towns.

15. MAD-RID', the capital of Spain, is situated on a branch of the Tagus, near the centre of the kingdom, and is the most elevated capital in Europe, being about 2,000 feet above the level of the sea.

16. The two most considerable commercial ports are Bar-ce-lo'na, in the northeast, which exports wine, brandy, and the manufactures of Catalonia; and Ca'diz, in the southwest, which is the centre of the American trade.

17. The other principal ports are Mal'a-ga and Al'i-cant, noted for wines and fruits; Car-tha-ge'na, for its good harbor; Bil-bo'a or Bil-bá'o, for wool and iron; also Fer'rol and Co-run'na, in the northwest corner of Spain.

18. Se-ville', or Sev'ille, on the Guadalquivir, was formerly much larger than at present, and the most commercial town in the kingdom; Gra-na'da, styled the Paradise of Spain, and Cor'do-va, noted for a kind of leather called Cordovan, are famous for having been seats of Moorish power and magnificence.

19. Sar-a-gos'sa is famous for its sieges; Va-len'ci-a, for its fine situation and for silk; Xé'res, for the wine called Sherry; To-lé'do, as the first archbishopric, and for sword-blades; Se-go'vi-a, for woollen manufactures; Sal-a-man'ca, for its university; Val-a-do-líd', for having been a royal residence; Com-pos-tel'la, for pilgrimage to the supposed tomb of St. James; the village Es-cu'ri-al, for its magnificent royal palace; Cape Traf-al-gar', for a great naval battle, in which Lord Nelson was killed.

20. GIB-RAL'TAR is a celebrated promontory, more than 1,400 feet high, at the southern extremity of Spain, belonging to Great Britain. It has a remarkable fortress, so defended by nature and art, as to be accounted the strongest in the world.

PORTUGAL.

1. Portugal is a small kingdom, lying between Spain and the Atlantic ocean, and is the most westerly of all the European states.

2. It is advantageously situated for commerce, and was formerly distinguished as a maritime power; but its prosperity has long since declined.

3. The three principal rivers are the Ta'gus, Du-é'ro or Dôu'ro, and Guad-i-ã'na.

4. The surface is much diversified by mountains, valleys, and plains; the soil of a considerable part is fertile, but miserably cultivated; the climate pleasant and healthy.

5. Portugal has a deficiency of grain; but it abounds in wine, olives, oranges, and other fruits.

6. The Portuguese are rigid Catholics, and are a very backward nation with regard to agriculture, manufactures, education, and the arts.

7. LIS'BON, the capital, is delightfully situated near the mouth of the Tagus, has an excellent harbor, and ranks among the first commercial cities of Europe. It is famous for the export of the wine called Lisbon, and for its partial destruction by a great earthquake in 1755.

8. O-por'to, near the mouth of the Duero, is famous for Port wine. It was anciently called Portus Calle, from which the name of Portugal is derived.

9. Co-im'bra is noted for its university; St. Ubes or Set'u-val, for salt; Bra-gan'za, for giving a title to the present reigning family of Portugal.

ITALY.

Mount Etna.

1. Italy is a beautiful country, consisting of a long peninsula, extending into the Mediterranean, in the form of a boot, and separated from Switzerland and Germany on the north, by the Alps.

2. It is of great celebrity in history, and is noted for the excellence of its climate, the fertility of its soil, the beauty of its natural scenery, and for the numerous and superb monuments of ancient art, which it still exhibits.

3. The surface is finely diversified with mountains, hills, valleys, and plains; but it is mostly a mountainous country.

4. The Alps lie on the north; the Ap'en-nines extend throughout the whole length of the peninsula; and the three celebrated volcanoes, Et'na, Ve-su'vi-us, and Strom'bo-li, belong to Italy.

5. Of the Italian islands, Sic'i-ly, a large and fertile island, is the most important. The other islands are Sar-din'i-a, which gives name to the kingdom of Sardinia; Cor'si-ca, a mountainous island which belongs to France; Mál'ta, which belongs to Great Britain, and is celebrated for its fortifications; El'ba, noted for mines and for the residence of Bonaparte; and the Lip'a-ri islands.

6. The river Po and its branches water the most of the northern part of Italy. The other principal rivers are the Ad'ige, Ar'no, and Tí'ber.

7. The river Tev-e-ro'ne has a celebrated and beautiful cataract of nearly 100 feet perpendicular, at Tiv'o-li; and 5 miles from Ter'ni, the small river Ve-l'no has three fine cascades, one of which is about 300 feet perpendicular.

8. Italy has a number of beautiful lakes, the principal of which are Maggiore (ma-jo're) or Lo-car'no, Co'mo, I-sé'o, Gar'da, and Bol-sé'na.

9. The climate is esteemed the finest in Europe, but it varies in different parts. In some places, particularly in a district on the southwest coast, extending from Leghorn to Ter-ra-ci'na, 47 miles southeast of Rome, it is unhealthy; and in the south, the country, at some seasons, is annoyed by the wind called Sirocco.

10. The soil is generally fertile, and is well cultivated in the northern parts; but in the middle and south the cultivation is backward.

11. The most important productions are grain, wine, olive oil, silk, cattle, cheese, fruits, and marble.

12. The Italians excel in the fine arts; and the country abounds in splendid specimens of painting, sculpture, and architecture.

13. Italy has not, for a long time, been united under one government. It now forms a part of the empire of Austria, and 8 independent states.

14. It comprises the following divisions or states, namely, the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom, or Austrian Italy [see Austria], in the northeast; the Sardinian territories, in the northwest; the States of the Church, the grand-duchy of Tus'ca-ny, the duchies of Par'ma, Mo'de-na, and Luc'ca, and the republic of St. Ma-ri'no, in the middle; and the kingdom of the Two Sicilies, or Naples with the island of Sicily, in the south.

KINGDOM OF SARDINIA.

15. The kingdom of Sardinia comprises Pi-ed'mont, Gen'o-a, Sa voy', and the island of Sardinia.

16. PIEDMONT includes some of the highest summits of the Alps in the north, and is bordered by mountains on the west and south but the central part is composed of beautiful plains; and the country is fertile and populous.

17. TU-RIN', the capital of Piedmont and of the kingdom of Sardinia, situated on the Po, is noted as a beautiful city; Al-ex-an'dri-a, for its fairs; Ma-ren'go, for a great battle between the French and Austrians; Pign-e-ro'la (pin-ya-ro'la), as the capital of the Four Valleys, the residence of the Waldenses.

18. GENOA, a mountainous district, lying along the gulf of the same name, is noted as the native country of Columbus.

19. Gen'o-a, the capital of the province of Genoa, was formerly the capital of a celebrated republic, and one of the most commercial cities in the world. It is built on the declivity of a hill, and is remarkable for its splendid edifices, and for the magnificent view which it presents on approaching it.

20. SAVOY, one of the most rugged and mountainous tracts in Europe, contains the high summit of Mont Blanc, and the celebrated vale of Cha-môu'ri (sha-moo'ne). Cham'ber-ry (sham'ber-re) is the capital.

21. The island of Sardinia is thinly inhabited, ill cultivated, and unhealthy. The principal towns are Cag'lia-ri (cal'ya-re), and Sas'-sa-ri.

PARMA, MODENA, AND LUCCA.

22. The duchy of Parma is rich in wine, corn, and pasture; and it gave name to the famous Par-me-san' cheese, which is now chiefly made in the district of Lodi. PARMA, the capital, is noted for a magnificent theatre.

23. MO'DE-NA, the capital of the duchy of Modena, is a considerable city; and Car-rä'ra is celebrated for its fine marble.

24. LUCCA, capital of the duchy of Lucca, is noted for its warm baths.

TUSCANY.

25. The grand-duchy of Tuscany has a finely diversified surface, and its soil is generally fertile, and highly cultivated.

26. FLOR'ENCE, the capital, is situated in a delightful vale, on the Arno, and is one of the most beautiful cities in Europe. It is distinguished for the fine arts, and has the most eminent academy of painting in the world.

27. Legh-orn' is noted as the most commercial town in Italy;

STATES OF THE CHURCH.

St. Peter's Church.

28. The States of the Church comprise a considerable country in the central part of Italy, which is under the government of the Pope, who is invested with absolute power in these states, both temporal and spiritual.

29. Rome, the capital, and the residence of the Pope, is situated on the Tiber, 15 miles from its mouth. It was, for a long time, the most powerful, populous, and magnificent city in the world; and, though greatly reduced, it still contains many remarkable monuments and splendid edifices, among which are the Col-i-se'um or Amphitheatre of Vespasian, constructed for the combats of gladiators and wild beasts, and St. Peter's Church, the most superb structure of modern times.

30. Bologna (bo-lone'ya) is noted for its university, collections of paintings, tower, and silks; An-co'na and Civ'i-ta Vec'chi-a, as sea-ports; Fa-en'za, for its potteries; Tiv'o-li, for its fine water-fall.

NAPLES, OR THE TWO SICILIES.

Vesuvius and Naples.

31. This kingdom comprises the country of Naples and the island of Sicily. It is advantageously situated, and has a fertile soil; but agriculture, commerce, and manufactures are all in a backward state.

32. This kingdom contains three of the most famous volcanoes in the world, Et'na, Ve-su'vi-us, and Strom'bo-li.

33. Et'na, on the island of Sicily, is the most celebrated volcano on the globe, and has been, from remote antiquity, subject to dreadful eruptions. Large stones are said to have been thrown to

35. Strom'bo-li, on one of the Lipari islands, emits flames that are visible in the night at the distance of 100 miles, and is styled the lighthouse of the Mediterranean.

36. NAPLES, the capital of the kingdom, is the largest city in Italy, and famous for its delightful situation on one of the finest bays in the world. Its approach from the sea is esteemed more beautiful than that of any other city in Europe.

37. Pa-ler'mo, the capital of the island of Sicily, is noted for the magnificence of its churches; Mes-si'na, for commerce; Ca-tä'ni-a, for frequent earthquakes; Syr'a-cuse and Gir-gen'ti, for their ancient greatness.

TURKEY.

Constantinople.

1. The Turkish or Ottoman Empire is composed of various countries situated in the southeast of Europe, and southwest of Asia, and of Egypt, in the northeast of Africa.

2. The countries included in this empire, comprise most of those parts of the world which were much celebrated in ancient history, either sacred or profane ; and they were the scenes of most of the events recorded in the Bible.

3. They were, in ancient times, the finest countries in the world, the seats of civilization, learning, and the arts ; but now, owing to the despotism, bad policy, and barbarism of the Turks, they are comparatively desolate and miserable.

4. The principal of these ancient countries were Da'ci-a, Mæ'si-a, Thrace, E-pi'rus, Mac-e-do'ni-a, and Greece, in Europe ; Pal'es-tine, Syr'i-a, Phæ-ni'ci-a, Mes-o-po-ta'mi-a, Ar-me'ni-a, and the countries of Asia Minor, in Asia ; and Egypt, in Africa.

TURKEY IN EUROPE.

Mosque of St. Sophia.

5. Turkey in Europe is commonly considered as composed of the following divisions, namely, Mol-da'vi-a, Wal-la'chi-a, Bul-ga'ri-a, Ser'vi-a, and Bos'ni-a, in the north ; Romania, Mac-e-do'ni-a, Al-ba'ni-a, E-pi'rus, and Thes'sa-ly, in the middle ; and formerly, Iva-dia, or Greece, with the Mo-re'a, in the south.

6. The provinces of Mol-da'vi-a, and Wal-la'chi-a, which lie north of the Danube, are not under the immediate government of the Turkish sultan, but are governed by hospodars, who are of the Greek Church, and tributary to the sultan ; and Greece, in the south, is now independent of the Turks.

7. The northern provinces are mostly level or moderately uneven ; the middle and southern are mountainous.

 6. What is said of Moldavia, Wallachia, and Greece ? 7. What is said of the face of the country ?

8. The Balkan Mountains, anciently called Hæmus, are the principal range in Turkey, and extend from the gulf of Venice to the Black sea. Ar-gen-tä'ro is one of the highest summits.

9. The Danube is much the largest river. Some of the other most considerable rivers are the Pruth, Ma-riz'za, and Drí'no.

10. The climate is generally excellent, though unhealthy in some parts; and the soil of a great portion of the country is fertile, but miserably cultivated.

11. Some of the most important productions are wheat, maize, rice, cotton, silk, wine, and fruits.

12. About one third of the inhabitants of this country are Turks, who are Mahometans. The rest are composed of various nations, but are mostly Christians of the Greek Church. They are in an oppressed condition, and in a backward state, as it regards education and the arts of civilized life.

13. The Turks, who are a Tartar nation, originally from Asia, and one of the most illiterate in Europe, took possession of Constantinople, and put an end to the Eastern or Greek Empire, in 1453.

14. The Turkish government is one of the most despotic in the world. The emperor, who is styled sultan or grand seignior, is the sole fountain of office and honor, and absolute master of the lives and property of his subjects.

15. The prime minister, who is next to the sultan in power, is styled the grand vizier; and the court of the sultan is called the Porte or the Sublime Porte, from the gate of the palace; and this term is often used also to designate the Turkish empire.

16. Turkish cities, by means of the domes and minarets of the mosques, often make a splendid appearance at a distance; but on entering them, one commonly finds them to be meanly built, and the streets narrow and dirty.

17. CON-STAN-TI-NO'PLE, the metropolis of the Turkish empire, is situated on the west side of the Bos'pho-rus, between the Black sea and sea of Mar'mo-ra, and has one of the most advantageous situations, and one of the finest harbors in the world. It presents a magnificent view at a distance; but, on entering it, like other Turkish cities, it disappoints expectation.

18. Some of the most remarkable objects in the city are the seraglio, which includes a vast assemblage of palaces, inhabited by the sultan and his court; and the mosque of St. Sophia, which is a magnificent edifice, though much inferior to St. Peter's church at Rome.

19. Ad-ri-an-o'ple, on the Merizza, is noted as the second city in rank; Sal-o-ní'ca, capital of Macedonia, for commerce; Jo-an'ni-na

20. Bu-cha-rest', a large, but meanly built city, is the capital of Wallachia, and Jas'sy, of Moldavia.

21. So-phi'a is noted for its hot-baths; Bel-gradel', Vid-din', Ni-cop'o-li, Brä'hi-low, Si-lis'tri-a, and Shúm'la, for their fortifications and military importance; Var'na, for its recent siege by the Russians.

GREECE.

1. Greece, a country in the southeast corner of Europe, became subject to the Turks in the 15th century; since that time, it has, till lately, formed the southern part of European Turkey, and the inhabitants have been held in a state of thralldom.

2. In 1821, the Greeks commenced a revolt; in 1822, declared independence; by the aid of some of the European states, liberated themselves from the dominion of the Turks; and in 1827, elected count Capo d'Istria president of Greece for the term of 7 years, who, early in 1828, entered upon the successful exercise of the duties of his office.

3. Modern Greece, or the country which is now independent, consists of the greater part of what was anciently styled Greece Proper, comprising Attica, Bæotia, Megaris, Phocis, Doris, Locris, and a part of Ætolia; Peloponnesus or Morea; the island of Eubæa or Negropont; and the cluster of islands anciently called the Cyclades, which lie east of the Peloponnesus.

4. The general aspect of this small but celebrated country, is rugged and mountainous; but it abounds in beautiful scenery; and the climate is excellent, and much of the soil fertile.

5. It has many considerable mountains, which are interesting for their classical associations; and its little rivers, which now appear comparatively insignificant, have been rendered famous by the Greek poets.

6. This country, which was once very populous, and abounded in flourishing cities and magnificent edifices, is now miserably cultivated, and thinly peopled. It contains no large towns, and its villages are composed of miserable cottages or dwellings of only one story, and without chimneys.

7. The Modern Greeks are a handsome people, active, lively, and courageous; having generally little education, but a good deal of genius. One of their chief employments is commerce.

8. Ath'ens, once a splendid city, is now greatly reduced, but is noted for the Parthenon and other ancient monuments; Le-pan'to, for a great battle, in which Cervantes lost his hand; Mis-so-lon'ghi, for its siege and the death of Lord Byron.

9. Some of the principal towns in the Morea, are Ar'gos, Trip-o-liz'za, Mis'i-tra, and Pat'ras; also Nap'o-li, noted for its citadel; Mal-va-st'a, for Malmsey wine; Cor'inth, for its former greatness, and currants, to which it gave name; Nav-a-rí'no or Nav'a-rín, for a recent and great naval battle.

THE IONIAN REPUBLIC.

1. The Ionian Republic, or the Republic of the Seven Islands, comprises the seven following small islands lying near the west coast of Greece; namely, Cor-fu', Ceph-a-lo'ni-a, Zan'te, St. Mau'ra, Ith'a-ca, and Ce-rí'go.

2. These islands have an uneven surface, with rugged coasts, and a mild climate. The olive is an important production; and currants, a kind of small dried grapes, form a distinguished article of export.

3. The inhabitants are Greeks, and of the Greek Church; and their little republic is under the protection of Great Britain.

ASIA.

Caravan.

1. Asia is remarkable for being the quarter of the world in which the human race were first planted ; and for having been the seat of the Assyrian, Babylonian, and Persian empires, and the residence of the Israelites.

2. In this quarter of the globe the Jewish, Christian, and Mahometan religions had their origin, as well as several systems of Paganism, which extensively prevail.

3. Asia includes the following countries, namely, Siberia, in the north ; Tar'ta-ry and Thi-bet', in the middle ; Turkey, Arabia, Persia, Be-loo-chis-tan', Af-gha-nis-tan', Hin-dos-tan', Chin-India or Farther India, China, Corea, and Japan, in the south and southeast.

4. The two great ranges of mountains are the Him-mä'leh and the Al-täi' mountains.

5. The Al-täi' or Al-tä'ian Mountains are a chain about 5,000 miles in length, extending almost across Asia, on the borders of Siberia and Tartary, and contain valuable mines of gold, silver, copper, iron, &c.

6. The Him-mä'leh or Him-a-lä'ya Mountains, which separate Hindustan from Thibet and Tartary, extend about 1,400 miles in length, and are supposed to be the highest mountains on the globe.

ASIA.—1. What is said of Asia? 2. What religions had their origin in Asia? 3. What countries does it include? 4. What ranges of mountains? 5. What is said of the Altai mountains? 6. The Himmaleh mountains?

The most elevated summits may be seen at the distance of 230 miles.

7. Some of the largest rivers are the O'by, Yen-i-sei (yen-e-se'), and Le'na, in the north; the Amour (a-moor'), Ho'-ang-Ho', and Ki'an-Ku', in the east; the Cam-bo'di-a or Me-con', Ir-ra-wad'dy, Brahma-poo'tra, Ganges, In'dus, Eu-phra'tes, and Ti'gris, in the south.

8. The largest lakes or inland seas are the Cas'pi-an, A'ral, and Bä'i-kal.

9. The soil in the northern and central parts is mostly sterile; but in the southern parts, with the exception of the sandy deserts in the southwest, it is, for the most part, extremely fertile.

10. The climate embraces every variety; and it is extremely cold in the north, and hot in the south. The transition from a hot to a cold climate, is very sudden, owing to the great elevation of the central parts, and to the ranges of high mountains.

11. The islands connected with Asia are very numerous and important. Those which lie to the southeast of the continent, have been classed in three great divisions, namely, the Eastern Archipel'ago, Aus-tra'li-a, and Pol-y-ne'si-a; and they have also been considered as forming a fifth division of the globe by the name of O-ce-an'i-ca.

12. In the early ages, Asia was superior to the other parts of the globe in military strength; but in the time of Alexander the Great, Europe obtained the ascendancy, which it has ever since possessed, and Asia has continued comparatively weak.

13. Asia is, however, esteemed the most fruitful and the richest part of the globe, and it contains more inhabitants than all the other divisions. Yet the central and northern parts, including more than half of the continent, are mostly sterile, and very thinly inhabited. These parts have but little communication with the civilized world, and are, comparatively, but little known.

14. The southern parts and islands furnish to the other portions of the world a variety of luxuries, as spices, tea, coffee, fruits, diamonds, and other precious stones. Of these parts some of the most useful vegetables are rice and the bamboo.

15. Asia is particularly distinguished for certain animals, as the elephant, camel, rhinoceros, and tiger. The elephant is trained to various kinds of service; and the camel is very important to the Asiatics in performing the most arduous journeys.

16. The foreign commerce of this quarter of the globe is chiefly carried on by European nations and the United States. The internal trade is conducted mostly by caravans, which often consist of many thousands of merchants, and a still greater number of camels.

17. The prevailing government is despotism; but in some parts, particularly among the Arabs and other wandering tribes, the patriarchal form is in use.

 12. What is said of the ancient and present condition of Asia? 13. What of its riches and population? 14. Productions? 15. Animals?
 16. Commerce? 17. Government?

18 The two prevailing religions are Paganism and Mahometanism.

19. Mahometanism is the prevailing religion of Turkey, Arabia, and Persia; and it is widely diffused in Tartary, Hindustan, and many of the islands; but far the greater part of the Asiatics adhere to Paganism, which here exists in various forms, as Bramanism, and Buddhism, including the religion of Fo and Shamanism, or the worship of the Grand Lama.

20. Though Christianity had its origin in Asia, yet it is now found here only in a very limited degree, and mostly in a very corrupted form. It exists chiefly under the denomination of the Greek and Armenian churches, in the Russian and Turkish dominions. It has also been introduced, to some extent, into the European colonies; and great exertions have of late been made to extend its blessings to the natives, by the means of missionaries, and the diffusion of the Scriptures.

21. The Asiatics, with regard to their manners and customs, differ in many particulars from the Europeans. They are less active and enterprising; more effeminate in their character and habits; more remarkable for a warm imagination, for a figurative style of writing, and for the use of hyperbolical language.

22. Instead of the close dress of Europeans, they commonly wear loose and flowing garments, and make use of turbans instead of hats.

23. The want of wood for building has obliged the wandering and pastoral tribes of Arabia and the central parts of Asia, to lodge in tents, formed of skins or stuffs, which are the produce of their herds.

24. Most of the Oriental nations make no use of chairs, but sit cross-legged upon their heels, on the ground or floor; and in the houses of the wealthy, on carpets or sofas.

25. In eating, they generally make no use of tables or of knives and forks. But their food is placed upon the floor in large vessels, round which the guests sit upon their heels, or recline upon sofas or couches, and feed themselves chiefly by the use of their fingers, which are sometimes assisted by some simple instrument.

26. The condition of women among Mahometans and Pagans, is far less favorable than among Christian nations. In most Oriental countries, they are very much confined, and are permitted to see little or no company, except their relatives; nor are they allowed to go abroad without having their faces covered.

27. Polygamy is generally permitted among the Asiatic nations. Marriage is not generally founded on the mutual affection of the parties, as women are commonly sold for wives, and are not permitted to exercise any choice of their own. They are treated rather as the slaves, than as the companions of their husbands.

2. The principal modern divisions are Na-to'li-a, Syr'i-a, Ar-me-ni-a, Di-ar-be'kir, Cur-dis-tan', and Bag'dad, or Ir-ak Ar'a-bi.

3. The two great rivers are the Eu-phra'tes and Ti'gris; the smaller ones are Ki-zil'er-mak, O-ron'tes, and Mein'der. Lake Van is the largest lake; but the Dead Sea, or lake As-phal-ti'tes, is the most noted.

4. The greatest range of mountains is that of Taurus. Mount Lib'a-nus is in Syria; Mount O-lym'pus, south of the sea of Marmora; Mount Ida, near the Dardanelles; Mount Ar'a-rat, on the borders of Turkey and Persia.

5. The principal islands are Cy'prus and Rhodes, which are fertile, and were anciently very populous; also Sci'o, Samos, and Met'e-lin.

6. The most important productions of Asiatic Turkey, are wheat, barley, cotton, tobacco, silk, wine, olives, and fruits; the most noted manufactures, carpets and leather.

NATOLIA.

7. The name of Natolia is now often applied to the whole country which was anciently called Asia Minor, and which is a large peninsula, lying between the Mediterranean and Black sea. But the eastern part embraces the provinces of Car-a-ma'ni-a, Rôum, and Al-a-du'li-a.

8. The surface is finely diversified by mountains, hills, and plains; the soil is generally very fertile, and the climate delightful.

9. Ki-u-tä'jah or Ku-tä'ieh is the capital of Natolia and the residence of the governor or beglerbeg; but Smyr'na is the largest town, and is noted for its great antiquity, for its commerce, and for being the centre of the Levant trade.

10. To-cat' is noted as the centre of an extensive interior trade; An-go'ra, for goats' hair and shawls; Bur'sa, for having once been the seat of the Turkish empire, and for hot-baths; Aph'i-om-Kar-a-his'sar, for carpets and trade in opium.

11. Scu-tä'ri, on the Bosphorus, opposite to Constantinople, is noted as the rendezvous of the caravans of Asia; Sin'ob or Sin'o-pe, as a commercial port on the Black sea; Gu-zel-his'sar, as a trading town on the Meinder.

SYRIA.

12. Syria lies between the Mediterranean sea and the river Euphrates, and includes, in the south, the country of Palestine.

13. The surface is greatly diversified; and there are extensive deserts, particularly in the southeast; but the valleys possess great fertility

14 A-lep'po is the largest city, not only of Syria, but of Asiatic Turkey, and is reputed the most regular and best built. It is noted for its manufactures of silk and cotton, and for its commerce, which is carried on by caravans.

15. Da-mas'cus, the second city in population in Asiatic Turkey, and one of the most ancient on the globe, is noted as the centre of the trade of Syria, and for its manufactures, particularly silks and cotton stuffs, and formerly for sabres.

16. Hä'mah is a large trading town on the Orontes; Trip'o-li, on the Mediterranean; An'ti-och is noted for its ancient greatness; A'cre (ä'ker), in the history of the crusades and of Bonaparte; Jaffa, as the port of Jerusalem; Bal'bec and Pal-my'ra, for their magnificent ruins of temples and other edifices.

17. Je-ru'sa-lem, anciently the capital of Palestine or Judea, is remarkable chiefly in modern times as a place of pilgrimage. Christian pilgrims resort to it to visit the tomb of our Savior, and Mahometans to visit the famous mosque of Omar.

ARMENIA.

18. Armenia, which lies in the northeast of Turkey, is generally a mountainous country, having fertile and delightful valleys.

19. Er'ze-rum, the capital of Armenia, situated near the head of the Euphrates, is a large town, built mostly of stone; and Treb-isond' is a considerable trading town on the Black sea.

DIARBEEKIR, CURDISTAN, AND BAGDAD.

20. This part of Turkey is famous for being the country which once included the seats of the Assyrian, Babylonian, and Saracen empires.

21. The surface of the northern parts is mountainous; but in the southern parts, and on the Euphrates and Tigris, it is generally level.

22. Di-ar-be'kir, the capital of the country to which it gives name, is noted for its high stone walls, and for commerce and manufactures; Our'fa or Or'fah, for trade; Mer'din, for its situation on the top of a rocky mountain; Mosul, for trade and manufactures.

23. Bag'dad, on the Tigris, once the renowned seat of the Mahometan or Saracen caliphs, and one of the most splendid cities in the world, is said to have contained 2,000,000 inhabitants. It is now greatly reduced from its ancient grandeur, though it is still a city of considerable size and trade.

24. Bas-so'rah, at the head of ship navigation on the Euphrates, is noted as the greatest commercial port in this part of Asia; but it is only partially subject to Turkey.

RUSSIA IN ASIA.

1. Russia in Asia is a vast country, including all the north of Asia, and is almost twice as large as all Europe.

2. The most fertile and populous portion is the southwest part, which borders on the Caspian and Black seas, and is watered by the rivers Volga, Don, Ural, and Kur, embracing the countries of Circassia and Georgia, and including the range of the Caucasian Mountains.

3. Cir-cas'si-a and Geor'gi-a are celebrated particularly for the beauty of their females, who are often made an object of traffic, and are purchased to supply the eastern seraglios.

4. As-tra-can', situated on the Volga, is the largest town in Asiatic Russia, and is distinguished for commerce, which it carries on by means of the Volga and the Caspian sea.

5. O'ren-burg, on the Ural, is noted for trade; Tef'lis, the capital of Georgia, for warm-baths; Bä'ku (a town on the Caspian sea, which formerly belonged to Persia), for fountains of naphtha or pure rock oil, which, by its inflammability, exhibits the phenomenon called the everlasting fire, before which the Gue'bres offer up their supplications.

SIBERIA.

6. Siberia forms the principal part of Asiatic Russia, and is one of the most forlorn and desolate regions on the globe.

7. The Uralian Mountains form the western limit, the Al-tä'i or Al-tä'ian Mountains the southern; and the mountainous and dreary peninsula of Kamt-schat'ka is in the eastern part.

8. A characteristic feature of the country consists in its immense steppes, or vast elevated plains, which constitute a great part of its surface, and are often sandy and often marshy, and abound in salt lakes.

9. The three great rivers O'by, Yen-e-sei' (yen-e-se'), and Lena, are some of the largest in Asia; but these, as well as the other principal rivers, flow into the Arctic ocean, the shores of which are barred by almost perpetual ice. This country is, therefore, by its situation, excluded from much communication with the improved parts of the world.

10. The principal lake is that of Bä'i-kal, which is enclosed by rugged mountains, and surrounded by the most picturesque and sublime scenery.

11. The climate, both by reason of the elevation of the country and its northern situation, is extremely cold; and the soil is mostly barren.

12. The most important natural productions are gold, silver, copper, lead, and iron, found in the Altai mountains; and also the reindeer and furs.

13. The greater part of the inhabitants of Siberia consist of native barbarous tribes, some of which are the Bu'rats, Sam-o-ides', Yakoutes', and Monguls.

14. To-bolsk', the capital of Siberia, is famous for its fur trade, and as a place of banishment for Russian state prisoners and criminals.

ARABIA.

Mecca.

1. Arabia is a large peninsula, situated in the southwest corner of Asia, and connected with Africa by the isthmus of Su'ez. It consists chiefly of vast, barren, sandy deserts, having little water, and no large rivers or lakes.

2. The ancients divided Arabia into three parts, namely, A-ra'bi-a Pe-træ'a or Stony, in the northwest, partly rocky and mountainous; A-ra'bi-a Fe'lix or Happy, in the south, the most fertile part; A-ra'bi-a De-ser'ta or the Desert, in the middle and north, consisting mostly of deserts of sand.

3. The modern divisions are Heds'jas, Ye'men, Had-ra-maut', Om'an, Neds'jed, and Lach'sa (lak'sa).

4. The general aspect of most of Arabia is that of a vast, dry, barren desert of sand, interspersed occasionally with o'a-ses or fertile spots, and intersected by some mountains of moderate elevation.

5. Mounts Si'nai and Ho'reb, which are summits of the same range, are situated between the two north branches of the Red sea, and are memorable for events recorded in the Bible.

6. The Bah-rēin' islands, in the Persian gulf, on the east coast of Arabia, have been long noted for their pearl fishery.

7. The climate in the sandy deserts is excessively hot, and subject to a pestiferous wind called the Sa'mi-el or Si-moom', which often causes suffocation and death. Whole caravans are sometimes buried by moving clouds of sand agitated by wind.

8. Some of the most celebrated productions of Arabia are coffee, dates, gum arabic, balsam, frankincense, and myrrh.

9. The most noted animals are the horse and the camel. The Arabian horses are celebrated for their swiftness and beauty; but the most useful animal is the camel, which has been styled the "ship of the desert," and can carry 800 or 1,000 pounds' weight, and travel 6 or 8 days without water.

10. The Arabs, who boast of their descent from Ishmael, are of middle stature and brown complexion. They have a grave and melancholy air, and seldom laugh or weep. In the middle ages, they were called Saracens, and were distinguished for learning; but they are now illiterate and barbarous. They form a vast number of independent tribes.

11. The genuine Arabs of the desert, who are styled Bed-ou-îns', Bed-o-weens, or Bed-ou-în' Arabs, dwell in tents, lead a wandering life, and are robbers by profession; yet they are distinguished for their hospitality to those who confide in their friendship and honor.

12. The government of Arabia is patriarchal, the authority of the chief over his tribe being that of a father over his family.

13. The Arabic language is copious and expressive, and is one of the most extensively diffused languages in the world, being spoken in a large part of Asia and Africa.

14. Arabia was the birth-place of the famous impostor Ma'ho-met, or Mo-ham'med, and it is still the centre of his religion; but within the last 50 years, a great part of the country has been overrun by the Wä'ha-bees, a new sect of Mahometan reformers.

15. Mec'ca, the most celebrated city of Arabia, is situated in a dry, barren country, about 40 miles from the Red sea. It is famous for being the birth-place of Mahomet, and for being a resort of pilgrims from all parts of the Mahometan world.

16. Me-di'na is noted for containing the tomb of Mahomet, on account of which it is regarded by Mahometans a holy city, as well as Mecca; though not so much visited by pilgrims.

17. The two principal commercial ports are Mo'cha, near the strait of Babelmandel, famous for coffee; and Mus'cat or Mas'cat, the chief town of Oman, in the southeast.

18. Sä'na, the capital of Yemen, is noted as one of the largest towns; Jid'da, as the port of Mecca; Jam'bo, as the port of Medina.

INDEPENDENT TARTARY.

1. Independent Tartary is an extensive country, comprising the western part of Central Asia, and extending from Chinese Tartary on the east, to the Caspian sea on the west. It is inhabited by various independent tribes; and is a region but little known.

2. A great part of the country consists of immense steppes or elevated sandy deserts; though it contains some very fertile districts.

3. The Altai Mountains lie on the north, and the Belur Tagh Mountains, a branch of the Himmaleh range, in the southeast.

4. The Caspian Sea, which lies on the west, is upwards of 600 miles in length, and the sea or lake of Aral, 250. They have no communication with the ocean, and their waters are salt.

5. The two principal rivers are the Jihon and the Sir or Sihon.

6. The inhabitants consist of various tribes of Tartars, as the Us'becks, Kir'ghi-ses, Cal'mucs, Tur'co-mans, &c., who are Mahometans, and a great part of whom lead a wandering and pastoral life.

7. This region includes Great Buk-hä'ri-a, Tur-kes-tan', and Char'asm; but the most important country is Great Bukharia, which lies in the southeast, and much of which is fertile and populous.

8. Buk-hä'ri-a or Bok'a-ra, surnamed by the Orientals the Scientific, the capital city of Great Bukharia, is pleasantly situated on the Sogd, contains the palace of the Khan, and is noted as a seat of Mahometan learning.

9. Sam-ar-cand', situated on the Sogd, is a city famous in history, as the capital of the great conqueror Tamerlane or Timur Bec, whose tomb is still to be seen here; and it is also noted for its Mahometan colleges.

10. Tash-kund', on the Sir, is one of the largest towns in Turkestan.

arge countries in the eastern part have been separated from it; and considerable districts in the northwest have been annexed to Russia.

2. It is generally an elevated and mountainous country, having few rivers, and much of it suffers for want of water. The middle and southern parts are almost entirely destitute of trees.

3. Nearly one third of the country has been computed to consist of deserts, salt lakes, and marshes, and another third of barren mountains.

4. Several of the deserts are of great extent; and the Great Salt Desert, in the central part, is more than 300 miles in length.

5. The principal rivers are the Karasu, Aras, and Tedzen. The country abounds in salt, and there are many salt lakes, the largest of which are those of Urmia and Zereh.

6. The soil of the parts that are well watered is very fertile; and some of the plains, particularly those of Shiraz and Ispahan, are celebrated for their beauty and luxuriance. The country in the north is also very fertile.

7. The climate in the south is very hot; in the elevated and northern parts, cold.

8. Some of the principal productions and exports are corn, rice, tobacco, silk, cotton, carpets, pearls, drugs, delicious fruits and wines.

9. The Persians are reputed the most polite and most learned of the Oriental nations; but are represented as greatly addicted to dissimulation and flattery, and as being exceedingly treacherous and avaricious.

10. The cities of Persia are generally surrounded by a mud wall; the streets very narrow and dirty; the houses mostly mean, of only one story, and without windows; those of the common people built of mud or clay; and those of the higher orders of brick. Most of the cities that were once celebrated for their size and splendor, are now in a state of decay.

11. TE-HE-RAN', or Teh-râun', the present capital, has a low situation and mean appearance, and contains no edifice of much importance, except the royal palace.

12. Is-pa-han', the late capital, and a celebrated city, was formerly one of the largest and most splendid in the east, and by some represented to contain a million of inhabitants. Though greatly reduced, it has now extensive manufactures, and is the centre of the interior trade of Persia.

13. Shi-raz', situated between Bushire and Ispahan, has an extensive trade, and is celebrated for its situation in a delightful and fertile plain, for its delicious wine, and for the tomb of the Persian poet Hafiz.

14. Tab'ris or Tau'ris, formerly a very large city, but now much reduced, is noted for having once been the capital of Persia; Mes'-chid, for the tomb of the caliph Haroun al Raschid, and as a place of pilgrimage; Yezd, as an emporium of trade; Ham-a-dan', for occupying the supposed site of the ancient Ec-bat'a-na; Sul-ta'ni-a, as the summer residence of the king; Cas'bin and Ca-shan', as places of considerable manufactures and trade.

15. The two principal seaports are Bu-shire' and Gom-broon'; but a considerable part of the foreign commerce of Persia is carried on through Bas-so'rah; the principal commercial intercourse with the country, however, is by caravans.

AFGHANISTAN, OR CABULISTAN.

1. This is a modern division of Asia, formed of the eastern part of Persia, the western part of Hindostan, and the southern part of Tartary; and it is sometimes called Eastern Persia, the kingdom of Can-da-har', or of Cä'bul.

2. It comprises countries which have been known by different names, and the inhabitants consist of various tribes or nations, the principal of which are Hindoos, Afghans, Parsees, Tartars, and Belooches.

3. The surface is greatly diversified by extensive sandy deserts, mountains, fertile valleys, and plains.

4. The Himmaleh Mountains lie in the northern part, and the country is watered by the Indus and its branches, and other smaller rivers.

5. CA'BUL, the capital of Afghanistan and of a province of the same name, carries on an extensive trade; but the houses are meanly built with rough stones and clay or unburnt bricks.

6. Cash'mere, the capital of a country of the same name, is situated in an extensive and delightful valley, which has been styled the

7. La-hore' is noted for being now the capital of the Seiks, and for having once been the capital of Hindostan; Can-da-har', as the former capital of Afghanistan and for trade; Bam-i-an', styled the Thebes of the East, for its apartments carved out of a rock in the side of a mountain; He-rat', for commerce, and for being styled the City of Roses, from the abundance of these flowers in the country around it; Balk, for having anciently been the capital of the Persian empire.

BELOOCHISTAN.

8. Beloochistan lies to the south of Afghanistan, with which it is connected, and of which it is often considered as forming a part.

9. The surface is diversified by mountains, plains, and extensive sandy deserts.—The chief town is Ke-lat'.

south of the Himmaleh mountains, and east of the river Indus ; and it consists, in great part, of a large peninsula, having the bay of Bengâl' on the east, and the Arabian sea on the west.

2. It consists of four great divisions ; 1st, Northern Hindostan, which comprises Cash'mere and La-hore' on the west, and Boo-tan' and Ne-paul' on the east, with the intermediate provinces ; 2dly, Hindostan Proper, which extends as far south as the river Nerbudah on the west side, and nearly to the town of Bal-a-sore' on the east ; 3dly, the Dec'can, embracing the country between the Nerbuddah and the Kistna ; 4thly, Southern Hindostan or the Peninsula, including the part south of the Kistna.

3. These limits embrace a number of independent states, which are governed by Hindoo chiefs ; but the most of the country is in the possession of the British.

4. Hindostan is esteemed the richest and most beautiful country of Asia, and is, next to China, the most populous. It contains many large cities, and abounds in various important productions.

5. It is separated from Thibet on the north, by the Him-mä'leh Mountains ; and mountainous ranges, called Eastern and Western Ghauts, extend on both sides of the peninsula, towards the south.

6. The three great rivers are the Ganges, Brah-ma-poo'tra, and In'dus. Other considerable rivers are the Cauve'ry, Kist'na, Godav'e-ry, Ner-bud'dah, Set'ledge, and the branches of the Ganges.

7. The Ganges, the largest river of Hindostan, and one of the largest in Asia, rises in the Himmaleh mountains, and after a course of more than 2,000 miles, flows into the bay of Bengal by many mouths. The Delta of the river, or the country bordering on its mouths subject to inundation, is about 200 miles long, and 200 broad.

8. The Brah-ma-poo'tra or Bur-ram-poo'ter rises near the source of the Ganges, flows on the other side of the mountains, and is about as long as the Ganges. These rivers, after having separated from each other to the distance of 1,200 miles, unite their waters, and flow together into the bay of Bengal.

9. The In'dus is the great river of the western part of India, and it is from this river that the name of India is derived.

10. The surface in the northern part bordering on the Himmaleh chain, is mountainous ; but the rest of the country, with the exception of the mountainous ranges towards the south, is generally very level, or moderately uneven ; and the soil of a great proportion exceedingly fertile.

11. The climate in the northern parts is temperate ; but in the middle and southern, heat predominates ; and, during a part of the year, it is very great.

12. In the country south of the tropic, the monsoons prevail, which are periodical winds, blowing one half of the year from one direction, and the other half, from the opposite direction.

13. Rice is the article of produce which is most extensively cultivated, and which affords the principal article of food to the inhabitants.

14. Some of the principal articles of produce and export, besides rice, are cotton, indigo, saltpetre, opium, silk, sugar, precious stones, and fruits.

15. The diamond mines, particularly those of Gol-con'da, have been long celebrated; but they have now ceased to be very valuable.

16. The staple manufacture is that of cotton; other principal manufactures are those of silk, wool, leather, and saltpetre.

17. The commerce is very great, and is carried on chiefly by the English, and to some extent by the people of the United States.

18. Some of the most useful trees in Hindostan are the cocoa-nut tree, which affords an important article of food, and the bamboo, of which a great part of the houses and furniture in India are made. The betel is a plant extensively used as an article of luxury.

19. The Bannian Tree, or Indian fig-tree, is one of the most curious and beautiful of the productions of nature. The branches strike down roots, and thus form stems or trunks, so that each tree is itself a grove. On an island in the Nerbuddah, near Baroach, there is a famous tree of this species, which has 3,000 trunks or stems, many of them large, and it is said to afford room for 7,000 people to repose under its shade.

20. The great mass of the inhabitants are Hindoos; about one eighth part are computed to be Mahometans; and there are also some Parsees, Jews, and Christians.

21. One of the most striking features in the character of the Hindoos, is the permanency of their religion and customs, in which there has been little alteration since the state of India was first known. Their food consists chiefly of rice, milk, and vegetables.

22. They are divided into four casts, namely, 1st, Bramins or priests; 2d, soldiers; 3d, agriculturists and merchants; 4th, laborers. These casts are kept entirely distinct, and are not permitted to intermarry.

23. The religion of the Hindoos is a cruel and degrading superstition, which is artfully interwoven with almost every action of life. Ablution in the Ganges and other rivers which are esteemed holy, and pilgrimage to holy places, are much practised as religious duties.

24. The fakirs are a kind of religious monks or beggars, who often inflict upon themselves the severest sufferings.

25. The practice of burning widows on the funeral piles of their deceased husbands, is one of the barbarous rites of the Hindoo religion. These sacrifices, which are called Suttees, were abolished, in 1830, by an act of the English government.

26. Hindostan abounds more than almost any other country in houses appropriated to religious uses, which are called pagodas or temples, and most of which have a miserable appearance; but some of them are large and splendid.

27. The pagoda of Jug'ger-nauth, the most celebrated place of Hindoo worship, is said to be visited annually by as many as a million of pilgrims, a great part of whom die on their pilgrimage.

28. Christianity has existed to a small extent, in Hindostan, from a very early period; and, within a few years, numerous missionary stations and churches have been formed, and an English bishopric has been established at Calcutta. The most important missionary station is that of the Baptist missionaries at Ser-am-pore'.

29. The cities of Hindostan are generally built on one plan, having very narrow and crooked streets, with numerous gardens and reservoirs for water. Some of the houses are of brick, others of mud, and more of bamboos and mats.

30. CAL-CUT'TA, the capital of Bengal and of all British India, is situated on the Hoogly, one of the mouths of the Ganges, about 100 miles from the sea, and is a place of great commerce. The houses belonging to the English are splendidly built of brick; but the most of the houses of the natives are mud cottages.

31. Bom-bay', on an island near the western coast, and Ma-dras', on the southeastern coast, are the two other principal seats of British power and commerce.

32. Del'hi and Agra were each of them formerly the capitals of the Mogul empire, and very large and populous; but they are now greatly reduced from their ancient magnificence.

33. Be-nä'res, which is rich, populous, and commercial, is noted as a holy city of the Hindoos, and the chief seat of their learning; Al-la-ha-bad', at the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna, as the most celebrated place of Hindoo ablution.

34. Su-rat', on the western coast, is noted for commerce; Oo-jein', as the first meridian of Hindoo geographers; Poo'nah, as the capital of the Mahratta chief; Dac'ca, for muslins; Ser-in-gap-a-tam', for the splendid mausoleum of Hyder Ali.

35. Goa, on the western coast, once a large commercial city, is the capital of the Portuguese settlements in India; Pon-di-cher'ry, on the southeast coast, and Chan-der-na-gore', on the Hoogly, are the chief places of the French settlements; and Tran-que-bar' and Ser-am-pore', of the Danish settlements.

36. CEYLON (se-lön', or sē'lon), a large and valuable island lying near the south end of Hindostan, from which it is separated by the gulf of Ma-naar', belongs to Great Britain.

37. It has a very fertile soil, and its climate is healthy, and more temperate than that of Hindostan; and it is celebrated particularly for its excellent cinnamon, and has valuable pearl fisheries.

38. In the interior of the island there is a remarkable mountain, called Adam's Peak, to which pilgrimages are often made by the natives, who have a tradition, that from this place Adam took his last view of paradise; and that Buddha, on his first visit to the island, left here the mark of his foot.

39. This island is called Cingala by the natives, who are hence often denominated Cin-ga-lèse'.

40. Some of the principal towns are Co-lom'bo, Pointe de Galle, Trin-com-a-lee', and Can'dy.

north, the Chinese sea east, and the strait of Malacca, the bay of Bengal, and Hindostan, southwest.

2. This region has been designated by various terms, as the Peninsula beyond the Ganges, the Farther Peninsula, India beyond the Ganges, and Farther India; and by Malte-Brun, it is styled Chin-India, being an India resembling China, or having Chinese features.

3. It comprehends the Birman Empire, the peninsula of Ma-lac-ca, and the kingdoms of Siam, Cam-bo'di-a, La'os, Co'chin-Chi'na, and Ton-quîn'.

4. This region is less cultivated and populous than Hindostan and China, and is little known, except along the coast; but it seems to be formed of several parallel ridges of mountains, extending from north to south, with spacious intervening valleys, which border on the large rivers.

5. The three great rivers are the Ir-ra-wad'dy or A'va, the Mei'-nam, and the Me-con', which is also called Mei-kong', Cam-bo'di-a, and Jap-a-nese river.

6. The low country bordering on the rivers, is liable to inundation; and the climate on the coast and in the low plains, is humid and subject to great heat.

7. This region abounds in magnificent forests, which contain valuable kinds of trees, as the teak-tree, much esteemed for ship-timber; eagle-wood and sandal-wood, used as perfumes; also the iron-tree, ebony, and the bannian or Indian fig.

8. It is also very rich in aromatic, medicinal, and other useful plants, among which are ginger, cardamoms, cinnamon, betel, jalap, aloes, camphor, banana, cocoa, sago-palm, and sugar-cane; also rice, which is the principal article of food.

9. Some of the most remarkable animals are the elephant, rhinoceros, tiger, leopard, and orang-outang. Elephants, both wild and tame, abound here, as well as in Hindostan, and are used as beasts of burden both in peace and war.

10. The religion of Buddha prevails over the whole country, with the exception of Malacca, which is inhabited by Ma-lays', who are Mahometans.

11. The inhabitants of Chin-India resemble the Chinese more than the Hindoos; but they are less civilized than either, and less advanced in agriculture and the other useful arts.

BIRMAN EMPIRE.

12. The Birman Empire, which is much the largest and most important state of Chin-India, comprises the ancient kingdoms of Ava, Pe-gu', and Cas'say or Meck'ley.

13. It formerly included Ar-ra-can', which together with some other provinces in the west and south, have lately been ceded to the British.

14. The elevated parts have a temperate climate; and the country is rich in both vegetable and mineral productions.

15. It contains valuable mines of gold, silver, iron, tin, lead, and a variety of precious stones.

16. The government is completely despotic; and the emperor is the sole proprietor of all the elephants in his dominions.

17. The Birmans are lively, impatient, and irascible; fond of poetry and music; and they excel in the art of gilding.

18. UM-ME-RA-PGO'RA, the modern capital of the Birman empire, is situated on a lake near the Irrawaddy, about 400 miles from its mouth. It has a few houses built of brick, and the abundance of gilding on the roofs and domes of the religious edifices, gives it an extraordinary degree of splendor. It was founded in 1783, and in 1800 was estimated to contain 175,000 inhabitants; but in 1810, it was reduced one half.

19. A'va, the former capital, 4 miles distant from Ummerapoorra, is now in ruins.

20. Ran-goon', on the Irrawaddy, 30 miles from the sea, is the principal port. Pe-gu' and Prome, once cities of importance, are now reduced.

SIAM.

21. The kingdom of Siam consists chiefly of a spacious and fertile valley, situated between two ridges of mountains, and intersected by the river Mei'nam.

22. The principal towns are Siam or Juthia, Bankok, and Louvo

MALACCA, OR MALAYA.

23. Malacca, or Malaya, a peninsula about 700 miles long, is traversed throughout by a chain of lofty mountains, and is covered with a thick forest.

24. The Malays, who inhabit the country, are a daring, ferocious, and vindictive race, greatly addicted to piracy.

25. The city of Ma-lac'ca was formerly a place of commercial importance, and of considerable size; but it is now reduced.

CAMBODIA.

26. Cambodia, a country watered by the river of the same name, is little known, and is noted for gamboge gum.

27. Cambodia or Levek, the capital, was once a considerable town, but is now a small place.

COCHIN-CHINA.

29. Cochin-China, a country bordering on the gulf of Tonquin and the sea of China, is composed partly of mountains and partly of plains. It has many valuable natural productions, and abounds in the salangan swallow, which forms an edible nest, that is much esteemed by the Chinese.

30. Saigon, the largest town, is situated on an arm of the Cambodia, about 60 miles from the sea.

TONQUIN, OR ANAM.

31. Ton-quin', a country much subject to hurricanes, has valuable mineral and vegetable productions, and its oranges are said to be the best in the world.

32. Ca-chä'o, or Kesh'o, the capital, is situated on the river Songkoi, upwards of 80 miles from the sea, and is very meanly built.

regard to population, it exceeds all other empires in the world, and in extent of territory, is second only to the Russian empire.

2. China, properly so called, is a large, fertile, highly cultivated, and populous country, extending from the Great Wall on the north, to the gulf of Tonquin on the south.

3. The surface is much diversified by mountains, hills, valleys, plains, and marshes; and it is watered by numerous rivers, and has many considerable lakes.

4. The two great rivers are the Ho'-ang-Ho' or Yellow River, and the Ki'-an-Ku' or Yang'-tse-ki-ang', which are two of the largest in Asia.

5. The principal islands are Hai'nan, For-mo'sa, and the Loo-choo' islands.

6. The climate is generally healthy; in the south, hot, and in the north, cold—more so than in countries under the same parallel in Europe.

7. The Great Wall, which bounds China on the north, is about 5,500 miles in length, and is the most enormous fabric on the globe. It is built of stone and brick, is nearly 30 feet high, and 14 broad at the top, and has towers with cannon placed in them, at the distance of about 100 paces from each other.

8. China is celebrated for inland navigation, by means of rivers and canals. The Imperial Canal, which extends from Peking to Hang-tcheou', about 600 miles in length, is the greatest work of the kind in the world.

9. The most celebrated and peculiar production of China is tea, which is the leaf of a small shrub, and is exported in great quantities to those parts of the globe where this luxury is used.

10. The principal exports, besides tea, are silk, nankins, porcelain, sugar, cinnamon, and camphor.

11. The interior trade carried on between different parts of the empire, by means of rivers and canals, is very extensive; but foreign commerce with Europeans is limited to two places, namely, the port of Canton, in the south of China, and Kiakhta, on the borders of Siberia, the emporium of the overland trade of Russia.

12. Agriculture is in high estimation; and the emperor annually, at the vernal equinox, performs the ceremony of holding the plough. But, though the cultivation of the soil is attended to with great care, it is much less skilfully conducted than in Europe. The most important article of produce in the southern parts is rice.

13. Travellers who have visited this empire agree in asserting the appearance of a crowded population; but there has been a great difference in the statements of the number of inhabitants, both of the country and the principal cities. Some make the population of China 333,000,000; and some reduce it to less than half this number.

14 The government is patriarchal and despotic, but not violent. The Chinese style their country the "Celestial Empire," and the emperor "The Holy Son of heaven, sole Ruler of the earth, and Great Father of his people." His person is adored, and his subjects prostrate themselves in his presence.

15. There is no religion in China established or supported by government; yet temples and pagodas are every where common, and priests, styled bonzes, are numerous. The prevailing system is the religion of Fo, which is a species of Buddhism. The sect called Tao-tse are also numerous; and there are many professed followers of Confucius, the famous Chinese philosopher.

16. The Chinese are represented as remarkably vain, timid, artful, and vindictive; but very free from the vice of drunkenness.

17. Women in this country are uniformly sold in marriage, and are held in a state of the greatest degradation. The beauty of a female, according to the notions of the Chinese, consists in the smallness of her eyes, the protuberance of her lips, the lankness and blackness of her hair, and especially in the extreme smallness of her feet.

18. The Chinese architecture is inelegant and clumsy, and altogether different from that of Europe. Their houses are generally of only one story, and those of the peasantry are miserable cottages.

19. PE-KIN', the capital, is situated in the northeast part of China, and is supposed by many to be the most populous city on the globe. The streets are straight and wide, and the houses of only one story.

20. Nan-kîn', situated on the Kian-Ku, at the junction of the great canal, is the first city with regard to manufactures, and is noted for nankins, crapes, and silks; and also for its Porcelain Tower, which is a fine specimen of oriental pagodas, and is ascended by 884 steps.

21. Can'ton, in the southern part, is noted for being the only port in China to which European and American vessels are admitted, and for the export of tea. Near Canton is the Boat Town, a kind of floating city, which is composed of barks ranged upon the water in the form of streets, and computed to contain from 100,000 to 300,000 people.

THIBET.

The Grand Lama.

1 Thi-bet', or Ti-bet', a country dependent on China, is remarkable for its great and general elevation, and for being the most mountainous country in Asia, and the centre of the Shaman religion.

2. It has been styled the Switzerland of Asia, on account of its resemblance to Switzerland in Europe, in its situation, in the extremely rugged and mountainous aspect of the country, and in being the region in which several great rivers have their rise.

3. The Him-mä'leh or Him-a-lä'ya Mountains, reputed the highest in the world, and having numerous summits that are always covered with snow, lie in the southern part.

4. The principal river which traverses the country, is the Brahma-poo'tra or Bur-ram-poo'ter.

5. As the country consists mostly of rugged mountains and elevated plains, the climate is cold, and the soil of the greater part unproductive.

6. Thibet abounds in animals, and is noted for the bushy-tailed bull, the deer which produces musk, and especially for the goat which affords the material used for the manufacture of Cashmere shawls.

7. LAS'SA, the capital of Thibet, is situated on a branch of the Brahmapootra, and is celebrated chiefly as the residence of the Grand Lama, the head of the Shaman religion, on account of which the place is resorted to by numerous devotees.

CHINESE TARTARY.

1. Chinese Tartary is a vast country of Central Asia, extending from Independent Tartary to the Pacific ocean, and comprising Mon-go'li-a and Little Buk-ha'ri-a in the west, and Mand-shu'ri-a in the east.

2. A remarkable feature of this country is its great elevation. It consists mostly of steppes or elevated plains, supported like a table by the Altai mountains on the north, and the Him-mä'leh range on the southwest.

3. The climate is cold, and the country mostly barren, and destitute of trees; though some parts afford good pasture. Water is generally scarce, but salt abundant.

4. The eastern part, or Mandshuria, which is watered by the great river A-môur' (a-moor'), is the most fertile.

5. The vast desert of Cobi or Shä'mo, situated in the central part of Asia, is about 2,000 miles long, and is covered with a dark-colored sand, which is not, however, movable like that in the deserts of Arabia.

6. This extensive region, which is but little known, and has but little intercourse with the improved parts of the world, is inhabited by various pastoral tribes, who lead a wandering life, and subsist chiefly by their herds of camels, cattle, and sheep.

7. Some of the principal tribes are the Monguls, Mandshurs or Mantchoos, Kalkas, and Eluths, who are mostly of the Shaman religion.

8. Some of the principal towns are Cash'gar, Yar-kund', and Our'ga (oor'ga).

COREA.

9. Co-re'a, a country but little known, consists of a peninsula, and is dependent on China, from which it is separated by the Yellow sea.

10. The southern part is fertile and populous; the northern part mountainous and thinly peopled.

JAPAN.

1. The empire of Ja-pan' is composed of several islands which lie to the east of Asia, the largest of which is N'i'phon. The islands Xi'mo and Xi-co'co form a part of the empire; and Jes'so is dependent upon it.

2. These islands have a diversified surface and a variable climate; are very rich in mineral productions; and they are highly cultivated, and very populous.

3. The Jap-an-ese' have made considerable advancement in the sciences, and excel in agriculture and some manufactures; and their varnish is unrivalled.

4. JED'DO, the capital of Japan, is situated on a bay in the island of Nippon, and is one of the most populous and magnificent cities of Asia.

5. Me-ä'co, the ecclesiastical capital, is noted for manufactures; Nan-ga-sack'i, as the only port to which foreigners are admitted.

OCEANICA,

OR

ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN.

1. The vast number of islands which are widely dispersed in the Pacific ocean, lying chiefly to the southeast of Asia, are styled by Malte-Brun, O-ce-an'i-ca; and they are considered as forming a fifth grand division of the world.

2. These islands have commonly been divided into three classes, namely, the Eastern Arch-i-pel'a-go or Asiatic Islands, Australia, and Polynesia.

3. The most of them are situated within the torrid zone, and are generally exposed to great heat; but there is a wide difference of temperature among them, and many of them enjoy a delightful climate.

4. They present all varieties of surface, but many of them are mountainous; some of them have mountains of great elevation: no other part of the globe so much abounds in volcanoes; and many of the islands are supposed to be of volcanic origin. ▸

5. The low islands generally have for their base a reef of coral rocks, by which they are supposed to have been originally formed, and to have been gradually augmented and elevated, by the slow accumulation of light bodies drifted to them by the sea.

6. Most of the animals of the south of Asia, are found in these islands, and there are many varieties peculiar to this part of the globe. The orang-outang most abounds in Borneo; the beautiful birds of paradise in New Guinea; and the kanguroo is found only in New Holland.

7. The cocoa-nut tree and the family of the palm trees which are very beautiful and highly useful, abound in most of the islands. Many of them also furnish sandal-wood, which is burnt in the houses of oriental nations, on account of its fragrant odor.

8. The bread-fruit tree is another remarkable and most useful production of many of the islands. It grows to the height of 40 or 50 feet, and produces a nutritious fruit of the size of a child's head, and in such abundance, that the produce of three trees will support a man for a year.

9. These islands produce various spices and abound in rice, coffee, sugar, cotton, benzoin, camphor, bananas, sago, and a variety of tropical fruits.

10. The Islanders consist chiefly of two races, 1st, the Malay race, who are widely dispersed throughout the Eastern Archipelago and Polynesia; and 2dly, the Negro or Papuan race, who form the principal part of the population of Australia, and are also found in many of the other islands.

11. The islanders of the Malay race are of tawny or dark olive complexion, and exhibit considerable diversity in their condition and character, some of them being somewhat advanced in the arts of civilized life; others are extremely barbarous, and in many instances, cannibals. The inhabitants of Polynesia are pagans; those of the Eastern Archipelago, partly pagans and partly Mahometans.

12. The Papuan race are smaller than the African negroes, and not so black. They are the most degraded of the human species; and seem incapable of acquiring the habits and feelings of civilized beings.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

Orang-Outang.

13. The islands of the Eastern Archipelago, which are also called the Asiatic Islands, the East India Islands, and by Malte-Brun Northwest Oceanica, comprise five divisions or clusters, namely, the Sunda or Sumatra Islands, Borneo, the Philippine Islands, Celebes, and the Moluccas.

14. These islands supply other parts of the world with various spices, or aromatic luxuries, as pepper, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmegs. Some of the other productions are rice, sugar, cotton, coffee, camphor, benzoin, sago, cocoa, cassia, and edible birds' nests.

15. SUNDA ISLES. Su-mä'tra, the largest of the Sunda Isles, is fertile, but mountainous, and contains the elevated mountain of Ophir.

16. This island is chiefly in the possession of the natives; but the English have a small settlement at Ben-coo'len.

17. Ja'va, the other great island of this cluster, belongs to the Dutch, and is so fruitful in rice, that it has been sometimes styled the Granary of the East.

18. The interior is mountainous; but the coasts are low and marshy; and the climate here is very unhealthy.

19. Ba-ta'vi-a, in the northwest part of Java, is the capital of all the Dutch East India possessions, and on account of its former splendor and great commerce, was styled the Queen of the East.

20. Ban'ca, an island lying east of Sumatra, also belongs to the Dutch, and is noted for its rich tin mines.

New Holland, and perhaps also New Guinea, is 800 miles long, and 700 broad; but it has been little explored, and is little known.

22. It is noted for a species of ape called the orang-outang, an animal which bears a strong resemblance to the human species.

23. PHILIPPINE, or MANILLA ISLANDS. The Phi-lip'pine Islands belong to Spain. The two largest are Lu-zon' and Min-da-ná'o or Ma-gin-da-ná'o, both of which are very fertile; and the former is remarkable for volcanoes.

24. Ma-nilla, on the west coast of Luzon, is the capital of the Spanish East India possessions, and has heretofore been a place of much commerce.

25. CELEBES. Cel'e-bes, a large island, remarkable for its irregular form and fine scenery, belongs partly to the natives, and partly to the Dutch.

26. THE MOLUCCAS. The Mo-luc'cas, called also the Spice Islands, belong to the Dutch. The most important islands are Gi-lo'lo and Ce-ram', the two largest; Am-boy'na, noted for cloves; Ban'da, for nutmegs.

AUSTRALIA.

The Kanguroo.

27. Australia or Australasia, called by Malte-Brun, Central Oceanica, comprises New Holland, Pap'u-a or New Guin'ea, Van Dié-men's Land, New Brit'ain, New Ire'land, New Cal-e-do'ni-a, New Heb'ri-des, New Zēa'land, and other smaller islands.

28. New Holland, which is about three fourths as large as Europe, and is sometimes styled a continent, was first discovered by the Dutch in 1605; and the most of it is yet unexplored.

of Australia, are the most degraded and barbarous of the human species. They wear little or no clothing, have no form of government, and are destitute of all the comforts of civilized life.

30. The coasts are extremely diversified; and the forests are said to be inferior in majesty to those of America, and in variety and elegance to those of Asia.

31. The quadrupeds are different from those of any other quarter of the world, and are mostly of the opossum species. One of the largest and most celebrated, is the kanguroo, an elegant animal, which is sometimes 6 feet long, and is remarkable for the shortness of its fore legs, and for the abdominal pouch of the female, for the protection of its young.

32. New Holland is celebrated chiefly for the English Colony, in New South Wales, in the southeast part, formed by the transportation of convicts from Great Britain.

33. This colony was begun in 1787, and now contains upwards of 50,000 inhabitants, many of whom are possessed of considerable property.

34. The climate of the country occupied by the colony is temperate and healthy; much of the soil is fertile; and agriculture and other useful arts have made considerable progress.

35. Sydney, the capital of the colony, is situated on the bay of Port Jackson, has an excellent harbor, is a considerable and flourishing town, and has many useful establishments.

36. A similar colony has been established on Van Diemen's Land, of which the capital is Hobart Town.

37. The great island of New Guinea or Papua, which is about 1,200 miles in length, and 350 in breadth, is but little known, and is noted for the birds of paradise, which are of several kinds, and are among the most beautiful of the feathered creation.

38. New Zealand, which consists of two large islands, has a temperate climate, and a luxuriant vegetation.

39. One of the productions peculiar to New Zealand, is a beautiful and valuable species of flax, which resembles silk, and has been found to succeed in the climate of France.

30. What of the coasts and forests? 31. Quadrupeds, and kanguroo?

POLYNESIA.

Branch of the Bread-Fruit Tree.

40. Polynesia, or Eastern Oceanica, comprises the following groups or clusters of islands, namely, the Pe-lew' Islands, La-drone' Islands, Car-o-li' nas, Sandwich Islands, Mar-que'sas, Society Islands, Friendly Islands, Fe-jee' Islands, and Navigator's Islands.

41. These are all comparatively small islands, widely dispersed in the Pacific ocean, and many of them are much nearer to the western coast of America, than to the eastern coast of Asia.

42. The inhabitants of Polynesia are of the Malay race, of tawny or dark olive complexion, and some of them are distinguished for fine forms, regular features, and pleasing countenances.

43. The custom of tattooing prevails generally among them. It is performed by pricking the skin, and staining the punctured spots with a dark-colored substance, and thus forming lines and figures upon the body.

44. A great part of these islands have been discovered since the middle of the last century. When first discovered, the inhabitants were all pagans, many of them extremely barbarous, and even cannibals; but they have, in some instances, shown great readiness in adopting the improvements of civilized life; and in no other part of the world have the labors of Christian missionaries been attended with greater success.

45. The Sandwich Islands, which are 11 in number, are one of the most important of the clusters of Polynesia, and are interesting on account of the progress which the natives have made in the arts of civilized life, and the great success which has attended the labors of the American missionaries among them.

46. Ha-wai'i (ha-wi'e), formerly called O-why'ee, one of the Sandwich Islands, and the largest island in the Polynesia, is 97 miles long, and 78 broad, and is noted for the death of the celebrated navigator captain Cook.

47. Many parts of it are fertile and populous, but a portion is mountainous; and it has peaks so elevated as to be always covered with snow.

48. The Society Islands have attracted much notice, and the inhabitants, through the influence of the English missionaries, have been persuaded to renounce idolatry and embrace Christianity.

49. O-ta-hei'te, or Ta-hi'ti (ta-he'te), the largest of the Society Islands, is about 100 miles in circumference, and has an uneven and mountainous surface, but is very fertile.

50. Pitcairn's Island, a small island, southeast of the Society Islands, is remarkable for having been settled by English mutineers, and for the interesting character of their descendants.

AFRICA.

Cleopatra's Needle.

Pompey's Pillar.

1. Africa has been known and peopled from the remotest antiquity ; and it includes Egypt, which has been styled the cradle of learning ; yet, notwithstanding its ancient celebrity, and its vicinity to those parts of the world which are most famous in history, it is far the least known, the least civilized, and the least important of the four quarters of the globe.

2. It consists of a vast peninsula, connected with Asia by the low, sandy isthmus of Suez, which lies between the Mediterranean and Red sea, and is 75 English miles wide.

3. Some of the principal causes which have prevented its being better known and more civilized, will be found in its natural form and features : it has few large and navigable rivers, or good harbors ; no gulf or inland sea penetrates into the interior ; and the extent of its deserts, and nature of its climate, as well as the savage character of its inhabitants, render it difficult to be explored.

4. As much as three fourths of Africa lie in the torrid zone ; and it is distinguished as the hottest portion of the globe.

5. The most remarkable capes are Cape Bon and Cape Serra in the north, Guar'da-fui in the east, the Cape of Good Hope in the south, and Cape Verd in the west.

6. The two most celebrated rivers are the Nile and the Niger (ni'jer). others of less note are the Sen'e-gál, Gam'bi-a, Zaire or Congo, Orange, and Cu-ä'ma or Zambese.

7. The Nile, the most celebrated river on the globe, is formed by two principal branches, one of which rises in Abyssinia, and the other in the country to the southwest. It passes through Nubia and Egypt, and after a course of about 2,500 miles, it flows into the Mediterranean by two principal mouths. It is only about a third of a mile in width; and after the junction of the Tacaz'ze, it flows about 1,000 miles without being joined by any large stream.

8. The celebrated Niger, the principal river of Central Africa, long excited great interest on account of the difficulty of discovering its course and termination; but, after many ineffectual attempts, its course and termination were ascertained, in 1830, by Richard and John Lander.

9. The principal islands are Mad-a-gas'car, So-co'tra, Mau-rí'ti-us, and Bôur'bon, on the east; the Ca-na'ries, Ma-dê'ra, the A-zôres' Cape Verd Islands, and St. He-le'na, on the west.

10. The most noted mountains are the Atlas Mountains in the north, the Mountains of the Moon and the Kong Mountains in the central part, Table Mountain near the south end, and the Peak of Teneriffe on one of the Canary islands.

11. A remarkable feature of Africa consists in its immense sandy and barren deserts, which abound in different parts; but the desert of Säh'a-ra, or Zä'a-ra, is the largest and most celebrated.

12. Africa has few lakes, and a great part of it suffers for want of water; but the soil of those parts which are well watered is exceedingly fertile.

13. The leading object of European nations, in their intercourse with Africa, during the last three centuries, has been the prosecution of that iniquitous and cruel traffic, the slave-trade.

14. The principal articles of commerce obtained from Africa, besides slaves, are gold and ivory.

15. Africa abounds in wild animals; and here only are the lion, the king of animals, and the ostrich, the largest of birds, found in their perfect state. Other distinguished animals are the elephant, camelopard, hippopotamus, camel, zebra, buffalo, and crocodile.

16. The inhabitants, who are mostly in the savage or barbarous state, consist of various tribes; but the most of them may be divided into two great classes, namely, the Moors and Negroes; but the Caffres are considered by some as forming a third great class, distinct from the Negroes.

17. The Moors are found chiefly in the northern part, and are Mahometans. They are of swarthy or copper complexion; of barbarous habits and manners; and of perfidious and sanguinary character.

18. The Negroes are chiefly pagans, and have the usual habits of barbarous or savage life. They are possessed of less activity, information, and vigor of mind than the Moors; but are more gentle, faithful, and affectionate.

19. Africa may be comprised under the following general divisions: Egypt, Nubia, and Abyssinia, in the northeast; the Barbary States, in the north; Western Africa; Central Africa; Southern Africa; Southeastern Africa; and the African Islands.

EGYPT.

Cairo.

1. Egypt is celebrated for its great antiquity, and for having preceded all other countries in civilization, and in improvement in the arts. It has been styled the cradle of learning; and it still contains numerous monuments of its early magnificence and refinement.

2. It is divided into Upper Egypt and Lower Egypt; the former lies south of Cairo; and the latter is situated between Cairo and the Mediterranean, and is called the Delta.

3. The term Delta (the name of the fourth letter of the Greek alphabet, which is in the shape of a triangle), is applied to an alluvial tract of land, of a triangular form, which is overflowed and fertilized by the Nile, which here divides itself into several channels.

4. The valuable part of Upper Egypt is a narrow belt of land lying on both sides of the Nile, enclosed between two ridges of mountains, which are bordered by deserts.

5. The only river of Egypt is the celebrated Nile, which forms the most remarkable feature of the country, and to which it owes nearly all its fertility.

6. This river annually passes its banks and overspreads the alluvial land bordering upon it like a sea, carrying with its waters a fertilizing mud; and almost all the country that is not thus inundated, is barren, and a great part of it consists of sandy deserts.

 3. What is the Delta? 4. Of what does the valuable part of Upper Egypt consist? 5. What river in Egypt?
 6. What is said of its inundation?

7. The lands which are inundated, are celebrated for their fertility, are cultivated with great ease, and produce corn and rice in equal perfection.

8. Some of the principal productions besides rice, wheat, and other kinds of grain, are sugar-cane, cotton, flax, indigo, and a variety of fruits, particularly dates, which afford the chief subsistence to a great many of the inhabitants.

9. The climate is peculiarly characterized by an almost entire absence of rain, the falling of even a few drops being a rare occurrence. The temperature and appearance of the country at some seasons are delightful; yet the summers are very hot, and the ravages of the plague frequent.

10. The Great and Little O'a-ses, which are fertile tracts in the midst of the desert, are situated to the west of Siut and Dendera.

11. The inhabitants are much subject to the ophthalmia, a severe disease affecting the eyes; and in the spring, they are often annoyed by the simoom or samiel, a hot, suffocating wind from the desert.

12. The language chiefly spoken in Egypt is the Arabic; and about two thirds of the inhabitants are Arabs, who are Mahometans. The other inhabitants are Copts, who are descended from the ancient Egyptians, and profess Christianity; also Turks and Jews, who are found mostly in the cities.

13. Egypt has been considered, in modern times, as forming a part of the Turkish or Ottoman empire; and it is governed by a pasha in the name of the Porte; but the allegiance to the sultan has sometimes been but little more than nominal.

14. Egypt abounds in stupendous monuments of antiquity, as pyramids, obelisks, temples, and catacombs.

15. The Pyramids, which were accounted by the ancients one of the seven wonders of the world, are the most remarkable monuments of ancient art that now exist, and are alike famous for their size and antiquity. History furnishes no authentic information respecting the time or the object of their erection.

16. CAI'RO, or GRAND CAI'RO, the capital of modern Egypt, is the largest city in Africa, and carries on an extensive trade with the interior of the continent, and with Asia, by means of caravans. The streets are very narrow and dirty, the houses mostly very mean; but there are many magnificent mosques.

17. Al-ex-an'dri-a, once a great city, and distinguished as a seat of learning and commerce, and famous for its Pharos or lighthouse, is now greatly reduced. It exhibits interesting remains of ancient grandeur, as Pompey's Pillar, Cleopatra's Needles, and the Catacombs.

the Nile, are noted for commerce; Ab-u-kîr', for a victory of Lord Nelson; Su'ez, for its situation at the north end of the Red sea, on the isthmus to which it gives name.

19. Gir'ge is noted as the capital of Upper Egypt; Cos-sêir', on the Red sea, for its former commercial importance; Siut (se-oot'), As'na, and Ed'fu, as considerable towns; Sy-e'ne, as the one farthest south; Thebes, Den'de-rä, and many other places, for magnificent ruins.

NUBIA.

1. Nubia is an extensive country, watered by the Nile and its branches; and it comprises several kingdoms or states, of which the principal are Sen-na-ar' and Don-go'la.

2. The country is but little known, and its boundaries are not well defined; but it contains some magnificent remains of temples and other ancient monuments.

3. The soil on the borders of the rivers is fertile; but the most of the country consists of barren, sandy, and stony deserts; and the climate is very hot.

4. Don-go'la is noted as the capital of the kingdom of the same name; Shen'dy, as a considerable town; Eb-sam'bul, for an ancient temple cut out of solid rock.

5. Sen-na-ar', the capital of the kingdom of Sennaar, was formerly a large city, but is now almost in ruins; Suä'kem, once a large commercial port, is now greatly reduced.

ABYSSINIA.

1. Abyssinia, which lies west of the Red sea and the straits of Babelmandel, and contains the eastern sources of the Nile, is a country of considerable celebrity, though it has been visited by few modern travellers, and is but little known.

2. It is an elevated and mountainous country, and much of it is well watered and fertile; and it is rich in animal and vegetable productions.

3. The climate, on account of the elevation of the country, the streams of water, and rains, is much cooler than that of Egypt.

4. The Abyssinians have professed Christianity from an early period, and are of the Eutychian sect; but they are extremely ignorant; the art of printing is not in use among them; and copies of the Bible are very rare.

5. They are of a dark olive complexion; live in round hovels with thatched roofs; and are noted for their singular and barbarous customs.

6. Besides the Christians of Abyssinia, the country is inhabited by several pagan nations, as the Gallas and Shangallas, who are far more noted for their ferocious manners and savage customs.

7. GON'DAR, the chief town of Abyssinia, is situated on the north-east part of lake Dem-be'a, is said to contain 100 churches, and has considerable trade.

8. Ad'o-wa and An'ta-lo are noted as considerable towns; Ax'um, as the former capital; Mas'u-ah, as the principal port.

of Africa, which is situated between the desert of Sahara and the Mediterranean sea, and comprises Mo-roc'co, Al-gièrs', Tu'nis, Trip' o-li, and Bar'ca.

2. This country occupied a much more conspicuous place in the ancient world, than it has done in the modern: it contained the powerful and commercial state of Carthage, and several others of less importance; but in latter times it has been noted as a seat of barbarism and piracy.

3. Its most remarkable natural feature consists in the Atlas Mountains, a long and elevated range, which lies north of the Great Desert, and which ancient fable represented as the prop of the heavens.

4. The cultivated part of Barbary comprises a tract of country from 50 to 200 miles wide, situated between the Atlas range and the sea, watered by numerous streams from the mountains, and distinguished for its fertility.

5. The climate is temperate, pleasant, and generally healthy; yet the country is exposed to the most calamitous visitations of the plague.

6. Some of the principal productions and exports are rice, maize, and other kinds of grain; ivory, ostrich feathers, Morocco leather, and fruits, particularly dates.

7. The locust is a formidable insect of this country, and often appears in immense swarms, causing the most destructive ravages.

8. The inhabitants consist of four classes; 1st, Moors, who are the ruling people, and form most of the inhabitants of the cities; 2dly, Jews, who live in the cities and have the management of the trade; 3dly, Arabs, who lead a pastoral life; 4th, Berbers or Brebers, who live in the mountainous parts, and are supposed to be descended from the original inhabitants, and from whom the name of Barbary is said to be derived.

9. The prevailing religion of Barbary is Mahometanism; and the government a barbarous despotism.

MOROCCO.

10. The empire of Morocco, which is much the largest of the Barbary States, and comprises a part of ancient Mawretania, lies in the northwest of Africa, and includes Morocco Proper, Fez, and other divisions.

11. Mo-roc'co, the capital, is situated upwards of 100 miles from the sea. It is the usual residence of the emperor, carries on a trade with Tombuctoo, and was once a very large and populous city, but is now decayed. Meq'wi-nez (mek'e-nez), further in the interior, is sometimes the residence of the emperor.

and noted as a seat of Mahometan learning, is now a considerable city, and the largest in the empire.

13. Mog-a-dore' is noted as the chief seat of European commerce with Morocco; Tan-giër', as the residence of European consuls; Ceu'ta, as a seaport belonging to Spain; Ra-bat', La-rache' (la-rash'), and Tet'u-an, as considerable ports.

14. Morocco is noted for a kind of leather called Morocco, which is manufactured of the skins of the goats of the province of Taf'i-let.

ALGIERS.

15. The country of Algiers is divided into three provinces; and it is the most noted of all the Barbary States for naval strength and piracy.

16. AL-GIERS', the capital of the country of Algiers, and noted for piracy, is built on the side of a hill, with the houses rising in the form of an amphitheatre, and it presents a magnificent spectacle from the sea. It was taken by the French in 1830.

17. Con-stan-ti'na, the capital of the eastern province, is noted as the second town in size; Trem-e-cen', as the capital of the western province; O-ran', as a place of strength.

TUNIS.

18. The country of Tunis includes the site of ancient Carthage, and contains many monuments of ancient magnificence.

19. TU'NIS, the capital, situated near the site of ancient Carthage, is one of the largest cities in Africa, and the most commercial one in Barbary. It carries on an extensive trade with Central Africa and with France, and has also various manufactures.

20. Bi-zer'ta, Sfax, and Su'sa, are noted as considerable towns, Kair-wan', for its former magnificence.

TRIPOLI.

21. TRIP'O-LI, the capital of the state of Tripoli, has a good harbor and considerable commerce, and is largely concerned in the caravan trade with the interior of Africa.

BARCA.

22. Barca contains the site of the ancient city of Cy-re'ne; but is mostly a desert.

23. Its chief towns are Derne and Bin-gü'zi.

25. Mour-zouk' (moor-zook'), the capital, is noted as a centre of the caravan trade of Africa.

SAHARA, OR THE GREAT DESERT.

1. Säh'a-ra or Zä'a-ra, or the Great Desert, which lies south of Barbary, is about 1,000 miles broad, and reckoning from the Atlantic to the Nile, about 3,000 miles long; but the name is commonly limited to the main body, which lies west of Fezzan, and which is about 2,000 miles in length.

2. It is raised but little above the level of the sea, and appears as a vast ocean of scorching sand, having here and there some oases or islands, which afford water and vegetation, and serve as resting and watering places to the caravans that travel over it; and in some instances they support a number of inhabitants.

3. This vast and dreary abode of solitude and desolation, is traversed, for purposes of commerce, by caravans, that proceed from the towns of Barbary, and from Cairo in Egypt, conveying salt, cloths, and various kinds of European goods to Tombuctoo, Bornou, and other places in Central Africa, and receiving in return slaves, gold, ivory, ostrich feathers, civet, and some other articles.

4. In dry seasons, when the water fails at the oases, whole caravans, including both men and camels, sometimes perish with thirst; and whole caravans are also said to be sometimes destroyed by being buried by waves or clouds of sand agitated by the wind.

5. The western coast of Sahara being rocky and dangerous, a considerable number of European vessels have here suffered shipwreck; and the crews, when captured by the Moors, are exposed to the most dreadful sufferings.

WESTERN AFRICA.

Termites Ant-Hills.

1. Western Africa comprehends all the countries on the coast, which lie between the desert of Sahara and Ben-guè'la; and it is noted for being the principal theatre of that inhuman and disgraceful traffic, the slave-trade.

2. This region includes many different countries and kingdoms. The kingdoms of Sen-e-gam'bi-a are in the north; those of Guin'ea, in the middle; and the countries of Lo-an'go, Congo, An-go'la, and Ben-guè'la, in the south.

3. The principal rivers are the Sen'e-gál, Gam bi-a, Grand, Mes-u-rá'do, and Zaire or Con'go.

4. This region lies wholly within the torrid zone, and the climate is extremely hot, and very unhealthy to Europeans.

5. Much of the soil is exceedingly fertile; and the country is covered with a luxuriant vegetation.

6. This part of Africa abounds in various animals, particularly elephants, monkeys, and antelopes; it is also infested by venomous insects and reptiles; and here is found the enormous serpent the boa constrictor.

7. In many parts of this region, the ter'mi-tes, sometimes called white ants, construct their singular habitations, which they raise in the form of a pyramid, in some instances, to the height of 15 or 20 feet.

WESTERN AFRICA.—1. What is said of Western Africa? 2. What does it include? 3. What are the rivers? 4. What is said of the climate? 5. Soil? 6. Animals? 7. Termites?

8. The principal article of commerce consists of slaves; other articles are gold, ivory, and formerly Guinea pepper, called also grains of paradise; and from these, the different parts of the coast of Guinea were named the Gold, Ivory, Grain, and Slave coasts.

9. Some of the principal towns are Teem-boo', the chief town of the Foulahs; Coo-mas-sie', the capital of Ash-an-tee'; Ab'o-mey, of Dahomey; Be-nin', of Benin; Ca-ben'da, in Loango; El-mi'na, on the Gold coast, belonging to the Dutch, and Cape Coast Castle, belonging to the English.

10. The inhabitants consist of various tribes of negroes, some of the principal of which are the Fou'lahs, Jal'offs, Man-din'goes, and Fe-loups'.

11. The negroes are a degraded race, ignorant, superstitious, and indolent, but passionately fond of music and dancing. They are naturally mild, affectionate, and hospitable. They often exhibit an heroic fidelity, and need only to be enlightened and directed by the spirit of the gospel in order to become the most amiable and happy of mankind.

12. The most tremendous scourge by which the unhappy negroes are afflicted, is the slave-trade, which is the cause of the greatest enormities, and in consequence of which wars are incessantly undertaken to procure slaves for the market.

13. Great exertions have been made, particularly by the English, to abolish this infamous traffic; but philanthropy, equity, and penal statutes have hitherto been found but feeble barriers, when opposed to the cupidity of unprincipled traders; and, to the reproach of Christendom, this trade in negroes is still carried on to a great extent.

14. In Si-er'ra Le-o'ne, there is an English colony established for the benevolent purpose of colonizing free negroes, and promoting the civilization of Africa.

15. In Li-be'ri-a, near the river Mes-u-ra'do, a similar settlement has been formed by the American Colonization Society.

CENTRAL AFRICA.

The Lion.

1. Within the last forty years, great efforts have been made to explore the interior of Africa; and though much expense has been incurred, and many lives sacrificed in these enterprises, yet a great part of it is still wholly unknown to the civilized world.

2. European travellers have partially explored the countries which lie north of the parallel of the 10th degree of north latitude; but further south our knowledge is confined to the countries which border on the coasts.

3. Sou-dan', or Ni-grit'i-a, is a name applied to an extensive region in the interior, which lies south of the desert of Sahara, and includes a number of countries and kingdoms, that are fertile and considerably populous. Some of the principal ones are Tom-buc-too', Hôus'sa, Bam-bar'ra, Cash'na or Kas-si'na, and Bor-nôu'.

4. The commerce of these countries is carried on by caravans with Cairo and the towns of Barbary; and the exports consist chiefly of slaves, gold dust, ivory, ostrich feathers, and civet.

5. The inhabitants consist of Negroes, Moors, and Arabs, and are mostly Mahometans, but partly pagans.

6. Tom-buc-too', or Tim-buc'too, situated near the Niger, is the commercial capital of Central Africa, and the point to which caravans proceed from the north. Many European travellers have lost their lives in attempts to visit this city; and the object was first accomplished, in 1826, by Major Laing, who was assassinated soon after leaving the place.

7. Sack-a-too', or Soc-ca-too', a large town, is the capital of the warlike nation of the Felatahs; Se'go, of the kingdom of Bambarra.

8. Cash'na is the capital of Cashna or Kassina; Bor-nôu', Kôu'-ka, and Angornou are considerable towns in the large kingdom of Bornou; Cob'be is the capital of Dar-fôur'.

SOUTHERN AFRICA.

1. This division of Africa lies mostly south of the tropic of Capricorn, and includes the country of Caf-fra'ri-a, and the English Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, or Cape Colony.

2. The most of this region is but little known; but it contains some fertile districts, and has extensive deserts.

3. It is intersected by several ridges of mountains, some summits of which are always covered with snow; and it is watered by a number of rivers, the largest of which is Orange River.

4. The natives consist of various tribes of Caf'fres (kaf'fers) and Hotten-tots.

5. The Caffres are nearly black, but differ much in form and features from the African negroes; and they generally lead a pastoral life.

6. The Hottentots are a more degraded race, of yellowish brown complexion, and very deformed appearance; but the labors of the Moravian missionaries among them have been very successful.

7. Two of the principal towns of this region are Lat-ta-koo' and Kur-ree-chane'.

8. The English Colony of the Cape, being situated on the route from Europe to India, is important on account of its affording refreshments to vessels on their long voyages.

9. It is famous for the delicious Constantia wine, produced from vines originally brought from Shiraz in Persia; and also for a variety of the most beautiful plants, which now adorn many of the greenhouses and gardens of Europe and America.

10. Cape Town, the capital of the Colony, is situated on Table

SOUTHEASTERN AFRICA.

1. This region, which extends from Caffraria to the straits of Babelmandel, has been partially colonized by the Portuguese ; but it is less known than Western Africa, and much less visited for purposes of commerce.

2. Some of the principal countries are So-fála, Mon-o-mot'o-pa, Mo-zam-bíque', Zan-gue-bar', Mag-a-dox'a, A'jan, and A'del.

3. The climate, soil, and inhabitants of this region resemble those of the western coast ; and the principal articles of commerce are the same, namely, slaves, gold, and ivory.

4. Sofala abounds in gold ; and some learned men have supposed that this country is the same as the Ophir of the Scriptures.

1. The principal islands on the eastern coast of Africa are Madagascar, Socotra, Zanzibar, and the Comoro islands, chiefly in the possession of the natives; Bourbon, belonging to France, and Mauritius, to Great Britain.

2. The most important islands on the west of Africa are Madeira, the Azores, and the Cape Verde islands, belonging to Portugal; the Canaries, to Spain; and St. Helena, to Great Britain.

3. Madagascar, one of the largest islands in the world, has a mountainous surface, and a fertile soil; and is inhabited by various native tribes.

4. The island of Bourbon is noted for being composed chiefly of two volcanic mountains, and for coffee.

5. Mauritius, or the Isle of France, is less fertile than Bourbon, but is of commercial and military importance, on account of its good harbors.

6. The island of Madeira is famous for its excellent wine.

7. The Azores, about midway between Africa and America, are supposed to be of volcanic origin, and are noted for wine, oranges, lemons, and other fruits.

8. The Canaries, called by the ancients the Fortunate Islands, produce abundance of corn, wine, and fruits.

9. Teneriffe, the largest of the Canaries, is noted for its Peak, which may be seen at sea 120 miles distant; Ferro, for having formerly been the place from which longitude was reckoned.

10. St. Helena, a small island surrounded by high precipices of basaltic rock, is regarded as a great natural curiosity, and is famous for having been the place of the imprisonment and death of Bonaparte.

PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY.

1. Physical Geography is the natural history of the globe, and embraces a view of the sea, the atmosphere, the structure of the earth, together with its rivers, lakes, mountains, minerals, vegetables, and animals.

THE SEA.

2. This mighty element occupies considerably more than one half of the northern hemisphere, almost seven eighths of the southern, and nearly three fourths of the whole surface of the globe.

3. The several oceans which are known by different names, are all connected with each other, and may be regarded as forming only one vast and continuous expanse of water spread round the land; and all the gulfs and inland seas, form only portions detached, but not entirely separated from that universal sea, which we call the ocean.

4. The sea is of vast importance in the economy of nature. It is the inexhaustible source of the element of water, which being exhaled by the sun, and condensed by the cold of the upper regions to which it ascends, falls down in showers, moistening the air, refreshing vegetable life, and furnishing to rivers that ample supply that feeds their ever-flowing streams.

5. The ocean is the great highway of the globe, and is of immense advantage to mankind by facilitating the intercourse between different nations, bringing distant countries comparatively near to each other, and furnishing an easy mode of exchanging their various productions.

6. The water of the sea is well known to be salt; but the cause of its saltness has never been satisfactorily ascertained, though the inquiry respecting it has attracted the attention of philosophers from ancient times. Some have supposed that the saline substances formed a part of its original composition; others, that they have been subsequently dissolved in it.

7. The degree of saltness is greatest near the equator, and it diminishes towards the poles.

2. What proportion of the globe is occupied by the sea? 3. How may the different oceans be regarded? 4. What is said of the importance of the sea in the economy of nature? 5. What of its uses? 6. What respecting the causes of the saltness of its waters?
7. Where is the degree of saltness greatest?

8. The greatest depth of the ocean has not been ascertained; for it has not been sounded much deeper than a mile. As far as it has been explored, the bottom exhibits a striking resemblance to the surface of the dry land, presenting a varied scene of mountains, rocks, and valleys.

9. Tides.—The tides are regular motions of the sea, according to which it ebbs and flows twice every twenty-five hours. They are caused chiefly by the attraction of the moon, modified, in some degree, by that of the sun.

10. This movement differs greatly in different parts of the globe, and entirely ceases towards the poles. In land-locked seas, as the Mediterranean and Baltic, the tides are scarcely felt.

11. The tides are strongest when they come from a great extent of ocean, upon an indented coast, where their force is concentrated. The bay of Fundy, the English Channel, and the gulf of Cambay, are remarkable for their strong and high tides.

12. The greatest tide is called a spring-tide, which takes place at the time of new and full moon, as the attraction of the sun then acts in unison with that of the moon.

13. The least tide is called a neap-tide, which takes place when the attraction of the sun tends to counteract that of the moon.

14. The spring and neap-tides, like the daily tides, succeed each other in a regular series, diminishing, in 15 days, from the greatest to the least.

THE ATMOSPHERE.

15. The atmosphere, or common air, is an invisible, elastic fluid, which surrounds the earth, and which is essential to the maintenance both of animal and vegetable life.

16. It is formed of two substances in very unequal proportions; namely, oxygen gas, or pure air, of which it contains 27 parts or hundredths, and azotic gas, or impure air, of which it contains 73 parts.

17. It is the property of air to exert an equal pressure on all sides; and when its equilibrium is destroyed by means of a vacuum, it is found to press with the weight of 14 pounds upon every square inch of the surface of the earth.

18. The atmosphere rises to a considerable height above the surface of the earth. As we ascend into the higher regions, it is found gradually to diminish in density, till at length it becomes unfit or insufficient for respiration.

19. When Humboldt ascended Chimborazo to the height of 19,300 feet, he found the air reduced to half its usual density, and intensely cold and piercing. Respiration was difficult, and blood began to ooze from the eyes, lips, and gums. Gay-Lussac, who ascended in a balloon to the great height of 23,040 feet, or $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles, experienced this same inconvenience from the extreme cold and tenuity of the air.

20. Winds.—Wind is air put in motion. When its velocity is only at the rate of 2 miles an hour, it is but just perceptible; at 4 miles an hour, it is a gentle breeze; at 30, a high wind; at 50, a tempest; and at 100, a violent hurricane.

21. On a great part of the globe, the winds are subject to great irregularity; but between the tropics they are governed by regular laws, and in particular tracts and seasons, blow almost invariably in the same direction.

22. The trade-winds are remarkable currents which blow from east to west, in the equatorial regions, throughout nearly the whole circumference of the globe. They are called trade-winds because they facilitate trading voyages.

23. The prevalence of these easterly currents is supposed to be caused by the diurnal motion of the earth in an opposite direction from west to east, and by the sun's heat in rarefying the air within the tropics.

24. To restore the equilibrium, a current of air rushes in from the north, and another from the south, upon the rarefied tropical atmosphere; and in consequence of this, and of the motion of the earth, the trade-wind, to the north of the equator, blows from the northeast, and south of the equator from the southeast.

25. The monsoons form a deviation from the trade-winds, and prevail chiefly in the Indian ocean. During one half of the year, from April to October, a strong wind, or monsoon, blows from the southwest, bringing with it rain and tempest; during the other half of the year, a dry and agreeable wind blows from the northeast. The change from one monsoon to another, is accompanied by violent storms and tempests.

26. Hurricanes are violent movements of the atmosphere, and are generally nothing more than whirlwinds occasioned by the meeting of opposite currents. They rage only in particular countries. The West India islands, the island of Mauritius, and the countries of Chin-India and China, are particularly subject to these tremendous storms.

27. Sea and land breezes prevail particularly in the islands situated within the tropics. The sea-breeze, or breeze from the sea, blows during the day; and the land-breeze, during the night.

28. The winds generally serve to purify the atmosphere, by keeping up a perpetual agitation in it. But there are some winds which possess noxious qualities, as the samiel or simoom, which blows over the burning sands of Africa and Arabia. In Egypt it is also called the kamsin; and it reaches Italy in a modified condition, where it is styled the sirocco.

29. Temperature.—The temperature of every place depends chiefly on its distance from the equator and its height above the level of the sea.

30. The equator is the region of heat, which gradually diminishes towards the poles, where perpetual winter reigns, with its attendants, snow and ice.

31. All places within the tropics which are not much elevated above the level of the sea, are exposed to great heat; but in South America there are many plains near the equator, which, on account of their elevation, enjoy a mild and delightful climate.

32. Water freezes throughout the year, under the equator, at the elevation of about 16,000 feet above the level of the sea; and in the latitude of 40 degrees, at the elevation of about 9,000 feet.

33. Clouds.—Clouds are composed of water raised by evaporation, and suspended in the atmosphere in small vesicles or hollow spheres. These vesicles form a kind of middle state between water and invisible vapor.

34. Rain.—The quantity of rain is most abundant within the tropics, and it decreases in proportion to the distance from the equator towards the poles. It is also subject to great variations from other causes; and the quantity which falls at different places in the same latitude, is often very different.

35. Within the tropics, the rains, like the winds, occur regularly at certain seasons of the year. In the northern tropic they begin in April and end in September; and this part of the year is called the rainy or wet season. The other six months are called the dry season, during which no rain falls. In the southern tropic, this arrangement of the seasons is entirely reversed.

36. In some countries, particularly Egypt, Lower Peru, and a part of Chili, there is little or no rain at any season.

THE EARTH.

37. When we cast our eyes upon a map of the world, we perceive two large, distinct masses of land, which we call continents, and numerous smaller masses, which we call islands, and which differ from the continents only in their dimensions. We see also small detached spots upon the land covered with water, which we call lakes.

29. On what does the temperature of any place depend?

30. What is the region of heat, and what of cold? 31. What is said of places within the tropics? 32. At what elevation does water freeze at the equator, and in the latitude of 40 degrees?

33. What are clouds? 34. What is said of the quantity of rain that falls in different places? 35. What is said of rains within the tropics?

36. In what countries is there little or no rain?

37. When we cast our eyes upon the map of the world, what do we perceive?

38. One of the circumstances respecting the distribution of land which first arrests the attention, is the immense preponderance of it found in the northern hemisphere.

39. The most striking natural features of the globe are its division into land and water, and the inequalities of its surface. These inequalities produce that agreeable diversity of scene and climate, which arises from mountain and valley, hill and dale.

40. When we confine our observation to a small portion of the earth's surface, the irregularities which prevail seem inconsistent with the fact that it is in the form of a sphere; but, by a more enlarged view, we soon perceive that the highest mountains are very insignificant, and dwindle almost to nothing, in comparison with the magnitude of the earth, bearing no greater proportion to it than grains of sand to an artificial globe; and that the earth differs but little from the general form it would possess, if the solid parts were entirely covered with the waters of the ocean.

41. The solid parts of the globe, so far as they come within the sphere of our examination, are composed of different kinds of soil or earths, rocks, and other mineral substances; but of the interior structure of the globe, beyond a few hundred feet below its surface, we know nothing; and if we consider its size, we shall perceive that the deepest excavations which have been made in it, can be compared to nothing more than slight scratches on an artificial globe.

RIVERS.

42. The water which is exhaled into the atmosphere by the sun, descends in the form of rain and snow, and gives rise to springs, brooks, rivers, and lakes, which diffuse beauty and fertility over the finest regions of the globe.

43. Rivers, which constitute one of the most magnificent features of the globe, have their origin in the more elevated districts of any tract of country, and are formed by the union of smaller streams.

44. The tract of country from which a river derives its supply of water, is called its basin or valley.

45. All elevated ranges of mountains furnish sources of large streams. The Alps, the Andes, and the Himmaleh mountains give rise to many of the largest rivers on the globe.

46. The more limited extent of Europe does not admit of such vast accumulations of water as are found in America and Asia. The Amazon is supposed to carry to the ocean more than four

38. What is said respecting the distribution of land? 39. What are the most striking natural features of the globe? 40. What is said of elevated mountains?
46. Where are the largest rivers, and what is said of the Amazon times as much water as the largest river on the eastern continent, and as much as all the rivers of Europe united.

47. A remarkable phenomenon is presented by rivers which, at certain seasons of the year, overflow their banks. This occurs chiefly in the tropical regions, which are periodically flooded by immense rains; but the Mississippi, which has its whole course without the limits of the tropics, is noted for its extensive annual inundations.

48. Most of those great rivers which are subject to annual inundations, divide themselves into various branches, before reaching the sea; and the alluvial tract which is thus intersected and inundated, is called its Delta, a term which was first applied to the Nile; but it is now extended to other rivers, as the Ganges, Indus, Amazon, Mississippi, &c.

LAKES.

49. Lakes are of two kinds; 1st, fresh-water lakes, which uniformly communicate with the sea, or other bodies of water, by means of rivers; 2dly, salt-water lakes, which have no such communication or visible outlet.

50. Fresh-water lakes are much the more common; and the largest are found in North America.

51. Lake Superior is the most extensive body of fresh-water on the globe; some of the largest fresh-water lakes in the eastern continent, are lake Baikal, in Siberia, and lakes Ladoga and Onega, in European Russia.

52. Salt-water lakes are found in Hungary, Mexico, South America, Africa, and particularly in Central Asia, Persia, and Turkey.

53. The two largest of these salt lakes, or inland seas, are the Caspian Sea and the Sea of Aral. These lakes receive the waters of several large rivers, but have no visible outlet; the waters which they receive must therefore disappear by evaporation.

MOUNTAINS.

54. Mountains seldom stand alone, but are usually found in groups, or connected ranges or chains, traversing a great extent of country.

55. Some of the most magnificent ranges are the Andes, which are connected with the Rocky Mountains, in America; the Alps, in Europe; and the Himmaleh and Altai mountains, in Asia.

56. High mountains generally present a surface, more or less extensive, of naked rock: those which rise above the point of perpetual congelation, have their summits always covered with snow and ice; and in the elevated hollows and valleys, are often found magnificent glaciers

57. The most remarkable phenomenon relating to mountains is the volcano, which is an internal fire perpetually burning, and which occasionally bursts forth in eruptions, desolating the surrounding plains.

58. These eruptions are accompanied by earthquakes, and by dreadful subterranean noises within the mountain. A black volume of smoke is then seen ascending, which issues in a stream of flame that illuminates the sky; while ashes, dross, red-hot stones, and enormous fragments of rock, are projected in all directions, like brilliant fire-works, and sometimes to a great height.

59. The vast crater of the mountain is, at the same time, filled with lava, a liquid and burning matter, resembling metal in fusion. At length a stream of this lava begins to flow, sometimes from the crater at the top, and sometimes from lateral openings, rushing down the sides of the mountain like a river of fire, destroying every thing in its course, and transforming fertile fields, and sometimes villages and towns, into a burning flame.

60. Volcanoes are found in various latitudes and in all quarters of the world; but they are most numerous in South America and the Asiatic islands.

61. Earthquakes, which occur most frequently in volcanic countries, are intimately connected with volcanoes, and like them are supposed to be occasioned by subterranean fires.

62. The effects of this alarming convulsion are a violent tremor of the earth, the overthrow of objects on its surface, the rushing of the sea, and sometimes the overwhelming of whole cities. Lisbon, Messina, and Catania, in Europe, and several cities in South America, have, at different periods, been nearly swallowed up.

METALS AND MINERALS.

63. The metals which most deserve notice, are gold, silver, iron, copper, lead, tin, and mercury.

64. Gold is commonly found in a perfectly pure state, at the foot of large ranges of mountains, from which it is washed down by rivers. It occurs in all quarters of the world, but far most abundantly in South America.

65. Silver is generally found in veins, but is seldom seen pure. More than nine tenths of the silver of the world comes from Mexico and South America.

66. Iron, the most useful of all the metals, is the most widely diffused. The most productive iron mines are in Great Britain, France, Russia, and Sweden.

67. Copper, a very useful metal, is also extensively distributed in different countries; but the most abundant source of it is in Cornwall in England.

plomo 68. Lead is found in various countries; but the most productive lead mines are in the country bordering on the Mississippi and in Great Britain.

estaino 69. Tin is not so widely diffused as lead, but is found in great abundance in a few countries, particularly in Cornwall in England, and the island of Banca in the East Indies.

70. Mercury, or quicksilver, a metal of peculiar properties, is not found in many places. Some of the most noted mines of it are those of Idria in Austria, Almaden in Spain, and Guanca Velica in Peru.

71. Two of the most important mineral substances are fossil coal and common salt.

72. Coal is a most valuable species of fuel, and is of great importance both in common life, and in all great manufactories. It is found in inexhaustible quantities in various countries; but the most celebrated coal mines are those of Newcastle in England.

73. Salt, which is widely diffused, is obtained from salt-mines, from boiling the water of salt-springs, and from the water of the ocean, by the evaporation of the sun. Salt-mines are found in various countries, but the most celebrated are those of Wieliczka in Austrian Poland.

74. The diamond is the most valued of all precious stones, and is found chiefly in Hindostan and Brazil.

VEGETABLES.

75. The empire of vegetation extends throughout the globe, yet with great diversity in different parts, varying, in different regions, according to the temperature. Some vegetables require a hot, some a temperate, and others a cold climate.

76. Vegetable life seems to draw its chief nourishment from heat and moisture; and as these are combined in the greatest degree in the torrid zone, it is here that the most luxuriant vegetation is found.

77. The tropical regions produce the largest trees, and display the richest verdure, and the greatest profusion of flowers; they also abound in delicious fruits, nutritious food, aromatic plants or spices, and useful and ornamental kinds of wood.

78. Though the temperate zone cannot vie, in luxuriance, with the tropical regions, yet it yields in abundance all that is necessary to the subsistence and comfort of man, abounding in the finest fruits, the most useful kinds of grain, and the richest pasture.

79. In the frigid zone, the aspect of nature is gloomy and severe; the vegetables are of stunted growth and limited to comparatively few species; and towards the poles, vegetation entirely fails.

ANIMALS.

80. The torrid zone teems with the same luxuriance of animal as of vegetable life, and is prolific in insects, reptiles, and serpents; it is also the native region of those animals which are most distinguished for strength and ferocity, as the lion, the tiger, and the panther; and also for those of the most gigantic forms, as the elephant, the rhinoceros, and the hippopotamus.

81. Some of the birds of the torrid zone are of extraordinary size, as the ostrich, the cassowary, and the condor. The feathered tribe, in this zone, possess the most varied and brilliant plumage; but they are generally less melodious in their notes than those of the temperate zone.

82. Some of the most useful animals, as the ox, the horse, the sheep, the goat, the hog, the dog, and the cat, are so constituted by Providence, as to bear any climate, and are thus enabled to follow man to the utmost limits of the globe; but it is in the temperate zone, that the domestic animals are reared in the greatest abundance and perfection.

83. The frigid zone and the countries bordering upon it abound in animals which are covered with a thick fur, which is much sought after by man, both for use and ornament. The most useful animal of this region is the reindeer; and the most formidable one, the polar bear.

84. Different regions of the globe, as well as different zones, have races of animals peculiar to themselves. Asia is the country of the tiger, the Indian elephant, the camel with two humps, the wild sheep, the wild ass, the elk, and the musk; Africa, of the lion, the African elephant, the dromedary, the buffalo of Caffraria, and the zebra; America, of the jaguar, the lama, the great elk or moose deer, and a peculiar species of bison or buffalo.

MAN.

85. Man is at the head of the animal creation, and forms only one species, in which, however, there are considerable varieties, with regard to stature, form, color of the skin, physiognomy, and nature of the hair.

86. The human species are dispersed over the whole earth; for it is a peculiarity of the human constitution, that it adapts itself to every climate. The temperate zones, however, are most favorable to human subsistence and improvement; and here civilization has most prevailed, in the different ages of the world.

80. What is said of the animals of the torrid zone? 81. The birds? 82. What of some of the most useful domestic animals? 83. What of the animals of the frigid zone? 84. What are some of the animals peculiar to the different parts of the globe?

85. What is said of man? 86. What is said of the human species as dispersed over the earth?

87. With regard to COMPLEXION, the human species consist of two great classes, the white and the black; but including intermediate varieties, they are divided, by physiologists, into the five following breeds or races.

88. First; the Caucasian or White Race, which includes nearly all the Europeans, the Circassians, Georgians, Arabians, Turks, Persians, and Hindoos.

89. Secondly; the Mongolian, Tawny, or Olive Race, which embraces the Monguls, Chinese, and the other inhabitants of the eastern and southern parts of Asia, except the Malays.

90. Thirdly; the Malay or Dark Brown Race, found in the peninsula of Malacca, the Asiatic islands, and the islands of the Pacific ocean.

91. Fourthly; the Ethiopian, Negro, or Black Race, which comprises the African Negroes, the Hottentots, Caffres, and the Papuans, or Negroes of Australia.

92. Fifthly; the American or Copper-colored Race, consisting of the American Indians.

93. With respect to the STATE OF SOCIETY, the human species are savage, barbarous, or civilized.

94. The savage state is the lowest in which man can be found; and in this state he subsists by hunting, fishing, and the spontaneous productions of the earth.

95. A dense population is never found in the savage state, for such a population cannot be supported by the food which the earth yields without cultivation.

96. Savage life presents a melancholy view of human nature, with little happiness or morality. In this state, mankind are poor; often in extreme want; addicted to theft; coarse and filthy in their habits; remarkable for cruelty, and for the unrestrained indulgence of vindictive passions.

97. A numerous class of nations are still in this condition; the principal of which are the natives of New Holland and the neighboring islands, the African Negroes, and the American Indians.

98. In the barbarous state, mankind wander about with their flocks and herds, from which they chiefly derive their subsistence; and they also pursue a rude sort of agriculture.

99. This was generally the state of Europe during the middle ages; and it is now the condition of the Moors in Africa, the Arabs, the Malays, and the inhabitants of Central and Northern Asia.

87. How are they divided with regard to complexion?

88. What does the Caucasian race include? 89. The Mongolian? 90. The Malay? 91. The Ethiopian? 92. The American?

93. How are the human species divided with regard to state of society?

94. What is said of the savage state? 95. Why is a dense population never found in this state? 96. What is said of savage life?

97. What nations are still in the savage state? 98. What is said of the barbarous state? 99. What nations are in this state?

100. The inhabitants of China, Hindostan, Persia, and Turkey are raised somewhat above barbarian shepherds, and may be regarded as half-civilized. In these countries, agriculture is much attended to, and many kinds of manufactures are carried to a high degree of excellence; but foreign commerce exists only in a very limited degree.

101. The civilized state is the most improved form of human society, and exists, though with considerable diversity, throughout the most of Europe, the United States, and some other parts of America, which have been settled by Europeans.

100. What nations are half-civilized?

101. What is said of the civilized state?

TABLES OF RIVERS AND MOUNTAINS.

[See the Modern Atlas.]

COMPARATIVE LENGTHS OF RIVERS.

The lengths of the longest rivers are not so accurately ascertained, as the elevations of the highest mountains. A great diversity is found in the statements which have been given by different persons. This diversity is owing, in a great measure, to the different principles upon which the estimates have been formed; some expressing the lengths of the rivers according to the winding of their courses; others giving only the lengths of the valleys through which they flow.

The lengths of the rivers of Europe are mostly given, in the following table, and in the view in the Atlas, as they are stated in the Edinburgh Geographical and Historical Atlas.

The lengths of the Asiatic rivers Kian-Ku, Hoang-Ho, Lena, Amour, Oby, Yenisei, Ganges, Brahmapootra, Irrawaddy, and Euphrates, are given according to the estimates of Major Rennel, as compared with the Thames, which is here considered as 215 miles long, though its length by the winding of its stream is greater; and in the Edinburgh Atlas, its comparative length is stated at only 180 miles.

The statements of the lengths of the American rivers are accommodated more nearly to the windings of their courses.

The statements of the length of rivers in Malte-Brun's Geography, are generally much less than those here given, and some of them are less than one half of the lengths measured by the windings of the streams.

ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY.

1. Ancient Geography is a description of the earth as it existed in ancient times, or of that part of it which was then known.

2. Geography is a science of slow growth. It comprises a vast number of facts, which have been gradually accumulating, by observation and inquiry, during a long series of ages.

3. In early times, the earth was supposed to be, as it appears to the senses, an immense circular plain, surrounded by an ocean of unknown extent, and by impenetrable darkness.

4. Though mankind gradually acquired more correct ideas respecting the figure of the earth, and increased information respecting the various divisions of it, yet the knowledge of geography possessed by the Greeks and Romans, even during the period when they were most enlightened, was very imperfect; and it embraced less than half of the globe.

5. It was limited chiefly to the southwestern part of Asia, the northern part of Africa, and the middle and south of Europe. The torrid zone was supposed to be uninhabitable by man.

6. The Greeks and Romans knew little of that part of Europe which is north of Germany, the regions of Asia north of the Euxine and Caspian seas and east of the Ganges, and the portion of Africa lying south of the 10th degree of north latitude.

7. The countries which were most celebrated in ancient history, and most distinguished for civilization and literature, bordered upon the Mediterranean sea; and they comprise the part of the world of which ancient geography chiefly treats.

8. The most distinguished of these countries, and those with which sacred and general literature is chiefly connected, are Egypt, Palestine, Asia Minor, Greece, and Italy.

9. The Map of the Roman Empire, in the Ancient Atlas which accompanies this work, comprises most of those parts of the world which were of much notoriety in ancient times. The principal omissions are some countries which were situated towards the southwest of Asia.

10. The countries on this map, lying north of the Mediterranean, and west of the Ægæan and Euxine seas, belong to Europe; those lying east of the Euxine, Ægæan, Mediterranean and Red seas, to Asia; those south of the Mediterranean, to Africa.

EUROPE.

BRITAIN.

1. The name of Albi-on was anciently applied to Britain, probably on account of the white rocky cliffs on the southeastern coast. The northern part, now Scotland, was called Cal-e-do'ni-a; and Ireland, Hi-ber'ni-a.

2. Britain was little known to the rest of the world before the commencement of its conquest by the Romans, under Julius Cæsar, 55 years before the Christian era.

3. The island was then inhabited by the Britons, who were a rude and barbarous people, consisting of a number of different tribes.

2. What is said of it? 3. By whom was it inhabited?

QUESTIONS ON THE MAP OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.

What sea separates Europe from Africa? How was the Ægæan sea situated? The Euxine? The Propontis? The Palus Mæotis? The Caspian sea? The Red sea? The Ionian sea? The Adriatic sea or gulf? The Tuscan or Tyrrhene sea? The Aquitaine ocean? The Hibernian sea? The German ocean? The Codanian sea or gulf?

Where was the Gallic strait? The strait of Hercules? The Hellespont? The Thracian Bosphorus? The Cimmerian Bosphorus? The Syrtis Major? The Syrtis Minor?

What sea between Britain and Hibernia? What island south of Britain? What islands in the Hibernian sea?

What islands east of Spain? What ones southwest of Italy? What one south of the Ægæan sea? What one in the eastern part of the Mediterranean?

How was Hibernia situated? Britain? Spain? Gaul? Helvetia? Germany? Scandinavia? Sarmatia? Scythia? Dacia and Mœsia? Rhætia? Illyricum? Pannonia? Noricum? Italy? Greece? Macedonia? Thrace? Asia Minor? Armenia? Colchis, Iberia, and Albania? Media? Syria? Mesopotamia? Phœnicia? Palæstine? Arabia? Ægypt? Libya? Africa Proper? Numidia? Mauretania? Gætulia?

4. Their religion, styled druidism, was a cruel superstition; and their priests, who were called druids, had great authority over the people.

5. Two of the principal rivers were the Tam'e-sis, now Thames; and Sa-bri'na, now Severn.

6. Some of the towns of most note in ancient times were Lon-di'num, now London; E-bor'a-cum, now York; Lu-gu-val'lum, now Carlisle; Aquæ Solis, now Bath.

7. The Romans, after they had conquered the Britons, built three walls across the island, to protect the people from the Caledonians, Scots, and Picts, from the north. The first was built by A'dri-an, the second by An-to-ni'nus, and the third by Se-ve'rus.

8. The Romans abandoned Britain in the 5th century of the Christian era; and the island was afterwards conquered by the Saxons and Angles from Germany.

GERMANY.

1. Ancient Germany extended from the Rhenus or Rhine to the Vistula, and from the Baltic or Codanian sea to the Ister or Danube.

2. The ancient Germans consisted of various tribes or nations, and were a rude, superstitious, and warlike people.

3. Some of the principal nations were the Sue'vi, Her-mi'o-nes, Is-tæv'o-nes, Vin'di-li or Vandals, Fris'i-i or *Frison*s, Al-e-man'ni, Sax'ons, An'gles, and Cim'bri.

4. The principal rivers were the Is'ter, now Danube; the Al'bis, now Elbe; the Vi-sur'gis, now Weser; the Vi'a-drus, now Oder; and the Vis'tu-la.

5. A large portion of Germany was anciently covered by the Hyrclinian Forest, which was of great extent, and included part of Switzerland and Transylvania. The Thuringian Forest, in the central part of Germany, now embraces a small part of it.

PANNONIA, ILLYRICUM, DACIA, MÆSIA, &c.

1. These countries were little known in history till after they were conquered by the Romans.

4. What was their religion? 5. What the rivers of Britain? 6. Towns?
7. What great works were built by the Romans? 8. What afterwards happened to Britain?

GERMANY.—1. What was the extent of ancient Germany?

2. What is said of the ancient Germans? 3. What were some of the principal nations? 4. Rivers? 5. What is said of the Hyrcinian Forest?

PANNONIA, ILLYRICUM, &c.—1. What is said of Pannonia, Illyricum, Dacia, Mæsia, &c.?

See Map of the Roman Empire.—What rivers bounded Germany on the east, west, and south? What rivers flowing to the north? What nations resided in the northern part? In the southern? In the eastern? In the western?

2. The principal rivers were the Is'ter, now Danube; the Dra'vus, now Drave; the Sa'vus, now Save; the Ti-bis'cus, now Theis; the Py-re'tus, now Pruth; and the Ty'ras, now Dniester.

3. Some of the principal towns in Rhætia, Vindelicia, and Nor'icum were Bri-gan'ti-a, now Brigentz; Cu'ri-a, now Coire; Au-gus'ta Vin-del-i-co'rum, now Augsburg; and Bo-i-o-du'rum, now Passau.

4. The chief towns of Pannonia were Car-nun'tum, and Sir-mi-um; also Vin-do-bo'na, now Vienna.

5. In Il-lyr'i-cum were Ep-i-dau'rus; also Sa-lo'na, the birthplace of the emperor Diocletian.

6. In Mœsia and Dacia were Sin-gi-du'num, now Belgrade; Na-is'sus, now Nissa, noted as the birthplace of Constantine the Great; Sar'di-ca, the capital of Mœsia, famous for a council; Pons Tra-ja'na, or Bridge of Trajan; Ni-cop'o-lis, now Nicopoli.

THRACE.

1. Thrace was anciently a barbarous country in the interior, but had many Greek colonies on its coasts.

2. In the eastern part, on the Thracian Bosphorus, was the famous city of By-zan'ti-um, established, by Constantine the Great, as the seat of the Roman Empire, and from him called Constantinople.

3. Ses'tos, on the western shore of the Hellespont, and A-by'dos, on the eastern shore opposite, were noted for being situated where Xerxes built his famous bridge of boats, and where Leander was drowned in swimming across the strait to visit his mistress, Hero.

4. Some of the other towns were Ab-de'ra, noted as the birthplace of the laughing philosopher De-moc'ri-tus; Ap-ol-lo'ni-a, now Sizeboli, for a temple of Apollo; Phil-ip-pop'o-lis, now Filippopoli, named from Philip of Macedon; and Ad-ri-an-op'o-lis, now Adrianople.

2. What were the rivers? 3. What towns in Rhætia, Vindelicia, and Noricum? 4. What towns in Pannonia? 5. What ones in Illyricum? 6. What ones in Mœsia and Dacia?

GAUL.

1. Gaul, which was called by the Greeks Ga-la'ti-a, and by the Romans, Galli-a Trans-al-pi'na, comprehended France, Netherlands, Holland, Switzerland, and part of Germany.

2. It was originally divided among three great nations, the Bel-gæ, Cel'tæ, and the A-qui-ta'ni; and by the Romans, it was formed into the four following provinces, called the Four Gauls, namely, Galli-a Bel-gi-ca, Galli-a Lug-du-nen'sis or Cel'ti-ca, A-qui-ta'ni-a, and Galli-a Nar-bo-nen'sis or Pro-vin'ci-a.

3. The Gauls were a warlike, barbarous, and superstitious people. They offered human victims in sacrifice, and their priests, who were styled druids, possessed great power.

4. The principal rivers were the Rhe'nus, now Rhine; Mo-sel'la, now Moselle; Mo'sa, now Meuse; Scal'dis, now Scheldt; Seq'ua-na, now Seine; Li'ger, now Loire; Ga-rum'na, now Garonne; Rhod'a-nus, now Rhone.

5. Some of the principal towns in Galli-a Bel-gi-ca, were Au-gus'ta Tre-vo'rum, now Treves; Co-lo'ni-a Ag-rip-pi'na, now Cologne; Mo-gun-ti'a-cum, now Mentz.

6. In Gallia Lugdunensis were Lug-du'num, now Lyons; Bi-brac'te, now Autun; A-le'si-a, famous for a siege; Ve-son'ti-o, now Besançon; Lu-te'ti-a, now Paris; Ro-tom'a-gus, now Rouen: in Helvetia were A-ven'ti-cum, now Avenches; and Ti-gu'rum, now Zurich.

7. Some of the towns of Aquitaine were Bur-dig'a-la, now Bourdeaux; Av-a-ri'cum, now Bourges; Li-mo'num, now Poitiers.

8. In Gallia Narbonensis were Ne-mau'sus, now Nismes, famous for a Roman amphitheatre, remains of which are still to be seen; To-lo'sa, now Toulouse; Mas-sil'i-a, now Marseilles; Ar-e-la'te, now Arles; Vi-en'na, now Vienne; Nar'bo, now Narbonne, which gave name to the province; Fo'rum Jul'i-i, now Frejus, the birthplace of Agricola.

SPAIN.

1. Spain, in Latin, His-pa'ni-a, was called also I-be'ri-a, and Hes-pe'ri-a, or Hes-pe'ri-a Ul'ti-ma. It was, in ancient times, famous for rich silver mines.

GAUL.—1. What is said of Gaul? 2. By what nations was it inhabited, and how divided? 3. What is said of the Gauls? 4. What rivers? 5. What towns in Gallia Belgica? 6. In Gallia Lugdunensis? 7. In Aquitaine? 8. In Gallia Narbonensis?

2. The Romans had little knowledge of Spain till the second Punic war; but at that period they became masters of the country, and divided it into two provinces, His-pa'ni-a Ci-te'ri-or, or Hither Spain, and His-pa'ni-a Ul-te'ri-or, or Farther Spain; and afterwards into three provinces, Tar-ra-co-nen'sis, Bæt'i-ca, and Lu-si-ta'ni-a.

3. The principal rivers were the Ta'gus; the I-be'rus, now Ebro; the Du'ri-us, now Duero; the A'nas, now Guadiana; and the Bæt'is, now Guadalquivir.

4. Tarraconensis was the largest of the provinces, and took its name from Tar'ra-co, now Tarragona, its capital, which was a very large and populous city; and to the north of east of it was Bar'ci-no, now Barcelona.

5. Sa-gun'tum, now Morviedro, was famous for a siege by Hannibal, which was the cause of the second Punic war; I-ler'da, now Lerida, for a contest between Cæsar and the lieutenants of Pompey; Nu-man'ti-a and Cal-a-gu'ris, for memorable sieges; Bil'bi-lis, as the birthplace of the poet Martial.

6. Some of the other principal towns in Tarraconensis, were Cæ'sar-Au-gus'ta, now Saragossa; Pom'pe-lo, now Pampeluna; To-le'tum, now Toledo; Car-tha'go No'va, now Carthagenæ; and Se-go'vi-a.

7. The province of Bæt'i-ca included the southern part of Spain, and took its name from the river Bætis.

8. Some of the towns of Bætica were Cor'du-ba, now Cordova, noted as the birthplace of the philosopher Seneca and the poet Lucan; I-tal'i-ca, as the birthplace of the emperor Trajan; Munda, for a victory of Cæsar over the sons of Pompey; Mal'a-ca, now Malaga; Ga'des, now Cadiz.

9. Cal'pe, now the rock of Gibraltar, and Ab'y-la, on the opposite shore in Africa, were celebrated among the ancients as the Pillars of Hercules.

10. Lu-si-ta'ni-a embraced the country now called Portugal; some of its towns were O-li-sip'po, now Lisbon; Cal'le, now Oporto, Co-nim'bri-ca, now Coimbra.

ITALY.

Coliseum.

1. Italy, a celebrated and fine country, was known in ancient times by different names.

2. It was called I-ta'li-a, or Italy, from the prince It'a-lus; Hes-pe'ri-a, by the Greeks, because it was west of Greece; Au-so'ni-a, from the Au-so-nes, a people of Latium; E-no'tri-a, from Æn'o-trus, an Arcadian prince, who settled in Lucania; and Sa-tur'ni-a, from its having been the fabled residence of Saturn, during the golden age.

3. The northern part was called Cis-al'pine Gaul, and the remainder Italy Proper; though a portion in the south was, at one period, called Magna Græcia, from its containing Greek colonies.

4. The three great Italian islands, Sicily, Sardinia, and Corsica, retain their ancient names.

5. The inhabitants of Italy were called Romans, from Rome, the chief city. They were distinguished for their warlike achievements, and for their eminence in literature and the arts.

CISALPINE GAUL.

6. Cisalpine Gaul (called also Gallia Togata, because the natives wore the Roman toga) comprehended that part of the country which was north of Etruria and Umbria, and included Li-gu'ri-a, in the southwest, and Ve-ne'ti-a and His'tri-a, in the east.

7. The Pa'dus, called also the E-rid'a-nus, now Po, was the great river of Cisalpine Gaul, and divided the country into two parts, the northern being called Trans-pa-da'na, and the southern Cis-pa-da'na.

8. Some of the other rivers were the Ath'e-sis, now Adige; the Ad'du-a, now Adda; also the Ti-ci'nus, now Ticino, and the Tre-bi-a; the two last celebrated for the victories of Hannibal. The Ru'bi-con, a small stream which separated Cisalpine Gaul from Italy Proper, was rendered famous by being passed by Cæsar, in violation of the authority of the Roman government, when he commenced the enterprise of making himself master of the empire.

9. The principal lakes of Cisalpine Gaul, were Ver-ba'nus, now Maggiore; La'ri-us, now Como; and Be-na'cus, now Garda.

10. Some of the towns in His'tri-a and Ve-ne'ti-a, were Ter-ges'te, now Trieste; Aq-ui-le'i-a, famous for having been the residence of some of the Roman emperors, and for an obstinate resistance against Attila, the king of the Huns; Pa-ta'vi-um, now Padua, noted as the birthplace of the historian Livy; Ve-ro'na, as the birthplace of the poet Catullus and Pliny the naturalist, and for its amphitheatre; Tri-den'tum, now Trent.

11. West of Venetia and north of the Po, were Man'tu-a, near which was the village of An'des, noted as the birthplace of the poet Virgil; Co'mum, now Como, as the birthplace of the younger Pliny; Brix'i-a, now Brescia; Me-di-o-la'num, now Milan; Ti-ci'num, now Pavia; Au-gus'ta Tau-ri-no'rum, now Turin.

12. To the south of the Po, were Pla-cen'ti-a, now Piacenza; Mu'ti-na, now Modena, noted for the siege of Brutus by Antony; Bo-no'ni-a, now Bologna; Par'ma; also Ra-ven'na, noted for having been the seat of the emperors of the Western Empire, and for its ancient port and arsenal, though it is now three miles from the sea.

13. In Li-gu'ri-a, were Gen'u-a, now Genoa; Mo-næ'cus, now Monaco; and Nice.

ITALY PROPER.

14. Italy Proper comprised E-tru'ri-a, Um'bri-a, Pi-ce'num, La'ti-um, Sam'ni-um, Cam-pa'ni-a, A-pu'li-a, Lu-ca'ni-a, Ca-la'bri-a, and the Brut'ti-i.

15. Some of the largest rivers were the Ti'ber, famous for passing by the city of Rome; the Ar'nus, now Arno; the Vul-tur'nus, now Volturno; and the Au'fi-dus, now Ofanto.—Lake Thras-y-me'nus or Tras-i-me'nus, now Perugia, is noted for a victory of Hannibal.

16. Some of the principal towns of Etruria, were Pi'sæ, now Pisa, once noted for commerce; Flo-ren'ti-a, now Florence; Lu'ca, now Lucca; Clu'si-um, famous for its siege by the Gauls, under Brennus; Ve'i-i, for having been a rival of Rome, and for its capture by Camillus.

17. In Um'bri-a, were A-rim'i-num, now Rimini; Spo-le'ti-um, now Spoleto; In-ter-am'na, noted as the birthplace of the historian Tacitus.

18. In Pi-ce'num, were An-co'na; As'cu-lum, now Ascoli, noted for the defeat of Pyrrhus by Fabricius; Sul'mo, now Sulmona, as the birthplace of the poet Ovid; on the south border was Ti'bur, now Tivoli, famous for its villas.

19. In Latium, was the great city of Rome, situated on the Tiber, and built on seven hills. It was the capital of the Roman Empire, to which it gave name, and was for a long time the largest and most powerful city in the world, and renowned in arts and arms. It now contains many monuments of its ancient greatness, the most remarkable of which is the Col-i-se'um.

20. The seven hills on which Rome was built, were the Pal-a-ti'nus, Cap-i-to-li'nus, Quir-i-na'lis, Vim-i-na'lis, Es-qui-li'nus, Cæ-li-us, and Av-en-ti'nus.

21. On Capitolinus, the Capitol was built; and here also was the Tar-pe'i-an Rock, down which the Romans threw their condemned criminals.

22. Some other towns of Latium, were Os'ti-a, noted as the port of Rome; Al'ba Lon'ga, for having been once a rival of Rome; Ar'de-a, as the capital of the Ru'tu-li; An'ti-um and Præ-nes'te, for temples of Fortune; the former also as the capital of the Volsci; Tus'cu-lum, for a villa of Cicero; Ar-pi'num, as the birthplace of Marius and Cicero.

23. Cap'u-a, the capital of Campania, was noted as a luxurious city; Ne-ap'o-lis, now Naples, first called Par-then'o-pe, from the name of one of the Sirens who is fabled to have lived there, was the favorite residence of Virgil.

24. Some of the other towns of Campania and Samnium, were Cu'mæ, noted as the residence of the Cumæan Sibyl; Pu-te'o-li and Ba'i-æ, for baths and mineral waters; Ben-e-ven'tum, now Benevento, for the defeat of Pyrrhus, and for remains of ancient sculpture; Alli-fa, for pottery; Fa-ler'num, for wine; Ve-na'frum, for olives; Cau'di-um, for the ignominious defeat of the Romans by the Samnites; No'la, for the defeat of Hannibal, and the invention of bells; Her-cu-la'ne-um and Pom-pe'i-i, for their destruction by an eruption of Vesuvius.

25. In Apulia, were Can'næ, celebrated for the greatest victory of Hannibal over the Romans; Ve-nu'si-a, as the birthplace of the poet Horace; Lu-ce'ri-a, for wool.

26. In Ca-la'bri-a, were Brun-du'si-um, now Brin'di-si, noted for its harbor, as the place of embarkation to Greece, and for the death of Virgil; Ta-ren'tum, now Tarento, for commerce; Ma-ti'num, for bees.

27. In Lu-ca'ni-a, were Pæs'tum, once noted for roses, now for ruins; Met-a-pon'tum, for a school of Pythagoras; Syb'a-ris, for the effeminacy of its inhabitants.

28. In the Bruttii, were Cro-to'na, noted for a school of Pythagoras; Me-tau'rus, a town and small river, for the defeat of the Carthaginian general As'dru-bal.

29. The four principal Roman Roads were the Via Ap'pi-a, from Rome to Brundisium; the Via Fla-min'i-a, from Rome to Ariminum; the Via Au-re'li-a, by the coast of Etruria, to Liguria and Gaul, near Nice; and the Via Clau'di-a, which branched off from the Via Flaminia, near Rome, and proceeding through the more inland part of Etruria, joined the Via Aurelia at Luca.

ITALIAN ISLANDS.

30. SICILY, the largest and most important island in the Mediterranean, was, on account of its fertility, esteemed one of the granaries of the Roman Empire.

31. It was anciently called Si-ca'ni-a, from the Si-ca'ni, who at one period possessed it; and Tri-na'cri-a, from its having three promontories at its three angles, Pe-lo'rum, in the north, Pa-chy'num, in the south, and E'ryx, or Lil-y-bæ'um, in the west.

32. Each of the promontories had a celebrated temple; at Pelorum was that of Neptune; at Pachynum, that of Apollo; and near Lilybæum, on Mount Eryx, that of Venus.

33. Near the east end of Sicily is the famous volcano of Mount Ætna, which has been celebrated from the earliest ages, and which was represented by the ancient poets as the forge of Vulcan, the god of fire, who here employed his workmen, the Cyclops, in fabricating thunderbolts for Jupiter.

34. The poets also fabled that the giant Typhœ'us, or Typhon, was buried under Sicily, Pelorum and Pachynum being placed on each arm, Lilybæum on his feet, and Ætna on his head; and that

35. Mount Hy'bla, north of Syracuse, was famous for honey; the plain of En'na, in the interior, for the carrying away of Pros'er-pine, by Pluto, to the shades below.

36. The whirlpool of Cha-ryb'dis, on the coast of Sicily, in the Sicilian strait, and the promontory or high rock of Scyll'a, opposite to it, on the shore of Italy, were proverbial among the ancients as objects of terror; but they are now little dreaded.

37. Syr'a-cuse, the ancient metropolis of Sicily, was a great, commercial, and powerful city, memorable for the defeat of the Athenians, for its siege by the Romans, and for the exploits of Ar-chi-me'-des in its defence.

38. Some of the other towns were Ag-ri-gen'tum, now Girgenti, noted for a temple of Jupiter; Lil-y-bæ'um, now Marsala, for its siege by the Romans in the first Punic war; Cat'a-na, now Catania, for a temple of Ceres; Drep'a-num, now Trapani, for the death of An-chi'ses; Pa-nor'mus, now Palermo; Mes-sa'na, now Messina; Le-on-ti'ni, now Lentini.

39. SARDINIA was called by the Greeks Ich-nu'sa, from the fancied resemblance of its form to the print of a foot.

40. It was noted for its unwholesome air and bitter herbs; and from its inhabitants the forced or grinning laugh called the Sardonic, took its name. The principal town was Car'a-lis, now Cagliari.

41. Corsica, called by the Greeks Cyr'nos, was noted for its yew trees and bitter honey.

42. Mel'i-te, or Mel'i-ta, now Malta, was noted for the shipwreck of St. Paul on his voyage to Rome.

43. The Æ-o'li-an Islands, now Lipari Islands, were named from Æ'o-lus, the fabled god of the winds, who was said to reside here. They were also called the Vulcanian Islands, from Vulcan, the god of fire, on account of their volcanoes.

44. Between Corsica and Etruria was the island of Il'va, now Elba; near Naples was Ca'pre-æ, now Capri, noted for the cruelties and debaucheries of Tiberius.

GREECE.

The Parthenon.

1. GREECE, the most renowned country in the world, with regard to literature and the arts, was very inconsiderable in extent; and, exclusive of Macedonia and Epirus, it little exceeded, in size, the half of the state of New York.

2. Its general aspect is rugged and mountainous; but it abounds in beautiful scenery. Its rivers, though much celebrated by the poets, are only small streams.

3. It is bounded on all sides by the sea, except the north; its coasts are indented by numerous bays or gulfs; and no country of antiquity was more favorably situated for holding commerce with other ancient nations.

4. It comprised many small independent states, which had different kinds of government; though, for a considerable time, republican forms were prevalent.

5. Greece comprehended Thes'sa-ly, Greece Proper, and Pel-o-pon-ne'sus, together with numerous islands: in the most extensive sense, it included also Mac-e-do'ni-a and E-pi'rus; and the Greeks established colonies in Thrace, Asia Minor, Italy, and Sicily.

6. The Romans, after having conquered Greece, divided the country into two provinces; Acha'ia, which comprised Greece Proper and Peloponnesus, and of which the capital was Cor'inth; and Macedonia, which included Thessaly, Epirus, and Macedonia, and of which the capital was Thessaloni'ca.

7. Greece was called by the natives Hellas, and the inhabitants Hel-le'nes; but by the poets they were often called Dan'a-i, Pe-las'gi, Ar-gi'vi, A-chi'vi, A-chæ'i, &c.

8. With regard to genius, literature, the arts, love of liberty, and heroism, the Greeks were unrivalled among the nations of antiquity. Their language is esteemed the most perfect that was ever spoken, and their writings the finest models of taste.

MACEDONIA.

1. The kingdom of Macedo'nia, or Mac'edon, was but little known in history before the time of Philip and Alexander; it had not, till then, formed one of the confederate states of Greece; and its inhabitants were regarded by the Greeks as barbarians.

2. Athos, a remarkable mountain, on the southeast of Macedonia, extending into the sea like a promontory, is now noted for its monasteries.

3. Some of the principal rivers were the Dril'lo, now Drino, Stry'mon, Ax'i-us, As-træ'us, Ha-li-ac'mon, and A-o'us.

4. E-des'sa, now Vodina, was once the capital and the residence of the kings; afterwards Pel'la, now Jenitza, which was noted as the birthplace of Philip and Alexander.

5. Thes-sa-lo-ni'ca, now Salonica, both in ancient and modern times a large commercial city, became the capital of Macedonia, after it was reduced to a Roman province; and to the Christian converts here St. Paul addressed two epistles.

6. Phi-lip'pi was famous for the defeat of Brutus and Cassius; and it is also well known in the travels and epistles of St. Paul; and Be-ræ'a, now Veria, for the commendation bestowed on the inhabitants for their diligence in searching the Scriptures.

7. O-lyn'thus, Pot-i-dæ'a, Me-tho'ne, and Am-phip'lo-lis, were noted for contests between Philip and the Athenians; Pyd'na, for the final defeat of the Macedonians; Sta-gi'ra, as the birthplace of Aristotle, who is thence called the Stag'irite; Dyr-rach'i-um, now Durazzo, as a port much frequented by the Romans, being nearly opposite to Brundusium, in Italy, and for an engagement between the armies of Cæsar and Pompey.

EPIRUS.

1. Epirus, which now forms a part of Albania, was separated from Thessaly and Macedonia by the celebrated mountainous range of Pindus, which was sacred to the Muses.

2. The principal divisions were Cha-o'ni-a, Thes-pro'ti-a, and Molos'sis: the last was famous for a race of dogs employed in hunting.

3. A-car-na'ni-a, which was separated from this country by the Ambracian gulf, is sometimes considered as belonging to Epirus, and sometimes to Greece Proper.

4. The rivers were the Ach-e-lo'us, A-rach'tus, Ach'e-ron, and Co-cy'tus. The last two were classed by the poets among the infernal rivers.

5. Some of the towns were Am-bra'ci-a, now Arta, noted as the royal city of Pyrrhus, the famous king of Epirus; Do-do'na, for its oracle and grove of oaks; Buth-ro'tum, now Butrinto.

THESSALY.

1. Thessaly consisted mostly of an extensive and fertile valley, surrounded by lofty mountains; by O-lym'pus on the north, by Pin'dus on the west, and by Æ'ta, Oth'rys, Os'sa, and Pe'li-on on the south and east.

2. The mountains of Thessaly were celebrated in ancient fable. Olympus was represented by the poets as reaching to the heavens, and as having on its summit the court of Jupiter. The Giants were said to have heaped Ossa upon Pelion, in order to scale the heavens.

3. The principal river of Thessaly was the Pe'ne-us, now Peneo; and near its mouth was the vale of Tem'pe, which was greatly celebrated among the ancients for its picturesque and beautiful scenery.

4. Thessaly was the country of the fabulous monsters called Centauræ, half men and half horses, whose battle with the Lap'v-thæ is celebrated by the ancient poets.

5. Ther-mop'y-læ, a narrow defile or pass between Mount Ceta and the sea, leading from Thessaly to Locris and Phocis, is famous for a stand made against the Persian army by the Spartans under Le-on'i-das; and also for being one of the places where the Amphictyons met; Delphi was the other.

6. Some of the towns of Thessaly were La-ris'sa, the royal city of Achilles, and now a considerable town; Mag-ne'si-a, capital of a district of the same name; Phthi'a, the town of the Myr'midons; I-ol'chos, the city of Jason, who commanded the Argonauts; Aph'e-tæ, the port from which the Argonauts sailed; Phar-sa'li-a, famous for the great victory of Cæsar over Pompey; Cy-no-ceph'a-le, for the defeat of the Macedonians by the Romans; Hyp'a-ta, for magic; Mel-i-bæ'a, for dyeing wool.

GREECE PROPER.

1. Greece Proper, in modern times, Livadia, situated between the Saronic gulf and the gulf of Cor'inth, on the south, and Thessaly and Epirus on the north, comprised the following small countries, namely, At'ti-ca, Bæ-o'ti-a, Meg'a-ris, Pho'cis, Do'ris, Lo'cris, Æ-to-li-a, and A-car-na'ni-a.

2. The most celebrated of these countries was Attica, noted for containing the city of Athens, and for the genius of its inhabitants; hence the proverbial phrases, Attic wit and Attic salt.

3. Bæotia was more fertile than Attica, but the air thick and foggy, and the inhabitants were represented as phlegmatic and dull.

4. Par-nas'sus, a celebrated mountain in Phocis, was sacred to Apollo and the Muses. Between its two summits was the Castalian spring, the waters of which were represented to have the power of inspiring those who drank them with the true fire or spirit of poetry.

5. In Bæotia, were Mount Ci-thæ'ron, famous for being the place where the infant Æd'i-pus was exposed, and where Actæ'on was torn in pieces by his own dogs; and Mount Hel'i-con, sacred to Apollo and the Muses, near the foot of which was the verse-inspiring fountain of Hip-po-cré'ne, said to have been made by the hoof of the winged horse Peg'asus.

6. In Attica, near Athens, were the small mountains of Hy-met'tus, noted for honey, and Pen-tel'i-cus, for marble.

8. Ath'ens, the capital of Attica, was the most renowned city of Greece, and for a long time the most celebrated seat of learning and the arts in the world; and it gave birth to many of the most eminent men of antiquity.

9. It now contains far more interesting remains of ancient refinement and splendor than any other place in Greece. A considerable portion of the Acropolis, or citadel, is still existing, which includes the Par'the-non, or Temple of Minerva, the grandest display of Athenian magnificence.

10. Mar'a-thon, in Attica, was famous for the memorable defeat of the Persians by the Athenians; E-leu'sis, near the borders of Megaris, for the celebration of the Eleusinian mysteries.

11. In Bæotia, were Thebes, the capital, noted as the birthplace of E-pam-i-non'das and Pindar'; Pla-tæ'a, Cor-o-ne'a, Leuc'tra, and Chær-o-ne'a, for battles of the Greeks; Or-chom'e-nus, for a temple of the Græcs; Leb-a-de'a, for the cave of Trophonius; As'cra, as the birthplace of the poet Hesiod; Au'lis, for the detention of the Grecian fleet in the expedition against Troy.

12. In Pho'cis, were Del'phi, the capital, famous for its oracle, and for the temple of Apollo, near which the Pythian games were celebrated; An-tiç'y-ra, noted (like another town of the same name in Thessaly) for hellebore, the great remedy for madness among the ancients.

13. In Ætolia, were Ther'mus, the capital; Nau-pac'tus, now Lepanto, noted as a naval station; Cal'y-don, as the residence of Mel-e-a'ger, and the scene of a famous boar hunt.

14. In Acar-nania, was Ac'ti-um, on the Ambracian gulf, famous for the memorable naval victory which Augustus obtained over Antony and Cleopatra, and which put an end to the Roman commonwealth.

PELOPONNESUS.

1. Peloponnesus, now Morea, is a celebrated mountainous peninsula, connected with the continent by the narrow isthmus of Corinth, and its ancient name signifies the Island of Pelops.

2. Its modern name, More'a, is said to have been derived from the mulberry tree (Greek μωρεα, Latin morus), with which it abounds, or from the resemblance of its shape to the mulberry leaf.

3. It comprised the following small countries, namely, A-cha'i-a, El'lis, Mes-se'ni-a, La-co'ni-a, Ar'go-lis, and Ar-ca'di-a.

4. Laconia was the most powerful state of Peloponnesus, and its inhabitants were celebrated for their military character, and for their habit of expressing their ideas in few words; hence the proverbial phrases, Laconic style and Laconic answer.

5. Arcadia, an elevated and mountainous district, which occupied the central part, was the celebrated pastoral country of the poets.

6. The principal mountains were Ta-yg'e-tus, in Laconia (7,910 feet high), noted for the celebration of the orgies of Bacchus; Cyl-le'ne, as the birthplace of Mercury; Mæn'a-lus, and Ly-cæ'us, in Arcadia, sacred to Pan; the largest rivers, the Eu-ro'tas and Al-phe'us.

7. Cor'inth, the capital of Achaia, on the isthmus of Corinth, was famous for commerce, wealth, and the arts, and for the celebration of the Isthmian games in its vicinity, in honor of Neptune.

8. It had two ports, Le-chæ'um and Cen'chre-a: and to the Christian converts at Corinth St. Paul addressed two epistles.

9. In Elis, were Elis, the capital, also O-lym'pi-a, famous for the statue of Jupiter, one of the seven wonders of the world, and for being the place where the Olympic games were celebrated, after the expiration of every four years, in honor of Jupiter.

10. There were four public and solemn games in Greece, namely, the O-lym'pic, Pyth'i-an, Ne'me-an, and Isth'mi-an; which consisted chiefly of athletic exercises, as leaping, boxing, wrestling, and running.

11. Of these games, the Olympic were the most famous, and from them the Greeks computed their time, the space intervening between one celebration and another being called an Olympiad.

12. In Messenia, were Mes-se'ne, the capital; Py'los, now Nav-a-rí'no, the city of Nestor; and Me-tho'ne.

13. In Laconia, were Spar'ta or Lac-e-dæ'mon, a powerful city, famous for the institutions of Lycurgus, and for the hardy and warlike character of its inhabitants; also A-myc'læ, noted as the birthplace of Castor and Pollux.

14. In Argolis, were Argos, now Argo, the capital, noted for the death of Pyrrhus; My-cē'næ, as the city of Agamemnon, who commanded the Greeks in the Trojan war; Nē-me-a, or Nē-mæ'a, for the Nemean games, in honor of Hercules; Ep-i-dau'rus, now Pidaura, for the worship of Æsculapius; Nau'pli-a, now Napoli, as a naval station; Ler'na, for the destruction of the Lernean hydra by Hercules.

15. In Arcadia, were Man-ti-ne'a, noted for a great defeat of the Spartans by Epaminondas, who was here slain; Meg-a-lop'o-lis as the birthplace of Polybius; Stym-pha'lus, a fountain and lake, as the fabled residence of the Harpies.

GREEK ISLANDS.

1. An important division of Greece consisted of islands, mostly situated in the Ægæ'an sea and on its borders; the two largest being Crete and Eubæa.

2. The islands lying in the Ægæ'an sea, north of Crete, were chiefly comprehended under two classes, namely, the Cyc'la-des and Spor'a-des.

3. The cluster of islands lying in a circular form around Delos, were called Cyclades, from the Greek word cyclos, a circle; the term Sporades was applied to the islands lying more remote towards the eastern shore, annexed to Asia.

4. In the Ionian sea, on the west coast of Greece, were the islands of Cor-cy'ra, Pax'us, Leu-ca'di-a, Ith'a-ca, Ceph-a-le'ni-a, and Za-cyn'thus; and on the south of Peloponnesus, Cy-the'ra. These seven islands now form the Ionian Republic.

5. Corcy'ra, now Corfu, is noted for the shipwreck of Ulysses and the gardens of Al-cin'o-us; Ithaca, now Theaki, as the residence of Ulysses; Leucadia or Leucas, now St. Maura, for the promontory of Leu-ca'te, and the rock called the Lover's Leap, where the poetess Sappho and other disappointed lovers threw themselves into the sea; Cy-the'ra, now Cerigo, as an island sacred to Venus.

6. Crete, now Candia, was renowned among the ancients as the birthplace of Jupiter, who was said to have been nursed on the famous Mount Ida, situated in the central part of the island.

7. This island was also noted for the laws of Minos, king of Crete; for its Labyrinth, in which the Minotaur was imprisoned; for its hundred cities; and for the skill of its inhabitants in archery.

8. Eubœa, now Negropont, is noted as next to Crete in size; Sal'a-mis, for the defeat of the Persian fleet by the Athenians, and as the birthplace of Ajax, Teucer, and Solon.

9. Some of the principal of the Cyclades were An'dros, Te'nos, Ce'os, Cyth'nus, Se-ri'phus, Siph'nus, Me'los, I'os, A-mor'gos, Nax'os, Pa'ros, An-tip'a-ros or O-le'a-ros, Scy'ros, Myc'o-nus, and De los.

10. Delos was famous as the birthplace of Apollo and Diana, and for a celebrated altar and oracle of Apollo; Naxos, for the worship of Bacchus; Paros, for marble; Antiparos, for a grotto.

11. Of the islands on the coast of Asia, may be mentioned Les-bos, now Metelin, noted for wine and for the luxury of its inhabitants, and as the birthplace of Sappho and Pit'tacus; Lem'nos, for its Labyrinth, and as the residence of Vulcan; Ten'e-dos, as the place where the Grecian fleet was concealed in the expedition against Troy; Chi'os, now Scio, for wine; Sa'mos, for the worship of Juno, and as the birthplace of Pythag'oras; Cos, as the birthplace of Hippoc'rates and Apel'les; Pat'mos, as the place to which St. John was banished.

12. Rhodes is noted for its celebrity in history, and for its brazen Colossus, dedicated to the sun, and accounted one of the seven wonders of the world.

13. The seven wonders of the ancient world were the Pyramids of Egypt, the Statue of Jupiter at Olympia, the Colossus at Rhodes, the Mausole'um at Halicarnassus, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Walls of Babylon, and the Royal Palace of Cyrus; or, according to some, the Tower or Pharos at Alexandria.

14. In the eastern part of the Mediterranean, off the coast of Cili-cia, is the large and fertile island of Cyprus, once sacred to Venus.

15. Some of the towns of Cyprus were Sal'a-mis, founded by Teucer; Pa'phos, noted for the worship of Venus; Ci'ti-um, as the birthplace of the stoic philosopher Zeno.

ASIA.

ASIA MINOR.

1. Asia Minor, now Natolia, a country lying between the Mediterranean and Euxine seas, and having the Ægæan sea on the west, and the Hellespont and Propontis on the northwest, comprised, in ancient times, many different states or provinces.

2. The western parts were occupied by Grecian colonies; the language of Greece was extensively spoken in Asia Minor; and many of the Greek philosophers, poets, and men of genius, were natives of this country.

3. The principal divisions of Asia Minor were Pon'tus, Paph-lago'ni-a, and Bi-thyn'i-a, on the Euxine sea; Tro'as, Mÿ'si-a, I-o'ni-a, Lyd'i-a, and Ca'ri-a, in the west; Lÿ'ci-a, Pam-phyll'i-a, Pi-sid'i-a, and Ci-li'ci-a, on the Mediterranean; Phryg'i-a, Lyc-a-o'ni-a, Ga-la'ti-a, and Cap-pa-do'ci-a, in the interior.

4. The countries of Mysia, Ionia, Lydia, Caria, and Phrygia, were, at one period, united into one province, by the name of Asia, of which Ephesus was the capital.

5. The principal range of mountains is that of Tau'rus, in the eastern part; O-lym'pus and Tmo'lus are considerable mountains towards the west. Sip'y-lus, near Magnesia, was noted as the residence of Ni'o-be; Cor'y-cus, on the coast of Cilicia, for saffron, and the cave of Typhon; Ida, near Troy, as being the place where Paris adjudged to Venus the prize of beauty.

6. The three largest rivers were the Ha'lys, now Kizil-Ermak; the San-ga'ri-us, now Sakaria; and Mæ-an'der, now Meinder, famous for its windings.

7. The Ther-mo'don was noted for the residence of the warlike women, called the Amazons; the Eu-rym'e-don, for the defeat of the Persians by Cimon; the Gra-ni'cus, for the first victory of Alexander over the Persians; the Her'mus and Pac-to'lus, for flowing

8. In Troas, between Mount Ida and the sea, was Troy or Il'i-um, famous for a siege of ten years, which it sustained against the Greeks, and which has been immortalized by the genius of Homer.

9. In Mysia, were Per'ga-mus, on the Ca-i'cus, once the capital of a kingdom, noted as the royal city of Eu'me-nes, as the birthplace of Galen, and for its great library; Lamp'sa-cus, for the worship of Pri-a'pus; Si-gæ'um, for the tomb of A-chil'les; A-by'dos, opposite to Sestos; As'sos and Ad-ra-my'ti-um, known in the travels of St. Paul.

10. Eph'e-sus, in Ionia, was anciently a large and splendid city, the capital of the proconsular province of Asia, memorable in the travels and epistles of St. Paul, noted as the seat of one of the Seven Churches mentioned by St. John, and for the temple of Diana, one of the seven wonders of the world.

11. Smyr'na, anciently a rich commercial city, and now the largest in Natolia, was noted as one of the seven cities that claimed the honor of giving birth to Homer. The whole seven are enumerated in the following line:

Smyrna, Chios, Colophon, Salamis, Rhodus, Argos, Athenæ.

12. Mi-le'tus, once the capital of Ionia, a large city, was noted for its great commerce, for a temple and oracle of Apollo, as the birthplace of Thales, one of the seven wise men of Greece, and of Anaximander, and for the affecting leave which St. Paul here took of the Ephesian Christians.

13. Some other towns in Ionia were Myc'a-le, noted for a victory of the Greeks over the Persians; Er'y-thræ, as the residence of one of the Sibyls; Pri-e'ne, as the birthplace of Bias, one of the seven wise men of Greece; Te'os, as the birthplace of the poet Anacreon; Cal-zom'e-ne, as the birthplace of A-nax-ag'o-ras; Col'o-phon, as one of the towns which contended for the birth of Homer, and for the Colophonian cavalry.

14. In Lyd'i-a, were Sar'dis, the capital, noted as the residence of the proverbially rich king Cræsus; Phil-a-del'phi-a, and Thy-a-ti'ra, together with Sardis, as seats of three of the seven churches; Magne'si-a, for the defeat of An-ti'o-chus the Great by Scipio.

15. The capital of Caria was Hal-i-car-nas sus, famous for its Mausole'um, the tomb of king Mauso'lus, accounted one of the seven wonders of the world, also as the birthplace of He-rod'o-tus, the father of history, Dionysius Halicarnassen'sis, the historian and critic, and Her-a-clit'us, the weeping philosopher. Cni'dus was noted for a statue of Venus, and for a battle between the Athenians and Spartans.

16. In Lycia, was Pal'a-ra, noted for an oracle of Apollo.

17. In Pamphylia and Pisidia, were At-ta-li'a, Per'ga, and An'ti-och, mentioned in the travels of St. Paul.

18. In Cilicia, were Tar'sus, the capital, on the Cydnus, once a large city, noted for the arts and sciences, and as the birthplace of St. Paul; Is'sus, for a great victory of Alexander over Darius; Anchi'a-le, for the tomb of the effeminate king Sardanapa'lus.

19. In Phrygia, were La-od-i-ce'a, the seat of one of the seven churches of Asia; Co-los'sæ, to whose inhabitants St. Paul addressed an epistle; Hi-e-rap'o-lis, noted for hot-baths; Ip'sus, for a famous battle between the surviving generals of Alexander, in which Antig'onus was defeated and slain.

20. The eastern part of Phrygia was called Lyc-a-o'ni-a, in which were I-co'ni-um, Der'be, and Lys'tra, mentioned in the travels of St. Paul.

21. In Galatia, were An-cy'ra, now Angora, and Gor'di-um, where Alexander cut the Gordian knot.—To the Galatians, the inhabitants of this country, St. Paul addressed an epistle.

22. In Bithynia, were Ni-co-me'di-a, the capital, now Ismid; Nice, now Isnik, also once the capital, noted for the first general council, which framed the Nicene Creed; Prusa, now Bursa; Chal-ce'don, famous for a council against the Eutych'ians; Li-bys'sa, for the tomb of Hannibal; Her-a-cl'e'a, for its naval importance.

23. In Paphlagonia, was Si-no'pe, which was the capital of the kingdom of Pontus in the time of Mith-ri-da'tes, and was the birthplace of Di-og'e-nes, the Cynic philosopher.

24. In Pontus, were A-ma'si-a, noted as the birthplace of Mithridates the Great, and Strabo the geographer; Tra-pe'zus, now Trebisond, as a place of renown under the emperors of the Eastern empire; Cer'a-sus, now Keresoun, for giving name to cherries, which were first brought from this place to Rome; The-mis'cy-ra, as a town of the Amazons; Z'e'la or Z'e'li-a, as the place where Cæsar defeated Pharnaces with such rapidity, that he wrote the account of his victory to the senate in these three words, "Veni, vidi, vici," I came, I saw, I conquered.

25. In Cappadocia, were Maz'a-ca, the capital; Co-ma'na, noted for a temple of Bello'na; Ty'a-na, as the birthplace of the impostor Apollonius; Naz-i-an'zus, as the birthplace of Gregory Nazianzen.

COLCHIS, ARMENIA, MESOPOTAMIA, SYRIA,
ARABIA.

Ruins of Palmyra.

1. COLCHIS, situated east of the Euxine sea, was famous as the scene of the Argonautic expedition, in search of the golden fleece, which was fabled to be guarded by bulls that breathed fire, and by a dragon that never slept.

2. One of the principal rivers was the Pha'ois, now Rione, from which the Argonauts are said to have brought away some large birds, hence called pheasants.

3. The chief towns of Colchis were Æ'a, the capital, and Cy'ta, noted for poisonous herbs, and for the birth of the sorceress Me-de'a.

4. ARMENIA is a mountainous country, and contains the famous mountain Ar'a-rat, on which the ark has been commonly supposed to have rested after the flood.

5. The Eu-phra'tes and Ti'gris, two of the largest and most celebrated rivers that were known to the ancients, have their sources in Armenia. In the eastern part was lake Ar-sis'sa, now Van.

6. The principal towns were Ar-tax'a-ta, the capital: A-mi'da, now Diarbekir; Tig-ran-o-cer'ta, noted for its capture by Lucullus, who here found great treasure.

COLCHIS, ARMENIA, &c.—1. What is said of Colchis? 2. What river? 3. Towns? 4. What is said of Armenia? 5. What rivers? 6. Towns?

7. MESOPOTAMIA received its name from its situation between the two rivers, the Euphrates and Tigris.

8. Some of the towns were E-des'sa, now Ourfa, supposed by many to have been Ur of the Chaldees; Car'ræ, (called Haran and Charran in the Bible), now Heren, noted as the place from which Abraham departed for Canaan, also for Sabianism, or the worship of heavenly bodies, and for the defeat and death of Crassus; Nis'i-bis and Cir-ce'si-um, once important frontier towns of the Roman empire.

9. SYRIA comprehended all the country lying between the Mediterranean and Mesopotamia and Arabia, including Phœnicia and Palestine.—For a description of the latter, see page 247.

10. The principal mountains are those of Leb'a-non, or Lib'a-nus, and An-ti-lib'a-nus; the largest rivers, the Eu-phra'tes and O-ron'tes.

11. Da-mas'cus, once the capital of the kingdom of Syria, and one of the most ancient cities in the world, is celebrated in both sacred and profane history; and it is noted for giving name to the damascene or damson plum, the damask rose, and damask silks and linens.

12. An'ti-och, near the mouth of the Orontes, was once a very large and splendid city, the residence of the Macedonian kings of Syria; and is noted for being the place where the followers of Christ were first called Christians.

13. Pal-my'ra, supposed to be the same city as Tadmor in the wilderness, is famous for having been the residence of queen Zenobia, who had for her secretary Longinus, and who was taken captive by the Roman emperor Aurelian. Here, and also at the site of He-li-op'o-lis, now Balbec, are now found most magnificent ruins of temples of the sun and other edifices.

14. Sa-mos'a-ta was noted as the birthplace of Lucian; Hi-e-rap'o-lis, now Bombouch, for the worship of the Syrian goddess A-tar'-ga-tis; E-me'sa, now Hems, for a temple of Heliogab'alus or the sun; Ap-a-me'a, now Famieh, and Ep-i-pha'ni-a, now Hamah, as important cities; Daph'ne, a grove near Antioch, for the worship of Venus.

15. The chief cities of Phœnicia, were Tyre, now Sur, and Si'don, now Saida, both famous in history, and noted for their antiquity and for commerce.—The Phœnicians were the reputed inventors of glass, purple, and coinage; and the invention of letters has also been attributed to them as well as to the Egyptians.

16. ARABIA is commonly considered as divided into three parts, namely, Arabia Petræa, or Stony, Arabia Deserta, or Desert, and Arabia Felix, or Happy.

17. Arabia Petræa, comprising the northwest portion of the country, and bordering on the northern parts of the Red sea, is noted for being the region in which the Israelites passed 40 years, in their journeyings from Egypt to Canaan.

18. Mounts Sinai and Horeb, between the northern branches of the Red sea, are famous as scenes of miracles recorded in the Bible. On Sinai, Moses received the Ten Commandments.

19. Ezion-Geber was noted as the port from which Solomon's vessels sailed for Ophir; Midian, as the residence of Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses.

ASSYRIA, CHALDEA, PERSIA, MEDIA.

1. As-syr'i-a, Chal-de'a or Bab-y-lo'ni-a, Per'si-a, Me'di-a, and Par'thi-a were some of the most celebrated and powerful oriental empires of antiquity; but their extent and boundaries were very different at different times.

2. Nineveh, the capital of the empire of Assyria, situated on the Tigris, opposite to the site of the modern city of Mosul, was one of the largest and most splendid cities in the world, surrounded by magnificent walls, and famous both in sacred and profane history.

3. Babylon, the capital of Babylonia or Chaldea, and also, at certain periods, of the Assyrian empire, stood on both sides of the Euphrates, was one of the most renowned cities of antiquity, and famous for its walls, which were reckoned one of the seven wonders of the world. The ruins of this city are now seen in the neighborhood of Helleh.

4. Ecbatana, supposed to have been on the site of the modern city of Hamadan, was the capital of Media, and a splendid city.

5. Persepolis, once the capital of Persia, was noted for its splendor, and its destruction by Alexander; and its ruins are now

ÆGYPT.

1. Ægypt was divided into Lower Ægypt and Upper Ægypt; and between these two divisions, there was a small district called Hep-ta-no'mis.

2. Lower Ægypt, which includes the country intersected by the mouths of the Nile, is called the Delta; Upper Ægypt was also called the Theb'a-is, or Theb'a-id, from the great city of Thebes.

3. Ægypt, which is celebrated for its great antiquity, has been styled the cradle of learning; it could boast of attainments in the arts at a period when Greece and Italy were in a state of barbarism; and it now exhibits many monuments of ancient magnificence and refinement.

4. The celebrated Nile, the only river in Ægypt, formerly flowed into the sea by seven mouths; but only two of them are now of much importance.

5. Mem'phis, once the capital of Ægypt, situated near the site of the modern capital, Cairo, was long since entirely destroyed.

6. Al-ex-an'dri-a, founded by Alexander the Great, was the capital of Ægypt, under the Ptolemies, and noted for having once been the most commercial city in the world, and a great seat of learning; and also for its Pharos, or watch-tower, sometimes reckoned one of the seven wonders of the world.

7. Some of the other towns of Lower Ægypt were Sa'is, noted for having been the capital; He-ro-op'o-lis, as the residence of the ancient shepherd kings; On, or He-li-op'o-lis, for a temple of the sun; Ca-no'pus, now Aboukir, for a temple of Se-ra'pis; Pe-lu'si-um, now Tineh, as the bulwark and key of the country.

8. Thebes, the capital of Upper Ægypt, or the Thebaid, was a magnificent city, famous for its hundred gates. It was destroyed before the period of the commencement of authentic profane history; yet its site is still covered with most magnificent ruins of temples and other edifices.

9. Ar-sin'o-e, or Croc-o-di-lop'o-lis, near lake Mæ'ris, was famous for the labyrinth, which contained 3,000 chambers, in which the kings and sacred crocodiles were buried.

10. Some of the other towns in Upper Ægypt were A-by'dos, famous for the temple of O-si'ris and palace of Memnon; Cop'tos, as an emporium of Arabian and Indian commodities; Ten'ty-ra, now Dendera, for temples of Isis and Venus; Sy-e'ne, for a well, the bottom of which, at the time of the summer solstice, was illuminated, the sun being exactly perpendicular over it.

11. Some of the most remarkable antiquities now found in Ægypt, are the Pyramids, the Obelisks, the Sphinx, the Catacombs, or Mummy-pits, and numerous ruins of Temples and other splendid edifices.

12. The Pyramids are the most remarkable monuments of ancient art that now remain; but history furnishes no authentic information respecting the time or the object of their erection.

13. The Sphinx, which is situated near one of the Pyramids, is a statue of a huge monster, cut in solid rock, having the face of a virgin and the body of a lion.

14. The Land of Goshen, the country occupied by the Israelites, in Ægypt, is supposed to have been in the northeastern part.

LIBYA, AFRICA PROPER, NUMIDIA, AND MAURETANIA.

1. LIBYA was divided into Mar-mar'i-ca and Cy-re-na'i-ca; which latter was also called Pen-tap'o-lis, from the five principal cities which it contained.

2. Cy-re'ne, now Curen, once a large city, was settled by Greeks, and was noted as the birthplace of Callim'achus, Eratos'thenes, Car-ne'ades, and Aristip'pus; Ber-e-ni'ce or Hes'pe-ris, according to some, for the fabled garden of the Hesper'ides, containing the golden apples; though others place this garden on the west of Africa.

3. In a beautiful oasis, in the Libyan desert, was Ammon, now Siwah, noted for the temple of Jupiter Ammon, with a famous oracle that was consulted by Alexander.

4. In Africa Proper, was the celebrated city of Carthage, once the rival of Rome, famous for wealth and commerce, and for its siege and destruction by the Romans.

5. U'ti-ca was noted for the death of Cato; Vac'ca, for transactions in the Jugurthine war; Thap'sus, for a victory gained by Cæsar; Za'ma, for the defeat of Hannibal by Scipio Africanus; Cap'sa, now Gafsa, as the place where Jugurtha deposited his treasures; Su-fet-u-la, now Spaitla, for its extensive ruins.

6. The Bag'ra-da, now Mejerdah, the principal river of this country, was noted as the place where the Roman army, under Reg'ulus, killed an enormous serpent. A long lake southwest of Syrtis Minor, was divided into two parts, one called Palus Tri-to'nis, noted as the place where Minerva is said first to have appeared, hence called Tritonia; the other Palus Lib'y-a, the fabled residence of the Gorgons.

7. In Numidia, were Cir'ta, now Constantina, the residence of the kings, noted for its strength; Hippo Regi-us, as the episcopal seat of St. Augustin.

8. In Mauretania, were Cæs-a-re'a, noted as once the capital; Si'ga, as the residence of Syphax; Tin'gis, now Tangier; Mount Aby-la, opposite to Calpe in Spain, one of the Pillars of Hercules.

SCRIPTURE GEOGRAPHY.

1. Scripture or Sacred Geography comprises that part of Ancient Geography which treats of the countries and places mentioned in the Bible.

2. No one of the four quarters of the world, as they are now understood, is spoken of in the Scriptures; nor is any mention made of any one of the five great oceans of modern geography.

3. The term Asia, as used in the New Testament, never embraces more than Asia Minor, and generally only the proconsular province of Asia, which comprised Mysia, Ionia, Phrygia, Lydia, and Caria.

4. The Mediterranean sea is called in the Bible the Great sea; and most of the countries mentioned in the Scriptures, either bordered upon it, or were situated not far distant; some of the most remote were Chaldea, Persia, and Media.

5. The Geography of the Old Testament relates chiefly to the southwest part of Asia and to Ægypt. Scripture Geography has little connection with Europe, except for the illustration of the travels of St. Paul and his fellow laborers.

6. The three great rivers found within the limits of that portion of the globe which is embraced by Scripture geography, are the Nile, in Africa, and the Euphrates and Tigris, in Asia.

7. The Land of Canaan, from the time of its conquest by the Israelites under Joshua to the crucifixion of our Savior, was the theatre of most of the transactions recorded in the Bible ; and it included more than half of the places mentioned in it.

8. The journeyings of our Savior, during his ministry, were limited to Palestine ; the travels of St. Paul, chiefly to Palestine, Syria, Asia Minor, Greece, and Italy.—Notices relating to Scripture Geography have already been given with respect to other countries besides Palestine.

9. At the period of the ministry of our Savior and his apostles, almost all the countries mentioned in the New Testament were included in the Roman Empire.

PALESTINE.

1. This country was first called the Land of Ca'naan, from Ca'naan, the son of Ham ; the Land of Promise, or the Promised Land, from its being promised by God to Abraham ; the Land of Israel, from the Israelites ; Ju-de'a, from Judah, the principal of the Twelve Tribes ; Pal'es-tine, from the Philistines, who inhabited the southwest part of it ; and the Holy Land, from its being the scene of the greater part of the transactions recorded in the Bible, and particularly of the birth, life, miracles, and sufferings of our Savior.

2. Before this country was possessed by the Israelites, it was inhabited by the descendants of Ca'naan, called Ca'naan-ites, who were notorious for their idolatry and vices ; and consisted of seven nations, namely, the Am'or-ites, Jeb'u-sites, Hil'tites, Per'iz-zites, Gir'ga-shites, Ca'naan-ites, and Hi'vites.

3. After the conquest of the country by the Israelites, under Joshua, it was divided among the Twelve Tribes by lot ; Reu'ben, Gad, and half of Ma-nas'seh possessed the part east of the Jordan ; and of the country west of the Jordan, Judah and Sim'e-on had the southern part ; Ash'er, Naph'ta-li, and Zeb'u-lon, the northern ; and Dan, Benjamin, Ephraim, half of Manasseh, and Is'sa-char, the middle.

4. After the reign of Solomon, two separate kingdoms were formed, namely, the kingdom of Israel, consisting of Ten Tribes, and having Samaria for its capital ; and the kingdom of Judah, composed of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, and having Jerusalem for its capital.

8. To what countries were the journeyings of our Savior, and to what the travels of St. Paul limited ?

9. To what empire did almost all the countries mentioned in the New Testament belong ?

PALESTINE.—1. By what names has the country of Palestine been known ? 2. By whom was it inhabited before it was possessed by the Israelites ?

3. How was it divided after the conquest ?

4. What two kingdoms were subsequently formed ?

5. In the time of the Gospel history, the whole of Palestine was subject to the Romans, and the country west of the Jordan was divided into three parts, namely, Ju-de'a, Sa-ma'ri-a, and Gal'i-lee. The chief divisions of the country east of the Jordan were Pe-ræ'a, and I-tu-ræ'a.

6. The country included within the limits of the Twelve Tribes, is of small extent, not a third part so large as the state of New York.

7. Dan (in the New Testament called Cæs-a-re'a Phi-lip'pi) was reputed the most northern city, and Be-er'she-ba or Beer-she'ba, the most southern; hence the proverbial phrase, to express the limits of the country, "From Dan to Beersheba."

8. The face of the country is beautifully diversified with mountains, hills, valleys, and plains.

9. The climate is excellent; the cold seldom excessive; the heat of summer is great, but mitigated by a periodical breeze. Rain seldom falls here, except in the spring and autumn; but the dews are abundant.

10. The Scriptures, in describing the fruitfulness of this country, characterize it as "a land flowing with milk and honey." In modern times, however, many parts of it have a desolate appearance, as the cultivation of it has generally been much neglected; but where it has been well attended to, it is highly productive.

11. The Jordan, the celebrated river of Palestine, and the only considerable one in the country, is deep and rapid, but not wide. It rises near the foot of Mount Hermon, passes through lake Merom and the sea of Galilee; and after a southerly course of about 150 miles, flows into the Dead sea.

12. Some of the other famous streams or rivulets are the Ar'non, Jab'bok, Be'sor, So'rek, and Ki'shon; also, Ce'dron, or Kid'ron, noted for passing by Jerusalem; and Bellus, near Ptolemais, from the sand of which glass is said to have been first made.

13. The Dead sea, called also the Salt sea, Sea of Sodom, and Lake As-phal-ti'tes, is about 70 miles long. The water is clear, but uncommonly salt and bitter. The sea is surrounded by majestic and dreary mountains; and the vicinity is barren and cheerless.

14. The Sea of Galilee, called also the Sea of Tiberias, and the Lake of Gennesareth, is 17 miles long; it is environed by lofty eminences, and has a beautiful and picturesque appearance.

15. This lake is celebrated in the Gospel history; near it our Savior passed much of his time, during his ministry; and it was here that several of his disciples were employed, in the early part of their lives, as fishermen.

5. How was the country divided in the time of the Gospel history?
 6. What is the extent of the country? 7. What is said of Dan and Beersheba?
 8. What is said of the face of the country? 9. Climate? 10. What of the fruitfulness of the country? 11. What of the Jordan?
 12. What other streams or rivulets? 13. What is said of the Dead sea?
 14. The sea of Galilee? 15. For what is it celebrated?

16. In the north of Palestine, and on its borders, is the mountain range of Leb'a-non, or Lib'a-nus, which has summits almost always covered with snow; and is celebrated in Hebrew poetry for magnificent cedars.

17. To the east of Libanus is Anti-libanus; and to the southeast is Mount Hermon.

18. Mount Carmel, on the coast of the Mediterranean, is noted as the retreat of Elijah, and, in modern times, for monks called Carmelites; Mount Tabor, southeast of the sea of Galilee, as the scene of our Savior's transfiguration; Mount Gil'bo-a, south of the sea of Galilee, for the death of Saul and Jonathan; Mount Ger'i-zim, near Sichein, for the temple of the Samaritans.

19. Mount Gilead, east of the Jordan, was famous for balm; Mounts Nebo and Pisgah, for being places from which Moses took a view of the Promised Land; Mount Hor, a summit of Seir, to the south of Palestine, for the death of Aaron.

20. The most celebrated desert in Palestine was the Desert or Wilderness of Judea, situated to the west of the Dead sea, and noted for being the region where John the Baptist preached.

21. JUDEA comprised the territory which formerly belonged to the tribes of Judah, Benjamin, Simeon, and Dan.

22. Jerusalem, the capital of Judea, was anciently built on four hills, Zi'on, Mo-ri'ah, A'cra, and Be-ze'ta, which were almost surrounded by valleys, encompassed by mountains. It was regarded as a holy city, on account of its containing the Temple, and being the centre of the Jewish religion and worship; and it is memorable for the crucifixion and resurrection of our Savior, for its signal destruction, and, in modern times, for pilgrimage.

23. The two principal centres of the labors of our Savior, during his ministry, were Jerusalem with its vicinity, and the sea of Galilee.

24. To the east of Jerusalem, beyond the brook Kidron, was the Mount of Olives, whither our Savior resorted after eating the passover; between the Mount of Olives and the city, was the garden of Geth-sem'a-ne, where he was betrayed; on the north side of the city was Cal'va-ry, where he was crucified; 7 miles northwest was Em'ma-us, where he appeared to two of his disciples after his resurrection; and to the northeast was Beth'a-ny, where he raised Lazarus from the dead, and whence he ascended to heaven.

25. Beth'le-hem is memorable as the birthplace of David, and still more so as that of our Savior; He'bron, for having been the residence of the patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and for seven years the royal seat of David.

26. Jer'i-cho is noted for its siege and capture by Joshua, and as the "city of palm-trees;" A'i, for a great victory of Joshua; Beth'el, for the vision of Jacob; Gib'e-ah, as the birthplace of Saul; Gib'e-on, as the city of the Gibeonites; Te-ko'ah, as the town of the prophet Amos.

27. Ar-i-ma-the'a was noted as the town of Joseph, who begged the body of Jesus; A-dul'lam and En'ge-di, for caves which afforded retreats to David.

28. The principal towns in the country of the Philistines were Ga'za, noted in the history of Samson; Gath, the birthplace of Goliath; As'ca-lon, Ash'dod or A-zo'tus, and Ek'ron.

29. The country of SAMARIA derived its name from the city of Samaria, and it comprised the territory which belonged to the tribe of Ephraim and half of Manasseh.

30. After the captivity of the Ten Tribes, this country was inhabited by a mixed race of people, called Samaritans, who built a temple on Mount Gerizim, adopted the law of Moses, and regarded the Pentateuch as a book of divine authority, but rejected the rest of the Old Testament.

31. Samaria was the first capital of the country; and afterwards Si'chem, or She'chem, called in the New Testament Sy'char (now Napolose), near which was Jacob's Well, memorable for our Savior's conversation with the woman of Samaria.

32. On the coast of the Mediterranean was Cæs-a-re'a, the seat of the Roman governors of Palestine, and noted for being the place where Herod Agrippa was smitten with a fatal disease, where Cornelius was converted by Peter, and where Paul defended himself before Felix, Festus, and Agrippa.

33. Jop'pa, now Jaffa, was the principal port of the Israelites, and is now the port of Jerusalem; Gil'gal, near Jericho, and Shi'loh were noted for being places where the ark of the covenant was, for a time, deposited; Tir'zah, for being once the seat of the kings of Israel; Me-gid'do, for the defeat and death of Josiah; Jez're-el, for the palace of Ahab; Sal'im and E'non, as places where John baptized.

34. GALILEE, the northern division of Palestine, comprised the country previously occupied by the tribes of Issachar, Zebulon, Naphtali, and Asher. The northern part was called Galilee of the Gentiles, because it bordered on Gentile nations.

35. This division of Palestine was most honored with our Savior's presence, and it was the native country of most, if not all, of his twelve disciples.

26. What is said of Jericho, Ai, &c.? 27. What of Arimathea, &c.?

28. What towns in the country of the Philistines?

29. What is said of Samaria? 30. What of the inhabitants? 31. What of Samaria and Sichem? 32. What of Cæsarea? 33. What other towns? 34. What did Galilee comprise? 35. What is said of it?

36. Ti-be'ri-as, once the capital of Galilee, was noted for a Jewish academy, after the destruction of Jerusalem; Ca-per'na-um, Cho-ra'zin, and Beth-sa'i-da, for the preaching and miracles of our Savior. Bethsaida was also the residence of the disciples Philip, Peter, Andrew, James, and John; Capernaum, of Matthew, and on an eminence near this place, our Savior delivered his memorable discourse called the "sermon on the mount."

37. Naz'a-réth is famous for being the residence of our Savior, before he entered upon his public ministry; Ca'na, for his miracle of turning water into wine; Na'in, for his raising the widow's son to life.

38. Beyond, or east of, the Jordan, were Suc'coth, noted for having once been the residence of Jacob; Ma-ha-na'im, for the meeting of Jacob and Esau; Ra'moth-Gil'e-ad, memorable in the wars of the Israelites; Beth-ab'a-ra, where John baptized; Dal-ma-nu'tha, Mag'da-la, and Gad'a-ra, places visited by our Savior.

39. The southern part of Phœnicia, or Syro-Phœnicia, belonged to the tribe of Asher.

40. On the coast of the Mediterranean were Tyre and Si'don, noted for their antiquity and for commerce; Sa-rep'ta, called in the Old Testament Zar'e-phath, for the miracles of Elijah; Ptol-e-ma'is, now Acre, for a memorable siege by the Crusaders.

EXTENT OF ANCIENT EMPIRES,

According to Tytler.

The Empire of ASSYRIA, under Ninus and Semiramis, comprehended Asia Minor, Colchis, Assyria, Media, Chaldea, Ægypt.

The Empire of ASSYRIA, as divided about 820 B. C., formed three kingdoms, Media, Babylo-Chaldea (Syria and Chaldea), and Lydia (all Asia Minor).

The Empire of the PERSIANS under Dari'us Hystas'pes, 522 B. C., comprehended Persis, Susiana, Chaldea, Assyria, Media, Bactriana, Armenia, Asia, Parthia, Iberia, Albania, Colchis, Asia Minor, Egypt, part of Ethiopia, part of Scythia.

The Empire of ALEXANDER THE GREAT, 330 B. C., consisted of, 1. all Macedonia and Greece, except Peloponnesus; 2. all the Persian Empire, as above described; 3. India to the banks of the Indus on the east, and the Jaxartes, or Tanais, on the north.

The Empire of ALEXANDER was thus divided 306 B. C., between Ptolemy, Cassander, Lysimachus, and Seleucus:—

Empire of Ptolemy.

Libya, Arabia, Cælo-Syria, Palestine.

Empire of Cassander.

Macedonia, Greece.

Empire of Lysimachus.

Thrace, Bithynia.

Empire of Seleucus.

Syria, and all the rest of Alexander's empire.

The empire of the PARTHIANS, 140 B. C., comprehended Parthia, Hyrcania, Media, Persis, Bactriana, Babylonia, Mesopotamia, India to the Indus.

The ROMAN Empire, under the Kings, was confined to the city of Rome, and a few miles round it.

The ROMAN EMPIRE, at the end of the Republic, comprehended all Italy, great part of Gaul, part of Britain, Africa Proper, great part of Spain, Illyria, Istria, Liburnia, Dalmatia, Achaia, Macedonia, Dardania, Mæsia, Thrace, Pontus, Armenia, Cilicia, Judea, Syria, Egypt.

Under the Emperors, the following countries were reduced to Roman Provinces:—

All Spain, the Alpes Maritimæ, Piedmont, &c., Rhætia, Noricum, Pannonia, Mæsia, Pontus, Armenia, Assyria, Arabia, Egypt.

Constantius Chlorus and Galerius divided the Empire into EASTERN and WESTERN; and under Constantine, each empire had a distinct capital or seat of government.

The extent of each division was fluctuating from time to time; but, in general, the WESTERN EMPIRE comprehended Italy, Illyria, Africa, Spain, the Gauls, Britain.

The EASTERN EMPIRE comprehended Egypt, Thrace, Dacia, Macedonia, Asia Minor, Pontus, Armenia, Assyria, Media, &c.

The EMPIRE OF CHARLEMAGNE, A. D. 800, comprehended France, Marca Hispanica (or Navarre and Catalonia), Majorca, Minorca and Ivica, Corsica, Italy, as far south as Naples, Istria, Liburnia, Dalmatia, Rhætia, Vindelicia, Noricum, Germany, from the Rhine to the Oder, and to the shores of the Baltic.

France contained, 1. Neustria, comprehending Brittany, Normandy, Isle of France, Orleanois; 2. Austria, comprehending Picardy and Champagne; 3. Aquitania, comprehending Guienne and Gascony; 4. Burgundia, comprehending Burgundy, Lyonnois, Languedoc, Dauphiné, Provence.

USE OF GLOBES.

A Sphere, or Globe, is a round body, every point of whose surface is equally distant from a point within the body, called the centre. A Hemisphere is a half globe.

There are two kinds of artificial globes, the terrestrial and the celestial.

The Terrestrial Globe is a representation of the earth, having the seas and different countries delineated on it, as they are situated on the surface of the earth.

The Celestial Globe is an artificial representation of the heavens, having the fixed stars drawn upon it, in their natural situation.

The Axis of a globe is an imaginary line passing through its centre from north to south, around which it revolves.

The Poles are the extremities of the axis, terminated by the surface of the globe. One is the north, and the other the south pole; and they are each 90 degrees from the equator.

Great circles are such as divide the globe into two equal parts. These are the equator or equinoctial, the horizon, the meridians, the ecliptic, and the two colures.

Less circles are those that divide the globe into two unequal parts. These are four, the two tropics, and the two polar circles.

The circumference of every circle is supposed to be divided into 360 equal parts, called degrees; each degree into 60 equal parts, called minutes; and each minute into 60 equal parts, called seconds. They are marked thus, $23^{\circ} 28' 16''$; i. e. 23 degrees, 28 minutes, and 16 seconds.

The Equator is an imaginary great circle of the earth, equidistant from the poles, dividing the earth into the northern and southern hemispheres.

The equator is divided by the principal meridian into two equal parts of 180° each.

Meridians are imaginary great circles passing through the poles, and perpendicular to the equator.

The meridian of the place, or the 12 o'clock hour circle, is the meridian that cuts the horizon in the north and south points. The first meridian of any country is the meridian passing through the capital of that country.

The Horizon is either sensible or real. The sensible horizon is a small circle which limits our prospect, where the sky and land or water appear to meet. The real horizon is a great circle which divides the earth into the upper and lower hemispheres.

The horizon is divided into four equal parts of 90° each, by the four cardinal points, East, West, North, and South.

The wooden horizon of the artificial globe is divided into three parts; the innermost is marked with all the points on the mariner's compass; the next has the names, characters, and figures of the twelve signs; and the third is a calendar of months and days. By the two last is instantly seen the sign and degree the sun is in during every day in the year.

The Ecliptic is an imaginary great circle in the heavens, in the plane of which the earth performs her annual revolution round the sun.

The ecliptic is drawn on the artificial globe obliquely to the equator, making with it an angle of $23^{\circ} 28'$.

The twelve signs are the twelve equal parts, into which the ecliptic is divided, each consisting of 30° .

The Zodiac is a broad belt in the heavens 16° broad, in the middle of which is the ecliptic.

The names and characters of the 12 signs, and the time of the sun's entering them, are as follows :

Latin.	English.	Characters.	Time.
1. Aries	The Ram	♈	March 20th
2. Taurus	The Bull	♉	April 20th
3. Gemini	The Twins	♊	May 21st
4. Cancer	The Crab	♋	June 21st
5. Leo	The Lion	♌	July 23d
6. Virgo	The Virgin	♍	August 23d
7. Libra	The Scales	♎	Sept. 23d
8. Scorpio	The Scorpion	♏	Octob. 23d
9. Sagittarius	The Archer	♐	Nov. 22d
10. Capricornus	The Goat	♑	Dec. 22d
11. Aquarius	The Waterman	♒	Jan. 20th
12. Pisces.	The Fishes	♓	Feb. 19th

The first six are called northern signs, because they are north of the equator; the last six southern, because they are south of the equator.

The Colures are two meridians; one passing through the equinoctial points, Aries and Libra, called the equinoctial colure; the other passing through the solstitial points, Cancer and Capricorn, called the solstitial colure.

The Tropics are two less circles, drawn parallel to the equator, at the distance of $23^{\circ} 28'$; one north of the equator, called the tropic of Cancer; the other south, called the tropic of Capricorn. These circles show the sun's limits north and south of the equator.

The Polar circles are less circles, described round the poles, at the distance of $23^{\circ} 28'$. The northern is called the arctic circle, and the southern the antarctic.

Zones are divisions of the earth's surface, formed by the tropics and polar circles. They are five, one torrid, two temperate, and two frigid zones.

The torrid zone is included between the tropics; the temperate zones, between the tropics and polar circles; and the frigid, between the polar circles and the poles.

The Latitude of a place is the distance from the equator, north or south, measured on a meridian towards either pole, reckoned in degrees, minutes, and seconds. It cannot exceed 90° .

The Longitude of a place is its distance from the first meridian, east or west, measured on the equator. It never exceeds 180° .

A Climate, as used by astronomers, is a portion of the earth's surface, included between two parallels of latitude, and of such a breadth that the longest day under the parallel nearest the pole, is half an hour longer than under the other. There are 24 such climates between the equator and each of the polar circles.

PROBLEMS ON THE TERRESTRIAL GLOBE.

PROBLEM I.

To find the latitude of any place.

Turn the globe, and bring the place to the engraven edge of the brazen meridian; and the degree on the meridian is the latitude, north or south, as it may be on the north or south side of the equator.

Thus the latitude of London is $51\frac{1}{2}$ degrees north; and of St. Helena nearly 16 degrees south.

What is the latitude of Alexandria in Egypt? Athens? Cape of Good Hope? Cape Horn? Constantinople? Edinburgh? Ispahan? Madras? Moscow? Paris? Boston? Philadelphia? Prague? Stockholm? Teneriffe? Vienna? Botany Bay?

PROBLEM II.

To find the longitude of any place.

Bring the place to the brazen meridian, and the degree on the equator shows the longitude from London.

Thus the longitude of Madras is 80 degrees east; of Lisbon, 9 degrees west.

What is the longitude of Amsterdam? Archangel? Babelmandel? Dublin? Gibraltar? Jerusalem? Quebec? Syracuse? Tunis? Turin? Upsal?

PROBLEM III.

The longitude and latitude of any place being given, to find that place.

Look for the longitude on the equator, and bring it to the brazen meridian, then under the given degree of latitude will be the place required.

Thus the place whose longitude is $30^{\circ} 17'$ east, and latitude $31^{\circ} 11'$ north, is Alexandria; and the place which has near 6° west longitude, and 16° south latitude, is St. Helena.

What places are those that have the following longitudes and latitudes: $36^{\circ} 17'$ east long., and $31^{\circ} 11'$ north lat.— $113^{\circ} 2'$ east long., and $23^{\circ} 8'$ north lat.— $79^{\circ} 50'$ west long., and $33^{\circ} 22'$ north lat.— $8^{\circ} 30'$ west, and $51^{\circ} 54'$ north lat.— $4^{\circ} 5'$ west, and 56°

(nearly) north lat.— $76^{\circ} 50'$ west long., and 12° south lat.— $8^{\circ} 35'$ west long., and $40^{\circ} 53'$ north lat.? What place is that whose longitude is nearly 78° west, but which has no latitude?

PROBLEM IV.

To find the difference of latitude of any two places.

If the places are in the same hemisphere, bring each to the meridian, and subtract the latitude of the one from that of the other: if in different hemispheres, add the latitude of the one to that of the other.

Thus the difference of latitude between London and Madras is $38^{\circ} 28'$; between Paris and Cape Horn is $104^{\circ} 49'$. What is the difference of latitude between Copenhagen and Gibraltar?—between London and the Cape of Good Hope?—between Berlin and Bristol?—between Bengal and St. Helena?—between Madrid and Moscow?—between Leghorn and Liverpool?—between Pekin and Philadelphia?—How many degrees colder is St. Petersburg than Naples?

PROBLEM V.

To find the difference of longitude of any two places.

Bring one of the places to the brazen meridian, and mark its longitude; then bring the other place to the meridian, and the number of degrees between its longitude and the first mark, is the difference of longitude: thus the difference of longitude between London and Constantinople is $28^{\circ} 53'$; between Constantinople and Madras is $51^{\circ} 54'$.

What is the difference of longitude between Athens and Batavia?—between Brest and Cape Horn?—between Charleston in South Carolina and Cork in Ireland?—between Rome and Cape Finisterre?—between Canton and the most northerly point of the Orkney Islands?—between Morocco and Thibet?—between Cape Bojador in Africa and Port Jackson, New Holland?—between the most northerly point of Madagascar and Otaheite?—between Mecca and Calcutta?

PROBLEM VI.

To find the distance of any two places on the globe.

Lay the graduated edge of the quadrant of altitude over both places, and the degrees between them, multiplied by $69\frac{1}{2}$, will give the distance in English miles. Thus the distance between the Lizard point and the island of Bermuda is 46° , or 3147 miles; between London and Jamaica is 4691 miles.

What is the distance between Samarcand in Tartary and Pekin?—between Warsaw and Ascension Island?—between North Cape and Gibraltar?—between Lisbon and Ispahan?—between Rio Janeiro and the Cape of Good Hope?—between Madrid and Cairo?—between Boston and Cayenne?

PROBLEM VII.

*The hour at any place being given, to find what hour it is at any other place.

Bring the place, where the hour is given, to the brazen meridian, and set the index of the hour circle to that hour, then turn the globe till the proposed place come under the meridian, and the index will point to the present hour at that place.

Thus, when it is twelve o'clock at noon in London, it is nearly four in the afternoon at the island of Mauritius; but at Jamaica it is only about seven in the morning.

When it is ten in the forenoon at London, what is the time at Calcutta, Canton, Pelew Islands, Barbadoes, the western side of Lake Superior, Owhyhee, and Easter Island?

What o'clock is it at New York, Moscow, Cape Horn, Genoa, Syracuse, and Leghorn, when it is midnight at Lisbon?

How much are the clocks of Mexico behind ours?

When it is twelve at noon at Port Jackson, what time is it at Paris and Dublin?

PROBLEM VIII.

To rectify the globe for the latitude, zenith, and sun's place.

1. For the latitude: Elevate the pole above the horizon, according to the latitude of the place.

2. For the zenith: Screw the quadrant of altitude on the meridian at the given degree of latitude, counting from the equator towards the elevated pole.

3. For the sun's place: Find the sun's place on the horizon, and then bring the same place found on the ecliptic to the meridian, and set the hour index to twelve at noon.

Thus, to rectify for the latitude of London on the 10th day of May, the globe must be so placed, that the north pole shall be $51\frac{1}{2}$

* When the distance or difference of longitude between any two places is known, it is easy to ascertain their difference of time by calculation. It is noon, or twelve o'clock, when any place on the globe is exactly towards the sun, and the succession of day and night, of morning, noon, and evening, may be beautifully shown by turning the Terrestrial Globe in the sunshine, or in the light of a fire or candle. But to ascertain exactly the number of hours and minutes, by which, at the same moment of time, two places differ, it is necessary to divide the difference of longitude by 15, because every 15 degrees is equal to one hour of time; and, consequently, also, every degree is equal to four minutes of time.

For example, when it is noon at London, it will be four o'clock in the afternoon at all places which have 60 degrees of longitude east of London, and 8 in the morning at all places which have 60 degrees west of London.

At all places which have 180 degrees difference of longitude, it will be 12 o'clock at night, when it is noon at London. And in this manner, the hour in any part of the world may be calculated, by adding to the given hour, when the place is east, and by subtracting, when it is west.

degrees above the north side of the horizon; then $51\frac{1}{2}$ will be found on the zenith of the meridian, on which the quadrant must be screwed. On the horizon, the 10th of May answers to the 20th of Taurus, which find on the ecliptic, and bring it to the meridian, and set the index to twelve.

Rectify the globe for London, St. Petersburg, Madras, Pekin, Oporto, Venice, Quebec, Washington, Vienna, Dantzic, and Corinth, for the 24th of February, the 27th of June, and the 6th of August.

PROBLEM IX.

To find at what hour the sun rises and sets any day in the year, and also upon what point of the compass.

Rectify for the latitude and sun's place (Prob. VIII.), and turn the sun's place to the eastern edge of the horizon, and the index will point to the hour of rising; then bring it to the western edge of the horizon, and the index will show the setting.

Thus, on the 16th of March, the sun rises a little after six, and sets a little before six in the evening.

What time does the sun rise and set at St. Petersburg, Naples, Canton, Dublin, Gibraltar, Teneriffe, Boston, and Vienna, on the 15th of April, the 4th of July, and the 20th of November?

NOTE.—On the 21st of March, the sun rises due east, and sets due west; between this and the 21st of September, it rises and sets to the northward of these points, and in the winter months to the southward of them. When the sun's place is brought to the eastern or western edge of the horizon, it marks the point of the compass upon which it rises or sets that day.

PROBLEM X.

To find the length of the day and night at any time in the year.

Double the time of the sun's rising, which gives the length of the night; double the time of his setting, which gives the length of the day.

Thus, on the 25th of May, the sun rises at London about four o'clock, and sets at eight. The length of the night is twice four, or eight hours; the length of the day is twice eight, or sixteen hours.

PROBLEM XI.

To find all the places to which a lunar eclipse is visible at any instant.

Find the place to which the sun is vertical at that time, and bring that place to the zenith, and set the index to the upper twelve; then turn the globe till the index points to the lower twelve, and the eclipse is visible to every part of the earth that is now above the horizon.

THE CELESTIAL GLOBE.

As the Terrestrial Globe, by turning on its axis, represents the real diurnal motion of the earth, so the Celestial Globe, by turning on its axis, represents the apparent motion of the heavens.

The nominal points of Aries and Libra are called the equinoctial points, because when the sun appears to be in either of them, the day and night are equal.

The nominal points of Cancer and Capricorn are called solstitial points, because when the sun arrives at either of them, he seems to stand still, or to be at the same height in the heavens, at twelve o'clock, at noon, for several days together.

Definition. The latitude of the heavenly bodies is measured from the ecliptic, north and south. The sun, being always in the ecliptic, has no latitude.

Def. The longitude of the heavenly bodies is reckoned on the ecliptic, from the first point of Aries, eastward round the globe. The longitude of the sun is what is called, on the terrestrial globe, the sun's place.

PROBLEMS ON THE CELESTIAL GLOBE.

PROBLEM I.

To find the latitude and longitude of any given star.

Put the centre of the quadrant on the pole of the ecliptic, and its graduated edge on the given star; then the arch of the quadrant, intercepted between the star and the ecliptic, shows its latitude; and the degree which the edge of the quadrant cuts on the ecliptic, is the degree of its longitude.

Thus the latitude of Regulus is $0^{\circ} 28'$ N., and its longitude nearly 147° .

PROBLEM II.

To find any place in the heavens, by having its latitude and longitude given.

Fix the quadrant, as in the last problem; let it cut the longitude given on the ecliptic; then seek the latitude on the quadrant, and the place under it is the place sought. Thus, if I am asked what part of the heavens that is, whose longitude is $66^{\circ} 30'$, and latitude $5^{\circ} 30'$ S., I find it is that space which Aldebaran occupies.

Def. The declination of any heavenly body is measured upon the meridian from the equinoctial.

PROBLEM III.

To find the declination of the sun or any star.

Bring the sun or star to the brazen meridian, and then as far as it is in degrees from the equinoctial is its declination. Thus the sun's declination, April 19, is $11^{\circ} 19'$ north. On the 1st of December it is $21^{\circ} 54'$ south.

What is the declination of the sun on the 10th of February, and the 15th of May?

Def. The right ascension of any heavenly body is its distance from the first meridian, or that which passes through the first point of Aries, counted on the equinoctial.

PROBLEM IV.

To find the right ascension of the sun or of any star.

Bring the sun's place, or that of the star, to the brazen meridian; and the number of degrees on the equator, between that meridian and the first point of Aries, is the right ascension.

Thus the sun's right ascension on April 19th is $27^{\circ} 30'$; on the 1st of December, $247^{\circ} 30'$.

CONSTRUCTION OF MAPS.

There are four methods of representing the Earth's surface, viz. the Orthographic, the Stereographic, the Globular, and Mercator's Projections; all of which have their respective advantages and defects. The two latter methods approach nearest the truth, and are most generally in use.

Globular Projection. The Globular Projection of the Sphere exhibits its surface by means of curve lines called Circles of Longitude, and Parallels of Latitude.

Mercator's Projection. Mercator's Chart exhibits the projection of the two hemispheres, laid down upon a plane, with all the circles of latitude and longitude projected into straight lines. The lines of longitude are all equidistant, and parallel to each other; the lines of latitude are also all parallel, but not equidistant.

PROBLEMS.

1. To divide a given line into two equal parts.

Let A B, fig. 1, be the given line. With the points A and B as centres, with any distance in the compasses greater than half A B, describe the arcs intersecting each other in m and n.

Through the points of intersection draw the line m C n, and it will divide A B into two equal parts.

2. To erect a perpendicular on a given point in a line.

Let A B, fig. 2, be the given line, and C the given point.

On each side of point C measure off equal distances to a and b.

From the centres a and b, with any distance greater than a C or b C, describe two arcs intersecting each other in c.

Through C and c draw the line C c, and it will be perpendicular to the line A B.

3. To let fall a perpendicular from a given point.

This is the 2d problem reversed, and one figure may serve for both.

From the given point D, at any distance, describe an arc, intersecting A B in a and b.

Proceed exactly as in problem 2d, only describing the arcs below the line A B, and the line D C E will be the perpendicular required.

PROJECTION OF MAPS.

I. To draw a map of the world on the globular projection.

(See plate I. fig. 3.)

1st. Describe the circle N E S W; and draw right lines cutting one another at right angles in the centre. N S will represent the axis of the earth, and W E the equator.

2d. Divide each quarter of these right lines into nine equal parts, proceeding from the centre to the circumference; each division will represent ten degrees, and may be numbered accordingly. Those on the axis will represent the latitude, and are to be numbered from the equator towards the pole, 10, 20, &c. Those on the equator will represent the longitude, and are to be numbered so as to correspond with whatever point is fixed on as a first meridian. Figure 3 is supposed to be the western hemisphere, and London to be the first meridian; and this, by the usual method of projecting maps of the world, will fix the axis as 110, from whence the numbers are continued westward, 120, 130, &c.

3d. Divide the four quarters of the outward circle into nine equal parts respectively, proceeding from the equator to the poles, and number them 10, 20, &c.

To draw the parallels of latitude. The general rule is, to guide the compasses so that the lines may pass through the divisions in the outward edges and axis respectively, from 80 to 90. This, however, is attended with some difficulty, because, the radius of the different lines being different, each requires a new centre. The centres can be easily found by the following process. Draw right lines from the divisions on the axis to those on the circumference respectively, as a—a, fig. 3. Divide these right lines into two equal parts, and from the middle, b, let fall perpendiculars to a right line extending from the axis south or north, as b b c; the places where they respectively cut, will be the centres, as c.

To draw the lines of longitude. Guide the compasses so that the lines may respectively pass through the divisions in the equator and the poles. The central points are found exactly in the same way as the latitude. (See fig. 3, d d e e f.)

II. To draw a map of the world on the polar projection.

(See plate I. fig. 4.)

In the polar projection, the northern and southern hemispheres are projected on the plane of the equator, the poles being in the centre. It is but little used, as it exhibits the countries near the poles to the greatest advantage, while those near the equator, which are of more importance, are much distorted.

It is extremely simple, and is executed by fixing one foot of the compasses in the poles, describing nine circles equidistant from each other, to represent the parallels of latitude, the circles being ten degrees apart.

Divide the outer circle, or equator, into thirty-six equal parts, and draw lines from the pole to each point in the equator. These will represent the meridians of longitude.

III. To draw a map of the world on Mercator's projection.

(See plate II. fig. 5.)

Lay out the map in any size that may be wanted. Draw the line E W to represent the equator, and the line N S, for a meridian of longitude. Draw right lines parallel to the line N S, east and west of it, to represent 10 degrees of longitude each.

To draw the parallels of latitude, have recourse to the table of meridional parts, page 272, and graduate the scale between them agreeably to it. The principle on which this table is constructed is explained in a note prefixed to it. Its practical application is to add the meridional parts, over 60, to the scale of every degree of latitude, as you proceed north and south of the equator. Thus, in the first 10 degrees, there are only 3 meridional parts over 60; that is, 3 parts are to be added to 600. Between 10 and 20, 22 are to be added to 600; between 20 and 30 add 63; between 30 and 40 add 135; between 40 and 50 add 251; between 50 and 60 add 453; between 60 and 70 add 837; between 70 and 80 add 1809; the last is 9 more than 3 times 60, extending the scale between 70 and 80 to more than 4 times that between 1° and 10°. The meridional parts increase so fast above 80 degrees, that it is not judged of importance to pursue the subject farther.

The projection being made, the map is to be filled up with appropriate matter. The few places laid down in fig. 5, will serve as a specimen. Maps on this projection are usually shaded on the land side; other maps on the water side.

IV. To draw a map on the compound projection.

(See plate II. fig. 6.—fig. 6. a. and fig. 6. b.)

This is termed the compound projection, because it is composed of the polar projection, and plain projection.

Having fixed upon your scale, measure off the number of miles agreeably to it between the southern extremity (supposing the map to be in the northern hemisphere), and the north pole. Take the polar point as a centre (see fig. 6. a), in which fix one leg of the compasses, and with the other sweep the circular lines in fig. 3, 30, 35, 40, 45. Lay off the line M L as your centre meridian.

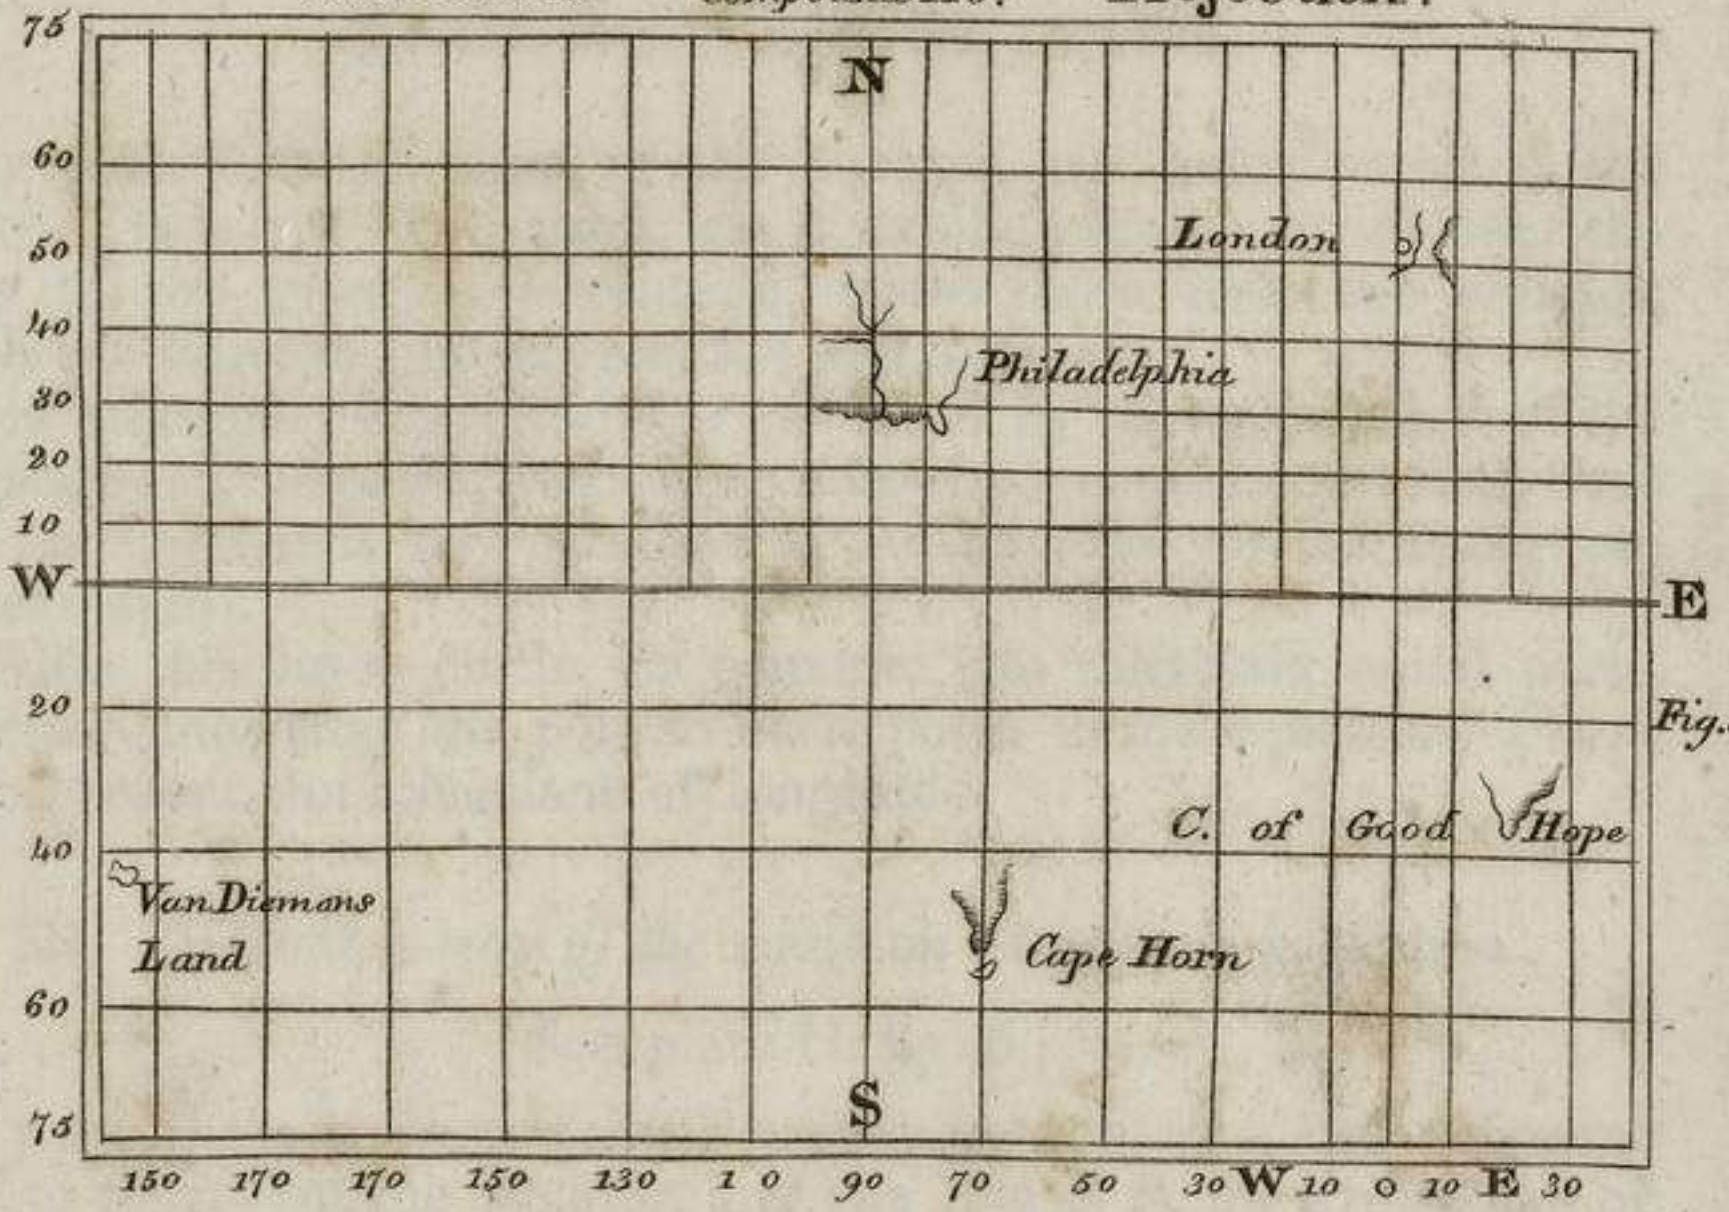

Fig. 5.

Compound Projection.

Fig. 6.

Plain L Projection.

Fig. 7.

Fig. 6. b. Circumference of the Compound Projections.

Look into the table of miles in a degree of longitude corresponding to every degree of latitude, page 272, for the distances at 30° and 45° respectively. Adjust the corresponding distances to the scale of the map, and lay it off on the lines 30 and 45 to the east and west of M L, then draw right lines between them. The circular lines will represent the parallels of latitude, and the right lines meridians of longitude. In some maps on this projection, the meridians of longitude are drawn from the pole towards the equator. But this method is very erroneous, as will be seen by the figure. Fig. 6. b, represents the circumference of the compound projection, answering to the equator, with the distances laid off on it agreeably to the scale; and the dotted lines running through the western part of fig. 6, represent the meridians, projected from thence to the centre or polar point. When contrasted with the plain lines, which are laid down from measurement, they at once demonstrate the error.

V. To draw a map on the plain projection.

(See Plate II. fig. 7.)

Draw M L as a central meridian, and cross it at right angles with the lines 30 to 45. Look in the table of miles in a degree of longitude corresponding to every degree of latitude, for the distances at 30° and 45° respectively. Adjust them, and lay them off as directed in the compound projection, and draw right lines between them.

It will be seen that the compound projection and plain projection represent nearly the same space. Either of them answers very well for a small tract of country. When it is large, other modifications, particularly the globular projection, and a compound of the globular projection and plain projection, are resorted to.

Note.—The first table on the following page is so constructed that the meridional parts may increase, as the distances between the meridians of longitude on the globe decrease. In this way, the degrees of latitude and longitude are made to preserve their true proportions to each other, the former increasing on the map in the same ratio that the latter diminish on the sphere. In navigation books, there are tables showing the meridional parts for every mile, as well as every degree; the parts in each degree, however, are sufficient to show the principle, as well as for constructing maps on Mercator's projection

REMARKS ON TABLE III.

1. More than half of the country belonging to the United States, consists of territory not at all, or but little settled, and not yet formed into states. The whole of the territory is estimated to consist of upwards of 2,000,000 square miles.

2. The population of the North-west or Huron Territory, amounting to 3,688, is included in the Table with the population of Michigan Territory; but in the second column the square miles are given only of the peninsula of Michigan, not including the North-west Territory.

REMARKS.

1. About two thirds of the shipping of the United States, belong to New England and New York. The three states which possess the greatest amount of shipping, and which are most concerned in active commerce, are Massachusetts, New York, and Maine.

2. The six most commercial cities in the United States are, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, and Charleston.

3. Boston exports the greatest part of the surplus produce of Massachusetts, and also a considerable part of that of New Hampshire and Vermont.

4. The city of New York is the outlet for the produce not only of the state of New York, but of a great part of New Jersey, a portion of that of the western part of New England, and also a portion of that of the Western States.

5. The greater part of the produce of the Western States, intended for exportation, is sent to New Orleans; but much of it goes to New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore.

REMARKS.

1. Most of the above Canals are already completed and in operation; but the Rail-roads, and the Hampshire and Hampden, Morris, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Ohio Canals, are in progress, but not yet (1831) finished. There are, in addition to the above, various other Canals and Rail-roads already completed, more or less important, in different parts of the country.

2. The Miami Canal, which is now completed from Cincinnati to Dayton, is designed to be extended to the Maumee, 265 miles.

3. Several other important canals and rail-roads have been projected in various parts of the United States, some of which are already in progress.

The above Tabular View of the number of Ministers, Churches or Congregations, Communicants, and Population, belonging to the different Religious Denominations in the United States, is taken chiefly from the "Quarterly Register of the American Education Society" for Feb. 1831. The population is given chiefly by estimate.

Popayan, 25,000	Lima, 60,000	Paramaribo, 20,000

REMARKS.

1. The population of most of the countries of South America, is not accurately ascertained, and is variously stated by different writers.

2. Humboldt, several years since, estimated the numbers of the different races of the inhabitants of all America as follows:—

Whites (of European origin),	13,471,000
Indians (mostly subdued),	8,610,000
Negroes (mostly slaves),	6,433,000
Mixed races,	6,428,000

Total, 34,942,000

3. The number of independent Indians is uncertain, but is supposed to be from one to two millions.

4. The Negro slaves in America are found chiefly in the United States, the West Indies, Brazil, and Guiana.

5. The population of America may be stated at about 40 millions, namely, North America, 24,000,000; South America, 13,000,000; the West Indies, 3,000,000. The present population of America may, perhaps, rather exceed this number; some estimate it considerably higher, while others absurdly reduce it as low as 25 millions.

REMARKS.

1. Holland and Belgium, together, constituted the kingdom of the Netherlands, from 1814 to 1830, when the Belgians declared their country independent.

2. The present government of Greece went into operation in 1828 ; but the form of government is regarded as only temporary.

3. The inhabitants of the kingdom of Saxony are mostly Protestants, though the reigning family has long been Catholic. About two thirds of the inhabitants of the grand-duchy of Baden are Catholic, but the reigning family is Protestant.

4. More than one third of the inhabitants of the kingdom of Prussia, nearly one third of those of Wurtemberg, and more than one fourth of those of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, are Catholics.

5. About three fifths of the inhabitants of Switzerland are Protestants Russia contains a considerable number of Catholics, and also of Protestants ; France and Bavaria about a million of Protestants each ; Austria about 3 millions of Protestants, and 3 millions of the Greek Church ; and about two thirds of the inhabitants of Turkey are of the Greek Church.

6. Sweden, Norway, and Denmark contain very few Catholics ; and Spain, Portugal, and the Italian States, very few Protestants.

7. Jews are found in all the countries of Europe ; but more than half of the European Jews reside within the ancient limits of Poland.

REMARKS.

1. Russia, in this Table, does not include Asiatic Russia nor the kingdom of Poland. Geographers differ respecting the boundary between European and Asiatic Russia; but in this Table, European Russia is taken in its largest sense, including about 6 millions of inhabitants which some authors assign to Asiatic Russia. The whole Russian empire, in Europe and Asia, including also the kingdom of Poland, is computed to contain about 60 millions of inhabitants.

2. Denmark, in the Table, does not include Iceland and the Faroe islands, which together contain a population of about 55,000.

3. The archduchy of Luxemburg (pop. 292,000), which belonged to the late kingdom of the Netherlands, and is now claimed by Belgium, is not included, in the Table, in either Holland or Belgium.

4. For a view of the small German States, which are not included in this Table, see page 120.

5. The small Italian States, not included in the Table, are Parma (pop. 437,000), Modena (pop. 377,000), Lucca (pop. 145,000), and St. Marino (pop. 7,000).

6. The population of the Ionian Republic is computed at 175,000; that of the Republic of Cracow at 127,000.

7. The population of the British Islands is given according to the enumeration of 1821. The population of most of the other states of Europe is accommodated to a more recent date.

8. The following view exhibits the extent and population of the different parts of the British Empire :

REMARKS.

1. The universities marked with * are Protestant; with †, of the Greek Church; with ‡, mixed, or partly Protestant and partly Catholic; the others are Catholic.

2. Of the above universities, 75 are Catholic; 33 Protestant; 7 of the Greek Church; 2 mixed; and 2 Jewish.

3. The number of students in these universities is here stated according to the Weimar Almanac for 1830, except in cases in which more recent information could be obtained.

4. In France, the name of university is limited to Paris, and the provincial establishments are styled academies, though they are constituted like the universities of other countries.

5. The universities of Germany, as well as a great part of the other universities in Europe, are resorted to chiefly for the study of professional education, and are constituted very differently from the most of the institutions in this country which are styled universities.

6. Education in classical learning, in Europe, is pursued chiefly in seminaries of lower rank than universities, as gymnasiums, high schools, &c.

Several countries of Europe contain a considerable number of large public libraries; but no other country so much abounds with them as Germany.

REMARKS ON EUROPE.

1. Malte-Brun, in the first volume of his valuable Geography, states the population of Europe at 170 millions; but in the sixth volume, at 200 or 205 millions, which is doubtless nearer the true amount. He says that "the mean annual increase of the whole European population cannot, according to the lowest estimation, be less than a million, so that before the year 1900, it may amount to 300 millions."

2. Hassel, a late learned geographical and statistical writer, computed the population of Europe, in 1824, at 206,772,400; and in 1828, at 216,667,463; and Balbi, in 1828, at 227,700,000. The present actual population of Europe, taking European Russia in its largest sense, does not probably fall short of 230 millions.

3. According to Malte-Brun, the agricultural class, in Europe, comprises two thirds of the whole population. In Russia, its proportion is considerably greater; but in England, it embraces only about one third, the other two thirds being chiefly supported by manufactures and commerce. England is not only the first commercial country in Europe, but surpasses all others with respect to manufactures, for which she possesses unrivalled advantages from an abundance of coal and ores, from facilities of intercourse, and excellence of machinery.

4. Europe is the most enlightened quarter of the globe, and the chief region of authors, who are most numerous in Germany, Great Britain, and France. The number of living writers is computed by Malte-Brun at upwards of 12,000. "Such a body," he observes, "were it not divided against itself, might govern the world; but" (as he rather fancifully adds) "the republic of letters is paralyzed by three contending principles—attachment to particular sects in Germany, party-spirit in England, and self-interest in France."

5. The soldiers in the service of the different European governments, are stated by Malte-Brun at 2,000,000, or one hundredth part of the whole mass; and their pay amounts to two fifths of the public revenue in most of the states.

6. There is a remarkable difference in the amount contributed to the public revenue, on an average, by each individual in the different European states; and it is greater under constitutional governments, than under those that are despotic. Some governments are loaded with immense public debts, and are under the necessity of imposing very burdensome taxes on their subjects. Such is the case with England, whose public debt, amounting to nearly 800 million pounds sterling, exceeds the sum of the debts of all the other states; and yet England is the wealthiest country in Europe.

7. The following statement exhibits the amount which each individual contributes to the public revenue, according to Malte-Brun:—

REMARKS.

1. The population of few of the countries of Asia is known with any considerable accuracy; the total amount is very uncertain, and is variously estimated from 240 to 600 millions.

2. The population of China Proper was stated by Chinese officers of state to lord Macartney, in 1794, at 333 millions; but Klaproth states the population, according to a census said to have been taken in 1790, at 142,326,734

3. Hassel estimates the population of the empire of Japan at 40,600,000, and some state it still higher.

4. The prevailing government in Asia is despotism; and a great portion of this quarter of the globe is under the sway of European sovereigns.

5. The population of Oceanica, embracing the Eastern Archipelago, Australia, and Polynesia, is estimated by Malte-Brun and Balbi at about 20 millions, and by Hassel at a little upwards of 30 millions.

REMARKS.

1. The population of most of the cities of Asia has never been accurately ascertained; and the estimates of the inhabitants and of travellers are uncertain, and often exaggerated.

2. Some have estimated the population of Pekin, Nankin, and Canton, twice as great as it is here stated, while others make it much less. The population of Jeddo has been estimated by some respectable geographers higher than it is here given; and in 1812, the Japanese stated to Golownin, that it exceeded 12 millions.

REMARKS.

1. In the above statement of the Extent (in English square miles) and Population of the Globe, according to Hassel, the islands of the Eastern Archipelago and Polynesia are included in Oceanica, though Hassel adds them to Asia, making Australia alone a separate division; so that, according to him, the extent of Asia, including these islands, exceeds that of America. Several other geographers make the total extent of the different parts of the globe considerably less than the above statement.

2. The amount of the population of the globe is very uncertain, and is variously estimated; some estimate it at upwards of 1,000,000,000, and some reduce it to less than half this number.

3. The uncertainty pertains more especially to Asia, Africa, and Oceanica (which last is here considered as including the islands of the Eastern Archipelago, Australia, and Polynesia). The sum of the population of Europe and America does not probably vary much from 270 millions. See the Remarks on pages 285 and 292

REMARKS.

1. In the above statements, all the inhabitants of Christendom, or of the countries in which Christianity is the professed religion, except the Jews, are classed as Christians.

2. In Hassel's Table, the Presbyterians of Great Britain and America, and also the Congregationalists, are included with the Reformed or Calvinists of the continent of Europe.—The number of Methodists, Baptists, &c. (including various other sects; see page 284), is stated by Hassel much too low.

3. Malte-Brun classes the sects of Sinto and Tao-tse among the adherents to Shamanism.

4. According to Hassel's computation, much more than one half of the inhabitants of the globe are in the darkness of Paganism; nearly one eighth in the delusions of Mahometanism; and not much more than one quarter enjoy the light of the Gospel.

REMARK.

According to the computations of some other geographers, the numbers of the Mongolian and Ethiopian races are considerably less than they are stated by Hassel.—For a few remarks on these different races, see page 210.

TABLE IV.

LANGUAGES AND DIALECTS, AS FAR AS KNOWN—ACCORDING TO ADELUNG.

	Number.
In America,	1,214
In Europe,	545
In Asia and Oceanica,	991
In Africa,	276
Total,	3,026

REMARK.—The languages most extensively spoken in Europe are divided into three classes: 1. Those derived from the Latin, viz. the French, Italian, Spanish, and Portuguese, spoken by more than 70 millions; 2. Teutonic languages, viz. the German, Dutch, English, Danish, Swedish, and Norwegian, spoken by upwards of 60 millions; 3. the Sclavonic languages, viz. the Russian, Polish, &c., spoken by about 50 millions.

TABLE V.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

It is computed that the number of deaths throughout the globe, in proportion to the number of inhabitants, is nearly as 1 to 33; or that the number of deaths in 33 years is equal to the whole number of inhabitants. If we compute the population of the earth at 700 millions, and the number of births, in proportion to the number of inhabitants, as 1 to 29½, and deaths as 1 to 33, we shall have the following results nearly:

	Births.	Deaths.
In a year,	23,729,000	21,212,000
In a day,	65,000	58,000
In an hour,	2,700	2,400
In a minute,	45	40

1. According to this calculation, the total annual increase of the population of the globe, were it not checked by war and epidemics, would amount to 2,517,000.

2. It is computed that the proportion of male children, born in Europe, is to that of female as 21 to 20, or 26 to 25; the mortality is also greater among male children, computed in the proportion of nearly as 27 to 26; hence it follows, that at the age of 15 years, the equality in numbers between the sexes is nearly established. Afterwards, war and other causes of the destruction of human life, which fall most heavily on the males, occasion the difference to be reversed, and the females to out-number the males.

3. Such are the frailty and uncertainty of human life, that nearly one quarter of those who are born, die the first year; as many as one third the first two years; and only about one in ten arrives at the age of 70 years.

American Colonization,	1819	20,000

REMARKS.

1. The present age is eminently distinguished for benevolent efforts to extend the advantages of education and civilization, and the blessings of Christianity; and in these efforts, England and the United States take a conspicuous part.

2. There are in the world about 4,500 Bible societies, and Bibles are distributed in 160 different languages; as many as 300,000 persons are computed to be instructed in missionary schools; and about 2,000,000 in Sunday schools.

QUESTIONS

ON THE STATISTICAL TABLES.

THE most of the Statistical Tables are formed on a graduated scale, and present to the eye a comparative view of the matters contained in each. It will be found much easier to obtain from them valuable information of the subjects here presented, than it would be if these subjects were treated of in the book, in connection with the notice of the countries to which they respectively belong.

A few questions are here inserted, in order to facilitate the use of the Tables; but it is not expected that instructors will limit themselves to these questions, but will exercise their pupils as much further as they shall think proper.

NORTH AMERICA.

BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN POSSESSIONS.

What is the population of Lower Canada? Upper Canada? &c. What is the population of Montreal? Quebec? &c.

What is said of the Russian Possessions? &c.

MEXICO.

What is the population of the republic of Mexico? What is the population of the city of Mexico? Puebla? &c.

GUATIMALA.

What is the population of Central America? Of the city of Guatimala? &c.

WEST INDIES.

What is the population of Hayti? Of the Spanish islands? &c. Havannah? &c.

UNITED STATES.

TABLES I. & II.—What was the population of the United States in 1790? In 1800? &c.

What was the number of slaves in 1790? In 1800? &c.

At what rate per cent. did the population of the United States increase from 1790 to 1800? From 1800 to 1810? &c. Which has increased the more rapidly, the total population or the slaves?

TABLE III.—Which three states have more than a million of inhabitants each? Which seven states have less than a million, and more than five hundred thousand? Which two states have less than a hundred thousand?

What is the population of New York? Pennsylvania? &c.

Which states have more than fifty thousand square miles? What other states have more than forty thousand? What states have less than ten thousand square miles?

Which states are most thickly inhabited, or have the most inhabitants to a square mile? Which the fewest?

Which states have the most slaves? Which ones have none?

TABLE IV.—What are the principal towns in Maine? New Hampshire? &c.

What is the population of Portland? Portsmouth? &c.

Which are the seven largest towns in the United States? Which the next seven largest?

TABLE V.—What was the total amount of domestic produce exported from the United States in 1829? What of the produce of agriculture? Manufactures? &c.

What amount of cotton exported? &c.

To what countries were the exports chiefly sent?

Which seven states have the greatest amount of exports?

TABLE VI.—What places are connected by Cumberland and Oxford canal? What is its length? What places are connected by Middlesex canal? What is its length? &c.

TABLE VII.—Which are some of the colleges that have the most students? Which have the largest libraries?

TABLE VIII.—Which are some of the theological seminaries which have the most students and the largest libraries?

TABLE IX.—What are some of the principal medical schools? Where are there law schools?

TABLE X.—What are the four most numerous religious denominations in the United States? What are some of the other most numerous denominations?

TABLE XI.—What are some of the principal libraries?

SOUTH AMERICA.

What is the population of Brazil? Colombia? &c.

What is the population of Rio Janeiro? St. Salvador? Pernambuco? Quito? &c.

How many whites in South America, according to Humboldt? Indians? Negroes? Mixed races?

What is the number of independent Indians supposed to be?

Where are the negro slaves chiefly found?

What is said respecting the total population of America?

EUROPE.

TABLE I.—What is the government of Sweden? Russia? &c.

What is the religion of Sweden? Russia? &c.

What countries of Europe are under an absolute monarchy?

What ones are under a constitutional or limited monarchy?

What countries have a republican government?

In what countries does the Catholic religion prevail?

In what ones does Protestantism or Lutheranism prevail?

TABLE II.—What is the population of Russia? France? Austria? &c.
How many square miles does Russia contain? Sweden and Norway? Austria? &c.

How many inhabitants has Belgium to a square mile? Saxony? Holland? &c.

What are some of the states of Europe that contain the greatest amount of population? What ones contain the least?

What states are the largest, or have the most square miles? What ones the smallest?

What states are most populous in proportion to their extent, or have the greatest number of inhabitants to a square mile? What ones are least populous?

See Remarks, on which questions may be asked.

What is the extent and population of England? Wales? &c.

TABLE III.—What are the largest towns of Norway? Sweden? What are some of the largest of Russia? Poland? &c.

What is the population of Stockholm? St. Petersburg? Warsaw? Copenhagen? &c.

Which are the seven largest towns in Europe? Which the next seven?

TABLE IV.—In what countries are there Protestant universities? In what ones are there Catholic? In what ones are there universities of the Greek church?

What universities are there in Sweden? What one in Norway? What are some of the principal ones in Russia? &c.

TABLE V.—Which are the six largest libraries in Europe?

REMARKS ON EUROPE.—At what does Malte-Brun compute the mean annual increase of the population of Europe? What is supposed to be its present population? What is said of the agricultural class? What is stated respecting authors? Soldiers? What is said respecting the sums contributed by individuals to the public revenue? What respecting the debt of England? In what countries do individuals contribute most?

ASIA.

What is the population of China estimated at? Chinese Tartary, Thibet and Corea? British Hindostan? &c.

What are the largest countries, or those which have the most square miles, in Asia?

What countries have the most inhabitants to a square mile? What ones the fewest?

What is the religion of China? Hindostan? &c.

What is said respecting the population of Asia? Of China? Japan? What government prevails in Asia?

Principal Cities.—What are the four largest cities in Turkey in Asia? What are some of the largest in Russia in Asia? Arabia? &c.

AFRICA.

What is the population of Morocco estimated at? Egypt? &c.

What is the capital of Morocco? Egypt? &c.

What is the population of Cairo? Algiers? &c.

What is said respecting the population of Africa?

THE GLOBE.

TABLE I.—How many English square miles in the different parts of the globe, according to Hassel? What is the total population, according to Hassel? According to Malte-Brun? Balbi? What is the population of Asia, by another estimate? Europe? &c.

TABLE II.—How many pagans, according to Hassel? Christians? Mahometans? Jews? Roman Catholics? Greek Church? Protestants? &c.

TABLE III.—What are some of the nations included in the Caucasian or white race? The Mongolian? The Malay? The Ethiopian? The American? How many Caucasians? Mongolians? &c.

TABLE IV.—How many languages in America? Europe? &c. What languages are most extensively spoken in Europe?

TABLE V.—In how many years is the number of deaths on the globe computed to be equal to the whole number of inhabitants? Which is the more numerous, the births or deaths? Of which are there the most born, male or female children? Among which is there the greatest mortality? What proportion of those that are born, die the first year? What proportion live to the age of 70 years?

TABLE VI.—What are the principal exports of New Britain and the Northwest Coast? Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick? Newfoundland? &c.

TABLE VII.—What are some of the principal benevolent societies in England? In the United States?

For what is the present age distinguished? In how many different languages is the Bible distributed?

PRONUNCIATION

GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES

THE pronunciation of geographical names is a matter respecting which not only students in geography, but the great mass of instructors, as well as other intelligent and well educated men, much need assistance. It is a very difficult branch of orthoepy; and the principal difficulties arise from the want of good authorities and well established and known usage with respect to the greater part of the words, from the disagreement in the authorities which exist, and from uncertainty how far the English analogy should be followed in the pronunciation of foreign proper names, instead of the analogy of the language of the country to which the names belong.

The author has devoted considerable attention to this subject, by examining such pronouncing vocabularies as he could obtain, by marking the usage of the poets, and by endeavoring to ascertain the present usage, both by observation and inquiry; but he has not been able, in all cases, by any means to satisfy himself; and he has probably failed, with respect to a number of words, to exhibit that pronunciation which is to be most approved. He therefore offers the following Vocabulary with much diffidence, yet not without hope, that, imperfect as it is, it may, nevertheless, be of some use.

Persons who are not acquainted with any other modern language than the English, incline strongly, in the pronunciation of foreign names, to the English analogy; and any other mode seems to them unnatural and affected; but those who are familiar with foreign languages, or who have formed their taste and habits by residence abroad, more readily adopt the foreign pronunciation. The former class of persons will probably think that the author has departed too often from the English analogy, and the latter, that he has adhered to it too closely; but the latter is not the class of persons for whose use the Vocabulary is designed.

Geographical names pertain to all parts of the globe, and their vernacular or native pronunciation is affected by every variety of language; but it would be impracticable to teach an inhabitant of any one country to pronounce all these names with the appropriate pronunciation of the countries to which they severally belong; and in a book which is to be studied chiefly by those who have no knowledge of any modern language except the English, and who will never become accustomed to a foreign accent, it is necessary, as a general rule, to incline to the analogy with which the pupils are familiar.

There are many cases in which the pronunciation of foreign names is partially anglicized, and with respect to which it is difficult to say what form is most to be approved; but when the anglicized form is supported by good usage, it seems proper to adhere to it, how much soever it may differ from the pronunciation of the country to which the word belongs. It would seem pedantic and affected for a person, in reading or speaking English, to pronounce Paris, pahree; but whether Nantes and Poitiers ought to follow the English analogy may be more questionable. In all doubtful cases of this sort, the disposition to allow common students in geography to follow the English analogy, seems not to be worthy of censure; yet it may often be satisfactory to know what the foreign pronunciation of a word is, though it should not be thought advisable to adopt it.

There are various Greek names which the modern Greeks pronounce in a manner different from that in which we pronounce them, as ancient classical names, though their orthography is not altered. The following words are thus pronounced by the modern Greeks—Ac-ar-na-nî'a, Ach-a-i'a, Al-ba-nî'a, Ar-ca-dî'a, Lac-o-nî'a, Mes-se-nî'a, O-lym-pî'a, and Æg'i-na (eg'i-na); and thus as ancient names—Ac-ar-na'ni-a, A-cha'i-a, Al-ba'ni-a, Ar-ca'di-a, La-co'ni-a, Mes-se'ni-a, O-lym'pi-a, and Æ-gi'na.

With regard to a considerable number of words respecting which there is a diversity in usage or in the authorities, two forms are given in the Vocabulary; a few of which it may not be improper here to notice. We often hear the words Russia and Prussia pronounced with the u long, and often with it short. Perry makes it long, as also does Webster, in the adjectives Russian and Prussian; Earnshaw gives both forms, but seems to prefer the long sound; Byron makes Russians rhyme with both the long and short u; while some others favor the short sound.

The word Hindostan is pronounced Hin-dos-tan' by Earnshaw, Goldsmith, and Bigland; and Hin-dôs'tan by Ewing and Guy, and in the poetry of Bishop Heber. With respect to the pronunciation of the oriental names Afghanistan, Beloochistan, Cafiristan, Curdistan, Daghestan, Farsistan, Laristan, Sablestan, Segestan, and Turkestan, there is some diversity; but they are all pronounced by Earnshaw with the accent on the last syllable, and they seem properly to follow the same analogy with Hindostan.

The following geographical names pertaining to South America, namely, Bogota, Cumana, Panama, Parana, Parima, and Potosi, are pronounced by the English authorities generally, but not uniformly, with the accent on the second syllable; but the South American pronunciation places the accent on the last syllable; and as this latter mode is quite as easy and euphonical, there seems to be good reason for giving it the preference.

The following Portuguese names are thus pronounced by Earnshaw—

Aveiro (a-vā'ro), Beira (bā'ra), Feira (fā'ra), Madeira (me-dē'ra), Rio Janeiro (rē'o ja-nā'ro); and the last two are pronounced by Goldsmith, Ewing, and Guy, ma-dē'ra and rē'o ja-nē'ro.

The word Edinburgh we often hear pronounced ed'in-bur-ro, as a word of four syllables; and often as of only three. The former mode is supported by Bigland and Stewart; the latter by Earnshaw and Goldsmith; and Guy gives both forms.

Seville is pronounced with the accent on the first syllable by Guy and Stewart, and is so accented in the poetry of Byron; Earnshaw and Ewing place the accent on the second syllable; and Bigland gives both modes.

Milan is pronounced Mil'an by Earnshaw, Goldsmith, Ewing, and Guy; Mil-an', by Bigland; and Mee'lan, by Stewart.—The river Scheldt is pronounced by Earnshaw, shelt; by Stewart, sheld; and by Bigland and Ewing, skeld.

The following rules respecting the pronunciation of certain letters in modern European languages, the English excepted, may be of some use; though it is not recommended that English students should apply the whole of them to practice; and it will be seen that they are not all applied in the following Vocabulary.

1. The vowel a, in situations in which the analogy of the English language would naturally give it the sound of long a, as in fate, has, in other European languages, the sound of a in father; the vowel e, at the end of a syllable, the sound of long a, as in paper; the vowels i and y, except when short, the sound of i in marine, the same as long e; and u, except in French, the sound of u in rule or of oo in moon.

2. The diphthong au and the triphthong eau, in French, have the sound of o long, as in note, as Chaumont (sho-mong), and Beauvais (bo-va); and the diphthong au in German, has the sound of ow in now, as Austerlitz (ow'ster-litz); the diphthongs ei and ey, in German, the sound of long i, as in fine, as Leip'sic; the diphthong eu, in German, has the sound of oi in toil, as Neustadt (noi'stat); and the diphthong ou, in French, the sound of oo in pool, as Toul (tool).

3. In French and Portuguese, the consonants ch have the sound of sh; in Spanish, the sound of ch in the English word chill, ch in La Mancha being thus pronounced in Spanish, though this word is commonly pronounced in English with the ch hard like k; in German, these letters have a hard or guttural sound; and in Italian, they sound hard like k, as they do in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin words.

4. In Italian, c before e and i has the sound of ch in chill, as Vercelli (ver-chel'le); g, in German words ending in gen, is hard, and is thrown back on the penultimate syllable, as Hechingen (hek'ing-en); j and often x, in Spanish, have the sound of h strongly aspirated, as Guadalaxara or Guadalajara (guä-da-la-hä'ra); j, in German and Italian, has the sound of y consonant, as Jena (ya'na); z, in German and often in Italian, the sound of ts, as Zara (tsä'ra); and th, in European languages, the English excepted, the sound of t, as Theis (tīs).
