“CARNIVAL”

(Karneval)

Overture for large orchestra, op. 92.

Instrumentation: piccolo, 2 flutes, 2 oboes, cor anglais, 2 clarinets in A, 2 bassoons, 4 horns, 2 trumpets, 3 trombones, tuba, tympani, cymbals, tambourine, triangle, harp and strings.

Written in sketch between July 28th and August 14th, and score completed by September 12th, 1891, at Vysoká.—First performance as for the overture “In Nature’s Realm” (p. 295).—Score, parts and four-handed piano arrangement (Oskar Nedbal) published by Simrock, Berlin, 1894.—Duration: 9 minutes.

The second overture of the cycle “Nature, Life and Love”, entitled “Carnival” (originally “Life”) has no more definite or detailed programme than the overture “In Nature’s Realm”, and, with one small deviation, is also very similar in form. Still filled with the elevated feeling of solitude, man finds himself, all at once, caught up in the gay whirligig of life — and is happy! Willingly he yields to the carnival mood of merriment and, throwing reserve to the winds, he enters into the spirit of youthful revelry with care-free abandon, grateful for all its joys and beauties. Thus, in a few words, we may describe the general atmosphere of the first part of the overture, which comprises the exposition of the sonata form

IV

"CARNIVAL"

(Allegro, A major,  $\frac{2}{2}$ ). The orchestra enters in full force with the vigorous principal theme spread broadly over a two-part paragraph.

9. Allegro

After a short modulating digression, the second principal theme, equally radiant, is presented in undiminished strength, but still grander and prouder in its conformation.:

10.

The theme concludes with a swiftly-moving unison passage in the strings whereupon, with admirable invention, the violas create out of its metrically augmented figures the rising sequences of a mock-pious melody:

11.

Its obviously caricatured gravity turns into a grimace in the violins above the diminished chord of the principal theme (9), and a short tranquillizing passage in the syncopated rhythm of the first bar of the same theme provides the transition to the paragraph containing the secondary theme. The passionately swelling melodic line of this lovely motif is worked out in dialogue through a full thirty bars:

12. Vl.
p molto espress. C.I.O.

PROGRAMME MUSIC

It is first given to the violins, with counterpoints in the woodwind, but on its repetition the groups of instruments exchange roles. Scarcely has the song with its expression of longing and desire died away than the violins break in with the second subsidiary theme which, to the accompaniment of the light rhythms of the wood-winds, strings, tambourine and delicate fanfares of trumpets, combines with the rhythmic figure s from theme 10, acquiring in the process an air of carnival gaiety and abandon:

This theme is presented by the violins in the key of G major, then with a richer accompaniment by the clarinet in E major, finally rising by a steep gradation to the final theme in which the whirling gaiety of the dance seems to reach its climax.

After a continuation of theme 13 has been presented in rising sequences, the wild revelry is suddenly cut short: above the eddying movement of the diminished chord e-g-b flat-c sharp in the harp, the first two bars of theme 9 appear in the violins. The swinging quavers of the second bar rise sharply, then gradually lose force, subside and ebb away till they settle at last on the sharply struck g of the horns. It is as if a man, having torn himself away from the giddy vanity of life's fair and withdrawn into inner contemplation, should put the question: Where then is the true source of all this happiness; who is the giver of all this life and intoxicating joy? And the reply rings out—Nature! A stroke of genius is the short, lyrical intermezzo (Andantino con moto, G major,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ) interpolated at this point in the composition, the pure poetry of its mood dying away in a silvery beam of sound. Above the ostinato of the cor anglais, which repeats the rhythmic figure r from the principal theme, there sound in the inner harmonies the meltingly soft chords of the divided and muted violins and violas, and over them, again, the flute draws a dreamily beautiful line of melody (15), to which the clarinet significantly adds the gentle motif of Nature from the first overture (1):

Andantino con moto

15.

Fl. p      Cl. f

The poetic charm of this passage is further heightened when the solo violin repeats the melody (15) and the cor anglais concludes it, whereupon a few bars in the same mood bring the intermezzo to a close.

And then, as if the vision had faded and the spirit were back again in the reality from which it had withdrawn itself, the harp, along with the clarinets and the bassoons, start the eddyings of a diminished chord, above which the violins deliver the first two bars of the principal theme (9). The development begins. The key (G minor) and the mood have their special significance. On returning to the whirl of gaiety, the impression evoked by that moment of inner contemplation still persists as, on passing from darkness into a brilliantly lit ballroom, we see its outlines blurred and bizarrely distorted. The chief role is given to theme 10 which, in its original form and in rhythmic diminutions, passes from one group of instruments to another, finally appearing in combination with the principal theme (9) and even with allusions to the theme of Nature in the deep brass instruments (1).

The blurred and distorted outlines suddenly come into focus. Once more theme 10 is delivered in full strength and, in combination with theme 11, presented with great pomp by the trombones. A rapid gradation based on the first principal theme (9) leads to the recapitulation, which is a regular repetition of the first part of the exposition but, in its further course, is considerably shortened and concentrated. All the more unified and powerful in effect is its rise to a short coda, which works up in an accelerated tempo (Poco più mosso) the opening figure of theme 9, the composition ending in a final whirl of intoxicating gaiety.

The musical score page contains five systems of music. The first system (measures 1-15) includes parts for Flute picc., Flute I, II, Oboe I, II, Clarinet I, II, A, Bassoon I, II, Horn I, II, Trombone I, II, Trombone III, Euphonium, Timpani A, E, Piatti, Tambourine, and Triangle. The second system (measures 16-20) includes parts for Horn I, II, Trombone I, II, Trombone III, Euphonium, Timpani A, E, Piatti, Tambourine, and Triangle. The third system (measures 21-25) includes parts for Violin I, Violin II, Viola, Cello, and Double Bass. Measure 15 concludes with dynamic markings  $f \xrightarrow{=}$   $p$  for the woodwind section and  $f \xrightarrow{=}$   $p$  for the brass section. Measure 16 begins with dynamic  $p$  for the woodwinds and  $f$  for the brass. Measure 17 shows a rhythmic pattern of eighth-note pairs followed by eighth-note pairs with a sharp. Measures 18-20 show eighth-note pairs followed by eighth-note pairs with a sharp. Measure 21 shows eighth-note pairs followed by eighth-note pairs with a sharp. Measures 22-25 show eighth-note pairs followed by eighth-note pairs with a sharp.

Detailed description: The musical score consists of five systems of music. System 1 (top) includes parts for Flute piccolo, Flutes I & II, Oboe I & II, Clarinet I & II, Bassoon I & II, and Horn (labeled 'H'). The bassoon part has a dynamic marking 'ff' at measure 175. System 2 includes parts for Trombones I & II, Trombone III & IV, Trombone Bass, and Trombone Bass III. The bassoon part in this system also has a dynamic marking 'ff'. System 3 includes parts for Timpani, Percussion (Piatti), Tambourine, and Triangle. System 4 (bottom) includes parts for Violin I & II, Viola, and Cello. The violins play sixteenth-note patterns, while the viola and cello play eighth-note patterns. All parts are in common time, and the key signature is one sharp.

Detailed description: This is a page from a musical score. At the top right is the page number 75. In the center is a dynamic marking 'U 480'. The score is divided into several staves. The first group of staves (top) includes Flute piccolo, Flute 1 & 2, Oboe 1 & 2, Clarinet 1 & 2, Bassoon 1 & 2, and Horn 1 & 2. The second group (middle) includes Horn 2, Trombone 1 & 2, Tromba/Euphonium, Timpani, Cymbals, Tambourine, and Triangle. The third group (bottom) includes Violin 1 & 2, Viola, Cello, and Double Bass. Various dynamics such as 'fff' and 'a 2' are indicated throughout the score.

The musical score page contains five systems of music. The first system (measures 510-515) features woodwind entries: Flute I & II (piccolo), Clarinet I & II, Bassoon I & II, Trombones I & II, and Trombone III/E♭ Trombone. The second system (measures 516-521) shows sustained notes from Trombones I & II, Trombone III/E♭ Trombone, and Trombone IV/V. The third system (measures 522-527) includes entries from Timpani, Piatti, Tambourine, and Triangle. The fourth system (measures 528-533) features sustained notes from Trombones I & II, Trombone III/E♭ Trombone, Trombone IV/V, and Trombone VI/VII. The fifth system (measures 534-539) concludes with sustained notes from Trombones I & II, Trombone III/E♭ Trombone, Trombone IV/V, Trombone VI/VII, and Trombone VII/VIII. Measure numbers 510, 515, 521, 527, and 533 are explicitly marked above the staff.

VYDAVATELSKÁ ZPRÁVA

PRAMENY:

a) Autograf partitury z majetku dědiců skladatelových.
Má 28 listů zořádkového papíru podélného formátu
270:358 mm. Na první straně je titul:

(1) (2) (3)
„Příroda, Život a Láska“
Ouvertura II op. 91 Život (Carneval)
pro velký orchestr | složil a | České Université Pražské | věnuje |
Antonín Dvořák | (Partitura)

Notový zápis začíná na stránce následující, označené 1 a pokračuje až na stránku 53. Za posledním taktem je skladatelem napříč napsáno „Bohu díky! | Kompozici začal
28. července dokončil 14 srpna | instrumentaci hned začal a dokončil 12. září (1891) | Na Vysoké | Antonín Dvořák.“

Rukopis, který je vázán v poloplátených deskách (tmavě karmínový plátený hřbet a rohy, červenohnědá svrchní i spodní papírová deska), nejeví stopy, že by ho bylo použito jako tiskové předlohy.

b) Partitura (případně i orchestrální hlasy) vydání Simrockova – Copyright 1894 by N. Simrock G. m. b. H. in Berlin. – Tištěná partitura se liší od rukopisu na mnoha místech; odchylky jsou však většinou zcela podřadného významu. Vznikly patrně až při korektuře, takže tištěná partitura je proti rukopisu přesnější a důslednější.

Za základ našeho vydání byl vzat tisk Simrockův, vydaný, jak již shora zmíněno, za života skladatele a bezpochyby za jeho přímé účasti. Byl pečlivě porovnán s autografem. Podstatnější odchylky pramenů jsou uvedeny ve vydavatelských poznámkách („Annotazioni“). Podle autografu byly v našem tisku opraveny zřejmě tiskové omyly a doplněny podrobnosti v Simrockově vydání opomínuté. Dále podle obdobných míst autografu i tisku doplněna chybějící drobná přednesová znaménka. Závažnější doplňky vydavatelů jsou uvedeny v hranatých závorkách [ ].

ZKRATKY:

A = autograf partitury

S = vydání Simrockovo (partitura)

E = vydání Eulenburgovo

SN = přítomné vydání Státního nakladatelství KLHU

[!] = přepsání v autografu nebo chyba v tisku.

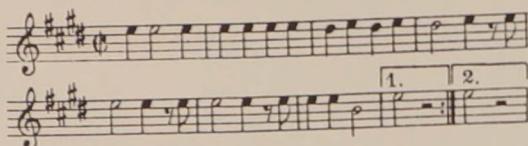

Versio I = původní znění, změněné skladatelem již v autografu.

Velká arabská číslice označuje takt; připojená k ní číslice malá označuje příslušnou notu (ev. akord) v taktu; pomlky se nepočítají.
