

NOTE.

Savannah was first settled in February 1733 by General James Oglethorpe and some 30 families.
 In 1741 the government was changed from bailiffs to trustees.
 The state legislature passed a law making Savannah a city in 1789.
 The British made their first attack upon the city on March 3^d 1776 in which they were defeated; on the 29th December 1778 Savannah was again attacked and captured; an unsuccessful attempt was made to recapture the city from the British by the French and American army in October 1779; in this attack Putaski fell; Savannah was formally given up by the British to the Americans July 1783.
